If an arrest has been made in connection with the death it is proper that the prisoner should be present at the inquest.

The Inquest.

The proceedings at an inquest in Peterboro can be best explained by describing an actual case.

The jurymen are summoned by Detective Sergeant William Meagher and Detective William Carey, and gathered at the place where the inquiry is to be held. County Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young presides and the witnesses are examined by County Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C.

The warrant on which the jury was called is returned to open the hearing as follows: "You good men of this city summoned to appear here this day to inquire for our Sovereign Lord the King when, where, how and by what means this man came to his death, answer to your names as you shall be called, every man at the first call, upon the pain and peril that shall fall thereon."

The name of each member of the jury is called and if seven or more answer they will constitute the jury.

The foreman having been selected, he is asked to stand up and take the Bible in his right hand and listen to his oath, and the jury as the same time are bidden to harken to their foreman's oath, which is as follows:

"'You shall diligently inquire and true presentment make of all such matters and things as shall here be given you in charge on behalf of our Sovereign Lord the King, touching the death of this man, now lying dead, of whose body you shall have the view; you shall present no man for hatred, malice, or illwill; nor spare any through fear, favor or affection; but a true verdict give according to the evidence and the best of your skill and knowledge. So help you God."

After the foreman has kissed the Bible, it is handed to Sergeant Meagher who gives it thereafter to the jurors as they come to be sworn. The jurymen are sworn in threes, as follows:

"The oath which your foreman upon this inquest hath now taken before you on his part, you, and each of you, are severally well and truly to observe and keep on all your parts. So help you God."

Each juror kisses the Bible and takes his seat.

After viewing the body, paying special attention to the wounds, if any, which are said to have caused death, the jury proceeds to hear the evidence. The stenographer who records the evidence must be sworn to take down and transcribe the evidence without favor or partiality.

The constable who calls the jury is the first witness. He may be examined by the Crown Attorney or a representative of the Attorney-General, if he is present. The same privilege of examining the witnesses is, with the consent of the Coroner, extended to counsel appearing for anyone interested in the proceedings. The prisoner, if he is present at the inquest, has the right to give evidence in his own behalf if he so desires. He should be warned, and if he does give his evidence he can be subjected to cross-examination and cannot refuse to answer any question put to him relevant to the case. If the question tends to incriminate him, he has the right to object to answer on that ground. If he takes the objection he is protected and the evidence cannot be used against him in a future trial.

If an adjournment is necessary the jurymen are each bound in the sum of $100 to reassemble at the appointed time.

The proclamation made at the reopening of the hearing is: "Oyez, Oyez, Oyez. All manner of persons who have anything more to do at the court before the King's Coroner for this county on this inquest now to be taken and adjourned over to this time and place, draw near and give your attendance."

When all the known evidence is in, and before closing the court, the Coroner announces:

"If there is any other person who can give further evidence on behalf of our Sovereign Lord the King as to when, where, how and by what means this man came to his death, let him come forward and he shall be heard."

The evidence is summed up by the Coroner and the jury is left alone to consider its verdict, the constable in charge taking the following oath:

"You shall well and truly keep the jury upon this inquiry without meat, drink or fire; you shall not suffer any person to speak to them, nor shall you speak to them yourself, unless it be to ask them if they have agreed or their verdict, until they shall be agreed. So help you God."

The verdict is presented in written form by the foreman. It must be signed by every juryman and signed and sealed by the Coroner.

The jury is then instructed "Oyez, Oyez, Oyez, All you good men of the County summoned to appear here this day to enquire for our Sovereign Lord the King as to when, where, how, and by what means this man came to his death, depart now and take your ease. God save the King."

SELECTING FRUIT

When selecting fruit buy that which is not bruised, as a break in the skin means quick decay.

In all the world no food like Fry's for growing children

They're brighter at school,
They're stronger at play—
Red cheeked and happy
When fed the Fry way.

What a wonderful difference it makes in the home, when the children are brimming over with health and vigour! Yet, as any doctor will tell you, health is so largely a matter of feeding.

FRY'S Cocoa contains nourishment in rich concentrated form, for every department of the human body—for muscle, tissue, flesh, nerve, brain and bone. It furnishes in rich abundance, energy for work and play—and materials to build the body with. And all this in such delicious form that every child takes FRY'S eagerly.

Be sure you get FRY'S—made in Canada and famous the world over for purity and quality. Cheap, unknown cocoas haven't its purity and richness.

CHURCH UNION DISCUSSED AT MEETING HERE

One Body and One Power Does Not Appeal To Some of the Members.

PROPOSED UNION.

Results Outlined By Speakers In St. Andrew's Church Last Evening.

"The unity of the spirit in the bond of peace is what we all long for, but it is not, in my opinion, to be found in one authority, one body and one power. You and your neighbor. Shall we put you both in one house, that you may have peace? I heard Dr. Campbell Morgan speaking in Toronto last year. He quoted from the tenth chapter of St. John: 'There shall be one fold and one shepherd,' and he said that this was a mis-translation of the words, 'There shall be one flock and one shepherd.' That is what we should be: one flock folded into manifold folds, but all belonging to our Blessed Lord.' The ideal of a state is communion, but it is meant only for ideal people and we are not yet an ideal people. When all thought of self and self-interest has been bleached out of us, we will be ready for communism in its entirety. People will tell you that there will be no religious differences in heaven. That is true, but when we get to heaven, we will have become ideal people, ready for an ideal existence. One large church and one power and one authority—God forbid! There never was a darker page in the history of the world than when there was only one church. We don't want to go back to that. We should fear to some extent a large church. I am just as afraid of one large dominating church to-day as I am afraid of anything that is large. In business matters, I would be very much afraid if the T. Eaton Company dominated all the business in Toronto, good and all as they do business."

The above is a portion of the address delivered by the third speaker of the evening, Rev. Jas. Wilson, D.D., of Toronto, at the convocation of about two hundred and fifty of the Presbyterians of the city and district, held in St. Andrew's Church last evening, to hear views on "Continuing the Presbyterian Church," enunciated by Dr. Wilson, Rev. R. J. M. Glassford of Winchester, and Rev. H. R. Horn, of Toronto. Mr. Richard Lees acted as chairman for the meeting. During the evening, it was decided to add several names to the executive of the Central Committee appointed some time ago to carry out arrangements for taking the vote which decides whether congregations shall adhere to, or vote themselves out of, the proposed Union Church. Names suggested for addition were those of Messrs. John Anderson and Robert Mulligan of Knox Church, W. Simpson of Lakefield, and J. C. Campbell of Centerville.

The Proposed Union.

The first speaker of the evening, Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, of Winchester, confined his address mainly to an exposition of the various changes which will take place in the Presbyterian polity, as a result of Union. He referred constantly to the argument advanced by the proponents of the new church that the polity of the United Church would be practically that of the present Presbyterian faith, and that no change would be noticed by Presbyterians concurring in the change. In opposition to this argument, he went on to point out radical changes which would occur, and which he thought worthy of consideration by congregations meditating on whether they should concur in the proposed Union or vote themselves out during the time allowed. Although it was argued that the proposed church would retain its standing as a member of the Presbyterian World Alliance, while still being eligible for membership in the Methodist Ecumenical Council, this matter had not yet been decided upon. The Alliance, meeting next year in Cardiff, Wales, would settle the former matter.

Discrepancies in the polity of the proposed Union Church, as compared with the present Presbyterian organization, were pointed out by the speaker, who instanced changes to be made. The session would no longer be mentioned as a court of the church; limiting clauses in the Act confined privileges now enjoyed to only a certain portion of the church's functioning bodies; the personnel of the session and presbytery would be changed; and management of spiritual and temporal interests of the pastoral charge would be placed in the hands of a committee of stewards; the great function of the present Presbyterian Church in its method of ordination of minister would be changed almost entirely; a settlement committee would have charge of all placings of ministers, without consultation of congregations; and there would be a compromise creed with such an indefinite basis as might permit of its being adopted by any religious body. The cry of economy might have no foundation in fact, as no preparations were being made to do away with any of the officials on the three church boards or the professors in their colleges.

Steps in Taking Vote

Rev. Mr. Horn, the second speaker, explained in detail the various steps necessary to taking a vote as to whether a congregation should concur in the proposed union, or vote themselves out of it. Between December 10th of this year and June 10th of next year the vote may be taken. The Act, according to Mr. Horn settles three things: It makes provision for the incorporation of the new United Church of Canada; It definitely provides for the continuation of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches; It gives every congregation that wants a vote the chance to take such a vote before June 10th 1925, when the proposed Union comes into effect.

"This boasted church is not going to lessen the number of churches," asserted the speaker. "It is merely going to make one more church that's all."

Organization for taking the vote was recommended, a requisition was necessary, with signature of 10 in a congregation of 100, 25 in congregations of 100 to 500, 50 from 500 to 1,000 and 100 in those over 1,000. Not less than two weeks and not more than thirty days was allowed for taking the ballot, and, as it was necessary that such a vote should be taken at a congregational meeting called for the express purpose of registering their wishes, Mr. Horn recommended the calling of such a meeting, with adjournments from time to time until all who wished to register had been present at the various sections of the meeting.

Forceful Address

Dr. James Wilson of Toronto, the final speaker, gave a forceful and dynamic address, brief but pointed, dealing with some of the outstanding phases of the proposed union. He declared that the non-Unionists were being blamed for making a fuss over the matter, but said they had not started the row, and might just as easily be blamed for the present condition of affairs as a householder who would persist on defending his goods from bandits entering his premises and asking him to be perfectly quiet while they helped themselves to his property. He was of the opinion that various church organizations were necessary to adequately carry out the individual wills of their members in religious matters, as interpreted from their own experience.

"There is no corporate body that can be so villainously tyrannous as the church," he asserted, "when it has absolute authority and power. He said that the Presbyterian Church in Canada had a history behind it of wonderful strength and that it had been instrumental, perhaps more than any other religion, in building up the great Dominion. He thought that the new church, far from being united, would be "a disturbed and disrupted and distracted church".

Rev. Dr. Wilson read two letters from the pen of Dr. Geo. C. Pidgeon dated respectively on the 20th of August and 1st of October; which he said illustrated a change in the attitude of the Union leader towards the matter of taking a vote from the congregations. The first letter adjured the members not to vote, but to remain loyal to the action of the supreme church courts, while the second though it would be permissible to take such a vote The change, said the speaker, was occasioned by the re-consideration of the matter by Union supporters, who had decided that it would be bad policy to allow some congregations to vote themselves out and others to take no action whatever. They had decided to "bring on their shock troops" to impress those congregations desirous of voting themselves out.

Dr. Wilson concluded with a dramatic appeal to his hearers to stand by the church for which their forefathers had suffered, saying "I do not know what my congregation will do in the matter, but this I know. If they go in, they go without me."

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through the hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. DEFENSE OF SHANGHAI COLLAPSES

This is a remarkable close-up of the Chekiang troops on the firing line. It was taken near the town of Liuho, where the Chekiang soldiers were trying to hold their own against the Kiangsu forces. Liuho is two miles from the Yangtse River. Its capture is essential before the Kiangsu men can directly attack Woosung Fort where the Whangpoo River, leadig up to Shanghai, 12 miles away, joins the Yangtse.

A despatch from Shanghai last night announced the final defeat of the Chekiang troops defending the city as follows:

After a final stand at Hwangtu, 15 miles west of Shanghai, the Chekiang troops defending the city against onslaughts of armies backed by the Chinese Central Government at last have admitted their defeat.

General Lu Yung-Hsiang and his chief of staff, Ho Feng-Lin, fled aboard a Japanese vessel, while the Chekiang defences before Shanghai collapsed.

Chi Hsieh-Yuan's forces are advancing without opposition to take possession of Shanghai.

The civilian population outside the foreign settlement are panic-stricken, and are attempting to enter the concessions.

American, French, and British marines are mobilised at the barriers to prevent a rush into the settlement.

The principal trouble expected is with 20,000 Shantung mercenaries left stranded by Lu when he fled to save his head.

Lu took a fortune with him when he fled. Looting of the native districts is feared to-night, although Chi Hsieh-Yuan's troops have been warned to respect the rights of the civilians, and especially foreigners, in Shanghai.

The outcome of the two months' battle for Shanghai means that Chi soon will be able to reinforce his ally, Wu Pei Fu, who is combatting Chang Tso-Lin in the north. Lu, Chang's ally, has failed him.

TEN DAY SENTENCE CHASES HIS SMILE

Citizen Who Drove a Car While Intoxicated Appears In Court.

A local man, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, this morning lost the smile with which he greeted Magistrate O. A. Langley when he was sentenced to ten days in jail, without the option of a fine.

He sat up on the rail of the prisoner's dock to argue the point, but was firmly told that no fine is allowed in such cases.

Any person who is fool enough to drive a car while intoxicated," Magistrate Langley said, "may as well understand that he will go to jail."

Chief Newhall pointed out that the other occupant of the car a man who made his getaway on the approach of Sergeant Thomas, is an ex-convict.

Two citizens pleaded guilty without appearing in Court, to charges of breach of the traffic by-laws, and were fined $2.00 and costs, each.

Another man pleaded not guilty to a charge of selling, bartering or giving liquor contrary to the provisions of the O.T.A.

He was remanded for a week to enable him to obtain counsel.

TALK ON SERUM

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13. —(Canadian Press.)—Tests at Philadelphia Hospital For Contagious Diseases of a new serum for the prevention of measles, which have been conducted by the Department of Health during the past few months, give every indication that this disease can soon be made ar rare as smallpox, Dr. Wilmer Krusen, director of the department, said yesterday in his weekly health talk.

The announcement by Dr. Krusen of the tests here is the first information to the public concerning the new serum, which, he said, is taken from patients who are convalescing from the disease.

ACTIVITY AT "Y."

Business Men's Class Is Larger and Better Than Ever.

Quite a number of young men and some business men are sore these days. Fortunately this soreness is physical rather than mental, and is the result of the first class in Gym. Of course this soreness is accompanied by a sense of greater fitness and a keener interest in life generally and the one with the sore muscles kows that the next visit to the gym. will correct his minor trouble which is, after all, not an altogether unpleasant feeling.

The feature of the gymnasium work so far this year is the young men's class meeting on Monday and Thursday evenings. This class is without doubt the finest seen of this group for many a year, and there are more coming every night. The enrollment to date is 50 and considering the earliness of the season and the fine weather these evenings is remarkable. The prospects for all the other classes are unusually bright, and the only serious problem now is locker room and locker accommodation.

Chess and checkers.—The attendance of the chess and checker men last night was a fine indication that this new club is bound to have a big future. There were 18 in attendance and a rather surprising feature was that the big majority were chess players. The checker players should try to restore the balance next Monday evening by turning out in full force. Rev. Mr. Edgar was unavoidably detained last night, but will be on hand regularly on Monday evenings. The club meets also on Saturday afternoons in the lobby. Any players are heartily invited to attend and any who are anxious to learn chess and those who would like to improve their checker game are asked to make their desire known to the staff or members of the club.

Educational classes.— Enrollment is now in order for matriculation classes. Any who are needing one or more subjects are asked to hand in their names so that the committee may arrange for the subjects desired.

The class in public speaking will be conducted providing a sufficient number desire to take this excellent and valuable training.

Conservatives and Liberals Unite To Defeat Labour.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 14. — Conservatives and Liberals have united to defeat Labor in the forthcoming general election.

Although no official admission of such an anti-Socilist compact could be obtained from spokesmen for either of the older parties, the purpose as evident to-day.

In many constituencies either the Conservative or the Liberal candidate as withdrawing, clearing the way for a straight fight against Labor, instead of a triangular contest which might end by giving the seat to the Government party.

The two older parties will do their utmost to prevent re-election of Premier MacDonald in his home constituency. The Conservatives have withdrawn their candidate, leaving the Opposition field open to the Liberal nominee, whom they will support financially, although unofficially.

The Tories also withdrew their candidate at Paisley, leaving ex-Premier H. S. Asquith a straight fight against Labor.

At Carnevon, Lloyd George will be opposed only by the Labor candidate, Professor A. E. Zimmern.

In the west of Scotland there has been general agreement similar to the above.

The heavy artillery of all political parties was brought into play along the electorate fronts to-day, with offensives and counter offensives calculated to continue uninterruptedly for the fortnight remaining before the election.

Ramsay MacDonald started on a four day motor trip of Glasgow to span Scotland, Wales and the north of Ex-Premiers Asquith and Lloyd George spoke from the same platform here while Austin Chamberlain at Rugby, Lord Birkenhead in London and Winston Churchill at Woodford set the Tory pace.

GENERAL SU YUNG FLEES TO JAPAN

He Will Take Refuge at the Hot Springs in Western Japan.

OSAKA, Japan, October 14 (United Press). — General Lu Yung Hsiang, former War Lord of Chekiang, who fled from Shanghai when threatened with defeat by Chi-Hsieh-Yuan, arrived at Sakasaki at 11 a.m. to-day, aboard a Japanese vessel.

Accompanied by General Wang, he went to the Yueno Hotel.

Lu is going to the hot springs in Western Japan, where General Loang, ex-President of China, once took refuge.

He declined to be interviewed saying: "A defeated general has nothing to tell."

The General's secretary added naively, however:

"We weren't defeated in battle, our troops should have continued fighting, with someone else taking command."

ADDS LOTS OF FLAVOR.

A bit of Worcestershire sauce added to the French dressing gives it a very distinct and pleasing flavor.

KEEP IN GLASS.

Acids or liquids should never be kept in tin containers. Glass is the ideal material for such supplies.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir,—The almost daily grind of ministerial outrages continues. Here is to-day's:

"PASTOR AND YOUNG GIRL ELOPE FROM THEIR OHIO HOME

XENIA, Ohio., Oct. 13.— (United Press). —"I loved him, and I could not help it."

"Anna and I fell in love the first time we saw each other, but my wife and I never could agree."

These two messages, the former from Miss Anna Rollen, 16, and the latter from the Rev. Charles Payne 33, were received to-day by the girl's mother.

Both were post-marked Washington Court House, Ohio, and brought the first word to an anxious community of Anna's elopment with her pastor.

Payne is married and has two children."

Old Man Ontario: "It looks innocent enough, but it's got the death cup at the bottom of it."

Old Man Ontario Cannot Be Fooled

His Memory Penetrates the Thin Disguise of an Age-Long Law-Breaker

ONTARIO is being treated to the spectacle of a thinly-disguised liquor trade posing as a champion of better laws! With an unbroken record of law-breaking and law-defiance, bandit booze now poses as a reformer!

Is it possible that the booze interests—brewers, distillers and bootleggers—believe the people of Ontario have no memories? Men and women of mature years know the liquor traffic has NEVER obeyed the law.

Before Ontario electors instruct their government to become the agent of the booze-makers and to establish supply stations for the bootleggers, let them reflect well on the history of the liquor traffic in this province.

Booze Always the Enemy of Temperance

Every move to lessen waste, misery and crime by restricting the sale of intoxicating liquor has been fought tooth and nail by "the trade". Every legal restriction has been broken at every opportunity. Every measure of temperance reform has been accomplished against the fierce opposition of the men who make and sell booze.

Again and again, Ontario has voted strongly for temperance laws. Invariably the lawless liquor trade has bent its efforts towards discrediting and nullifying those measures. Too often the men who retailed the booze sold it illegally after hours—and the makers (brewers and distillers) lent encouragement by selling liquor to law-breakers. The Attorney-General of British Columbia recently declared: "The greatest bootleggers of all are the brewers and export liquor dealers."

Liquor More Lawless Than Ever

The liquor interests did not observe the law in the days of the open bar. The liquor trade was lawless under Local Option. Booze has plotted the death of The Ontario Temperance Act since its inception. In Quebec, British Columbia and Manitoba the liquor traffic, with its bootlegging partner-in-crime, has already made a mockery of "government control".

It is still a wolf in sheep's clothing. The same old self-seeking booze traffic is making a new attempt to pull the wool over the eyes of Ontario citizens. But the disguise is too thin.

When Ontario electors were last asked to repeal the Ontario Temperance Act, they replied by a vote of over 2 to 1—777,537 to 370,248, a majority for the O.T.A. of 407,289. On October 23rd, if the people of Ontario are alive to their opportunity of putting a lawless minority in its proper place, the majority will be 500,000.

Ontario Will Not Let Down the Bars

Reasonable people realize that conditions produced by over a century of easy access to intoxicating liquors cannot be entirely cured in less than one-twelfth of that time. It took 20 years after legally abolishing slavery in the U.S. to entirely eliminate the slave traffic.

In eight years The Ontario Temperance Act has brought such beneficial changes that the old days of licensed liquor sales seem but an evil memory.

There was never any thought of going back to slavery at the dictation of a minority of law-breakers. Nor is there now in Ontario any serious thought of letting down the bars at the behest of law-evading elements that seek a system of legalized liquor sale more ruinous than the ill-famed open bar.

Ontario has no ambition to become another bootleggers' paradise like Quebec, British Columbia and Manitoba.

Ontario prefers to issue unmistakeable instructions to its government to keep out of the booze business and to put the bootlegger out of business, too, by strengthening where necessary and vigorously enforcing The Ontario Temperance Act.

For the Honor of Old Ontario mark your ballot thus:

1. Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act? X

2. Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquor in sealed packages under Government control?

BELMONTS' DEFEAT OF KIWANIS FEATURE OF SOFTBALL OPENING

Indoor League Started Season at Brock Street Rink Last Night With Three Games — De Laval Won From Lockworks.

ARENA FLOOR WAS FAST.

Last night's exhibition games in the Softball League, played in the Brock Street Rink, proved to be a great success, and, judging by the large crowd of enthusiastic fans who turned out to see the battles, softball is going to be a great drawing card this season.

The De Laval and the Lock Company boys met in the first game of the season and of the evening, the former winning by the score of 5 to 2 in a closely contested game that was full of life and pep throughout and well worthy of being the opening. Numerous errors and slips by the Lockmakers handed the victory to the South-End crew, while the De Laval team showed plenty of old-time form and came through with but two errors, while at bat they did nicely when they clouted "Bizzy" Thorndyke and "Gord" Connors for a total of 9 hits.

Kennedy started on the slab for the Senarator boys, but was relieved by Dwyer at the end of the third. Kennedy pitched a nice game, but his successor, Dwyer, showed more speed and control, striking out 4 of the 8 batters to face him.

FEATURE CAME.

The feature game was put on by the Belmonts and the Kiwanis, the former winning by one run, the score being 7 to 6, when the game was called at the end of the fifth. Bob Mackey and his gang of Kiwanians were on their toes all the way and made the Belmonts go to the limit to scratch through with a win.

The Kiwanis were leading 6 to 5 until the fourth inning, when the Belmonts got to McLean for 3 hits and 2 runs. Kiwanis made a desperate attempt to take the lead in the fifth, but failed, giving the Belmonts the verdict of a 7 to 6 score.

McLean on the mound for the Kiwanis, was nicked for 8 hits, while Holyman held the Kiwanis to 7, four of them being very costly in the second, when the Kiwanians chased 5 runs across the plate. 'Doc' Craig, in left field for the Kiwanis, pulled down a nice fly in the last innings, to end the game, while Mackey at short and Brown behind the plate all turned in a nice performance.

BRASS DEFEATED.

The Canadian National Railway boys were too much for the Brass when they defeated the C.G.E. lads by the score of 13 to 4 in the only game that showed much ragged baseball. "Scuffy" Mahood twirled a nice game for the Brass, but ragged support robbed him of any chances he had to win the contest.

Delahaye brothers showed up well when they each took a crack at both pitching and receiving. Harold started on the mound but was relieved by his brother catcher at the end of the fourth. Both made a good job of pitching them across, and neither were hit hard by the Electrics.

The C.G.E. were leading 4 to 2 until the fourth innings, but once the C.N.R. got started they never stopped, scoring 3 in each of the next three innings and 2 in the seventh. Umpires Thomas and Webb made a good job of handling the game, considering it was their first games.

THE MARGIN BY WHICH BALL GAMES ARE WON

The score was tied, 3 to 3, when the Washington team went to bat in the last half of the ninth inning of the second game of the World Series. Judge walked and reached second on Bluege's sacrifice. Peckinpaugh hit to left field, and in this picture you see the ball (arrow) just a foot or two from Hank Gowdy's glove and Judge with the winning run just about the same distance away. Judge was safe and Washington won the game. A fraction of a second more speed for the ball, and the game might have gone the other way.

"PRO" MANAGER.

ART ROSS.

This gent. might properly be called a money player. Art Ross was one of the players in the old hockey league at Cobalt, Canada, once a prosperous silver camp, and it is figured he was paid at the rate of $30.00 a minute. He has just been appointed vice-president and manager of the Boston professional hockey team, which recently secured a franchise in the National Hockey League.

BASEBALL FANS REGRET FAILURE OF BROOKLYN

Johnson Versus Vance Would Have Been Great Pitching Attraction.

Baseball fans will always regret the fact that Brooklyn failed to win the National League pennant of 1924.

Victory by Brooklyn would have offered the greatest pitching attraction in the history of the series.

Walter Johnson versus Dazzy Vance would undoubtedly have been the pitching selections for the opening game

What a treat that would have been. The veteran speed-ball king of the American League pitted against the National League ace.

In some quarters the question has been raised as to whether it would have been good judgment to send Vance against Johnson had Brooklyn and Washington been the winners.

Perhaps not—but the desire to win the all-important first game would have found both managers depending on their one best bet.

Very often the world series games are drab because both teams insist on playing safety-first ball. In a short series it usually isn't wise to take chances. Get a run is the system generally adopted Johnson versus Vance, however, would have been real dessert.

It is a rare occurrence to have two outstanding stars of the Johnson-Vance type in a big series, pitchers who have gained success through the same medium, a dazzling fast ball.

For that reason Brooklyn fans in particular, baseball fans in general, will regret the fact that Brooklyn just fell short of landing the National League pennant.

Vance, enjoying the greatest year of his career, has more or less monopolized the pitching feats of the year in the National League. The records are studded with pitching gems by "Dazzy."

Vance's best strikeout performance was 15. He also whiffed 14. In both cases the Chicago Cubs were the victims.

Four times he set 11 men down on strikes, once he got 10, while on seven occasions he had nine of the opposition take three healthy swings and return to the bench.

In the American League Johnson, with 14 strike-outs was the leader. Johnson no longer goes in for the strikeout stuff, so his record in no way compares with that of Vance.

Who would have been returned the victor had Johnson and Vance met? Really it would be an unkind act to even offer an opinion. That question will go down in baseball as one of the unsolved mysteries of the game.

WIN MINOR TITLE.

St. Paul Took Third Straight and Final From Baltimore.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 14.—Premier honors in the minor league baseball world rested last night with St. Paul achieved through victory Monday over Baltimore in the deciding game of the junior world series.

Battling through to their third straight triumph, the Saints humbled the International league champions, 6 to 3, giving them five victories to the Oriole's four in the post season fray.

Each team made nine hits but the splendid work of Howard Merritt the Saints slow curve southpaw, kept the Oriole hits scattered except in the seventh, when they scored three runs on Maisel's homer.

Score:—

Baltimore	000 000 300—3 9 0
St. Paul	011 102 10x—6 9 0

Thomas, Jackson, Earnshaw and Freitag; Merritt and Dixon.

HOW HARRIS STARTED.

Hughey Jennings Befriended Washington's Manager In 1918.

WASHINGTON, Oct 14. — Mrs. Thomas Harris, of Dover, N. J., mother of Stanley (Bucky) Harris, youthful manager of the Senators, was "glad Stan succeeded because he's such a clean kid."

"A great deal of credit for Stan's progress in baseball is due to Hughey Jennings," Mrs. Harris said. "My husband and Mr. Jennings played baseball together on the sand lots near Pittston, Pa. Mr. Harris was pitcher and Mr. Jennings was catcher. Bach in 1918 my husband asked Mr. Jennings to give Stan a chance and he did. He gave him a position with the Buffalo team. Chief Myers was then catcher for Buffalo and made the comment that 'Buffalo will never keep that kid.' Stan stayed there four years.

ARTICLE No. 1

If there is any one thing that keeps most auction players from becoming experts, it is because they cannot concentrate on what they are doing. When you are playing auction, don't discuss some other topic or think of something else. Keep your eyes on the cards and your mind on what you are doing. No man has ever attained success unless he kept his mind on what he was doing and off what he was not doing. The same thing applies to success as an auction player. You must keep your mind on what you are doing or you will lose track of a card just at the time when it is most important. "When you are playing auction don't think of anything else." In the following hand Z was "thinking of something else" or he would have been more alert to the situation.

	Hearts — J, 9, 4, 2 Clubs — J, 7 Diamonds — 6, 5, 3 Spades — 9, 7, 5, 2
Hearts — K, 8, 6 Clubs — 10, 5, 4 Diamonds — K, J, 10, 9 Spades — K, 10, 6	Y	Hearts — A, 10, 5, 3 Clubs — K, Q, 9, 3, 2 Diamonds — 4 Spades — Q, J, 8
	A B Z
	Hearts — Q, 7 Clubs — A, 8, 6 Diamonds — A, Q, 8, 7, 2 Spades — A, 4, 3

No score, rubber game. B dealt and bid one no-trump, Z doubled and Y bid two spades. B and Z passed and A bid two no-trump. Y and B passed and Z made the mistake of doubling. If his mind had been on what he was doing he would have known that both A and B had good hands and that his partner, Y, must have a worthless hand. None of these self-evident facts occurred to him, however, so he doubled two no-trump. A, a very smart player, figured that he and his partner probably had Z in a bad position so redoubled. Y was now in a position where he was positive that Z could not defeat two no-trump so bid three hearts, his other four card suit. B doubled this and Z bid three spades which A doubled and defeated 400 points. Z's failure to keep his mind on what he was doing had proved very expensive. The same player, Z, a few games later, held the following hand:

Hearts — 7
Clubs — 8, 4
Diamonds — A, 9, 7, 2
Spades — A, K, Q, 8, 5, 2

There was no score and A, the dealer, bid two clubs, Y bid two hearts, B two spades and Z doubled. A promptly bid three clubs, Y bid three diamonds, B four clubs and Z four diamonds. So far Z's bids were correct. A now passed, Y passed and B bid four spades, which Z promptly doubled. A now bid five clubs, Y and B passed. Here Z was up against a proposition as to whether he should double five clubs or bid five diamonds. If his mind had been on what he was doing, he would have realized that if he and his partner held the top cards in three suits, that A-B could not make five clubs and that it might just as well be possible that he and his partner could not make five diamonds. In other words, the angle was in favor of a double of five clubs and against a five diamond bid. Z, however, missed these points and bid five diamonds. A doubled this and defeated the bid by 100 points, winning two club and one heart tricks. If Z had played the certainty as he should, he would have defeated the five club bid by 200 points, winning two heart tricks, one diamond and one spade trick. It is on hands such as this that the real expert shows so much superiority over the average player. His mind is always on what he is doing and he never allows himself to think of anything else. That is the secret of good playing — concentration and more concentration.

Problem

	Hearts — A, Q, 10, 7 Clubs — None Diamonds — 3 Spades — None
Hearts — K, 8, 4, 2 Clubs — J Diamonds — None Spades — None	Y A B Z	Hearts — J, 6, 5, 3 Clubs — None Diamonds — Q Spades — None
	Hearts — 9 Clubs — 4 Diamonds — J Spades — 5, 4

Spades are trumps and Z has the lead. How can Y-Z win all the tricks against any possible defense? Solution in the next article.

CHANTLER ON HALF LINE WITH QUEEN'S

Newcomer Will Take McKelvey's Place Next Saturday.

KINGSTON, Oct. 14. — Entering the week of their opening game of the senior C.I.R.F.U. Queen's are as confident as ever that they will put a halt to Varsity, at the Richardson stadium here on Saturday. The champions are in great shape and with a strong line up on Saturday except to continue their victorious march to their third straight Dominion title.

"Red" Batstone crack half back who has been under the weather for the past two weeks was out to practice Monday and apparently showed no ill effects of his injury in the exhibition game with RMCC.

Batstone will be on hand on Saturday and along with Leadley and Chantler will form the rear guard. Chantler has been the sensation of the College team. His running and kicking has been most spectacular and he promises to be a big asset to the Tri-Color. Burley, who on Saturday was injured ,will be back at his position of flying wing in the Varsity game while Muirhead, star inside wing, and McLeod, General utility man will also be on deck. The only absentee from the regular line up will be Gib McKelvey and his place will be well looked after by Chantler.

BOWLING NEWS

QUAKER OATS TEN PIN LEAGUE

The Quaker Oats opened their Ten Pin League last night at Solomon's Alley, when Jones and Cunnigham each won a game.

Brooks was high man for the two games on the evening's play having a nice score of 336. He also came through with the high single of 175. Morphet was second best for the two games rolling 311.

The boys were in pretty fair shape for the opening games and by the enjoyment the boys had last night the league should be a great success.

Following are the scores:

Cunningham—
Elcome	120	120	—240
Turner	116	157	—273
Brooks	161	175	—336
Cunningham	144	159	—303
	541	611	1152

Jones—
Donnelly	136	159	—295
Ash	133	100	—233
Morphet	138	173	—311
Jones	153	126	—279
	560	558	—1118

BANK LEAGUES

Union Bank and Montreal Bank meet this afternoon at 4.30 at Solomon's Alleys, while the Ladies' Bank League will formally open this evening at 5 p.m.

A LADIES' MERCANTILE LEAGUE WILL BE FORMED.

A Ladies' Mercantile League is already being started. The girls from the C.P.C. have signified their intentions of joining if the league is successfully formed.

There is now reason why this league should not be run. Several times before Mr. Soloman was approached to run a Ladies' Mercantile League but until the past few days no action had been taken. The C.P.C.'s entry caused the starting of the league. Teams are expected from the Rebekahs and the Westclox and others. Any teams wishing to enter this league are asked to send their entry to Solomon's Alleys.

With the great amount of interest taken by the ladies this season in bowling, a Ladies' Mercantile League should be a success. Competition among the fairer sex from different teams would be a great sport, and a good evening's fun.

The number of ladies leagues in the big centres indicates the interest taken by the fairer sex and a league in Peterboro should go over big too.

BILL SMITHSON ROLLS NICE SCORE IN TEN PINS.

Rolling yesterday at Solomon's Alleys Bill Smithson made a nice score of 655 for three games. He went over 200 in every game.

MERCANTILE FIVE PIN LEAGUE NOW HAS SIX TEAMS

There has been six teams entered to date in the Mercantile Five Pin League. More teams are expected from the Lockworks, Post Office, Brinton Carpet, William Hamilton's and the Merchants Press. The following are the teams entered: Westclox, Cressmans, Bell Telephone, C.G.E., Nashua Paper and the Examiner. The C.G.E. is a new entry. When the Belmont Club start their five pin league going they expect to enter a team in the Mercantile League.

BELMONT CLUB WILL RUN A FIVE PIN LEAGUE.

The Belmont Club are forming a five pin league and expect to get started soon. They should have a great league judging by the amount of interest that was taken by the boys who rolled in the tournaments put on by that club last year.

EXAMINER INTERSHOP FIVE PIN LEAGUE SCHEDULE

The Examiner Intershop League will get away with a bang Wednesday night at Solomon's Alleys, at 5 o'clock. Nine teams have been formed and a bunch of new bowlers will make their bow when the league opens.

The following is the schedule:

ALTITUDE RECORD.

French Aviator Attained Height of 36,555 Feet.

PARIS, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—The world's airplane altitude record of 11,145 metres (36,555 feet), made by the French aviator, Sadi Lecointe, in October, 1923, was eclipsed at Villacoublay on Friday by the French aviator Callizo, who set the mark at 12,066 metres. This announcement was made yesterday after an official examination of the altitude registering instruments on Callizo's machine. The aviator had been training for three years in an endeavor to break the record.

"SHINER" WAS FAIR

(From Toronto Star)

Umpire Johnston, of Peterboro, who was behind the plate in the McCormick-Peterboro, Lakeview junior O.B.A.A. game, got a rough passage at Stanley Park Saturday. After the official had chased Rasson, the McCormick pitcher, for abusing verbally and throwing the ball at him, some "short sport" threw a pail of water over the screen at Johnston. He didn't miss either. The attack was unjustified, for Johnston was impartial at all times.

OPENING GAME IN SOFTBALL SERIES

Kiwanis and Rotary Put on the Opener at Rink To-morrow Night.

The opening games of the softball schedule will be played at the Brock Street Rink to-morrow night, starting at 8 o'clock, when the Kiwanis and Rotary will provide the excitement for the opening game. At 9 o'clock the Lock Works and the De Laval will clash. To-morrow night's bill is a good one, and there should be a large turnout of fans. The Rotary and Kiwanis have always been very evenly matched, and will provide a great battle, while after the showing the Kiwanis made last night in their exhibition game with the Belmonts they have a much snappier team this year than last and will make the Rotarians go the limit to come through with a win. The De Laval won from the Lock Works last night in an exhibition game by the score of 5 to 2, but had the Lock Works not switched their team around so much they would have given the separator boys a much harder battle than they did. As it was the game was one of the fastest of the evening, while the little work out last night will have both teams in better trim for to-night's argument, which starts at 9 o'clock.

On Friday evening, from 7 to 10 o'clock, there will be three games played:

7 o'clock—C.N.R. vs. Engineers.
8 o'clock—Bowlers vs K. of C.
9 o'clock—Teachers vs. Triple Link.

GIANTS SCANDAL IS NOT OVER YET

Learned That Dolan Rejected Newspaper Offer of $4,000 For Story.

NEW YORK, October 14. — Investigation into the late baseball scandal involving two members of the Giants, has not ended yet, but on the contrary is being shed vigorously, Commissioner K. M. Landis said last night before he took train for Chicago.

However, he declared that it is impossible to say whether there will be any new developments in the future.

It was learned yesterday that Dolan rejected a newspaper offer of $4,000 to search his memory and reveal the details of the case, The offer was of approximately the amount Dolan lost through his exile, each player of the vanquished Giants receiving $3820 from the world series receipts.

BRITTON WINS.

Cutpointed Phil Krug In Ten Round Contest.

NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, outpointed Phil Krug, of Harrison, in a ten-round bout here last night, according to the unanimous opinion of the newspapermen at the ringside.

Britton put up a masterful bout and outpointed Krug in practically every round.

LAWN BOWLERS HELD MEETING

Alex. Dick Still Going Strong As a Song Leader—Prizes Presented.

A well-attended meeting of the members of the Peterboro Lawn Bowling Club was held in Hooper's Palm Parlors last evening. During the dinner Alex. Dick acted as song leader, and Martin Chenhall now has his eye on some new material for his Male Voice Choir.

The president, Mr. D. H. Moore, occupied the chair, and his annual address was enthusiastically received. The presentation of prizes then took place. The prizes for the Glover cup was presented by the donor, Mr. R. M. Glover, to T. C. Elliot's rink, composed of Messrs. Elliot, Fox, Coleman and Wise. The prizes for the inter-rink competition went to H. R. Martin's rink, composed of Messrs. Martin, Freeman, Cook and French, the runners-up in this competition being Mr. E. Taylor's rink, composed of Messrs. Taylor, Bowes, Fulford and C. Taylor. Dr. Hammond donated prizes for the doubles, which were won by Messrs. Fox and Boucher, the runners-up in this being Messrs. E. Taylor and J. T. Braund. The prize for the open singles was won by J. Cullen; W. J. Oke captured the second prize in this event.

The members of the club presented Mr. J. W. Mayneord with a Dunhill pipe as an expression of their appreciation for the valuable services rendered by him during the past season.

The election of officers then took place:

Hon. President—Mr. D. H. Moore.
President—John Sedgewick (acclamation).
Vice-President — Martin Chenhall (acclamation).
Secretary-Treasurer — C. J. Seymour (acclamation).
Executive Committee — Messrs. Howden, Martin and Taylor.
Tournament Committee—Messrs. Oke, McArthur and Cairns.

GALT ENTERS PROTEST.

Oslers Refuse To Enter Competition a Second Time.

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Whether or not the O. B. A. A. sustains the protest lodged by the Galt Club against the awarding of the Senior championship to the Oslers of Toronto, the latter now title-holders, because they won the honors in playing fields in two straight games, will decline to enter the competition again. Manager Fred Hamilton stated last night that under no consideration would the Oslers play a League game again this season.

FIGHT TO DRAW.

Harry Greb and Loughran Boxed Ten Rounds In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, middleweight champion of the world, and Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, boxed ten round last night to a draw, the decision being given by the referee after the judges had disagreed. Both men tried hard for a knockout.

SIDNEY JONES FOUND GUILTY OF NEGLIGENCE

Trial of Clarence F. Smith, Bank Director, Resumed To-day.

SEVERAL CLASHES.

Thomas Gibbs On Stand Under Cross Examination Of Waldron.

TORONTO, October 14 (Canadian Press). — Sidney H. Jones, the former auditor of the Home Bank of Canada, which failed in August, 1923, was found guilty today by Senior County Judge Emerson Coatsworth on a charge of negligence in regard to the statement of the bank's condition furnished to the Federal Minister of Finance.

After Judge Coatsworth had given judgment in the case of Sidney H. Jones, Home Bank auditor, this morning, the trial of Clarence F. Smith, Home Bank director, on the charges of making false statements of the bank's affairs was resumed.

Thomas Gibbs, assistant to the chief accountant, was on the stand all morning under cross-examination by Gordon Waldron, counsel for the defence.

D. L. McCarthy, Crown counsel, had a couple of clashes with Mr. Waldron, and on one occasion told him that he should remember he was not living still in Nicaragua.

Mr. Gibbs gave evidence concerning monthly statements, and said that directors very seldom saw them and got what information they wanted from other sources. He said that he saw few orders from the general manager, except debit slips when he wanted money.

The cross-examination of Mr. Gibbs will be resumed this afternoon.

THE GERMAN LOAN WAS CLOSED TO-DAY

Subscription Books Were Closed a Few Minutes After Lists Were Opened.

NEW YORK, October 14.—United Press.—J. P. Morgan and Company, announced the closing of the subscription books of the American section of the German loan a few minutes after the lists were opened at 10 a.m.

The issue was heavily over subscribed.

The initial sale of the new German sevens was made on the stock exchange in the first half hour of trading at 94 3-8, which compares with the offering price of 92.

So great was the demand for German bonds that several large investment houses were compelled to decline to take any more subscriptions because their allotment of the loan had been sold.

In the first 15 minutes of the trading approximately $350,000 worth of bonds changed hands on the New York stock exchange at prices ranging between 94 3-8 and 92 7-8 as against offering price of 92.

FRANK BRANDEGEE COMMITTED SUICIDE

Left Note and One Hundred Dollars For His Chauffeur.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Senator Frank Brandegee of Connecticutt, prominent for years among Republican leaders of Congress, committed suicide at his home here to-day. Worried and distracted, his friends said, over financial difficulties, he went to an unused bathroom on the third floor of his house, and just before dawn took his own life by inhaling gas.

He left in his bedroom below a note to his chauffeur, pencilled in an uncertain hand on Senate stationery. The Senator's last message said:

"October 13, 1924.

"Dear George,—I enclose $100 for you and $100 for Emma and Rufus. I am up in the bathroom on the top floor, near 17th Street, the top floor. The floor above the one I sleep on. If you or Lundy come up there beware of the gas. Goodbye.—Frank B. Brandegee."

RETURNED TRUE BILLS.

Charges Grew Out Of Report of a Royal Commission.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press.) — Grand Jury that last week reported no bill in the case of Sir Richard Squires, former Premier, charged with larceny of public money, to-day returned true bills against John Meany, former liquor controller of Newfoundland and Whitford McNeelly, former clerk in crown lands department, both under charges in connection with the same series of incidents on which former premier was brought before courts.

Charges grew out of report of Royal Commission which early this year investigated governmental affairs in Newfoundland. In its report the commission found that Sir Richard Squires had accepted for deposit to his account large sums of money for liquor control department.

PASTORAL LETTER TO PRESBYTERIANS

All But Three Ministers Will Follow Path of Church Union.

To the Members and Adherents of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, within the bonds of the Presbytery of Peterborough:

Whereas, our Church after long years of consideration, has finally decided to become a part of the United Church of Canada, and,

Whereas, the Synod of Toronto and Kingston at its recent meeting, instructed its ministers to declare as early as opportune, their decision to continue their connection with the historic Church of which we are now ordained ministers,

We, the undersigned ministers of the Presbytery of Peterborough, hereby make our declaration of loyalty to, and our intention to continue our ministry in, the Church of our fathers which is now entering into the United Church.

We desire also, to assure our people that full information concerning the situation now obtaining in our Church, will be presented in the near future. In the meantime we affectionately urge our respective congregations to take no hasty action.

(Signed) W. A. Bremner, Cobourg; C. F. McIntosh, Campbellford; M. C. Mackinnon, Knox, Peterborough; John Archibald, Keene; W. L. Atkinson, Warsaw; Geo. S. Hammond, Warkworth; James W. (There are 22 ministers with charges in the Presbytery.)

TO HONOUR CONTRACTS.

Provincial Treasurer Supplements Earlier Statement Regarding Lower Interest Rate.

TORONTO, October 14. — Supplementing his announcement that the Government would cut its interest rate from 4 to 3 per cent. on deposits in the Provincial Savings Branch, Treasurer W. H. Price to-day said that depositors who have entered into combined savings and assurance plan will continue to receive under their their contracts for present for 120 months of their contract.

He said that some half million dollars of totals of $21,000,000 deposited are covered by this exception. He further announced that some six weeks ago the government severed relations with private company soliciting assured saving accounts, and that no new contracts of this nature have since been received.

In justifying the cut in interest rates the treasurer said that the average rate paid for money borrowed by the government in the open market this year had been 4.99 per cent., which is one point less than is paid by the government to the savings for its surpluses over requirements of rural credit board.

ANOTHER FLAG UP.

Stars and Stripes Will Keep Russian Flag Company.

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Since Russia hoisted her flag over Wrangel Island in Artic ocean north of Siberia, August 20, Stars and Stripes have been run up on Herald Island, smaller body of land, forty miles east it was learned here to-day.

THE FRENCH HARVEST SHORTAGE.

Estimates That $140,000,000 Wheat Will Be Bought Abroad.

The Journal des Debats of Paris estimates that the French harvest this season cannot be reckoned on to produce more than 227,000,000 bushels, which would be 35,000,000 less than the harvest of 1923.

It states that the North African harvests in the French colonies are so bad that production may not be sufficient for the home requirements of the population.

For this reason the Desbats makes the estimate that France will have to buy from exporting countries this season, at least 87,000,000 bushels of wheat at a cost of about $140,000,000.

Importers, it states, were already buying steadily from Canada and the United States last month, and their covering operations in foreign exchange had much to do with the recent weakness of the pound sterling and the dollar at New York.

WINDS HIT ZR-3.

Zeppelin's Speed Has Been Reduced From 90 Miles An Hour To 25.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(United Press).—Combating strong southwest winds, against which it could make but 25 miles an hour, the Zeppeline ZR-3 at 1 p.m. to-day (Greenwich Meantime) reported its position as 91 N 45 W. The position reported by the Dirigible, in a wireless message received by the radio corporation of American was approximately half way between the Azores and the Bermudas, but considerably to the northward of the latter. The southwest winds reported may have caused the Zeppelin to head directly for Lakehurst. Her position might be taken to indicate this.

PRINTED TRACT RAISED STORM

Peterborough Congregations Given Anonymous Composition On Sunday.

CALLED SCURRILOUS.

Characterized by a prominent clergyman as 'scurrilous blasphemy' and by an eminent jurist as well within the provisions of the criminal code against blasphemous libel, a tract distributed in the city on Sunday has raised a storm of protest from wets, drys and neutrals alike. The tract, headed "Prohibition and Common Sense," and printed in Peterboro on small pieces of paper, was handed to the congregations at George Street Methodist Church and St. Paul's Presbyterian Church by small boys. Whether the publication is an offence against the law of Canada as laid down in the Criminal Code or not, lawyers, ministers, business men and citizens of all degree are united in declaring it an offence against the feelings of reasonable men and a travesty of the rules of argument.

In its milder parts the outrageous publication declares war on the Almighty and expresses doubt as to the depth of His knowledge.

The Examiner cannot publish the writing without making itself liable to the same charge of libel that may be levelled against the author and publisher, even if common decency did not forbid the spreading of so insane and vile language.

The Criminal Aspect.

By Section 198 of the Criminal Code of Canada, everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who publishes any blasphemous libel, and the offence is described as publications which in an indecent and malicious spirit assail and asperse the truth of Christianity or of the Scriptures in language calculated and intended to shock the feelings and outrage the belief of mankind.

Whether any particular published matter is a blasphemous libel, or not is a question of fact, according to the Criminal Code; provided that no one is guilty of a blasphemous libel for expressing in good faith and in decent language, or attempting to establish by arguments used in good faith and conveyed in decent language, any opinion whatever upon any religious subject.

According to cases decided under this section of the decencies of controversy are observed, even the fundamentals of religion may be attacked without the right of being guilty of blasphemous libel.

No justification of a blasphemous libel can be pleaded, nor is argument as to its truth permitted.

Authorship Denied.

Immediately on having the matter called to their attention, members of the Moderation League called on Rev. W. Harold Young and assured him that their hands were clean and that they knew nothing of the publication until that time. A representative also called on The Examiner to declare that the League is not responsible.

Although it is almost impossible for a reasonable man to understand from the wording of the tract by which party it is issued, or what the object is beyond an effort to savagely attack the Creator, prominent members of the O.T.A. forces in the city indignantly deny knowledge of it.

The tract is best described by a clergyman as scurrilous, and the authors as men without the courage of their convictions, sending little boys to distribute their handiwork.

ALL IS READY FOR THE PRINCE'S VISIT

TORONTO, October 14 (Canadian Press). — Everything about the Prince's visit to Toronto tomorrow will be informal.

The heir to the British throne is coming to Toronto, not as the Prince of Wales, but as Baron Renfrew, and it is expected he will carry informality to the point of stopping in a hotel.

On his arrival on Wednesday morning the Prince will proceed almost immediately to Aurora to attend the special meeting of the Toronto Hunt. He will breakfast with the hunt at Sir William Mulock's country home near Newmarket at 10 o'clock.

From the hunt he will return to a private dinner at Government House at 7.45, and then will attend the members' dance at the York Club.

Before leaving at noon on Thursday for Ottawa, it is expected that he will play a round of golf at either Lambton or the Toronto Club.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

FLASHES OF 1924.

"Flashes of 1924," the attraction at the Grand for the first three days of this week, is a pot pourri of vaudeville numbers, with El-Vol-To, the mystery act featured.

El-Vol-To—the audience is requested to guess whether it is man, woman or machine—is a novelty. The figure moves as mechanically as a toy soldier, there is not the slighest movement of the facial muscles and anybody who can change El-Vol-To's expression can win some money. The act is very cleverly staged and is the outstanding feature of the programme.

Jack Lee, the newsboy singer, scored heavily last night in his song numbers. The youngster has a nice voice, knows how to use it and his singing of such popular numbers as "Doodle-Do-Do" and "You Can Take Me Away From Dixie" is an enjoyable contribution.

Rosie McNaught, a clever little dancer, pleased with her specialty. Her waltz clog encore was particularly well done.

Billy Moran, a character and vocalist, offered a number of songs, of which the dramatic "Mr. Booze" was the most successful.

Ernie Ranford was the comedian of the programme with a style all his own and his eccentric dancing made a hit.

Messrs. Ranford, Moran and Watson appeared in an amusing skit, "The Onion," after which The Great La Salle, "knows all, sees all, tells all," gave a demonstration of crystal reading and mental telepathy in which questions written by members of the audience were answered. Some of the answers caused much amusement. Naturally there was one concerning the fate of the Ontario Temperance Act.

The bill is rounded by a film comedy and a scenic picture, both of which are excellent.

AT THE ROYAL.

PAT O'MALLEY IS ONE ACTOR WHO FIGHTS

A real battle, in which Pat O'Malley, popular screen actor is pitted against eight men, in one of the sensational screen struggles of the year, ranks with the fight of the blacksmith in "Birth of a Nation," and the famous Tom Santschi battle in "The Spoilers." It occurs as an amazing climax of "Fool's Highway," Universal's spectacular Bowery story chosen as Mary Pihlbin's first starring vehicle since "Merry-Go-Round," and playing at the Royal Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The story, adapted from Owen Kildare's famous life-story "My Mamie Rose," plays O'Malley as the fighting gangster, prototype of the author himself, who was a Bowery champion, who reformed and became a national figure as a writer of his experiences.

The big fight, in which he is pitted against eight Bowery gangsters, occurs in an underground den. The photography was postponed until all other scenes in which O'Malley appeared, had been taken. The reason is odd—O'Malley never fights a "faked" battle. After he's finished a screen fray he's always badly beaten up—and so is his adversary. In film circles he is known as a glutton for realism.

Had Irving Cummings, the director, taken the fight scene in the sequence in which it occurred in the story, production would have been delayed thereafter for perhaps a week, to permit the actor to recover from the fracas. Hence the plan of waiting until all his other work was done. He left the studio with battered visage, but with his work finally completed.

The scene shows O'Malley trapped in a den, with Tom O'Brien, Steve Murphy, and six prize-fighters, enacting the roles of gangsters, rushing him. The actor put up a terrific battle, and several men were badly beaten up— including O'Malley himself.

DELIGHTFUL HUMOR IN "HAPPINESS."

The comedy delight of the year is "Happiness," the second motion picture made by Laurence Taylor for Metro, which opened last night at the the Royal Theatre. Miss Taylor is simply ravishing as a happy go lucky little shop girl who brings the joy of living into a home made colorless by too much wealth. Her personality shines from the screen to the audience like radium and is as ingratiating to those who need treatment for the blues and other nervous ailments.

The picture was taken from the play by J. Hartley Manners, and the author himself made the screen adaptation and continuity. A fine supporting cast includes Pat O'Malley, Hedda Hopper, Cyril Chadick, and others.

The more human you are the better you will like it.

LARRY SEMON AT ROYAL.

Among the shorter features on the programme, with Happiness there are two that deserve special mention. Larry Semon in "The Sawmill," two reels of action comedy, with thrills, and "The Leather Pushers," which can always be relied upon to provide unusual entertainment.

AT THE REGENT.

SARAH BERNHARDT FORESAW FAME OF LAURETTE TAYLOR.

Late Great Tragedienne Predicted Glory for Metro-Goldyn Star — Saw "Peg" Privately — Immortal French Actress Applauded the American at a Special Performance.

"Laurette Taylor, within five years will become the foremost actress of this country."

This prediction was made by Sarah Bernhardt a few years before her death, and that she was correct in her judgment of Miss Taylor is agreed by the theatrical jury of critics and public.

Nothing that Laurette Taylor has accomplished, nothing that anyone ever has said, has given her the proud feeling that she experienced as the result of Bernhardt's praise.

The First Performance.

But to let Miss Taylor tell it in her own words:

"Sarah Bernhardt came over here during the run of 'Peg O' My Heart.' It was arranged that she should be first supported at her first performance by three American actresses, Marguerite Clark, and myself and another, a very beautiful woman. We were simply to let Sarah lean on us and to carry her train.

"When the beautiful actress found that we must wear the old costumes furnished by the French company she rebelled.

She wouldn't go on so we took a stenographer for the third.

"I was awed and nervous but the stenographer seemed to feel towards me as I did towards Bernhardt and that set me up a bit. As we entered, 'the divine Sarah' made a mighty effort, fairly lifting herself out of her physical weakness by the power of her spiritual strength. She rose majestically to meet the people's applause.

Saving the Day.

"Then she bent her whole weight upon me, almost crushing me to the floor. It was well it wasn't little Marguerite Clark. The stenographer was so frightened she couldn't get herself off the stage; Bernhardt was angry and waited until I took the poor girl away.

"I thought that was the end of the affair. But Sarah Bernhardt had seen that I was trying to help. A special performance was arranged for Bernhardt alone, at 11 in the morning, because the vaudeville performance took her afternoons and evenings.

"The fatigue of sitting out the performance exhausted her so that she could not give her own matinee and the money had to be refunded to the ticket holders. My reward came when she wrote about me herself:

"'One young artist in New York has not allowed herself to be blinded. She had worked hard and is still working although she is already a very agreeable comedienne, possessing humor, emotion, and a rare thing for her age—power. I speak of Lauretta Taylor, who will become within five years the foremost actress of this country."

Laurette Taylor in her latest Metro Goldwyn production, "One Night in Rome," taken from the successful play by J. Hartley Manners is now playing at the Regent. It was directed by Clarence Badger.

AT THE CAPITOL.

LARRY SEMON COMING TO CAPITOL, THURSDAY

Lary Semon in his newest comedy-hit, "Her Boy Friend" will be at the Capitol Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

TOM MIX AT CAPITOL IN NEW PICTURE LAST THREE DAYS OF WEEK

Tom Mix will be seen in his very latest production, "Oh, You Tony" at the Capitol next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Tony the Wonder Horse has a prominent part in this picture.

J. Warren Kerrigan, the handsome, vital hero of "The Covered Wagon," is the pirate, "bad and bold," in the title role of the big picture, "Captain Blood," playing at the Capitol Theatre during the first three days of this week. Just as artistically as he filled the position of the misunderstood hero in the romance that had to do with the great Oregon Trail, so he makes his way through parlous adventures in one of Rafael Sabatini's stirring dramas of life on the ocean wave, under the black flag. Captain Blood, however, is one of those good bad men that Sabatini delights to paint with words. Forced by adverse circumstances to take to the life of a sea marauder, he makes his way back to honor and renown by the exercise of skill and daring.

Sabatini is an expert in the construction of colorful, vivid dramas. Dauntless deeds of high emprise, narrow escapes from desperate situations, love and ardor and daring, give life and vim to his books. On the screen, living characters work out his problems, in a manner that glimpses the romance of their creator. The cast chosen for "Captain Blood," the backgrounds created for its filming, and the minute attention to detail, make it delightfully complete, as well as thrilling and interest-holding. The scene showing the sinking of the "Arabella," the old wooden pirate ship, is realistic in the extreme and makes one of the outstanding bits in a picture abounding in high lights.

Dr. Peter Blood, peaceful physician in an English sea town, helps an escaping rebel, and is haled forthwith before Judge Jeffreys, the notorious "hanging judge." Condemned to be hanged, drawn and quartered, his sentence is changed to transportation to the Barbadoes, where he is sold as a slave for the sum of fifteen pounds to Colonel Bishop, a cruel, tyrannous planter. Blood's knowledge of medicine brings him to the service of the gouty Governor Steed, and during an attack by Spanish ships on Port Royal, he engineers the escape of his companion slaves and captures the Spanish vessel, sailing it thereafter as a pirate ship. Life on the ocean wave proves profitable to the dauntless captain and his crew of ruffians. He engages in a sword fight with a rival pirate, Levasseur, and rescues a girl captive from the clutches of his foe. Meanwhile, back in Port Royal, Arabella Bishop, niece of the cruel Colonel, remembers the slave she had befriended, and sighs for the pirate captain. Jean Paige plays this part very well.

Intrigues of the jealous Colonel Bishop, planning for the downfall of the pirate captain, lead to his own undoing. While he takes the fleet to capture Blood, the latter gives refuge on his ship to Lord Julian Wade, journeying from England with a commission in the King's navy for the pirate chieftain. Again, the "Arabella" houses Lord Willoughby, the representative of King William, and the Dutch Admiral who accompanies him. During Bishop's absence, they land at Port Royal and the bold captain turns the tables on his doughty enemy, when Bishop returns. In the meantime, the "Arabella" and her crew have come to the rescue of the besieged fort and driven away her French assailants. The ingenuity and bold daring of the pirate captain carry him through the stirring scenes of this section with the vim and dash that characterize a picture filled with romantic situations, teeming with life and action colored with the light of other, vivid times and manners.

Characterizations are splendid. The daring hero, the charming heroine, the imperious old Colonel and the gouty Governor, the acting of Pitt, Blood's lieutenant, are all admirable. One memorable characterization is that of the Spanish captain, with his silken manners, his fair curling beard and his light, treacherous eyes.

INTERVIEW CONVICTS.

Statements Will Not Be Made Public—Visit Jail To-morrow.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).— After the conference with Hon. L. A. Taschareau Prime Minister and Attorney General of Province, Mr. Justice Codere, before whom Montreal Police probe is taking place, announced that press would not be permitted to attend session at Bordeaux Jail to-morrow when Judge plans to question five condemned Hochelaga bandits as to what they know of alleged corruptions in local police circles.

In explanation of exclusion of newspapermen His Lordship pointed that if condemned men spoke at all, which was doubtful, it was likely that their testimony would be motivated by revenge. Outcome, therefore might be regrettable if uncontrolled statements became public property.

LEAGUE HAD MEETING.

A meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last evening, for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the affiliation of the Society of Christian Mothers and of the Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral with the League. Arrangements were also made for the holding of a tea in the near future at the residence of Mrs. C. H. Pennefather.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

The truth of God, concerning what some call a second chance is very much misunderstood by a great many. The Scriptures make the fact of the matter plain. The first chance for everlasting life was lost by Father Adam and all his posterity, by his disobedience. Under that original trial, "condemnation passed upon all men," Adam and his posterity, who lost life through his failure shall be given opportunity to turn unto God. This chance comes to all on account of the full ransom price paid by Jesus for all. "As in Adam all died (lost their chance of life) so in Christ shall all be made alive," (have their chance of life). After man is resurrected or made alive again, comes the first individual opportunity of giving eternal life. Man will not then go down into death (the second death) on account of Adam's failure. Whether he gains eternal life or goes down into eternal death will depend entirely upon himself. Call this the first or second chance the facts are the same. Man, not God, has limited to the Gospel age the chance or opportunity of gaining eternal life. The Gospel age is for the selecting of the church, the royal priesthood, through whom the offer of eternal life in the age to come will be given freely to all under most favorable terms. As each becomes fully aware of the ransom price given by our Lord Jesus, and his subsequent privileges, he is on trial as Adam was and obedience brings lasting life and disobedience lasting death—the second death. Perfect obedience without perfect ability to render it, is not required of any.—M. T. Butcher. 1d89 6478

Chicago Contractor Says They Are Undergoing Slight Boom.

TORINTO, October 14 (Canadian Press). — "Any depression which may exist in the building trades in Canada we regard as only temporary. There is no perceptible slackening of activity throughout the United States."

Such is the opinion of Oscar A. Reum of Chicago, president of the Contracting Plasterers' International Association.

"We are even undergoing a slight boom," said Mr. Reum, "and it is impossible for Canada to escape some reflection of this."

A large scale for plasterers, he announced, was in the neighbourhood of $12.00 a day, but a bonus scheme generally in operation brought the daily wage somewhat above this mark.

RUSSIA LISTS COMMUNISTS

Figures Give 336,000 Members and 311,000 Candidates on July 1.

MOSCOW, Oct. 13—The latest official statistics give the strength of the Communist Party on July 1 as 336,000 members with 311,000 candidates. Seventy-nine per cent. of this number are in Central Russia, 13 per cent. in the Ukraine, 6 per cent. in the Caucasus and the remaining 2 per cent. in White Russia.

Women compose 10 per cent of the total number of members and candidates. As regards social groupings, 46 per cent. are workmen, 24 per cent. peasants and the remaining 30 per cent are among other categories

Seven thousand members were admitted to the party during the past six months, and there were 180,000 candidates in that time.

MRS. MARY WRIGHT.

The community was shocked to learn that on Sunday evening, October 5, at eight o'clock, occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Wright, wife of Edward A. Wright, of Meier Road, Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Wright was taken ill Friday evening, and Saturday morning was removed to the Deaconess Evangelical Hospital in Detroit, where, after a serious operation, she passed away Sunday evening.

Mrs. Wright was born June 5th, 1891, at Peterborough, Ont.

In young womanhood she was married to the late Pte. Thos. Frost, who died during the World War in France.

Three children, Dorothy, Alberta and Arnold, survive this union.

Later she married Edward A. Wright. She leaves to mourn her, besides her husband and children, a little stepson, William, her mother, Mrs. Mary Crivier, of Town Hall Road, six sisters and four brothers and a host of friends.

Rev. S. Schofield, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, which Mrs. Wright attended, officiated at the services, which was held from the home on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Burial took place in Gethsemane cemetery.

Mrs. Wright was formerly a member of St. James' Methodist church, of this city.

OBITUARY.

ISABELL FRY

The death took place this morning of Isabell Fry, daughter of the late John Fry. Miss Fry will be remembered by a great many citizens of this city. She was born here 90 years ago.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the Protestant Home. The Rev. Dr. Blagrave will officiate. Interment will take place at the Little Lake Cemetery.

JAMES HERR.

The funeral of the late James F. Herr, East City, who was killed at the Auburn Mills on Wednesday, 8th October, was held on Saturday morning from his late residence, 531 Rogers Street, to the Immaculate Conception Church, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

The deceased was held in high esteem by all those who knew him, and his kindly disposition had won for him a large number of friends.

Besides his sorrowing wife, there are left to mourn his loss two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. John Devlin, East City, Mrs. Michael McManus, Douro, and Michael and John of Norwood.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jos. Garvey, George Hynes, James Boland, John Gooley, Joseph Christie, and Richard Heffernan.

ARMED CHINESE SOLDIERS SWARM THROUGH STREETS OF SHANGHAI

Recent Chekiang Troops Defending the City Broken Up Into Leaderless Mobs—Fighting Continues In Several Districts—Manking Railway Still Blocked.

APPREHENSION IN FOREIGN SECTION.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Chinese sections of Shanghai last night were overrun with armed soldiers, raising new concern in the minds of authorities of the foreign settlements lest some serious disorder occur.

Arriving trains on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway brought 1,700 additional northern Hupeh Province troops to reinforce those brought here to hold the city for the Central Chinese Government. In addition, the Chekiang troops who retreated into the city after their unsuccessful struggle to defend it, were said at 8 p.m. to total 5,500.

Most of the soldiers are armed, and all of the Chekiang men are without leaders or fixed discipline.

Estimates were made last night that 10,000 men who fought for the Chekiang cause have withdrawn into Shanghai and the districts around the city. Several companies, arriving in groups, brought with them from the fighting lines field and mountain artillery and their machine guns and automatic pistols.

Still Fighting.

A number of wounded arriving late Tuesday from the recent battle ground to the west reported that renewed clashes had broken out in the afternoon between the armed forces near Nansiang, the old concentration point for the Chikiang armies. There was considerable firing, they said.

It was disclosed last evening that six hundred troops, commanded by Chen Yao-San, retreated the whole distance to Chekiang headquarters at Lungwha, after the loss by the Chekiang forces of the city of Sungkiang, through the "encircling" attack of the Kiangsu allied forces. These 600 men were the only troops at Lungwha, it was declared, during the conference of leaders that decided on the complete surrender.

It was generally admitted in well-informed quarters that Chen was the general who insisted on the issuance of the surrender announcement. It was hinted that the presence of his troops constituted a sinister support for his demand.

Railway Still Idle.

These same troops were transferred yesterday from Lungwha into a block of sixteen houses which had been prepared for them, their commanding officer saying that he was awaiting General Chen's further orders. The repair train which yesterday attempted to re-open the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, broken by the fighting, returned last night. Railway officials aboard reported that after proceeding beyond Hwangtu, fifteen miles from the North station, the train was greeted with sharp rifle with Kiangsu soldiers.

The train was stopped and the officials tried to persuade the soldiers, without avail, that the train was not a military one and that its mission was a peaceful one. Efforts to dispel the suspicions of the soldiers having failed, the train was compelled to return to Shanghai. While the fighting here seems at an end, reports continued to be received Tuesday of fighting in the north, where the central government has crossed swords with Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian military dictator.

An eastern news agency report, dated Tientsin, asserted that the Manchu airplanes raiding the border cities between Chihli and Manchuria, had dropped four bombs in Chinwangtao, one of which exploded in the streets in front of the quarters occupied by Wu Pei-Fu, commander-in-chief of the Central Government armies.

The commander took warning, the report stated, and at once took refuge aboard a Chinese warship in Chinwangtso Harbor.

TRUCK LOAD OF BOOKS IN COURT

Wheeled In To Be Identified By Home Bank Assistant Manager.

CASE DRAGS ON.

TORONTO, Oct. 15. — Gordon Waldron, counsel for Clarence F. Smith, Home Bank director on trial before Judge Coatsworth on charge of making false statements of the bank's financial affairs again took objection Tuesday afternoon to the submission of bank books as evidence unless they were connected with the accused. He said that although the trial had lasted a week there was not a tittle of evidence concerning the accused.

D. L. McCarthy, crown counsel, replied that the crown was merely trying to get the books in now and that other witnesses would prove the falsity of them and also that the accused knew about them and their entries. Mr. McCarthy argued that he had proved from the minute books of the directors' meeting that the accused who was present at the meetings knew of many of the loans and accounts which the crown proposed to prove false. Judge Coatsworth ruled that the books should go in as he did not intend to limit the crown.

Thomas Gibbs, who was assistant chief accountant, again testified that he had suspicions about many of the bank's accounts especially after interest had not been paid and was being added to account year after year. Mr. Waldron asked for and secured the rights to call Gibbs at any time during the trial for further cross examiantion. Just before adjournment this afternoon Gordon L. Chapman, who was assistant manager of the Toronto branch, was called to identify about 50 books of the branch which were wheeled into the court room on a truck. His identifications were not finished when the court adjourned.

LIBERALS OPEN CAMPAIGN WITH LONDON MEETING

Russian Trade Treaty An Example of Political Recklessness, Asquith Declares.

AIDED GOVERNMENT.

MacDonald In Edinburgh Asks For Re-election With Independent Strength In Commons.

LONDON, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press Cables). — The Liberal campaign was opened Tuesday in Queen's Hall which was crowded to the doors. Liberal campaign songs set to popular melodies were sung by the huge gathering during the waiting for the arrival of H.H. Asquith, David Lloyd George and Sir John Simon on the platform, Lord Beauchamp, leader of the Liberals in the House of Lords, who presided, declared that they were a united, independent and free trade party.

Former Premier Asquith was greeted with the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow". He said that the last election was forced without due cause on the country with disastrous consequences to those responsible for the aoventure. The pretext offered to-day for a fresh appeal to the electors was the thinnest, flimsiest, most inadequate and the most insincere upon which for more than one hundred years any responsible minister had presumed to invoke the prerogative of the Crown. Premier MacDonald and his colleagues were suffering, he thought, from a bad attack of morbid self-esteem.

Reckless Treaty

The real cause of the precipitate appeal was not the dropping of the prosecution in the Campbell case, but the Russian treaty. This document was a unique as an example of political recklessness, business incapacity and almost infantile simplicity. Premier MacDonald seemed to imagine that it was malignant conspiracy on the part of the Liberals to thwart the labor government, but no government ever received more generous and patient support on its foreign policy from those politically opposed to it than this one.

Saved Housing Bill

The Liberal party had saved the government's housing bill and had given support to the government in its attitude on the unemployment insurance. His party had also spent much time and energy in saving the government from the pits which its members dug for themselves, helping them over stiles which, unaided, they were unable to climb. The Liberals had got nothing for it but jibes from one quarter and ingratitude from another, but they had fulfilled in letter and in spirit the pledge which he had given.

The Russian treaty and the proposed loan were farefcal from top to bottom, he declared.

Mr. Lloyd George stated that as far as he was able to say the socialists would have no more liberal support. They had lacked honesty, sincerity, and capacity to govern. The utterances of the prime minister at Glasgow were of such a nature that even the brazen tongue of the broad caster would not repeat them. The time had come for liberalism to resume the leadership of progress.

AMERICAN GOLD FLOODS MARKET FOR BOND ISSUE

More Than Half Billion Orders For United States' Share of German Loan.

WAS SNAPPED UP.

Allotment of $110,000,000 of the $200,000,000 German Loan Will Be Made To-day.

NEW YORK, October 15 (Canadian Press). — Subscriptions for the United States $110,000,000 share of the $200,000,000 German loan exceeded $500,000,000, according to official announcement within twelve minutes after the books were opened yesterday.

The subscription was more than 4 1-2 times as large as the total available, and thousands of orders were still unfilled when the books closed.

Swamped with the flood of orders which poured in from all parts of the country, bankers were unable to ascertain the exact amount of the oversubscription, but were certain that orders ran well above the half-billion dollar mark. Houses which participated in the offering estimated that on the basis of their individual orders more than a billion dollars worth of bonds could have been sold.

Allotments will be made to-day by J. P. Morgan & Company.

The largest corporation subscription was that of the American Tobacco Company, which placed an order for $10,000,000. Many other applications for the bond were received from large companies through dealers, although the offering syndicate preferring to distribute the load as widely as possible among small investors, pointed out that it did not encourage corporation subscriptions, and received none of them directly.

Unable to supply customers' demands through regular subscription channels, many investment houses engaged in active bidding for the bonds as soon as they were listed on New York Stock Exchange on a "when issued" basis.

Commanding a premium of 2 3-8 points above the offering price of 92 on the initial transaction, the bonds throughout the day continued in brisk demand, selling most of the time above 93.

Total transactions in the issue in stock exchange trading amounted to $4,566,000, comprising approximately one-fourth of the day's bond sales.

Many blocks ranging from $50,000 to $100,000 changed hands. In London the bonds also sold at a premium of more than 2 points.

HOME VS. JAZZ, AND HOME LOST

Laughing Broadway Eyes Lured Dentist From His Wife.

SUES FOR DIVORCE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. — Bright lights — jazz music — the laughing eyes of many women!

The glow of a log fire—strains of Beethoven's Sonata on the phonograph — the tender glances of a devoted wife!

Dr. John C. H. Schoenborn, a dentist, at No. 350 Central Park West, had these alternatives to choose between. His wife says that he chose the former. She is suing for divorce, naming a Mrs. Ritter.

At her home, No. 2322 Eighth Avenue, Mrs. Schoenborn sketched the manner in which she says she saw her husband turn from his home.

Slaved For Him.

"When he were married eighteen years ago, John was earning $18 a week as a mechanical dentist. I slaved for him and sold my jewels so that he could continue his studies.

"Gradually his practice grew. He moved his office from our home on One Hundred and Twenty-First Street to No. 350 Central Park West. There he met fashionable people."

One day last August, she said, she went to Brentwood Inn, Elizabethtown, N.Y., and there found her husband with Mrs. Ritter. When she confronted him in a crowded dining-room and told him she would divorce him, she asserts he replied: "I am glad to be rid of you."

Proved False, She Said.

Mrs. Schoenborn said her husband was a boarder at the home of Mrs. Ritter. She continued:

"When he was down and out he stuck to me, but when he was on his feet he rejected all the attractions I had to offer him and turned to those that he could get from other women.

"What could I do? I had to let him follow his natural bent."

Mrs. Schoenborn won a separation in 1919. She was recently awarded $30 a week temporary alimony and $300 counsel fees. She says her husband has an income of $20,000 a year, due to her assistance. He says it is only $3,000.

Dr. Schoenborn denies all the charges.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL IN ONTARIO SHOULD WIPE OUT BOOTLEGGING

Province Has Import Monopoly, the Lack of Which is the Chief Weakness in British Columbia's Liquor Control Machinery.

VANCOUVER JOURNALIST'S TESTIMONY.

LONDON, Ont., October 15 (Canadian Press). — "An iron-clad liquor control law such as we have in British Columbia, in the hands of a Government desirous of proper enforcement, coupled with a monopoly of importation, such as is now possessed by Ontario, would, in my opinion, render this province more nearly dry than it has ever been in its history. Under such conditions the bootlegger must practically cease to exist."

The above was the conclusion of a speech delivered under the auspices of the Moderation League in the Masonic Temple here last night by Gorge M. Murray, publisher and journalist of Vancouver, and a native of Oxford County, Ontario.

At the outset of his address Mr. Murray declared himself as entirely disinterested in the result of the present plebiscite campaign in the Province, but was actuated by a desire to answer certain allegations made with respect to conditions in British Columbia which he declared was more prosperous than it had been for years.

Need Import Law.

He also took advantage of the opportunity to give a brief history of liquor legislation in British Columbia, declaring that the chief weakness of the present Government control law was the fact that it was not supplemented by the Federal Doherty Act regarding imports, a referendum on which had not been taken in that province.

"After British Columbia adopted Government control," said Mr. Murray, "the Government applied to Parliament for special legislation enabling them to prohibit importation. The House of Commons passed the Bill, but it was killed in the Senate. Now the result is importing houses have been established which import liquor in bond thus escaping the excise duty of about $10.00 a gallon. The Government of British Columbia in the early days resisted this excise tax, but the Exchequer Court at Ottawa decided that it must pay it. These rum-runners buy cargoes free of this excise. They clear for Mexico in a perfectly legal manner, but many of them return, slip their cargoes ashore, and sell them to bootleggers. Precisely this same condition existed under Prohibition as we now have under Government control and it is no fault of the present law that there is this difficulty."

Enforcing Act.

Mr. Murray expressed the hope that the essential monopoly of importation would later, either by referendum or special legislation, be secured by the British Columbia Government. In the meantime he declared that the enforcement of the Act had been greatly improved.

AUTOIST KILLED MAN.

Jury's Verdict Guilty — Judge Will Be Lenient.

LONDON, Ont., October 15 (Canadian Press). — Thomas Clare, 35, of 173 Central Avenue, was last evening found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Charles Lane, motor cyclist, who was run down by Clare's motor car on 4th June.

Sentence will be pronounced later.

He was tried before Justice Riddell and a jury.

Justice Riddell, on receiving the verdict, intimated that the sentence would not be severe. He stated definitely that he would not send the prisoner to the penitentiary.

RURAL EDUCATION WILL IMPROVE AGRICULTURE

Farmers' Problems Merge Into This Essential Need Rotarians Told.

BROCKVILLE, October 15 (Canadian Press). — Education of the farm girl and boy was represented by W. J. Bell, principal of the Kemptville Aricultural School, speaking before the Rotary Club, as the one thing that can improve the status of agriculture in Ontario. All other problems confronting the farmer are merged, he said, in this essential need.

He predicted that within ten years' time, the hay crop in the Eastern part of the Province will be largely alfalfa, it having been determined that this variety, in conjunction with sweet clover, makes for the cheapest production of milk.

TO LEAGUE COUNCIL.

Irak Boundary Question Referred To Geneva For Decision.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The foreign office announced Tuesday that the failure of Great Britain and Turkey to reach an agreement on the Irak controversy or on an interpretation of the resolution on the subject adopted September 30 by the council of the league of nations, had resulted in a decision to refer the question back to the council for decision. The necessary steps, it was stated, were being taken to inform the general secretariat of the league.

Meantime, it is understood neither side will advance its forces beyond the line now occupied. The main difference between the two governments, according to the statement, hinges on the question of the exact nature of the status quo frontier to that maintained between Turkey and Irak pending final settlement of the frontier by the Council of the League.

BEST ONTARIO APPLES.

Brockville Fruit Selected For Exhibition In England.

BROCKVILLE, October 15 (Canadian Press).—Chosen from all other orchards in the Province, Snow and McIntosh apples grown by Harold Jones, Augusta Township, who was the pioneer in spraying in Ontario, are now on the way to England to represent Ontario at the British Fruit Show at Birmingham.

Wealthy apples from the Kemptville Agricultural School are also being shipped under the same circumstances.

"RED" NEWMAN AGAIN PLUNKETT STAR.

The many friends and patrons of The Dumbells offerings are jubilant over the new that there is again only one soldier show in the field, and that that is The Dumbells Company Limited, under the direction of Captain Plunkett.

"Red" Newman, Canada's foremost comedian, has returned to the parent organization on a long-term contract.

With such bright stars as Al. Plunkett, Ross Hamilton, "Red" Newman, Stan. Bennett, Pat Rafferty, "Jock" Holland, etc., the show is good for years to come.

AUDIT TOWN'S BOOKS.

Brockville Council Reassuring Itself That All Is Well.

BROCKVILLE, October 15 (Canadian Pres). — The provintial audit of the books of the Corporation for the last five years which has been commenced in response to a petition of ratepayers is welcomed by members of the Municipal Council.

"As far as we know there is nothing wrong," said W. B. Reynolds, Mayor, "but if there is, it is time that we found it out."

WHITE INDIANS LEAVE.

Gone From Brockville To Washington and Home To Panama.

BROCKVILLE October 15 (Canadian Press). — After having spent the summer at the summer home of R. O. Marsh ,their discoverer, at North Channel, on the St. Lawrence east of here, the party of White Indians which he found in the Darien region of Southern Panama, and which have been extensively investigated by scientists, has left for Ashington ,where they will be placed in a private school before being returned to Panama.

WOODSTOCK GAS 23c.

Public Gets Benefit of a Little Keen Competition.

WOODSTOCK, October 15 (Canadian Press). — O drop of 2 cents a gallon in gasoline yesterday indicated that the price war which terminated two weeks ago is to be resumed.

The dealer who started the last price-cutting war dropped from 25 cents to 23 cents a gallon, and the other dealers in the city followed suit and met his price.

THE MARCH OF PROGRESS

A comparison in time saving in transatlantic travel from the time Columbus landed at San Salvador from the Santa Maria shows the tremendous advance made in transportation methods.

Columbus and his caravels took thirty-seven days to make the journey from Spain.

The Savannah, first American steamship to cross, consumed 30 days in 1819.

This year the Cunarder Mauretania made the trip from New York to Cherbourg in 4 days 21 hours 51 minutes, establishing a record.

In the air, the United States airplane NC-R in 1919 flew from the United States to Portugal in 25 hours of actual flying.

This year Lieuenant Erik Nelson, round-the-world flier, flew from Kirkwall, Scotland, to Hoefn, Hornsfjord, on the coast of Iceland, a distance of 500 miles, in 8 hours 19 minutes.

WASH DAY NOT ALWAYS MONDAY

Congestion is so great in New York's East Side that tenement dwellers take turns in using its surfit spaces. This picture could have been taken any day, for every day is wash day there.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL IN QUEBEC

THE Moderationists have been attempting to lead the public to believe that the O.T.A. has been responsible for many young women having been led astray. They offer no proof beyond mere assertion. On the other hand our Salvation Army and Children's Aid officials, Social Service Councils, Teachers' Associations, and other public bodies in a position to know the facts, all assert that Ontario has never been so free from all forms of immorality as it has been under the O.T.A. But what about the Province of Quebec, where they have so-called Government control?

QUEBEC DENS OF INIQUITY.

The Ladies' Home Journal sent an editorial writer, Mr. A. B. McDonald, to investigate "Government Control" in Quebec. Here are a few extracts from his report:

"I have seen drunkenness and vice and squalor and degeneracy in many centres all over the United States, but I never saw anything that was as bad as the legalized red-light district of Montreal, with its 3,000 lost women, nine-tenths of whom filtered down to that abyss from the drinking-places, the all-night clubs of Montreal.

"I never saw anything, anywhere, that, as a deliberately contrived and set trap for the enticement and ruin of girlhood equals a certain Oriental hootchie-cootchie joint in the heart of Montreal."

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

In proof of his statements, Mr. McDonald quoted the following headlines from issues of The Montreal Star and Montreal Standard:

INNOCENT GIRLS LURED INTO DENS.

Women's Organizations Join in Demand for Clean-up of City—Vice Conditions Are Discussed by Montreal Clergy—115 Girls Up Before Recorders in Vice Raids.

DENS OF INIQUITY FLOURISHING HERE MUST GO.

The Girls of Montreal Must Be Saved—Leading Bodies Unanimously Approve the Drive of The Standard to Rid the City of Imm. : Dens and Pitfalls of Iniquity.

This is the "Sane" policy that the Moderation League praises and would foist upon the Province of Ontario. Do we want it? No.

VOTE FOR THE O.T.A.

Noted Speaker Thursday Night

One of the most noted speakers on the continent, Mrs. Gordon Wright, of London, Ont., Dominion President of the W.C.T.U., will Address a Public Mass Meeting in the Grand Opera House, To-morrow (Thursday) Evening, October 16. Be sure and hear her. Admission Free. Silver Collection. Miss Greta LeBarr and Mr. M. Park, Soloists. (Advt.)

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING TUESDAY

Children's Aid Society Board Hear Reports.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce. The president, Mr. B. F. Ackerman, occupied the chair. The following members were present: Mesdames Gibbs, Welsh, Devey, Hodgson, Holmes, Fanning, Hopwood, Kimberley, Messrs. Edgar, Powell, Abraham, Parsons, Dobbin, Stocker, Cummer, Rev. P. Costello, Rev. W. H. Young. A letter was received from Mayor Turner, regretting his inability to be present, through press of other business.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. Edgar, and Mrs. W. H. Gibbs read the report of the purchasing committee. Mr. Powell reported 4 applications for children during September, 1 brought to the Shelter (not a ward); 1 made a war of the society, and 1 sent to the Industrial school.

Mr. Powell reported the application of a father of several small children, whose wife is suffering with sleeping sickness in the Isolation Hospital. The man asked that two of the children should be cared for at the Shelter for a while, and it was decided to give them temporary care for a few weeks.

Reports on three of the wards of the society, placed satisfactorily in foster homes, were also given.

Tag Day Total.

Mr. Powell reported a total to date of tag day funds received as being $1,498, with three outside centres to hear from. He thought the final amount would be between $1,700 and $1,800. He also recorded applications from several places of business for Shelter patronage, one store subscribing five dollars to the fund on condition that goods to the amount of fifteen dollars were purchased.

Mr. Edgar gave the matron's report: In th Shelter during September, 14 children, 5 brought in and 3 sent out. He also proposed a vote of thanks to the convenor of the tag day, Mrs. W. H. Darcy, which carried.

On motion of Mr. J. S. Fanning and Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, the name of Mrs. G. L. Stevens was added to the roll of the Directorate, in place of that of Miss Gertrude Brooks, recently deceased. This motion was recorded before a second name, that of Miss Revell, nominated by Mrs. J. Holmes and seconded by Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, was proposed. The members voted in favor of Mrs. Stevens.

It was decided to ask the auditors of last year's accounts, Messrs. E. L. Payne and F. H. Dawson, to act in the same capacity this year, and the date of the annual meeting of the society was set for November 25th.

Annual Meeting.

Rev. P. Costello moved, seconded by W. Stocker, that Rev. Father Bench, of Oshawa, who has been engaged for some years in Toronto in work in connection with social service and children's aid organizations, should be asked to address the annual meeting. On motion of Rev. W. H. Young, it was decided to appoint a committee, composed of Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, J. Edgar, R. H. Parsons and Mrs. J. S. Fanning, to make arrangements for the speaker at the anuual meeting, Rev. Mr. Young suggesting Dr. Margaret Patterson, of Toronto, as an alternate if Father Bench could not be secured. This committee also will act as a nominating committee and bring in the report for consideration at the annual meeting, and was asked to arrange the routine business of the meeting in such a way as to compress it, if possible, into fifteen minutes' time. The latter suggestion, made by Rev. Mr. Young, arose out of a complaint by some of the members that outside speakers at previous meetings had been hampered by the length of the business session proceding their addresses.

THE DIRIGIBLE FLEW LOW OVER NEW YORK CITY

Giant Aircraft Reached the States With Lots of Reserve Power.

FLEW OVER CITIES.

German Craft Dips a Pennant as the Statue of Liberty Is Passed.

(By Frank Betty—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 15. — Out of the early haze and into the blazing sunshine of a perfect Indian summer morn, the ZR-3 flew low over New York Harbor to-day, close to the finish of her epoch-making flight, from Friederichshafen.

Greeted by shrieking whistles from harbor craft as it swung over the Statue of Liberty and headed up the Hudson River over New York City, the giant Zeppelin was a brilliant silver phantom in the cloudless sky, then a reality as she passed overhead above the city throngs who craned their necks and cheered her arrival.

At 8 a.m., just 79 hours and 23 minutes after she rose from her hangar at Friederichshafen, the giant dirigible was cruising over New York, demonstrating that even at the finish of an epoch-making joruney, she had plenty of reserve power.

At first, Dr. Eckener steered straight for Lakehurst, and it was believed he was bringing her directly to the naval station here, where great activity took place. But the Zeppelin's pilot turned north after passing Fire Island and began manoeuvering over the Harbor of New York.

Vessels tooted and whistled, and the early morning sun glinted on the Statue of Liberty as the dirigible dipped a pennant in salute while passing overhead. Sea gulls, no more graceful than the silver shape above, emitted raucous cries as they dipped and wheeled and some mounted high to shriek at this strange visitor from the skies.

Harbor shipping was thronged with a vast tangle as everybody peered upward at the ZR-3.

The dirigible headed straight north, up the Hudson River. It passed above the Woolworth tower, reaching its gilded spires vainly into the morning sunlight at 8 a.m. and kept on the course. A few minutes later, it was high over the Palisades. Turning again to the south the ZR-3 came back over the city. As though it were merely on a practice jaunt, it swung low over downtown buildings.

At 8.16, its motors roaring in perfect unison, it passed on even keel over the United Press Offices in the World Building.

The Zeppelin was flying low, lower even than the city ordinances permit.

The sunlight shone on its barreled sides, its markings stood out plainly, and diminutive figures could be seen waving from the windows of the large forward gondola.

German pride of achievement reached a post-war zenith in Berlin to-day when the news was flashed by the United Press from New York that the ZR-3 had reached the United States.

Crowds which had stood for hours in front of newspaper offices reading bulletins of the progres of the great dirigible burst into a mighty "hoch" when word came through the air that the Zeppelin was over American soil after the most successful flight ever made by a dirigible.

"Germany is redeemed," said the Vorwaertz. "The faith of our forefathers in the unconquerable German realm is again justified."

The arrival of the ZR-3 opens a new era in world transportation and may mark the beginning of an economic revolution, Captain Anton Heinen, noted Zeppelin expert, told the United Press to-day.

"Within 25 years air craft will be used as commonly as automobiles are to-day."

The dirigible will prove the strongest impulse the world has known for world-wide brotherhood through improving communications between distant peoples.

Heinen explained that the Zeppelin works had proved, beyond all doubt, the practicability of the construction of huge air cruisers for definite purposes such as the present trans-Atlantic flight of the ZR-3.

"We can easily construct much larger air cruisers," the Captain said. "A flight from New York to Pekin is entirely practicable. A ship of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity — twice the size of the ZR-3 — would amply suffice for such a voyage."

BOLSHIES' BEARDS ELECTION POSTER

Greedy For Money of "Good Old British Voter"—All Over Country.

LONDON, October 15. — The fur has begun to fly in the British election campaign, which is sure to be short, and almost certain to be snappy. It may have been the dropping of the case against Editor Compbell of the Workers' Weekly, on which the government decided to accept defeat and go to the country, but it has already become plain that the thing the voters are going to hear most about from all sides in this campaign, is the Anglo-Russian treaty.

The Tories are playing anti-Bolshevism for all it is worth. In two days they have placarded the country with posters depicting bewhiskered Bolsheviki, greedy for the money of the good old British voter; but Premier MacDonald apparently has realized as keenly as his opponents that the way to gain the interest of the British voter to to mention their pocket book, and he therefore has been busy explaining that the contemplated loan of 40,000,000 pounds to Russia would be spent very largely in purchasing machinery to be made in England.

"British money for the British," a mock patriotic song, has become a popular part of a popular west end revue but the Conservative campaign managers take the subject seriously. Their posters depict what the Conservative newspapers describe as "a brutal Bolsheviki, with greed in his eyes," and under the picture are the words, "It's your money he wants. The Socialists say that he can have it. Don't let him. Vote Unionist."

DISORDER IN MECCA.

City Without Food—Bedouins Pillage Houses.

JERUSALEM, October 15. — Ibn Saud, the leader of the Wahabi tribesmen who are now on the outskirts of the holy city of Mecca, warring against the Hashimite Dynasty, has obtained the support of Iman Yahia of Yemen and Sultan Said Idrisi, of the Principality of Asir.

The triple alliance demands the abdication of the entire Hashimite family.

The City of Mecca, according to the messages received here, is completely without food. Since the retirement of King Ali and of his army and government, complete disorder has reigned in the city.

Bedouins are said to be plundering and pillaging private houses.

A group of prominent citizens of Mecca, has sent an appeal to the British government urging that further bloodshed be prevented in the Holy City.

GOVERNMENT RESIGNS.

Swedish Government Headed By Ernest Trygger Resigns.

LONDON, Oct. 14. - An Exchange Telegraph Despatch from Copenhagen, stated that the Swedish government, headed by Premier Ernest Trygger had resigned.

KICKED IN FACE.

Percy Reitzel Killed When Kick From Horse Broke His Neck.

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Percy Reitzel, aged 22, of St. Jacobs, was killed yesterday afternoon when one of the horses he was driving kicked him in the jaw and broke his neck.

Reitzel was alone hauling gravel from a gravel pit when the tragedy occurred. Reitzel walked about 50 yards along the highway and then collapsed, and was found a few minutes later by fellow-workers, but life was extinct.

HALF-MILLION FIRE.

MONTREAL, October 15. — One man was injured and ten other men and women employees had narrow escapes in a fire which swept a section of the huge Montreal Abattoirs, Ltd., plant, here Tuesday.

The conflagration lasted for twelve hours, and the damage is estimated at over $500,000.

SAW REAL SNAKES.

Twelve Good Sized Reptiles Found Under Floor of Prison Cell.

SPRINGHILL, N.S., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—When local jailer visited the cell yesterday of Philip Landry arrested the previous evening on a charge of drunkenness, the prisoner declared that snakes had been bothering him all night and that he believed he had killed one. He was advised to give up drinking and the "Snakes" would disappear but after a time he succeeded in convincing the jailor that they were real snakes and a search followed. Twelve good sized reptiles were found under the rough wooden floor of his cell.

COMPULSORY WHEAT POOL.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 15 —(Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—The Legislative Assembly yesterday, after a prolonged debate, passed the bill providing for a compulsory wheat pool

SOME EVIDENCE CORDOVA CASE

J. C. Davidson Arraigned On Charge of Theft From Mines.

TROUBLE IN COURT.

J. C. Davidson was arraigned in county court yesterday afternoon on a charge of stealing scrap iron from Cordova Mines, where he was watchman. His counsel, J. F. Strickland, postponed his election and plea until Tuesday next and arranged with Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., that the bail bond be renewed after crown evidence was entered yesterday. His Worship intimated that the might be constrained to send the accused for indictment at the fall assizes in view of the seriousness of the thefts, but in the meantitme it was not decided whether the hearing should be treated as a preliminary hearing or as a summary trial.

The thefts, the crown intimated, may aggregate $5,000 or $10,000.

Bible Missing.

Magistrate Langley was unable to open the hearing until half an hour after the time set on account of a state of affairs which he said should be reported to the Attorney General by Crown Attorney Hatton. Doors were locked, there was no constable in attendance, and no copy of the Bible was available. The two witnesses were Jews, and could only take the oath on the Pentateuch. Witnesses are usually sworn on the New Testament, and yesterday a hurry up call was sent to the sheriff for the Old Testament.

Finally, at 2.45 Sheriff F. J. A. Hall entered by one door with a copy of the Bible, and simultaneously Inspector Boyd entered by another door with a second copy. A few minutes later Constable John Naples appeared with a third Bible and the court was properly constituted.

Dealt With Accused.

Isadore Goldman, of Montreal, a junk dealer, said he knew the late Peter Kirkgard, who was manager of the Cordova Mines. The mines have not been in operation since a fire in 1917. The witness never had any dealings with Davidson at Cordova Mines and never bought anything from him. He had bought material from Kirkgard last year.

In August this year the witness went to Cordova to buy more goods, and bought $150 worth from Mr. Davidson. The witness said Davidson represented his authority to sell, but the company would not accept the cheque and the goods were not delivered. Davidson said he had sold $200 worth of goods to L. Picard last winter. One cheque was made out to the company for $100 and one to Davidson for $100, and Davidson claimed Picard made $800 on the deal.

In cross examintion by Mr. Strickland the witness said the only dealings he had with Mr. Davidson were in August, when they motored together to the head office of the company in Toronto to try to make a deal. Davidson told of the sale of scrap valued at $150 and the officers of the company failed to complete the deal and returned the cheque. On returning to Havelock Goldman was angry because the deal had failed.

On an occasion last year when Goldman was shipping scrap bought from Kirkgard, he had a dispute with Davidson about dynamite valued at $3, but Davidson never accused him of taking material he had not bought.

Another Junk Dealer.

Louis Lavine, another Jew, said he was in Cordova Mines with Goldman.

"Can you tell us the month?"

"I have more in my head than this."

"Can you tell us the year?"

"It was this year."

The witness said he was present during a conversation between Davidson and Goldman when they picked material to sell. The material was marked with chalk. Davidson said Picard had bought some goods from him.

The witness did not recall the words used in the conversation. "I would need to have a shorthand writer with me then to remember now," he declared. He did recall that Davidson said Picard would make $800 profit.

In cross-examiation Lavine said Picard had double-crossed Goldman and Goldman was trying to cut in on his business. Mr. Lavine admitted that even in the junk business a profit of $800 on a $200 investment is unusual enough to be remembered.

This closed the hearing for the day.

Wanted To Sleep.

While the Crown Attorney was figuring up the witnesses' fees at $1.50 a day and return railway fare, the two witnesses paced the court room restlessly, mentioning sleepers and meals and hotel bills, for which no provision is made.

INJURIES FATAL.

Former Canadian Trade Commissioner Fell Off Car.

MONTREAL, October 15 (Canadian Press). — Edward H. S. Flood, the first Canadian Trade Commissioner to the British West Indies and British Guiana, died here yesterday at an hospital, as a result of injuries sustained when he fell from the steps of a tram car on 2nd October.

Mr. Flood was 70 years of age. He was born in St. John, N.B.

The late Mr. Flood was appointed Trade Commissioner in 1908, and held the position for sixteen years.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Anniversary Services Held at Burnbrae — Christian Endeavor Elect Officers.

CAMPBELLFORD, October 15. —On Sunday, 12th October, 1924, Rev. D. A. McKenzie, the new minister at Burnbrae, preached his first sermons to his congregation there. The people were out in great numbers for their anniversary services, and the large sum of $540.00 was put on the plates for their yearly thanksgiving fund.

Mr. McKenzie preached two splendid sermons which were thoroughly enjoyed by the congregations both morning and evening.

Mr. McKenzie came from Gamebridge to Burnbrae.

The special music for the occasion given by the choir was up to the usual high standard of Burnbrae choir.

On Tuesday evening, 14th October, the splendid fowl supper provided by the ladies at Burnbrae, was a great success, over 600 persons being served to the fowl and other good things for which the people at Burnbrae are noted. Many who had supper did not remain for the programme following, as the church was so crowded.

During the wait before the programme began, Mr. Arthur Collison of Campbellford played several selections on the piano.

Mr. McKenzie was the chairman for the evening. The opening number was an anthem by the choir, "Bless the Lord."

The chairman made a few remarks. He said although a stranger among them he was delighted with the success of the fowl supper, and hoped to be able to enjoy these occasions for many years to come.

Rev. Mr. Shaw of Menie was then called upon for an address. His subject was "Duty." Duty to ourselves, to mankind, and to God. The great need of the world to-day is men and women who will do their duty. The reward of faithful duty will be sure.

Mr. Collison, Campbellford, then favoured the audience with a vocal solo, and he also responded to an encore with "The English Rose."

Mr. Arthur Collison accompanied him.

Rev. C. D. Daniel of Seymour, then gave an address on "Sidetracked." He spoke of things that were delayed or sidetracked, making a great difference in our lives, and how sometimes the real things of life are put aside for those things that just seem more important.

Mr. Arthur Collison then gave a piano solo, after which Miss M. Rannie sang a solo. A reading by Mrs. F. Little was the next item, followed by a duet, "Love Divine," which was given by Mrs. H. O. Richardson and Mr. Collison.

Rev. W. Elliott, pastor of the Methodist church, Campbellford, was then called upon. He spoke a few minutes on "Your Shadow." "As we go along, you and I are casting our shadow or having our influence over those whom we meet. Let us be careful what kind of a shadow we cast around us."

Mr. Collison then sang a solo, "Friend o' Mine."

This closed a splendid programme, each number of which was highly enjoyed.

The chairman then thanked the people for their presence and those who helped in the programme part, and also the ladies who supplied such a bountiful supper. The evening closed with the National Anthem.

Special mention should be made of the beautiful flowers in abundance which were placed all around the railing and on the piano and organ, as well as the dozens of bouquets on the heavily laden tables.

The proceeds for the evening were $335.00. The total proceeds for the anniversary occasions were $875.00.

Rev. Mr. McKenzie made two announcements at the close of the programme, namely, anniversary services at Stanwood, of which Rev. C. D. Daniel is pastor, on Sunday, 26th October, and a fowl supper on the following Tuesday, 28th October.

The other announcement of three meetings in the interest of temperance, Thursday, 16th October, at Petherick's, Rev. Mr. Shaw of Menie and Rev. W. Elliott of Campbellford, speakers; Friday, 17th October, at Trent Diver, Rev. W. Elliott and G. A. Kingston, speakers; Tuesday, 21st October, at the English Line, Rev. C. F. McIntosh and Rev. C. D. Daniel, speakers.

These meetings will all begin at 8 o'clock.

Elect Officers.

The Christian Endeavour of St. Andrew's Church met on Monday night in the School Room for their annual meeting. The following are the officers for the coming year:

President, J. D. McEachern.
Devotional, Miss Berna Hay.
Misisonary, Miss Kathleen Connor.
Educational—Mr. Earl Greig, B.A.
Social—Miss Leona Peeling.
Secretary—Miss Helen MacDonald.
Publicity Secretary— Miss Freda Nelson.
Treasurer—Mr. Wm. Anderson.
Pianist —Miss Bessie Locke.

During the evening, Mr. A. M. Rollo the retiring President gave a short address outlining the work for 1924-25.

Next Monday night, October 20th will be a Rally in St. Andrew's church for all the young people of the different churches, when Rev. C. F. McIntosh will give a lantern lecture, showing the effect of Government Control in the Province of Quebec. Rev. C. D. Daniel will also give a short Temperance Address.

There will also be musical numbers given by the young people of the different churches.

Mrs. Henrietta Anderson of Seymour, has leased her farm to Mr. Jonathan Thain for five years. She intends having an auction sale of her stock and household effects on the 29th of October.

Mr. Isaiah Boyd, who visited friends at Marmora for a few days, returned to his home on Margaret Street on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ash and family, of Peterboro, motored to Campbellford and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bakes, Kent Street, on Sunday.

Miss Ada Shapter, Centre street, who has spent six weeks visiting friends in Toronto returned to her home on Monday.

Mr. Harry MacDonald, of Geneva, N.Y., is visiting his uncle, Mr. Robert Greenley, and also his aunt, Mrs. Chas. McKelvie, on Victoria Street.

His friend, Mr. Hayes, of Geneva, accompanied him.

Mr. Joseph Whitehead, who has had a booth for the summer at Presque Isle, has returned to his home in Campbellford on Victoria Street.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Turner, Queen Street. Mrs. R. Weston, president, was in the chair. The business hour was mostly taken up with arrangements for work between now and October 23rd. An order was drawn on the treasurer for ten dollars for Mrs. Gordon Wright to help pay her expenses.

A social afternoon will be planned for in the near future.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Weston, Rear Street.

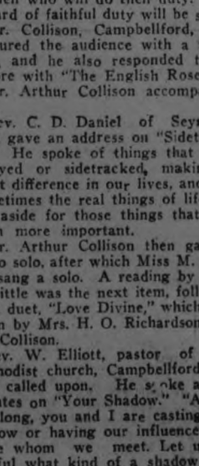
FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon



The manipulation of fabric in reversed bands, the flutter of a cascade drapery and the freedom of the straight flounce makes a dancing frock that commends itself to the young girl.

AT A season when the night in a young girl's life is much brighter and more important than day, the need of a number of dancing frocks makes itself keenly felt. A dress of the type illustrated here is particularly good for it calls for no trimming except the fabric itself and can be made of materials such as plain soft metallic fabrics, crêpe faille or satin crêpe which will stand a lot of dancing and theater going and the piling of an incredible number of young people into one car. These materials can be trimmed with bands of themselves cut on the reverse grain of metal fabric or faille and on the reverse side of satin crêpe.

STAGNANT WATER POISONS CATTLE

Investigation Conducted By the Department In Carlow Township Case.

BELLEVILLE, October 15 (Canadian Press). — Decomposition of plankton composed almost entirely of vegetable growth known as anabaena circinalis, and not mineral poisons or acid salts, caused the death of nineteen head of cattle and one sheep at Fraser Lake in Carlow Township on and after 8th September.

The water is now again normal.

This is the finding of the director of the Sanitary Engineering Division of the Provincial Board of Health, Mr. F. A. Dallyn, on the poisoning of cattle some weeks ago in the Township of Carlow, 20 miles from Bancroft.

The lake is a mile and a half long, and contains a number of bays, some of which are very shallow.

The banks are very heavily wooded, and the vegetation luxuriant.

Mr. Dallyn, summing up the conditions, says in a report to County Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, that this was no doubt brought about by the shallow and practically stagnant water, which permitted such a prolific growth that the oxygen in the water, particularly in the shallow bays, became exhausted, which in turn caused a decay of plant life. A greater flow of water through the lake would prevent this rapid growth, but such a condition does not appear feasible since the drainage area seems quite limited and lowering of the outlet would not improve matters.

This abnormal condition of water, however, can readily be detected, and serves as a warning to the farmers in the vicinity to keep all stock away.

FELL FROM SCAFFOLD

Thomas Fry of Petherick's Corner Seriously Hurt in Fall.

PETHERICK'S CORNER, Oct. 15.—A serious accident occurred on Saturday when Mr. Thos. Fry fell at least 16 feet from a scaffold to the ground. Mr. Fry has his house almost completed, and was walking along the scaffold when he stepped on the end of a plank which was not supported sufficiently, and he was hurled to the ground, breaking a bone in his left foot and giving him a very bad jar, his spine being seriously injured.

Mr. Wm. Petherick and family and Miss Freda Petherick motored to Warkworth on Friday and attended the Fair there.

A large number of people from Petherick's Corners attended the anniversary services at Burnbrae on Sunday evening.

Miss Helen Jeffs was the guest of Miss Alma Simpson on Sunday.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Thos. Brunton on Wednesday last. The weather was quite favorable, and a large number were in attendance.

Prayer service was postponed on Thursday evening on account of the temperance meeting in Campbellford.

Mr. J. D. Thomson, of the Toronto Normal School, spent the week-end with his parents.

Rev. H. Shaw, of Menie, took charge of the service at Zion on Sunday, and Rev. Chas. Daniels had charge of the anniversary services at Trent Bridge.

Mr. Garnet Kerr was in Warkworth last week, showing his fine herd of 16 thoroughbred Jerseys.

Messrs. Robt Irwin, John Simpson, Wm. Irwin and Jas. Davidson motored to Marmora on Saturday to attend the Fair there.

why only natural Bran?

WHETHER you use bran in baking, or sprinkle it on cereals, soups or fruits, it's best to use bran that is not already cooked or treated. Tillson's NATURAL Bran combines best with other ingredients in baking, and its action is more definite and normal.

Bulk bran contains dirt and other harmful impurities. Tillson's NATURAL Bran is carefully purified and sterilised. Then it is packed in dust-proof cartons that maintain its absolute purity.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

The following statement has been issued by the Bell Telephone Company to the stockholders:

For the first nine months of the present year we have had a net gain in telephones in service of 37,600, as compared with 35,489 for the same period of 1923.

Our long distance business continues to indicate the growing use of this service for both business and social purposes. Revenue from this source shows a substantial increase over the same period of 1923.

This steady development is in line with the record of previous years. It emphasizes the obvious fact that the basis of demand for telephone service is continually broadening, quite irrespective of growth in population. Recruits for the great army of telephone users are constantly arising from artizans and householders who, but a short time ago, were not regarded as possible subscribers.

Our Shareholders.

To increase, from time to time, the number of stockholders is not only to encourage thrift, but to broaden the financial foundations of your company and extend the market for desirable securities.

The continuous growth of the telephone business provides an attractive opportunity for investment of capital to extend the facilities of the system. It is the well-established policy of your company to secure its capital requirements as economically as possible and to keep its financial structure on a sound basis. To this end a portion of the new capital is borrowed by means of bonds, some is secured through capital stock investment by its shareholders, and from re-invested reserves and surplus earnings.

By revenues which provide a margin for safety, making possible a dividend which keeps the stock attractive to investors, the securities of your company are given a rating which enables it to obtain its borrowed capital on most favorable terms. The net result is that total capital charges are kept as low as practicable with the best interests of the shareholders and the telephone-using public in view.

Of the total of 11,250 shareholders, 5,503 are women.

It is of interest to note the proportion in which the shares of your company are held by investors. As of June 30th our records show:

1 to 5 shares—3,874 shareholders.
6 to 10 shares—2,556 shareholders.
11 to 25 shares—2,659 shareholders.
26 to 99 shares—1,697 shareholders.
100 shares and over — 464 shareholders.

72,000 IN PRISON.

43,000 Are Serving Terms For Criminal and Other Offences.

MOSCOW, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Seventy two thousand persons are in prison in Russian Republic at the present time according to a report made yesterday by Commissioner of Justice. Of these 43,000 are serving varying terms of criminal and other offenses, 26,000 are awaiting trial and 3,000 are awaiting deportation. The prisoner statistics for other parts of Soviet Union were not made public.

PARTY OF DIAMOND STARS HUNT IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

FREDERICTON, N.B., October 14. — Headed by Eddie Collins, captain and second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, a party of diamond stars of the major leagues will arrive here on Thursday on their way to hunt big game in New Brunswick.

The members of the party, who will assemble in Philadelphia, will include Bob Shawkey, Joe Bush and Herb Pennock, pitchers, and Fred Hosman, catcher of the New York Yankees, and Bob Boyd, baseball editor of the New York Evening World.

Bon Ami

is made in both Cake and Powder Form

Made in Canada

Do you know that Bon Ami comes in two forms—cake and powder? Both are made from the same ingredients—both have the same wonderful gift of cleaning and polishing without scratching.

For some purposes you'll want the Bon Ami powder in its handy, sifter-top tin—it's so easy to shake out on a damp cloth. For other uses you'll prefer the solid Bon Ami cake that you can rub on the cloth like soap.

Most housewives keep both the cake and powder always on hand. These two "Partners in Cleanliness" are unequalled for cleaning and polishing many things about the home.

HAMILTON'S MYSTERY.

Hamilton has another mystery, this time not a murder but the appearance on the famous mountain of a huge fiery cross constructed of gas-pipe and wrapped with waste soaked in coil-oil, a flaming signal that attracted the attention of hundreds.

The thing may have been a jobe, but there are many people who regard the signal as the commencement of a campaign to inaugurate a branch of the Ku Klux Klan in Hamilton.

Should such prove to be the case the authorities should lose no time in initiating a counter-attack that will show the men behind the bed-sheet fanatics that they are attempting to cover too much territory when they try to establish a footing for their organization in this country.

Canadians of the right sort have nothing in common with the ideals of the Ku Klux Klan.

In fact, they repudiate everything the hooded order represents.

Any organization that hides behind such trappings seeks to cause racial and religious dissension, and tries to take the administration of the law into its own hands, has no logical place in a British country.

The Hamilton police are doubtless on the qui vive for further signs of activity on the part of the Klan or its agents.

TRYING TO SAVE THEIR NECKS.

There will not be much sympathy for the attempt that is being made to save the necks of the five Montreal gunmen convicted of the murder of a bank chauffeur, killed during a raid upon a treasury car.

If there have ever been five men who deserved to meet death on the gallows they are the five now waiting their execution in Montreal.

Their crime was deliberately planned, they carried revolvers to be used in case of necessity, and they callously shot down a fellow-human being.

Not a single extenuating circumstance can be brought to the support of their attempt to escape the noose.

They voluntarily chose a career of crime, and they unhesitatingly committed murder in carrying out their plans.

Had they succeeded in making a clear getaway it is certain that they would have continued to rob and kill, too.

But they were caught, and forgetting that they did not give the young chauffeur any chance for his life, they are squealing for mercy.

Society must be protected against such men, and that protection can best be provided by adequate punishment for criminals of this type.

The sixth member of the gang does not seem to have participated in the actual robbery or to have received any of the stolen money.

A long term in prison might be sufficient punishment for him—but for the rest the original sentence should stand.

PETERBOROUGH'S POPULATION.

For those who measure a place with the yardstick of population there may not be much satisfaction in the Assessor's report showing that Peterborough's gain in population during the year was only 65 people.

Yet even from that viewpoint there should be some feeling of relief inasmuch as a slight gain was registered when indications pointed to a lower population figure in view of the number of industrial workers known to have left Peterborough during the twelve months.

Indeed, under the circumstances, any increase must be considered as a good showing.

After all, the number of people living in any particular centre is not a matter of great import.

Size does not mean happiness, although those who yearn for the time when Peterborough shall have double her population apparently think so.

It does not matter very much whether this city has 20,000 inhabitants or twice that number.

It does matter, however, very much what kind of people they are, how they are governed, how the administration of law is looked after, what provisions are made for maintaining the health of the community, what facilities for education and for recreation are offered, and how strong is the community consciousness of the citizens.

These are the things that count—not mere population, which often means more pressing civic burdens, fewer opportunities for home-making, more rush and less peace, more accidents, more crime, more expense, and in the final analysis, less happiness and contentment.

VOTE EARLY.

There used to be a popular and jocular old phrase employed at election times that advised people to "vote early and often."

The first part of this advice should be remembered by Peterborough citizens in regard to the O. T. A. plebiscite next week.

It is most desirable that those who can register their vote early in the day should do so, because, in spite of the fact that the campaign lacks some of the heat that was expected, it is certain that there will be an unusually large vote polled.

The registrations were large, and both sides have an organization which means that more than the usual number of voters will go to the polls.

Many people are accustomed to defer voting until late in the day.

Some, of course, have no choice in the matter, but a large percentage has no real excuse for waiting, and in this particular plebiscite members of this latter group are urged to help avoid congestion by dropping into the polling booth as soon as possible.

There is no reason why the bulk of the voting should be confined to the last two or three hours, and every effort should be made to take advantage of the early part of the day by those who are in a position to vote early.

A last-minute congestion might easily mean that many electors would be deprived of a chance to mark their ballots.

SPAIN AND MOROCCO.

Word comes by cable that Spain is about to call 80,000 recruits to the army, thereby illustrating one of the craziest nationalistic and militaristic follies which the history of mankind can show, says the Ottawa Journal.

Spain has no need for an army anywhere—no use for an army except misuse in Morocco.

Spain is in no danger from Morocco. The Riffs have no navy wherewith to cross the Straits of Gibraltar, even if the coffee-colored fighting tatterdemalions who roam in the hinterlands of the Morocco coast had any idea of galumphing into Spain.

Spain has no actual or prospective trade with Morocco of dimensions sufficient to cause Spain to keep pouring blood and money into Morocco in order to retain some possession in it.

The war in Morocco in which Spain keeps dabbling has neither success nor possible real gain, nor common sense of any kind. It is a foolishness of the sort to which caste and militarism and bureaucracy are prone. Though Spain has lost more lives, more money and more prestige in Morocco than a hundred years of successful occupancy could compensate her for, here comes a call from the rulers for another 80,000 youths to supply war casualties. This is not to be explained except by the frame of mind which looks upon the administration of nations as a sort of game of chess in which persons who happen to be in power in any country are entitled to use the lives of their fellow-countrymen to grab anything belonging to any other country that can be grabbed at, or to fight at the drop of a hat on account of some imaginary danger or accidental annoyance.

One would imagine, however, that even in Spain this new call to arms, before it results in much, will upset the present Spanish Government.

THOSE ELECTION APPEALS.

It is an axiom long tested by experience that party platforms are of great value for enabling their framers to mount to power, but that they collapse or are rejected when they have served this purpose and the ballots are counted. The British electorate will, therefore, take the issuing of the three manifestos of the parties now seeking their suffrages with a pinch of salt, valuing them not so much for what they promise or what they leave unsaid as for the trend of political ideals and sympathies which they reflect.

Through these spectacles the election documents made public over the week-end in Britain have a heightened interest. As might be expected in view of the long experience and the skill of the draughtsmen, they are adroit documents. Especially is this true of the Labor manifesto. No party in English history has had such catholicity of views, such diversity of opinion as the present Labor party exhibits. It would be difficult for the student of politics to find a real point of contact between a leader of what is known as the Clydeside group and a Socialist of the Arthur Henderson or J. R. Clynes type, between the studious theorizing of Sidney Webb or Ramsay MacDonald and the blatant aggressiveness of Jack Jones or William Kirkwood. The fact is that a hundred shades of thought, widely separated even on fundamentals, is grouped together under the generic name of Labor.

The result of this is that an election manifesto for the Labor party must be exceedingly wide in its appeal.

The Liberal manifesto is chiefly interesting because the hand of Lloyd George is plainly apparent in its presentation and it is the fighting Lloyd George who signs the document. It was obvious that the Little Welshman would not be forever content to adopt the laissez faire and apathetic rut into which Liberalism has fallen since the coming of Labor. It would seem as if Labor had swallowed all the aggressive spirit of the older Liberalism. Today Liberalism shows by its manifesto that it will make the Russian issue the chief battle-ground of the present campaign. No Tory Die Hard could be more indignant than are the Liberals in this manifesto over the withdrawal of the prosecution of the man who incited mutiny in the army and navy.

Nevertheless Lloyd George is too astute a politician to put all his eggs in one basket. He foresees that Ramsay MacDonald will endeavor to offset any bad impression which the Dickerings with Sovietdom may have caused by pointing to the record of his party's achievement in Foreign Affairs. Yet if the Liberals are to win back any of their waning popularity in Durham, in South Wales and in the coalfields of the Midlands, some constructive policy must be offered as a substitute for the airy idealism of the Labor manifesto. Lloyd George, therefore, takes a plank that has stood him in good stead in previous elections and nails it conspicuously in the forefront of the structure. It is the Liberal answer to nationalization, the half way compromise between Capitalism and Marxism.

To the Conservatives the issue is Russia, and in its denunciation of the treaty of Editor Campbell and Sovietdom it has got some first-class election ammunition. The Conservatives will do their best to confine the campaign to that issue alone.

If they are successful, there is every prospect of their obtaining a new lease of power, in which a new group of Liberals will lend them support and give them the stability which the country so badly needs. If, on the other hand, a somewhat hazy idealism is to hold its grip, MacDonald may find himself in power and not merely in office as hitherto.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Prohibitionists who declare that if the O. T. A. is defeated many people will stop driving their cars are taking chances of making votes for Government control. There are not a few folks who would regard a reduction of motor traffic as a blessing.

The United States prohibition navy seems to have made as complete a job of the rum-running fleet as Dewey did of the Spanish at Manilla.

Girls, take care! A bobbed hair Massachusetts lassie has been shot in mistake for a woodchuck.

Mr. J. M. Burnham, ex-M.P. of Peterborough, who writes voluminously against the O. T. A., says in a letter to The New York Times: "Canada, especially Ontario, which is as yet in the grip of prohibition (which puts the policemen in charge of people's private life as well as their public life), is almost altogether at the mercy of banditry." Happily this unpleasant picture of Ontario is not true. But what is to be gained for anti-prohibition by smirching the Province in this way?—Toronto Globe.

If Lady Godiva should ride through the streets today, she would have to have her hair bobbed to attract any attention.—Kitchener Record.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, October 15. — Monday's top for export steers paid by Rogers & Maybee was $7.40 a cwt. plus freight. This load belonged to J. J. Cochrane of Muirkirk, and averaged 1,500 pounds.

There is a good trade in stockers and feeders this week, and Neil Coutts sold 7 loads on Monday at $4.25 to $5.50 a cwt. A load of low set 800-pound stockers sold yesterday at $4.40 a cwt.

Choice handyweights held up round $6.50 and $6.60 and good butchers generally made $5.75 to $6.00 a cwt.

The general run of good butchers were $6.00 a cwt. Butcher cows were steady. Bologna bulls were hard to get, except in the light kind.

Top calves were up half a dollar mediums sold at 9 1-2 cents. Heavy calves held from 6 to 7 cents.

Lambs are holding quite steady at an advance of a strong quarter dollar a cwt. Monday's top was 12 1-4 cents. The first decks over the scales yesterday were marked at 12 cents for the ewes and 10 cents for bucks. One bunch of sheep a little thin sold at 7 cents, but choice sheep are 8 to 8 1-2 cents a pound. Top ewe lambs brought 12 1-4 cents again yesterday.

Hogs advanced 25 cents on Monday afternoon to $10.25 a cwt. f.o.b. and this was the packers' bid price yesterday. Sellers are feeling out the market and will try for another top.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MINTREAL, October 15 (Canadian Press). — The demand from British importers for grain here yesterday was again somewhat limited, there being only sales of odd loads of No. 1 Northern wheat for October shipment, while barley and oats were neglected. There was some demand in the domestic market from exporters for Ontario oats, and sales of No. 2 white were made at 62 cents per bushel, and No. 3 grade at 61 cents per bushel, ex-track, while for local consumption the former grade sold at 67 to 68 cents per bushel, and the latter at 63 cents per bushel, ex-track.

Ontario No. 3 extra malting barley was quoted at $1.08 and No. 3 grade at $1.07 per bushel, ex-track.

Owing to the good crop of potatoes harvested in Canada this year, the offerings in this market of late have been very liberal, and in consequence prices have been reduced to the lowst level for some years past.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 15 (Canadian Press). — Big export business together with serious crop damage news from Argentina had much to do with bringing about a sharp advance in the wheat prices yesterday. On some transactions the advance amounted to fully 5 cents a bushel, compared with Saturday's finish.

Closing quotations for wheat were unsettled, 27-8 to 4 1-4 cents net higher, December 146 5-8 to 146 7-8 and May 151 3-8 to 151 3-4, with corn 1-4 to 3-4 cent up, oats showing 1-2 to 3-4 cent gain, and provisions varying from 20 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Highest prices of the day in the wheat market here were reached right at the opening and were partly taken place at Liverpool and Winnipeg during the Columbus holiday in Chicago. Aside, however, from the magitude of export business, said to aggregate 5,000,000 bushels of wheat and 1,000,00 bushels of rye, the attention of traders was directed mainly to advices telling of drought, frost and unseasonable cold in Argentina, with predictions of a smaller Argentine wheat crop than last year.

LAKEFIELD HELD A.Y.P.A. SERVICES

St. John's Church, Lakefield, Observed Last Sunday for Young People.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 15.—Sunday was observed in St. John's Parish as A.Y.P.A. Sunday. The members of the local branch received corporate communion at 8 o'clock in the morning.

At the eleven o'clock service, the rector, Rev. W. Cox, spoke on the A.Y.P.A. motto: "For Christ and the Church." Stressing the importance of Christ as a model for us, His life upon earth has given us many examples of His attitude toward things which are encountered in daily life. The church is Christ's own organization, and our precious heritage, when we can worship God in his own house. The motto of the A.Y.P.A. is one which was considered specially adapted to the work of young people in the church.

At the evening service, there were delegations from All Saints and St. Luke's, Peterboro, and St. Thomas, Millbrook, and Christ Church, Omemee. Mr. Cox took as his text: "I am among you as he that serveth." The question is often asked, What is the place of the young people in the Church's life? and one can answer, "personal service." The general idea of young people to-day is that they want only to be entertained, and if no work is given them in the church they will look for entertainment as a matter of course. Work never killed anyone, though worry for the want of it has killed many. Christianity, as taught by Jesus Christ, is a desire for service, and now, in the twenty-second year of the existence of the A.Y.P.A., the young people have shown a gratifying willingness and pleasure in service. The social side plays an important part, as Christianity does not mean dullness or lack of pleasure. The great need of the Church to-day is personal service; there is a tremendous power in personality which we should realize and apply to our duty. When God wanted to save the world, He was not content only with sending angels and writing letters, though he inspired many writers, but He came in person. The cry of the universe is, "What is God like?". The Christian religion is the answer to that petition. We can say, Look at Christ; look at the Babe of Bethlehem, and learn there to reverence childhood and motherhood; motherhood is the glory of womanhood. The child presented in baptism in its infancy possesses great potentialities, and one feels like saying, as was said of our Lord and of St. John the Baptist, "What manner of child shall this be?"

Look at Christ, as the boy in the carpenter's shop—obedient and industrious.

Look at Christ when He was abusing the scribes and Pharisees for their hypocrisy—there is no room in the Kingdom of Heaven for hypocrites. Our Lord hated pretence.

Look at Christ on the Cross, and learn of the love man ought to have and the service he should render.

Look at Christ dealing with the woman taken in the act of sin and with the ten lepers—we see the love and mercy of Him toward those who were sick and sinning and His exercise of His pardon and cleansing power; we have learned the love and power of God through His coming among us.

St. Paul, who could, if he desired, have lived a leisured life, chose the path of service which, for him, had the perils of shipwreck and prison and terrible hardships.

St. Augustine was a man about town in Rome until brought into contact with Christ's saving power, which altered the trend of his whole life, and the name of St. Augustine is honored in every Christian land.

St. Francis d'Assissi, and his wonderful life of service; John Wesley and his great life of service; Livingstone, who went himself into the heart of Africa and did a great work among the natives; Dr. Grenfell, whose work in Labrador is well known. The prisons of to-day are still feeling the influence of Howard, who did so much for their reform; sick and wounded soldiers for many years have blessed the name of Florence Nightingale, the pioneer army nurse. These are outstanding examples of men and women whose interpretation of Christianity is service. Because we cannot do these bigger things we should not be discouraged, for it is better to try and fail than fail to try. One thing tells the story of the world's greatest need to-day—and that is personal service.

After the service, the visitors were taken to the Sunday School room where light refreshments were served.

The church was decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, flowers and sheaves of grain. The flowers on the altar were blue, white and gold, the colors of the A.Y.P.A., and on the pulpit was a floral shield in blue and white, which was made by Mrs. Cox. Over the sanctuary hung a large cross of grain and blood-red flowers, and a floral cross hung on the lectern.

The Sunday School was in gala attire and looked its best. Over the door hung the A.Y.P.A. symbol, made of blue and white, the rosettes being made by Mrs. White, a member of the association, who is confined to her home through illness. Among the visitors were:—Mrs. C. Curtis, Misses A. Stout, I. Storey, D. Turner, Viola Lang, and Messrs. C. A. Hope, J. C. Adams, R. Runnett and L. Rootes, of All Saints, Peterboro; Messrs. J. Bent, W. Clemett and H. W. Hill of Omemee; Misses Gertrude Gray and Pearl Lamb and Mr. Robert Stone (president of Peterboro District Council), of Millbrook; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mr. and Mrs. A. Perry, M. G. Perry, Miss Queenie Hope and Cecil R. B. Hope of St. Luke's, Peterboro.

METHODIST CHURCH CONVENTION HELD IN STIRLING WEDNESDAY

Over Seventy-five Delegates From Different Parts Of District Were Present.

STIRLING, Oct. 15.— The Campbellford District of Methodist church convention, held at Stirling, under the auspices of the Sunday schools and Epworth Leagues, on Wednesday, October 7th, 1924, was a great success, over seventy-five delegates attending as well as many townspeople. There were two sessions, afternoon at twow and evening at half past seven. All the circuits were represented, with the exception of two. The chairman for the afternoon was Rev. Chas. D. Daniel, of Seymour circuit, who is district secretary of religious education.

The devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. F. G. Joblin, of Rawdon.

A very cordial greeting of welcome was given by Rev. C. W. Barrett, of Stirling, chairman of Campbellford district. The theme of his address was: "Why We're Here." He said: "We believe in new ideas and keeping up to the times; we are here at this convention. We would not be able to carry on the work effectively without the help of the convention. We want to be absolutely up to date and get the best and newest ideas for Sunday school work."

First of all he welcomed the delegates as pastor of the church at Stirling and also in the name of the Sunday school. Second, for the league of Stirling church, he extended a cordial welcome. "Why we're here": To study, to get new ideas that will help us in the work of our Sunday schools. To get everything out of it and put everything into it." The Sunday school is losing eighty-five per cent. of her scholars to the church and seventy-per cent. are boys.

Rev. C. D. Daniel, chairman, then made a few remarks and called the roll, each circuit responding by all from that circuit standing up. A report was read by the secretary from each of the Sunday schools.

A nominating and business committee was then appointed as follows: Rev. W. P. Rodgers, Norwood, Mr. Parr, Hoards, P. S. Ewing, Warkworth, Rev. F. G. Joblin, Rawdon, A. Winters, Campbellford, with the secretary of district and H. E. Hulin, president of the leagues,

Rev. C. D. Daniel, chairman and district secretary, then gave a survey of the work. He said: "If you guide the young you guide the future of our churches." In Protestant America there is only one to five in the Sunday school who enter into the church.

There are thirty-three Sunday schools in Campbellford district; twenty-three have cradle rolls. Eighteen schools have missionary instruction. Those Sunday schools that have missionary instruction give half as much more for missions than those that have none. Out of thirty-three schools, twenty-nine contribute to religious education work. The secretary gave a little illustration showing the love that children have for the Sunday school. A little girl was lost in a city and when the policeman asked her name she said: "Elizabeth." Then he asked her where she lived. "She did not know." He said, "How can I get you home if you do not know?" "Oh," said the little girl, "Just take me to the Sunday school and then I can walk home."

Mrs. Ashton, Campbellford, then gave a very interesting paper on the cradle roll. She made an appeal that more attention be given to childhood and asked for the co-operation of the parents.

Rev. M. L. Hinton, of Hastings, gave an excellent address on "Missions in the Sunday school." Jesus Christ was the first great missionary to all the world. He spoke of J. Wm. Carey in India. He had caught the vision and God had blessed him in a wonderful way. He also spoke of John Holland in the Fiji Islands. "Give till you feel it."

Mrs. F. G. Joblin, of Rawdon, then favored the convention with a beautiful solo, "There Were Ninety and Nine."

Mr. A. Winters, of Campbellford, then gave a sort address on teacher training, showing the importance of the work. We have been teaching book instead of love and personality and the knowledge of Christ.

At the close of the afternoon session a very interesting round table conference was held, at which several questions were answered and discussed by different ones present. The convention then adjourned.

At seven-fifteen Rev. A. Laughlin, B.A., B.D., of Keene, showed some very beautiful lantern sildes of Norway house and also of the journeys of the missionaries in the far west. Some of the scenery was very beautiful, especially the water scenes.

Evening Session.

The evening session opened at half past seven, Rev. John T. Everson, of Norham, having charge of the opening exercises. The chairman for the evening was Mr. H. E. Hulin, president of the Campbellford District Epworth Leagues, who gave a short survey of the League work of the district.

The Nominating and Business committee which had been appointed in the afternoon session, then gave their report, with the following results:

Honorary President, Rev. C. W. Barrett, Stirling; President, Mr. H. E. Hulin, Stirling; Secretary, Rev. C. D. Daniel, Seymour; 1st Vice-Pres., Miss Annie Reid, Keene; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss Lucy Williams, Stirling; 3rd Vice-Pres., Miss Grace Payne, Campbellford; 4th Vice-Pres., Mr. W. F. Wells; 5th Vice-Pres., Mrs. C. W. Barrett, Stirling; 6th Vice-Pres., Mr. Fred Barnum, Seymour.

Then came the installation of the new officers and a few words by Rev. C. W. Barrett. He asked the new officers to come to the front and each one present spoke a few words as their names were called.

The Stirling choir then sang splendidly the anthem, "Savior again to Thy dear name we raise," the solos being taken by Mr. Gerald Clute and Mrs. Joblin.

The next address, "Young People's Programme," by Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, B.A., B.D., of Keene. He brought greetings from Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams, the missionaries of Campbellford and Brighton districts' Young People's Leagues. There are one hundred and sixty-four leagues in the Bay of Quinte Conference, with a membership of six thousand eight hundred, an increase of six hundred and twenty-He bespoke for the leagues that they would have the best year this year because we live nearest to our Master.

Mrs. Joblin then sang very beautifully a solo, "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

The closing address was given by Rev. W. P. Rodgers, B.A., of Norwood "Young People's Prohibition Rally." He said, "If we can succeed in bringing out the Christian vote there will be no doubt of the issue." As citizens we not only have rights but we have responsibilities. He spoke of the home, the school, the church, our vocation, our recreation and our civic life. Our home have been benefitted beyond measure, all better clothed and better nurtured. If you do not give the boys and girls a fair chance you can not expect them to come up to what they ought to be. Mr. Rodgers spoke of the time years ago when he was in Dummer and came to Norwood three different Saturday nights. He said he saw more drunken men in those three nights than he had in the three years he has been in Norwood now. At the close of his address he moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Rev. C. D. Daniel and carried unanimously by a standing vote from the whole audience in the church.

Temperance Question.

Because we believe that the Ontario Temperance Act is the best measure of temperance legislation that Ontario has ever had, and because we believe that the sale by the Government or any one else of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is wrong in principle, we pledge ourselves to support the O.T.A. to the measure of our ability. Carried by a standing vote unanimously.

The business committee brought in the following resolutions passed by them to the convention:

1. We pledge ourselves to an intensive missionary campaign during the year.

2. We wish to show our appreciation of the services of our missionaries, Rev. W. R. and Mrs. McWilliams, and thanks for his services.

3. That we have a farewell meeting for them to be held at the November District meeting, as they sail about the first of December.

4. Rev. W. P. Rodgers, B.A., of Norwood, was nominated to attend the proposed National Young People's Council at Toronto to discuss the matter of union.

5. To set up a debating series in the leagues of the district, of which the following are the rules. All the leagues are asked to get in the debating line:

Debating Series.

1. The Whattam Trophy is open for competition among the Young People's Societies of the Bay of Quinte onference in a debating series, to be conducted by districts under the general direction of a conference committee, consisting of the President, Secretary, and 4th Vice-President of the Conference Young People's League.

2. This conference committee shall —(a) Have power to make and alter the rules for debates. (b) Choose subjects for debate. (c) Be a court of appeal in disputes. (d) Issue a certificate of recognition to all district winners.

3. There shall be a District Debating Committee in each district, composed of the President (who shall be chairman), Secretary and 4th Vice-President (Lit. and R.) of the District Y. P. League and ex-officers —the Chairman of the District and the Secretary of Religious Education, together with one representative of each society competing, preferably the 4th vice-president of the local league.

4. The District Committee shall: (a) Carry out the district series under general rules.

(b) Group the contestants in two sections, the winners of each to meet at a District Y. P. rally not later than May 15th, 1925.

(c) Arrange for chairmen and critics of debates (neither of whom shall be judges).

(d) Try to arrange each round to be held on one night throughout the district.

(e) Notify the Conference Y.P.L. Secretary, Rev. A. McLauchlin, of Keene, of all debates arranged.

(f) Re-arrange dates agreeably to contestants when postponements become necessary.

5. Each debating team shall consist of two persons, preferably one lady and one gentleman, who must be bona fide members of the organization they represent, pastors and lawyers ruled out.

(a) The visiting society shall uphold the affirmative.

(b) Each contesting side shall appoint one judge and the third shall be a member or appointee of the District Committee. When this is not possible the third member shall be appointed at the meeting.

6. The debate shall commence as soon after 8.15 as possible and should not commence later than 8.30, unless previously arranged.

7. (a) Each speaker will be allowed ten minutes and the leader of the affirmative may have three minutes for reply. (b) The proper form of introduction shall be: "Mr. Chairman, Honorable Judges, Ladies and Gentlemen." (c) Biblical quotations must not be used in debates.

8. (a) Points will be awarded as follows: For material 60 per cent., for style and delivery 40 per cent. (b) Oral delivery shall receive better consideration than reading. (c) In judging the debate the judges shall take into consideration only subject matter as actually presented by the speakers.

9. (a) The Chairman shall receive from each judge at the conclusion of each debate his or her written decision as to the winner, the judges not being allowed to meet together in consultation. (b) The Chairman shall render decision accordingly, after which the critic shall have ten minutes to deliver a friendly and helpful criticism of the debate. (c) The Chairman shall send a report of each debate to the Secretary of the Conference Y. P. L. within twenty-four hours.

10. The Conference Committee will announce later the inter-District scores and the conditions of holding the trophy.

11. The final debate shall take place at the 1925 Biennial Convention.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the people of Stirling for their hospitality and to the choir for their splendid music at the convention. Rev. C. W. Barrett closed the convention with the benediction.

METHODIST CHURCH MEETING OMEMEE

Monthly Meeting Of W.M.S. Society a Huge Success.

OMEMEE, Oct. 14—The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church, was held in the Sunday school roof on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. E. W. Rowlands, conducted the devotional exercises, after which several items of business were discussed. It was unanimously decided to send fruit to the Fred Victor Mission and also to the Deaconess Home, Toronto. The date for the bazaar was set for December 10.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to hold the winter meetings in the homes. Following these items of business Mrs. Bushnell, read the devotional leaflet, "more things are wrought by prayer, than this world dreams of".

Miss Carrie Balfour contributed much to the meeting in her rendition of a solo, entitled, "Close to Thee."

Miss Eva Race gave a synopsis of a chapter in the study book, entitled "China's Real Revolution." Mrs. Rowland gave an interesting outline on "What Women Should Know About the Coming Plebiscite," after which Miss Balfour, recently of Edmonton, gave a graphic account of Government control in Alberta, which has been in force since May, and which the prohibition forces are already preparing to have repealed. At the close of the address, Miss L. Parsons, sang a hymn entitled, "was that Somebody You". A social half hour followed, the hostesses for the month being, Mrs. Charles Ivory, Mrs. M. Wilson and Mrs. S. Connell.

An unusually loud report in the business section of Omemee, on Wednesday afternoon, brought many citizens to the street to find out the cause. This was readily observed; a Sedan car and a Ford, owned and driven by Mr. Wally Lowes had collided with the result that three tires were blown out and much other damage resulted The sedan received the least damage and was soon able to proceed on its journey, after Constable Williamson had taken the particulars.

REV. O. A. M'KENZIE NOW AT BURNBRAE

Former Preacher at Gambridge Has New Pastoral Charge.

BURNBDAE, October 14. — An interesting event was held in St. St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, the occasion being the induction of Rev. D. A. McKenzie, formerly of Gamebridge, into his new pastoral charge of Seymour and Rylestone.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. J. W. Stephen, of Kingston, Moderator of Kingston Presbytery, who conducted the devotional exercises.

Rev. W. T. McKenzie, of Wilton, gave an interesting sermon, taking as his text Luke 21, 36.

Rev. R. J. Craig, the popular Clerk of the Presbytery, spoke briefly prior to the induction exercises. Following the formal induction, which was conducted by Rev. Mr. Stephen, Rev. C. L. Cowan, of Picton, was called upon to address the minister.

Rev. Simpson, of Stirling, was appointed to this task, but illness prevented his attendance, and great credit is due Mr. Cowan for the able manner in which he performed this rather difficult office. He centred his thoughts around Paul's words to Timothy. "Take heed to yourself, and your teaching."

Rev. S. G. McCormack, of Madoc, who has very acceptably filled the office of interim Moderator during the vacancy, then addressed the people. Although he had more of praise than admonition for the congregation, he hoped that they would forget any difference of opinion or methods and rally together for whatever work presented itself in the church, and magnify that work until they realised its importance.

Following the service, Mr. Hume, the clerk of St. Andrew's Church session, made Mr. McKenzie acquainted with the members of the congregations individually.

Both congregations were well represented at the service, as well as a number from other churches.

Rev. Mr .McIntosh of Campbellford was present, also Rev. McIlroy of Havelock, Rev. and Mrs. Joblin of Rawdon Circuit, were visitors, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Clancy of Wellman's Corners.

Rev. D. A. and Mrs. McKenzie arrived on Tuesday, 7th October, the furniture coming the following day. They are now comfortably settled, and it is the earnest hope of the people of the two congregations that they will be pleased with their new home. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie come to Burnbrae after years of rich Christian experience, and it is hoped that with the co-operation of the people here, his ministry will prove one of inspiration in the Christian fellowship of the community.

LASSWADE SOCIAL CLUB OPENED TUES.

Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton, of Norwood, Present at Meeting.

APSLEY, Oct. 14.—The Lasswade Community Social Club was formally opened last Tuesday evening by the Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton of Norwood, at the request of the patron, Rev. C. A. G. Spence. There was a good attendance when Mr. Spence opened the meeting by leading the singing of "O Canada," after which he briefly outlined the objects of the movement, which he trusted would be of great benefit to the social life of the community.

The Rev. Mr. Ogden, Methodist minister of Apsley, followed the speaker with an inspiring address, in which he fully endorsed the scheme. "It is thirty years ago," said Mr. Ogden, "since I assisted in a similar event in the Old Country, which started in just as humble a way as this, but grew to great proportions. Isolation is a bad thing for human beings, and there was no doubt but that the movement, properly used, would be a great benefit to the members. He congratulated Mr. Spence on initiating the project, and felt that nothing but good would come from it. He personally would make as much use as possible of the club for his own good, and assured the meeting, in conclusion, that the Community Club movement had his hearty support. Mr. Spence then called upon Rev. O'Connor-Fenton to formally declare the club open, which he did at the close of an interesting address, containing much good advice as to the conducting of the club. "Let it be a school of manners, a place to help one another, make it a rule to go, not when you just feel like it, but make it a social fixture." He asked God to bless the movement to their happiness and mutual comfort, and to the community. He had much pleasure in declaring the Lasswade Community Social Club opened. Refreshments were then served by the ladies, and twenty members joined the club. The pleasing event concluded with the singing of God Save the King.

The Apsley Anglican Mission has been favored this week with a visit from the Rural Dean, Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton, of Norwood, who spent a busy four days inspecting the churches of the Mission and conducting services. On Tuesday he opened the Community Club at Lasswade, on Wednesday conducted afternoon service at Owenbrook, and preached at the Harvest Thanksgiving in the evening at St. George's Church, Apsley. On Thursday morning he conducted service at St. Stephen's, Chandos, and visited with Mr. Spence, returning to Norwood on Friday. He expressed great satisfaction and pleasure at the progress made in church work in this part of the Deanery, which exceeded his expectations. Miss Fenton accompanied him, and was the guest of Mrs. J. Downing.

OMEMEE PERSONALS.

OMEMEE, Oct. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan spent a few days with Toronto friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williamson and family visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Marlow, of Blackstock, on Sunday.

Mr. Johnston Feir, of Millbrook, was in town Wednesday on business.

Those from Omemee who attended the Presbyterian Conference in Peterboro last Wednesday were: Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Black, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lamb, Mrs. O. G. Williamson, Mrs. S. T. Wilson, Mrs. S. J. Mackey, Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and Mrs. L. A. Mahood.

Mrs. A. Staples has returned to her home in Lindsay, after visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Earle.

Mr. Albert Byers, of Toronto, visited friends in town on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sloan and daughter, accompanied by Mr. W. H. Kennedy, also Mrs. Sloan's sister, Mrs. P. Hart, motored to Toronto and spent the week-end.

Mr. J. Richardson, of Toronto, a former old Omemee boy, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Atwell.

Mr. Albert Stinson, of Peterboro, visited his brother, Mr. W. D. Stinson, on Friday.

Mrs. Kimusky and daughter spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. R. Morton.

Mrs. H. McQuade spent Tuesday with Mrs. Staples in Lindsay.

Those who attended the A.Y.P.A. District Council meeting in Millbrook on Thursday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. V. Jones, Rev. A. T. Weir, Misses Irene Clemett, Alta Moncrief, Mabel Rowan, G. Tuck, and Messrs. J. Willby, W. Clemett, Horace Hill, J. Bent, L. Adams, and H. Burgess.

Mr. E. Butler, of Toronto, was a visitor in town on Wednesday.

Born — To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mills, on Wednesday, Oct. 8, a son.

A public temperance meeting will be held in Coronation Hall this evening. The speakers will be Dr. Kirkconnell and Newton Smale of Lindsay, and a good programme of music is being provided.

There was a good deal of excitement in the village when notices appeared on the boardings announcing that the local minister would, that night, address a meeting at the Assembly Hall, on the subject of "The Perfect Woman—Where is she?"

He had quite a good audience, and soon got warmed up to his subject.

"Now," he said, during the course of his address, "I ask you, has anyone ever seen or heard of a perfect woman"

Suddenly, from the back of the hall, rose a tall, gaunt, angular woman in rusty black. In a melancholy voice she said:

"Yes, sir, I have heard of the woman you mention."

"Who was it?" enquired the speaker.

"My husband's first wife," replied the gaunt one feelingly.

FRUIT TREATMENT FOR CONSTIPATION

Quick and Permanent Relief By Taking "Fruit-a-tives"

What a glorious feeling it is to be well! What a relief to be free of cathartics, salts, laxatives and purgatives that merely aggravate constipation and are so unpleasant to take and so weakening in their effect!

What a satisfaction to know that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes will absolutely and permanently relieve constipation. By a certain process, the juices of these fruits can be concentrated and combined with tonics—and it is these intensified fruit juices that correct constipation, relieve headaches and biliousness, and make you well and keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold everywhere at 25c. and 50c. a box—or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Moths Cannot Live in Sani-Bilt

LIKE the insidious attacks of disease are the silent, unseen ravages of moths. Millions of dollars' worth of damage is done every year by this noiseless, almost invisible household plague.

What a relief it is to know that in choosing a Chesterfield suite today you don't need to run the slightest risk of moths. You simply ask for Snyder's Sani-Bilt.

Moths can't live or breed in material treated by our process. We guarantee Snyder's Sani-Bilt Living Room Furniture to be absolutely mothproof. The process is a closely-guarded secret. No other furniture firm in this country has the privilege of using it, although many imitate it. But shrewd Canadian women realize that imitations never satisfy.

Built For Strength

Snyder's Sani-Bilt Furniture is made to last. It is constructed on a heavy frame of selected hardwoods. It is put together with an eye to strength and durability. Its joints are dowelled and corner blocked. The corner blocks are screwed as well as glued.

Then the steel coil springs are oil-tempered and japanned so they won't rust. They are fastened into place with heavy cord. There are at least 67 springs in the back and seat of a Sani-Bilt Chesterfield, not counting those in the arms and the Marshall Spring Cushions. This is far more than in ordinary Chesterfields. Similarly comfortable are the Sani-Bilt Living Room Chairs.

The springs are supported by interstrapped Scotch webbing, stretched taut and securely anchored to the frame, thus preventing the seat from sagging into unsightly hollows. A tightly drawn, heavy steel wire connects the front row of springs and supports the edge of the seat.

Every bit of material used in stuffing Sani-Bilt upholstery is new and sterilized. The outside coverings you can see and judge for yourself. We scour Europe and America for fresh designs and beautiful shades.

Make Sure of This Tag

Attached to every piece of Sani-Bilt Furniture is the tag bearing the Snyder Guarantee. This protects you absolutely. Read it. It guarantees Sani-Bilt not only to be safe from moths, but to be free from imperfections in construction. Ask your dealer to show you the label sewed in underneath the cushion. Make sure it is there before you close the purchase. Otherwise it is not a genuine Snyder's Sani-Bilt suite.

FARM LIFE AND ITS PROBLEMS

WHEAT VALUES UP $30,000,000 IN A FEW DAYS

Sales Volumes Expand as Margin of Profits Becomes Wider.

WAGES TOO HIGH?

Industry Handicapped by High Labor Costs in Relation to Prices.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—The phenomenal rise in the grain markets during the week, attended as it has been by a gradual expansion in the volume of retail buying, is easily the most important factor in the current business situation. Larger retail buying, however, has not yet materially affected the manufacturers. Retailers are still securing their goods on short notice rather than anticipating future needs, a policy which may become more or less permanent. Business indicators show little that is new beyond a few seasonal variations.

It is doubtful if currently published generalizations on the value of the grain crops enable the average Canadian to grasp the full significance of the present price trend. The face value of the wheat crop, at current prices, has jumped within ten days from $150,000,000 to $480,000,000, and European buyers are making heavy commitments on reactions. These are forecasts, moreover, of $2 wheat in the near future and barring any radical improvement in the condition of the southern hemisphere wheat within the next few weeks, such predictions are not entirely groundless. Oats is following a similar price movement. Last year the cost of producing these grains was so close to the market price that little profit was possible. This year there is a wide margin between the cost of production and the market price, and the daily widening of this margin is expanding the buying power of the country to an unprecedented degree. Every one-cent rise in the price of wheat adds $3,000,000 to the potential buying power of the country.

Price Rise Benefits Everyone.

What actually becomes of this potential $3,000,000? The farmer gets a portion—let us say half. Since the elevator, insurance and transportation companies largely reap their returns from a bulk rather than a value increase, the balance goes to millers who have bought wisely, and to speculative buyers. But the money does not stop with the direct benefiters. The Western farmer has been doing without luxuries and even some necessities for three years or more. Even on last year's bumper crop he made little if any profit. His most probable reaction will be to go on a "buying jag," greatly to the advantage of the retailer, the wholesaler and the manufacturer not alone in the West, but in the East as well. Then a vast number of farmers will liquidate their obligations. The funds thus returned to the banks and loan companies will find their way back into the normal channels of commerce. It is most improbable that the Western farmer will buy more land this year. He has too much already, and he knows it. This means the saving for business of a by no means inconsiderable amount. With regard to the balance of the appreciated value, the speculator becomes a greater buyer of food, clothes and luxuries, and as the money goes into circulation everybody benefits accordingly. The velocity of the circulation of money is a factor that should not be overlooked. Each dollar turns over ten or fifty times, and thus the volume of business increases more than the apparent amount of the increase. The significance of all this is that when the price of wheat rises one cent, there is a per capita increase in buying power for every Canadian, of about 33 cents. In other words, not only the farmer and the speculator, but each and every person in the country stands to benefit. Multiply this by the size of the price increase in wheat, and add the increases in the other grains, and one begins to see the tremendous significance of these price rises to the country.

Labor Costs Impede.

A factor in the business situation which definitely retards the return of prosperity is the persistence with which wages have maintained relatively high levels despite the decline which has taken place in living costs. The latter, after the period of extreme inflation, dropped to what appears to be a new level about midway between the pre-war levels and the peak. Wages rose with prices, or soon thereafter, but, instead of following the general downward trend, remained only slightly below the peak. As a result, the cost of production is greatly increased, and the volume of manufacturing reduced. This reacts back upon the worker himself in unemployment. White collar labor, incidentally, is no exception. In the foreign markets the Canadian producer is especially handicapped since foreign labor, particularly on the continent, has settled down to work at lower wages. It is generally agreed that lower labor costs are absolutely essential to the recovery of industry and the lessening of unemployment.

BEES HAD BAD YEAR.

Cobourg Apiaries Had Only Fair Crop of Honey.

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—Bee owners in this district state that honey is only a fair crop, and some say scarcely that. The cold, backward season, that retarded growth, and the early blossoming of plant and shrub and tree, is blamed for this. Then the wet weather interfered with the bees gathering large quantities of honey. Some apiarists, who have shipped honey other years, state they have not more than enough for their own use.

Cow testing separates the good from the poor and lays the foundation for a good herd.

EXAMINER STORY FOR CHILDREN

Wily Fox Caught in a Trap Did Not Outwit Mr. Rooster.

AND A MORAL.

Here is a story about a fox. One summer morning a fox was caught in a trap set, cock saw the trouble at some little distance, and very slowly, and with much caution, came closer, for, of course, the fox was his most dreaded enemy, and he knew there would be no mercy shown to him were the fox free.

But when the sly fox saw him coming he looked very kind and sad.

"Dear cousin," he said, "you see the accident that has befallen me here, and all upon your account; for as I was creeping through yonder hedge on my way homeward I heard you crow, and thought I would call and ask you how you did it—then I met with this disaster. So now I beg you to be so kind as to fetch me a knife that I may cut this string that binds me, or maybe you will stand near until I have had time to gnaw it through with my teeth; you being near will prevent the farmer knowing that I am caught."

The cock stayed not a moment longer after he had found out how matters stood, but ran as fast as he could and told the farmer that the fox would soon gnaw himself free. Then the farmer at once ran to the trap and killed the fox.

You cannot help those who have done a wrong to escape from their just punishment. If you do, you are taking part in the crime, and most likely you will get little or no thanks for your foolish kindness. Wrongdoers must suffer for their wickedness. There is no room for them beside those who are trying to go right—they are like weeds, useless and in the way. If the cock had freed the fox he would have been killed and eaten at once, and the bad old fox might have avoided the trap the next time.

CROP COMPETITION.

Prizes in Clarke Township Standing Field Crop Competition.

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—Prizes in standing field crop competitions offered by Clarke Township Agricultural Society resulted as follows:

Corn—C. B. Sisson, Cedar Crescent Farm, 93½ points; C. A. Chapman, 92 points; A. I. Tamblyn, 90 points; Arthur McKay, 89 points; F. W. Rickard, 88½ points; D. I. Gilson, 86 points; W. S. Mofatt, 82 points. The variety of corn grown by all of the winners was Wisconsin No. 7.

Oats—Banner in all cases—F. M. Bremacombe, 94 points; Isaac I. Chapman, 93 points; Walter Sherwin (formerly of Fenella), 92 points; Arthur McKay, 91 points; M. Stapleton, 90 points; R. H. Brown, 89 points; C. A. Chapman, 86 points.

Until breeders mate animals whose factors determining producing ability are known to be for high production only, they are going to get many low and medium producers from parents that are from high producing ancestry.

It is always a good plan to save a piece of nice clover or rape on which to refresh the breeding ewes just prior to the mating season.

A pig that doesn't make a hog of himself isn't profitable.

NEED OUR WHEAT TO MAKE AMERICAN FLOUR

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—The United States is still taking a certain amount of Canadian wheat for grinding in bond for export. Figures issued by the Washington government show that during September these imports were 309,235 bushels.

During the period from January 1 to September 27, according to United States figures, 15,536,100 bushels of wheat were imported from Canada, of which 8,208,213 were for grinding in bond for export.

WONDERFUL TUBERS APSLEY DISTRICT

One Man Has 100 Bags From One Bag of Seed Potatoes.

APSLEY, Oct. 15.—Threshing has commenced, and most of the settlers are expressing satisfaction at the yield. The acreage on the settlers farms is small, but returns show an average of twenty bushels of oats to the acre. Alfred Davis threshed 500 bushels from twenty-five acres, but the majority of settlers do not have as large an acreage as that. Potatoes are a phenomenal crop, and the tubers or large size, a great many running from two to three pounds each—two and a half pounds being quite common. Some of the returns reported are Hubert James, 100 bags from four bags planted. T. Tanner, 104 bags from 8 bags of seed. Frank Tanner, 21 bags from one of seed. J. Downing, 80 bushels from four bushels planted. In all cases the potatoes are of good quality and free from disease.

FIRST FRUIT TREES.

Asa Wallbridge Credited With Introducing Fruit Here.

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—At this season of the year, when the apple crop comes in for so much attention, especially along the Ontario lakefront in the counties of Northumberland, Durham and Prince Edward, it is interesting to note that Asa Wallbridge, who made his headquarters at "Meyers' Creek" (Belleville), where he was the first to erect a log house, is credited with bringing in the first fruit trees. This was before the beginning of the 19th century. Mr. Wallbridge is also stated to have brought in seeds from the United States which he planted at different points as he travelled about. Many of the old orchards in Ontario County are stated to have come from his planting.

PLOUGHING MATCH

Hastings Event Will Be Held Next Week.

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—It has been arranged to hold the annual plowing match for Hastings County on October 22nd. The farm of Mr. John McEwan, in Sidney township about a mile west of Foxboro, is the spot chosen. There will be cups and special prizes for men and boys and a big entry list is expected. A bouquet wil be held at Foxboro after the match, at which outside speakers will give addresses. It is hoped that Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, may be secured.

NEXT HARVEST IS MID-WINTER CUTTING OF ICE

Ice Houses May Be Cheaply And Easily Built By Farmer.

TEN CONDITIONS

Half the Battle is Won When Preparations Are Made Early.

It is now none too soon to make preparation for the winter harvest of the ice crop. Some may be for the first time planning to harvest some ice this winter, and they will in all probability need to construct some sort of a building or bin in which to store it. Those who have regularly stored ice may have to make some alterations or repairs to the old ice storage. In any case it is a good policy to make the necessary preparations early, and so have everything in readiness when the time comes to cut and store the crop.

Ten Conditions.

The style of ice storage really does not count provided the following are fulfilled:

(1) That the ice be cut from a body of clean water and be free from weeds and sediment.

(2) The cakes should be cut regularly, and all of a size. The ice should be at least 12 inches thick.

(3) The ice should be stored on a cold, dry day.

(4) The cakes should be packed together as closely as possible without any sawdust or other material between them. Any spaces between the cakes may be filled with finely broken ice or snow.

(5) Plenty of dry sawdust, at least 12 inches, should be packed between the mass of ice and the walls of the enclosure, and even a greater depth below and above the ice.

(6) The top of the ice storage should be provided with good circulation for air in order to prevent accumulation of warm, stagnant air over the ice. This point cannot be emphasized too strongly.

(7) The ground below the ice pit should be well drained in order to readily carry off the waste from the ice.

(8) The wall around the bottom should be air-tight.

(9) The ice should be kept well covered with dry sawdust all summer after each time ice is removed.

(1) As far as possible the ice storage should be out of the direct rays of the sun, but yet in a place where there is good circulation of air.

Ice-Houses May Be Cheaply Constructed.

It is possible to secure most of these conditions in a very cheap and simple construction, and therefore the storage of ice need not give one much concern. The better style of ice-house is usually constructed of a wall consisting of one layer of boards on each side of 2x4 studs the space between being left empty.

Ice can be kept successfully in various sorts of storages: A large bin made of single boards nailed on ordinary studding or cedar posts and located inside some other building, as a shed or barn; or outside as a simple lean-to on the shady side of a large building; part of a hay-mow; an old silo; or a more costly and attractive building usually called the ice-house or cold storage building.

FARM PLUMBING IS SUCCESSFUL AS INVESTMENT

Hot and Cold Water on Tap is a Boon—Sewage Disposal.

COMPLETE $350

Needs Little Repairs and Costs Only 8 1-2¢ a Day, Including Interest.

Hot and cold water on tap, kitchen sink, laundry tubs, bathtub, shower bath, and water flush closet, and the necessary pipes for carrying away the wastes to some suitable sewage disposal system in the yard outside, are advantages to the farmer, and especially to the farmer's wife, that can be installed on nearly every farm.

A very good system complete can be put in the average-sized home for $350, and in view of the fact that it will last a lifetime with very little outlay for repairs, it is one of the best investments one can make. It will give you real worth while service every day for a cost of about 2½ cents a day figured on interest and depreciation.

In the Physics Building, O. A. C., there is installed a complete plumbing system for inspection of students and visitors interested in this work. It demonstrates the simplest method possible of putting the various parts together, thereby saving both material and labor to the greatest possible degree. If you are interested drop in and see it, and maybe we can assist you in getting that very necessary equipment in your home—modern plumbing.

Sewage Disposal.

To perfect the plumbing system just referred to it is necessary to build some suitable construction for the sewage and waste from the home. In the country this must be either a cesspool or septic tank. The cesspool may be all right for a time in porous gravelly well-drained soils, but usually it is a menace to health by contaminating the water supply or becoming a nuisance whenever it overflows. The septic tank is the modern method, and gives good satisfaction as a rule. We have a very fine working or demonstrating model of it installed on a large table in the Physics Building, and it is very useful for showing people just what the system is like and how it operates.

The Septic Tank.

It consists of a large concrete tank divided into two compartments by a vertical partition. The size for a single house is about 4 feet x 8 feet and 3½ feet deep. This tank holds the sewage long enough for a certain kind of bacteria to destroy the solid matter. When the liquid accumulates to a certain amount a non-mechanical affair called a siphon empties one of the chambers into a system of field tile, called the absorption bed, laid shallow under the ground. Any remaining sewage is destroyed in the soil by another kind of bacteria that live near the top of the ground. In this way these friendly bacteria are enabled to do a very valuable work for us. This is science applied to a useful purpose.

We supply bulletin and blue-print to anyone wishing to build a septic tank. All necessary information is given in these, and by their helpful suggestions any handy man can build it.

ALBERTA WILL PRODUCE 1,000,000 POUNDS WOOL

CALGARY, Oct. 15.—One million pounds of wool will be shipped to Toronto by the organized wool growers of Alberta this season. Four carloads left the Calgary district to date, carrying 93,440 pounds. The south country, it is estimated, will market between 800,000 and 900,000 pounds. The central part of the province will contribute about 71,000 pounds, and the north will have something like 63,000 pounds.

FIRST FURROW 297 YEARS AGO

Plough Drawn by Oxen That Indians Called "Frenchmen's Moose."

PIONEER LIFE

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—On April 27, 1925, two hundred and ninety-seven years will have elapsed, since the first plow turned the first furrow in Canada. It was drawn by newly imported oxen, and the Indians, it is stated, watched with curiosity the "Frenchman's moose" which he had trained to work for him.

Couillard, the owner of the oxen and the plow, had married a daughter of Louis Herbert, who is claimed to be the first immigrant who settled in Canada, with the intention of eking a subsistence from the soil. Those who preceded him in the settlement were either fur traders or missionaries. Couilard and Herbert appear to have worked together for years, using only the spade and hoe. Then Couilard procured a plow, and a yoke of oxen, and great was the astonishment of the Red men at the innovation. Only the Indian crops were sown at first—corn beans and squash, for it was currently stated that European grains would not grow in the new continent of America.

Sixteen years later one of the Couilard family tried the experiment of sowing wheat, and it grew. In fact wonderful crops were secured from the virgin soil.

New Canada has become the wheat granary of the world.

MORE FALL WHEAT.

Northumberland and Durham Have Bigger Acreage Than Usual.

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—Taking the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham as a whole, it is stated that the acreage of fall wheat is greater than usual. It is also reported to be doing remarkably well.

HARVEST AT BETHANY

Last Field of Oats Has Fallen Before Mower—Potatoes Good.

BETHANY, Oct. 15.—Harvest is completed at last. The only remaining fields of oats were moved away on Saturday. Corn is all cut and practically all potatoes are in the cellars, nothing left out now except turnips.

Potatoes turned out to be an excellent yield.

The farmers are now busy doing their fall ploughing.

The recent heavy frosts have painted our trees into the most beautiful colorings, and it is worth any person's time to drive along the concessions, and side lines and take in this magnificent view.

MARION STOREY WINS CONTEST

Picture Number 4 Brought In Best Picture of Series.

MORE PICTURES.

Coloring competition No. 4, with a girl and a landscape to color, brought in the best pictures yet entered in these popular competitions, and a lady artist had difficulty in selecting the winner in the fourteen year and over class. In the "under fourteen" class there was no doubt as to the winner, Marion Storey of Omemee having the prettiest and best painted picture. Marion's was the last envelope opened.

Kathleen Cameron, Indian River, had a splendid painting, too, but failed to show distance in the mountains, which she colored almost like the girl's dress. Kathleen's painting of the sky is exceptionally good, with its fleecy clouds and the suggestion of a sunset.

Bertha Edmondson, 465 Donegal Street, receives third prize in this class with a pretty picture in which she showed every detail well.

In the senior class Reta McAlpine of Havelock receives first prize for her rendering of the picture in complementary colors in a pretty scheme.

William R. Bell, R.R. No. 7, the only boy to win a prize this week, is second because of his attention to shading; and Mary Hoolihan, 460 Donegal Street, receives third prize.

It has been noticed all through the competition that the entries in the younger class have been better than those in the senior class, and certainly there has not been anything entered in the latter to equal the work of 13-year-old Marion Storey and seven-year-old Kathleen Cameron. There is another picture on this page, and there will be two more on following weeks, to give the seniors an opportunity to maintain their dignity. Today's is a rooster; next week's will be a wild animal, and the final picture will be a farm landscape.

There is still time, before Saturday, to send in the colored pictures of horses, competition No. 5.

Winners in No. 4.

Fourteen and over: Reta McAlpine, R.R. 3, Havelock; age 14; prize of $2. William R. Bell, R.R. 7, Peterborough; age 16; prize of $1. Mary Hoolihan, 460 Donegal Street, Peterborough; age 16; prize of 75c.

Under fourteen: Marion Storey, R.R. 2, Omemee; age 13; prize of $2. Kathleen M. Cameron, R.R. 3, Indian River; age 7; prize of $1. Bertha Edmondson, 465 Donegal Street, Peterborough; age 12; prize of 75c.

These prizes have been mailed to the successful competitors.

FEEDING OF FARM WORK HORSES

Considerable work was done during the winter of 1923 by the Department of Animal Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College, to ascertain the cost of maintenance of the farm horses. For heavy horses at teaming work necessary around the farm, such as drawing manure, etc., it cost from 31.1 cents per horse per day for feed, stabling and care. The cost of feed was 54 per cent. of the total cost of maintenance, and the cost of labor was 22 per cent. of the total cost. Horse labor during the winter cost 21.6 cents per hour.

APPLES FOR EXPORT.

Durham Fruit Growers' Association Load Cars at Port Hope.

COBOURG, Oct. 15.—The Durham Fruit Growers' Association loaded a car of apples for Quebec at the C.P.R. depot at Port Hope last week. They are also shipping two cars of apples, intended for export. It is stated that the farmers in that section, who have a good crop of apples have found no difficulty in finding a market for them, and that about three-quarters of the crop is now sold.

OATS SHORTAGE BOOSTS PRICES TO WAR LEVELS

Western Canada Will Need Entire 1924 Yield for Local Use.

SPECTACULAR RISE

Purchasers of Oats Do Not Use Option Market and Shortage Unseen.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15.—The price of oats has risen in spectacular fashion during the past ten days. The remarkable fact is not the rise in price, but the fact that oats lagged so far behind wheat in the higher price movement. It seemed as if the wheat situation was so interesting that speculators had no time to give attention to oats, in spite of the obvious shortage of oats that exists this year. This year's production of oats in Western Canada, according to the Free Press estimate, was 238,000,000 bushels. Last year's production was 451,000,000. Last year's production was by far the greatest the West had ever seen, as something in the neighborhood of 300,000,000 bushels may be taken as the ordinary production of the West, from the present development of acreage.

But only a small part of this production ever leaves the farm on which it is grown, and a still smaller amount is available for shipping out of the country. Only about 70,000,000 bushels were shipped out last year, leaving some 380,000,000 bushels for home consumption. In previous years, from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels have been the exportable surplus of the West in oats. Last year the appropriation for domestic use increased from 250,000,000 to 380,000,000 bushels. This is mainly accounted for by an increase in cattle and hogs raised for market, partly by a substitution of oats for gasoline in providing the motive power on the farm, and partly by farmers keeping a reserve for another year's operations. It is difficult to be sure just how many oats have been held over in that manner, but it will be a considerable number of million bushels. One large elevator firm is reported to have bought up several million bushels of oats of last year's crop in the elevators at Fort William, with the intention of shipping them back into the country for sale to farmers lacking feed. If this occurred, the conclusion must have been reached that the West could get along without them, or that they would bring a better price elsewhere, as most of last year's oats have now been shipped across the lakes from Fort William.

The usual market for the West's exportable surplus of oats is in Ontario and Quebec. A certain quantity goes on to farms for use as feed, but there is an immense consumption still by city delivery horses, in spite of the automobile, and in lumbering and other industrial operations. For such requirements it is very difficult to find a substitute for oats, although other grains, when available, can be substituted in the feeding of cattle and hogs.

The millers who buy wheat, and the bakers who produce bread, are accustomed to protect themselves for their future operations by buying wheat in the option market. The purchasers of oats for industrial and commercial use are evidently not in the habit of making similar use of the option market, when they can assure their supplies of feed at a favorable price, or the oats' market would have responded earlier to the conditions of shortage.

There is a tip for the salesmen of motor delivery trucks in the present situation. With every indication of a shortage of feed for the next twelve months, certain horse delivery systems may no longer show a profit, as against the alternative use of gasoline.

FARMERS SATISFIED

Threshing in Progress at Petherick's Corners Gives Good Yield.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Oct. 15.—The threshing machine has returned to the community once more, Asson Connor having threshed out several barns in this section during the last week.

The farmers are well satisfied with their returns as most of the grain is turning out better than they expected, as it was not sown till after most of the surrounding sections were finished seeding.

The root crop is exceptionally good this year, especially the potatoes. One farmer has already dug 60 bags and has more yet to dig.

LOCAL MEN SUCCESSFUL

T. H. Ruth and R. A. Watterworth Won All Honors for Peterborough.

In a contest put on recently by the Cockshutt Plow Co. of Brantford, in which they offered a silk umbrella to the dealer and traveller in the Province of Ontario writing the most business in the month of September, all the honors came to Peterboro, Mr. T. H. Ruth winning as dealer and Mr. R. A. Watterworth as traveller.

To a considerable extent, on the ram and his condition depend the quality, condition and vitality of the lamb crop. Everything possible should be done to maintain his thirft at the highest point, especially during the breeding season.

CRESSMAN'S SECOND FLOOR

Tunic Frocks

First in Autumn Modes

Dignified tunics, slim and straight; daring tunics, slashed or buttoned; novel tunics with side flares; all are prominent today in the glass of fashion. Made of lustrous broadcloth or shimmering satin, they achieve by their very simplicity a richness of effect. Frilly jabots, plaid pipings and bright metal embroideries add touches of smartness.

Costume Suits

Are Smart

Teas, bridge parties and other frivolous afternoons require just such a distinctive costume as the ensemble Suit. Rich materials and luxurious fur trimmings for coat and frock give the necessary dressiness.

Novel Sleeves

Distinguish Fall Wraps

By their sleeves you may know them as being of the mode this fall. Wraps with the new loose effect about the shoulders have wrappy sleeves which, nevertheless, fit snug and tight at the wrist. Others have long tight sleeves emphasized by huge barrel cuffs of rich fur or cut cloth.

New Fabrics and Colors to the Fore

RUST shades; chestnut brown; warm reds the color of mahogany and old wine; and "penny" brown, the shade of a bright new penny, are autumn's contribution to fashion.

GREENS, varying from deep cedar green to bright bottle green, are well up on the list of fall's favored colors.

SILKS of high lustre have been stressed in the styles of today. Ribbed silks and novelty patterns also are good.

SUNDAY SCHOOL COUNTY COUNCIL HELD A MEETING

News of Marmora and the District—Special Service For Children.

MARMORA, Oct. 15.—The Sunday School County Council for Centre Hastings met at the Methodist Church, Springbrook, on Thursday, the 9th. Afternoon and evening sessions were held. In the afternoon the devotional exercises were led by the Rev. D. R. Clare, after which the President, Mr. George West of Madoc, took the chair. Reports were heard from county departmental superintendents. This was followed by the Secretary-Treasurer's report. The Provincial representative was the Rev. R. B. Ferris, general superintendent, O. R. E. C., who led a workers' conference. The evening session was devoted to the installation of officers, followed by an interesting address from Mrs. A. P. Williams, who attended the World's Sunday School Convention in Glasgow this summer. After special music by the choir, the Rev. R. B. Ferris gave a much appreciated address. Among those attending from Marmora were Mr. F. S. Pearce, Rev. and Mrs. Clare and Mr. George Aunger.

Commencing next Sunday, the Sunday School at St. Paul's will be held at 2 p.m. in the afternoon for the period of the winter months.

The claims of the Upper Canada Bible Society will be presented at the annual meeting of the local branch, which is being held on Thursday evening next at the Methodist Church. The deputation is the Rev. Pinnock, returned missionary from South Africa. The address will be illustrated with lantern views.

Mr. Charles Armstrong of Havelock, who has attended all the local fairs, winning several successes with his horses, remarked that Marmora Fair was the best all round of those he had visited.

The activities of the A. Y. P. A. are to be resumed in the near future on a much broader scale. Two delegates have been appointed by the rector to attend the forthcoming conference at Kingston.

The special children's day service will be held at St. Paul's on Sunday morning next. The offering will be devoted to the work of the General Board of Religious Education of the Church of England in Canada.

No appointment has yet been made to the Anglican parish of Rawdon. In the meanwhile, the congregations are receiving the ministrations of Canon F. W. Armstrong of Trenton.

Teachers of this vicinity attending the teachers' convention at Madoc were: Mr. E. C. Prentice, Misses Williams, Taft, Topper, Campbell, Auger and O'Neil of Marmora; Stafford Clement of Marlbank, and Misses Smyth and Shea of Deloro. The scholars enjoyed the two days' respete.

Mr. and Mrs. William Griffin of Millbridge spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Emmorey.

Mrs. Harry Clark of Tweed is visiting her aunt, Mrs. I. Pinner.

Mr. William Sinn, Sr., has returned, feeling none the worse for his long trip westward.

Mr. W. E. Tummon of Tweed was a visitor to town on Saturday.

Mr. Robert Wright has just moved into the house recently occupied by Mrs. O. R. Jones. Mr. M. E. Grant will move into the house thus vacated.

Despite his age, Mr. Walter Wiggins, the octagenarian of Cordova, is still hale and hearty. With all the spirit of youth, he entered into the pleasures of Marmora's great Fair last Saturday.

Mrs. Mitchell of Stirling is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Phillips.

Miss Florence Sopha visited her home over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pack of Madoc visited relatives in town on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Simmons and daughter, Connie, motored to Peterborough on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Snow and family of "The Bluffs," Juddhaven, Muskoka, motored via Toronto and arrived at Marmora on Sunday. They are visiting Mrs. Clare at the parsonage.

Mr. Charles Phillips of Toronto and his sister Hilda, who attends Peterborough Normal, spent the week-end under the parental roof.

Sheriff J. H. Clare and family from Belleville spent Saturday at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wiggins of Belleville renewed acquaintances in town on Saturday.

Mr. Hugh Boyd has returned to town.

Mrs. Scarlet of Campbellford is the guest of Mrs. Fred. Lee for a few days.

The premises of Mr. D. E. Bell are being improved by the erection of an artistic trellis fence.

Miss J. Smyth spent the week-end with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Scott are spending a holiday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) D. R. Clare.

Rev. D. R. Clare attended the Sunday School convention at Trenton on Thursday and the W. M. S. convention at Bethel on Friday.

Miss Margaret McCoy spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Yeomans and Mrs. T. Henderson of Havelock visited at Mrs. Abe Smith's on Saturday.

Miss Helen Ryan of Tweed spent the week-end at her relatives, Mr. Lynch, in Marmora.

It was announced by the Rev. P. Caiger Watson at St. Paul's on Sunday morning that the semi-centenary services would be held on Sunday, Oct. 26th. There will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 11 a.m. at which the Lord Bishop of Ontario will officiate. The special preacher for this service is not yet decided upon. Bishop Bidwell will preach at evensong on the following night. There will be a supper in the Town Hall, with a reception and concert in addition.

Another interesting series of lectures is being arranged by the committee in charge of the University Extension Course. The first of these will be given by Dean Howe on Friday, October 17. His subject will be "Forestry Conditions in Canada." At the close of the lectures a social half hour with refreshments and an opportunity to meet the lecturer will be provided.

BROCADED FIGURES

A charming dress for dinner or dancing is this one of black chiffon with brocaded figures in rose-colored velvet and a full uneven skirt. The sash is of black chiffon tied very carefully. The simplicity of the outfit adds to its attractiveness.

U. S. NAVY TO HAVE NATION-WIDE RALLY

Sea-Fight Branch of Service Secures Co-operation of the President and State.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(United Press).—Another nation-wide defense rally will be staged on October 27th, when the country celebrates its third annual Navy Day.

The sea-fighting wing of the service, not to be outdone by the Army, which led the Defense Test on September 12, has secured the co-operation of President Coolidge, the Secretary of the Navy, Governors of States and the leading patriotic and fraternal societies to make the observance a success in every State in the Union.

The Navy League of the United States, which originated Navy Day in 1922, is the chief sponsor of the movement. Organization plans are in the hands of Navy League officials, who are arranging for local parades and speeches.

In cities where there is no league chapter, the American Legion is taking the initiative in securing a full turnout of Chambers of Commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis and other clubs. Participation by the women of the land will be the special responsibility of the Daughters of the American Revolution, whose organization is being extended into the smallest hamlets.

The purpose of Navy Day is described by its sponsors as "commemoration of the deeds of American sailors, in the World War and in our country's other struggles, and to bring before the attention of the public the value of the Navy to the nation in peace and in war."

The celebration will reach its height in the seaport cities. On the Atlantic and Pacific coasts the fleets will be distributed as widely as possible so that one or more ships will be in port.

"Open house" will be the order of the day on every U. S. Navy ship, where officers and crews will act as hosts to the visiting public. The Gobs will initiate inquiring land-lubbers into the mysteries of fighting craft. The big guns will be unlimbered and the boys put through their snappy drills. And Devil-Dog marines will keep the crowds from falling overboard.

Automobile caravans are being arranged at nearby inland towns to bring crowds into the ports to see the ships put through their paces.

Sixteen million people, or twice as many as last year, are expected to listen-in on the radio speeches. The Navy cannot expect to get out the 6,000 communities that participated in Defense Day, because it lacks the widespread reserve organization which was the backbone of the September demonstration, but the Navy League estimates a large increase over the 1,200 localities that took part last year.

Commander Marion Eppley, United States Naval Reserve Force, who heads the National Committee, announces that full committees are at work in every State. Rear Admiral Louis M. Josephthal is in charge at New York City; Lieut.-Col. Harry C. Cullbreath at Tampa; Capt. F. H. Ainsworth at San Francisco, and Major George E. Leach in Minneapolis.

Benediction.

The Norwood Choral Society held their adjourned meeting on Tuesday evening last in the A.Y.P.A. rooms. The treasurer, Mr. K. G. Thompson, gave his report for the season of 1923-24, which showed a balance in the treasury. The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mr. E. C. Squire.
1st Vice-President—Miss B. E. Pearce.
2nd Vice-President — Mrs. (Rev.) T. M. Wesley.
Secretary, Mr. H. Bertrand.
Treasurer, Mr. K. G. Thompsonj.

It was decided to hold the practices in the A.Y.P.A. rooms.

Mrs. Gordon Wright, of London, Ont., National President of the W. C.T.U. of Canada, lectured to a crowded hall on Friday evening last, in the interests of the O.T.A.

Mr. John Elliott, chairman of the Norwood branch of the Plebiscite Committee, occupied the chair. Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, B.A., Vice-President of the Committee for Peterboro County, occupied a seat on the platform beside the speaker

After a few preliminary remarks the chairman called on Miss Barbara Foote ond Mr. Hector Munroe for an instrumental duet. Miss Foote played the piano and Mr. Munroe the violin. This was followed by a chorus "O Canada!" by the Choral Society. Mrs. N. C. Porter then favored the audience with a solo, "Peg Away." Mrs. Wright was then called upon and the subject for her opening remarks was the words on the "Wet" bill board, "Temperance, Trade and Lower Taxation." The speaker dealt with each of these topics separately and when through all that was left of the so-called Moderationists' arguments were scarcely fit for the scrap basket. At the close of her address Mrs. Wright pinned the "white ribbon" on all the ladies who had joined the branch of the W.C.T.U. and the number joining had increased from 27 in the afternoon to almost twice that number.

"Rule Britannia" was then sung by the "Choral Society" and the meeting closed with the "National Anthem.

"Oh, a moment pray!" cried Lord Henry. "Do you seriously tell us, Mistress Rosamund, that it was Lionel Tressilian who murdered Peter Godolphin?"

"Seriously?" she echoed, and her lips were twisted in a little smile of scorn. "I not merely tell it you, I swear it here in the sight of God. It was Lionel who murdered my brother and it was Lionel who put it about that the deed was Sir Oliver's. It was said that Sir Oliver had run away from the consequences of something discovered against him, and I, to my shame, believed the public voice. But I have since discovered the truth——"

"The truth, do you say, mistress?" cried the impetuous Sir John in a voice of passionate contempt. "The truth——"

Again his lordship was forced to intervene.

"Have patience, man," he admonished the knight. "The truth will prevail in the end, never fear, Killigrew."

"Meanwhile we are wasting time," grumbled Sir John, and on that fell moodily silent.

"Are we further to understand you to say, mistress," Lord Henry resumed, "that the prisoner's disappearance from Penarrow was due not to flight, as was supposed, but to his having been trepanned by order of his brother?"

"That is the truth, as I stand here in the sight of Heaven," she replied, in a voice that rang with sincerity and carried conviction to more than one of the officers seated at that table.

"By that act the murderer sought not only to save himself from exposure, but to complete his work by succeeding to the Tressilian estates. Sir Oliver was to have been sold into slavery to the Moors of Barbary. Instead, the vessel upon which he sailed was captured by Spaniards, and he was sent to the galleys by the Inquisition. When his galley was captured by Moslem corsairs he took the only way of escape that offered. He became a corsair and a leader of corsairs, and then——"

"What else he did we know," Lord Henry interrupted. "And I assure you it would all weigh very lightly with us or with any court if what else you say is true."

"It is true, I swear it, my lord," she repeated.

"Aye," he answered, nodding gravely. "But can you prove it?"

"What better proof can I offer you than that I love him, and have married him?"

"Bah!" said Sir John.

"That, mistress," said Lord Henry, his manner extremely gentle, "is proof that yourself you believe this amazing story. But it is not proof that the story itself is true. You had it, I suppose," he continued smoothly, "from Oliver Tressilian himself?"

"That is so; but in Lionel's own presence and Lionel himself confirmed it—admitting its truth."

"You dare say that?" cried Sir John, and stared at her in incredulous anger. "My God! You dare say that?"

"I dare and do," she answered him, giving him back look for look.

Lord Henry sat back in his chair, and tugged gently at his ashen tuft of beard, his florid face overcast and thoughtful. There was something here he did not understand at all.

"Mistress Rosamund," he said quietly, "let me exhort you to consider the gravity of your words. You are virtually accusing one who is no longer able to defend himself; if your story is established, infamy will rest forever upon the memory of Lionel Tressilian. Let me ask you again, and let me entreat you to answer scrupulously: Did Lionel Tressilian admit the truth of this thing which you say that the prisoner charged him?"

"Once more I solemnly swear that what I have spoken is true; that Lionel Tressilian did, in my presence, when charged by Sir Oliver with the murder of my brother and the kidnapping of himself, admit those charges. Can I make it any plainer Sirs?"

Lord Henry spread his hands.

"After that, Killigrew, I do not think we can go further in this matter. Sir Oliver must go with us to England and there take his trial."

But there was one present—that officer named Youldon—whose wits, it seems, were of keener temper.

"By your leave, my lord," he now interposed, and he turned to question the witness. "What was the occasion on which Sir Oliver forced this admission from his brother?"

Truthfully she answered:

"At his house in Algiers, on the night he——"

She checked suddenly, perceiving then the trap that had been set for her. And the others perceived it also. Sir John leapt into the breach which Youldon had so shrewdly made in her defences.

"Continue, pray," he bade her. "On the night he——?"

"On the night we arrived there," she answered desperately, the color now receding slowly from her face.

"And that, of course," said Sir John slowly (mockingly, almost), "was the first occasion on which you heard this explanation of Sir Oliver's conduct?"

"It was," she faltered—perforce.

"So that," insisted Sir John, determined to leave her no loophole whatsoever, "so that until that night you had naturally continued to believe Sir Oliver to be the murderer of your brother?"

She hung her head in silence, realizing that the truth could not prevail here since she had hampered it with a falsehood, which was now being dragged into the light.

"Answer me!" Sir John commanded.

"There is no need to answer," said Lord Henry slowly, in a voice of pain, —his eyes lowerrd ta the tabla' t'There can, of course, be but one answer. Mistress Rosamund has told us that he did not abduct her forcibly; that she went with him of her own free will and married him; and she has urged that circumstance as a proof of her conviction of his innocence. Yet now it becomes plain that at the time she left England with him she still believed him to be her brother's slayer. Yet she asks us to believe that he did not abduct her."

He spread his hands again and pursed his lips in a sort of grieved contempt.

"Let us make an end, a' God's name?" said Sir John, rising.

"Ah, wait!" she cried. "I swear tl at all I have told you is true; all bt t the matter of the abduction. I admit that, but I condoned it in view ol what I have since learnt."

"She admits it" mocked Sir John.

But she went on without heeding him.

"Knowing what he has suffered through the evil of others, I gladly own him my husband, hoping to make some amends to him for the part I had in his wrongs. You must believe me, sirs. But if you will not, I ask you is his action of yesterday to count for naught? Are you not to remember that but for him you would have had no knowledge of my whereabouts?"

They stared at her in fresh surprise.

"To what do you refer now, mistress? What action of his is responsible for this?"

"Do you need to ask? Are you so set on murdering him that you affect ignorance? Surely you know that it was he dispatched Lionel to inform you of my whereabouts?"

Lord Henry tells us that at this he smote the table with his open palm, displaying an anger he could no longer curb.

"This is too much!" he cried. "Hitherto I have believed you sincere, but misguided and mistaken. But so deliberate a falsehood transcends all bounds. What has come to you, girl? Why, Lionel himself told us the circumstances of his escape from the galeasse. Himself he told us how that villain had him flogged and then flung him into the sea for dead."

"Ah" said Sir Oliver between his teeth. "I recognize Lionel there He would be false to the end, of course. I should have thought of that."

Rosamund, at bay, in a burst of regal anger, leaned forward to face Lord Henry and the others.

"He lied, the base, treacherous dog!" she cried.

"Madam," Sir John rebuked her, "you are speaking of one who is all but dead."

"And more than damned," added Sir Oliver.

"Sirs," he cried, "you prove naught but your own stupidity when you accuse this gentle lady of falsehood."

"We have heard enough, sir," Lord Henry interrupted.

"Have you so, by—!" he roared, stung suddenly to anger. "You shall hear yet a little more. The truth will prevail the truth shall since this sweet lady so desires it."

He was flushed, and his light eyes played over them like points of steel, and, like points of steel, they carried a certain measure of compulsion. He had stood before them half mocking and indifferent, resigned to hang and desiring the thing might be over and ended as speedily as possible. But all that was before he suspected that life could still have anything to offer him, whilst he conceived that Rosamund was definitely lost to him.

True he had the memory of a certain tenderness she had shown him yesternight aboard the galleys, but he had deemed that tenderness to be no more than such as the situation itself begot. Almost he had deemed the same to be here the case until he had witnessed her fierceness and despair in fighting for his life, until he had heard and gauged the sincerity of her avowal that she loved him and desired to make some amends to him for all that he had suffered in the past. That had spurred him, and, had a further spur been needed, it was afforded him when they branded her words with falsehood; mocked her to her face with what they supposed to be her lies. Anger had taken him at that to stiffen his resolve to make a stand against them and use the one weapon that remained him; that a merciful chance, a just God, had placed within his power almost despite himself.

"I little knew, sirs," he said, "tha Sir John was guided by the hand of destiny itself when, last night, in violation of the terms of my surrender, he took a prisoner from my galeasse. That man is, as I have said, a sometime English seaman, named Jasper Leigh. He fell into my hands some months ago and took the same road to escape from thraldom that I took myself under the like circumstances. I was merciful in that I permitted him to do so, for he is the very skipper who was suborned by Lionel to kidnap me and carry me into Barbary. With me he fell into the hands of the Spaniards. Have him brought hither and question him."

In silence they all looked at him, but on more than one face he saw the reflection of amazement at his impudence, as they conceived it.

It was Lord Henry who spoke at last:

"Surely, sir, this is most oddly, most suspiciously apt," he said, and there could be no doubt that he was faintly sneering. "The very man to be here aboard, and taken prisoner thus, almost by chance——"

"Not quite by chance, though very nearly. He conceives that he has a grudge against Lionel, for it was through Lionel that misfortune overtook him. Last night, when Lionel so rashly leapt aboard the galley, Jasper Leigh saw his opportunity to settle an old score and took it. It was as a consequence of that that he was arrested."

"Even so, the chance is still miraculous."

"Miracles my lord, must happen sometimes if the truth is to prevail," Sir Oliver replied with a tinge of his earlier mockery. "Fetch him hither and question him. He knows naught of what has passed here. It were a madness to suppose him primed for a situation which none could have foreseen. Fetch him hither, then."

Steps sounded outside, but went unheeded at the moment.

"Surely," said Sir John, "we have been trifled with by liars long enough!"

The door was flung open, and the lean black figure of the surgeon made its appearance.

"Sir John!" he called urgently, breaking without ceremony into the proceedings, and never heeding Lord Henry's scowl. "Master Tressillian has recovered consciousness. He is asking for you and for his brother. Quick, sirs! He is sinking fast."

MRS. SENECAL GIVES FACTS IN HER CASE

Suffered For Year With Nervous Indigestion.

People who are having health troubles may buy Tanlac on the assurance of more than 100,000 well known men and women who have publicly testified to the medicine's wonderful merits.

Adding her statement to the long list of endorsements, Mrs. Alex Senecal, 2060 Boyer St., Montreal, Quebec, said:

"For a year or more I was troubled with nervous indigestion and constipation and suffered until I became so run-down and nervous that it took most of the pleasure out of life. The odor of food cooking would nauseate me, my skin was sallow and spotted looking, I would lie awake nearly all night and I felt tired-out all the time.

"I am now on my fourth bottle of Tanlac and my stomach misery and nerve troubles are gone. I enjoy my meals, sleep well and am in the best of health. I always keep a bottle of Tanlac on the shelf. It is just grand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

PRINCE IN TORONTO.

Breakfast at the King Edward and Then Off to the Fox Hunt.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales and his party arrived here from Windsor at 9.25 this morning, and after greetings had been extended by Lieutenant-Governor Harry Cockshutt, Premier G. H. Ferguson, members of the Ontario Cabinet and Mayor W. W. Hiltz, they were motored to the King Edward Hotel for breakfast. At 11 o'clock the heir to the British throne left for Aurora, 25 miles north of Toronto, where a fox hunt had been arranged in his honor by the Toronto Hunt Club. The chase is expected to last the greater portion of the day.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT.

Fourteen Year Old Boy Killed When Car Turned Turtle.

MILTON, Ont., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—A fatal motor car accident occurred at Campbellville, west of Milton, on Monday night, in which Andy Gilmour, aged 14 years, lost his life, and his two companions, Leonard Watson and Carl Wingate, were badly injured.

The three lads had attended an anniversary supper and entertainment at St. David's Presbyterian Church, Campbellville. After supper the trio decided to go for a short ride, and had only gone a short distance on the Guelph Road when the car turned turtle and landed in the ditch. Young Gilmour lived only a few minutes after being taken from the wrecked car. Watson, who was driving, says he cannot account for the fatal accident, as he was not driving fast.

Dr. H. A. McColl, coroner, of Milton, opened the inquest at Campbellville yesterday, and adjourned it to next Tuesday.

RECONSTRUCTION LOAN.

2,000 People Waited This Morning For Opening of Bank.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—A long line of men and women, estimated at nearly 2,000, were waiting outside the Bank of England at 9 a.m. to-day for an opportunity to subscribe to the $200,000,000 German reconstruction loan.

The line began to take shape long before 6 o'clock, and the lists to the loan were over-subscribed and closed at 1.03 p.m.

"DIAMOND DYE" IT A BEAUTIFUL COLOR

Perfect home dyeing and tinting is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes. Just dip in cold water to tint soft, delicate shades, or boil to dye rich, permanent colors. Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings, everything new.

Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods.

FIRST BORN.

First-born child of parents is usually the poorest specimen and the fourth or eighth child is apt to be nearest perfection. This is claimed by Dr. Caroline Hedger of Chicago, who specializes on the subject.

This cannot be true on the law of averages, for the very simple reason that the average family doesn't have four children, let alone eight. Maybe it's usually true of large families where laws of heredity have more play than where reproduction is less prolific. The trouble is not in order of birth, but in training. The first-born is apt to be 'spoiled" by pampering, especially if an only child.

FABLES ON HEALTH

TREATING THE SCALP.

Keeping the hair clean and the scalp in good condition during the dusty, hot summer days was a duty to which Mrs. Mann of Anytown applied herself, particularly where the children were concerned.

Just how appreciative the hair is of a good shampoo is shown by its gloss and soft, fluffy look after the shampoo has been applied.

Use clean brushes and don't be afraid of frequent washes so that dust may be thoroughly removed. Once a weak is not too often.

In cleansing the scalp use hot water and make good thick suds with tar soap, or any good shampoo soap use a nail brush in scouring it; then rinse with several baths of water, the temperature of which should be gradually cooled.

Give the head a first rubbing with a hard, thick Turkish towel. Other rubbings can follow with ordinary hand towels. Women often find it helpful to warm the towels before using, as this will dry the hair more quickly.

C.N.R. STATIONS HIT HARD LATELY

Three More Canadian National Stations Broken Into By Thieves.

A gang of thieves, believed to be working out from Toronto, and using high-powered automobiles in their trips out around to the smaller towns where they do their plunder, broke into Uxbridge, Unionville, and Markham Stations on the C.N.R. line on Sunday night.

The same night they also entered Reesor's Flour Mill at Markham, Rophy's Garage at Markham, and Brown's general store at Unionville.

The thieves made off with goods valued at $250.00 from Brown's general store at Unionville, while they made an attempt to blow the safe at Reesor's Flour Mill.

A large quantity of tools which were stolen from Rophy's Garage at Markham, and which were used by the thieves in their attempt to blow the safe, were found by the police.

W. H. Howard, C.N.R detective, and the Provincial Police, are working on the case.

AN ESTATE SEIZED.

Property Taken Over Because of Arrears of Taxes.

LONDON, Oct. 15. — A large Slovakan estate belonging to Dr. Szecheyi, the Hungarian Minister in Washington, has been seized because of alleged arrears of taxes amounting to 7,000,000 kroner, according to the Central News Prague correspondent.

The minister has filed a complaint with the Hague court against the Czecho-Slovakan government in connection with the controversy.

ONTARIO RAILWAY HAD A GOOD YEAR

Net Earnings of T. and N. O. Railway Will Reach $750,000.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Despite the general adversity in railroad operations, Ontario's own railway, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario, has equalled its record of earnings of last year, the best in T. & N. O. history. It is understood that the net earnings for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1924, will again reach $750,000, which will go into the general revenues of the province.

Chairman George Lee, of the T. & N. O. Commission, was a visitor at Premier Ferguson's office yesterday, when he communicated the good news to the Government leader. The whole situation affecting the T. & N. O. business was discussed thoroughly by the Prime Minister and Mr. Lee and some lines of policy for the ensuing year gone into.

A LEPER ESCAPED.

Wanted Better Conditions at the Leper Colony in the States.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — Something like a panic hit the Washington police headquarters yesterday when Willard Cantelever, escaped leper from the Government colony at Carrville, La., paid a visit to the authorities to ask for "better conditions" at the colony. He is now confined in the Isolation ward near Gallinger Hospital, while the government officials are wondering what to do with him.

Cantelever was in the district build ing for an hour before the detectives knew who he was. He said he came to Washington to expose conditions at the colony near New Orleans from which he had escaped on Thursday. His expenses were paid by the 180 patients at the colony who appointed him as their spokesman, he said.

DEFECTIVE FIREARMS.

Coroner's Jury Brings in a Verdict Against Sale of Inferior Weapons.

TORONTO, October 15. — Canadian Press. — "We recommend most urgently that the attention of the proper authorities be brought to the unsafe class of rifles which sell at a figure little more than that of a toy, and can be purchased apparently quite easily by boys unskilled in the use of fire arms."

The foregoing rider was attached to a verdict of "accidental death," returned by a jury last night before Coroner Dr. Clendenan, in connection with the death last Thursday of sixteen year old Russell Tuffy, who was shot, while Raymond Lynch, his chum, was handing the victim a .22 calibre rifle to examine.

It developed that in March last a Montreal firm has imported from Germany more than 15,000 .22 calibre rifles of most inferior class. H. W. Cooey, of Toronto, who was granted permission to volunteer testimony, said that he had appealed to the authorities at Ottawa some months ago to intercept a large shipment of these rifles, which had been imported from Germany and central Europe. The rifles were seized upon their arrival in Montreal and shipped back to Germany, only to be reshipped to Canada a month or so later under another name.

TO ADDRESS MEETING.

Meeting In Interests of the O. T.A. Here To-morrow.

Mrs. Gordon Wright, Dominion President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and one of the most eloquent speakers in America, will address a mass meeting of the citizens of Peterborough and surrounding country, on Thursday evening at eight o'clock, in the Grand Opera House.

At the urgent request of the Temperance forces of Scotland last year, Mrs. Wright went to their assistance and spoke for weeks during their campaign, sometimes addressing three mass meetings a day in the largest cities and towns of that country.

This gifted lady comes with first hand knowledge on this subject, and people who are sincere in their desire to do the right thing, on Oct. 23, should make it a point to hear her message, and then decide as to how they will vote.

Ex-Mayor Taylor will be chairman for that evening. Mr. Maurice Park will sing and the orchestra will be in attendance. Admission free.

HOPE OF TAX EXEMPTION LURES ENGLISH TO AFRICA

LONDON, Oct. 14— Crowds of visitors to the copy of the old Dutch house, which is the pavilion of the Union of South Africa at the Wembley Empire exposition, over look entirely such wonderful things as gold and diamonds, strange beasts and wild fowl, statues, models, panoramas and pictures when their gaze falls upon a certain placard.

The placard bears this legend: "Income tax, £1,000 a year or less, exempt; over £1,000 a year, 1 shilling in the pound."

FORM STUDIO CLUB.

Officers Elected and Programme Arranged For Season.

The vocal pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park met at the Conservatory of Music last night and formed a Studio Club, the aims of which will be not only the study of vocal art but also to stimulate the critical appreciation of the pupils for all things musical. Meetings will be held once a month. The name chosen was the 'Dorothy Park Studio Club.' The following officers were elected: Hon. President, Mr. R. Gliddon; President, Mrs. Ford Turner; Vice-President, Mrs. N. D. Foote; Secretary-Treasurer, Alice Price; Social Convenor, Miss Frances Robertson. During the evening a most interesting and instructive address was given by Miss Alice Price on the "Wembley Exhibition," and vocal solos by Mrs. L. Spriggs, Mrs. N. D. Foote, the Misses Geraldine Collins and Bertha Hill. At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served. The November meeting will be addressed by Miss Edwina Palmer, the subject being "Aural Culture."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Readers of the Examiner:

The delay in advertising was occasioned by the absence of the owner from the city, and the loss not being discovered for some time.

A very liberal reward is offered and will be paid on return of the articles to 597 Water street, 25 McGill street, or 368 Rubidge street, city, or the Examiner office. 1d90 6595

FIRE RULES NECESSARY.

Mayor Turner Thinks Responsible Citizens Will Conform To Fire Chief's Regulations.

That some way may be found to relieve the situation caused by the prohibition placed on the burning of leaves is the opinion of Mayor J. J. Turner, expressed to The Examiner to-day. His Worship agrees with Fire Chief George Gimblett in his order against the making of fires on pavement or near sidewalks as a practice that not only harms the roadways and menaces property, but one that causes inconvenience and danger to persons passing on the streets. It is the Mayor's opinion that the difficulty can be overcome if the permission of the Fire Chief is asked by responsible parties, and a permit issued in the same way that building permits are now granted. On windy days, in dangerous localities, or when application is made by irresponsible persons, the Fire Chief could use his discretion in refusing to allow the fires.

RUBY CORBETT DEAD.

Beautiful Indian Maiden Found Dead Yesterday Afternoon.

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Lying in a pool of blood, the body of Ruby Corbett, 20 years old, and famed as the most beautiful maiden ever born on the Indian Mission Reserve near here, was found yesterday in a farmhouse not far from the city on Mountain Road. A sawed off rifle found near the dead girl leads to suspicion on the part of the authorities that she took her own life.

The farmhouse in which the body was found is owned and tenanted by Thomas Moore. Coroner R. M. Boyd, assisted by the Provincial Police, is investigating the death of the girl, and an inquest will be held.

Ruby Corbett had Ojibway Indian blood in her veins, and not long ago won a $500 prize in a beauty contest.

A SPECIAL MISSION.

Meetings In St. James' Church Arousing Considerable Interest.

The special mission which opened in St. James' Church on Sunday and is continued every evening, is arousing considerable interest, will undoubtedly be attended with good results. Rev. John E. Brown, the missioner, has a very effective way of telling the Gospel story, with illuminating and convincing illustrations from his own life, which drives home the truth with telling effect.

On Sunday evening he spoke on "The unanswerable argument for Christianity—the Healed Man," and last evening his theme was "Belief in God," and how a life of faith and trust could be as vital and effective in the 20th century as in the 1st century, illustrating the truth from incident in his own life.

An interesting and attractive feature of the mission is the singing of Miss McAlpine of Toronto, whose interpretation of the simplest gospel songs is very effective and very appealing.

MECCA CAPTURED.

Wahabi Tribesmen Captured Holy City and are Looting Royal Palace.

CAIRO, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—Wahabi tribesmen have captured Mecca, the Holy City of Islam, and are looting the Royal Palace, according to a message received here to-day.

King Ali of the Hedjaz has fled.

A section of the population of Mecca joined the hostile Wahabi tribesmen fighting King Ali of the Hedjaz in a final assault on the Holy City, a Central News despatch from Cairo says to-day.

Ali and his defeated armies are in good order toward Jeddah, which the King of the Hedjaz has made his seat of government.

The Object of This Club

To enable us to anticipate, to some extent, our Christmas Radio requirements, we are organizing this Club, limited to 100, each member of which will place an order, for Christmas delivery (or sooner), for a DeForest-Crosley Radiophone. In exchange for this co-operation we extend to each club member certain privileges, advantages and concessions that make his purchase easy, safe and attractive.

Club membership is open to any responsible person in this city, but is positively limited to 100. Memberships will be accepted in the order in which they are received.

$1.00 to Join The Club

To join this Club you simply call at our store, inspect the sets and file your application, with payment of one dollar. This does not obligate you to buy, but reserves for you the right to do so. You have until November first to decide, at which time, if you withdraw, your one dollar is refunded and it costs you nothing. If you decide to continue, the one dollar you have paid is credited to your account, and you are entitled to the Club Prices, Terms and Privileges, as shown. You then select any one of the DeForest-Crosley models and make the small Club payments each week as listed, for that model. The set will be delivered within a few days before Christmas.

Immediate Delivery if Desired

Should you prefer not to wait until Christmas for your set, all you need do at any time is to advance the payments that you would have made up until Christmas and your set will be delivered at once.

The DeForest-Crosley Radiophones

The sets offered Club Members are none other than the genuine, famous DeForest-Crosley Radiophones, of which there were more sold on this continent last year than any other make. They combine the inventive genius of that great Radio Wizard, Lee S. DeForest, with the Crosley production standards, and are the greatest radio value on the market. Although popular in price and extremely simple in operation, they embody certain patented principles and features that produce results equal to some sets at double their price. Every set is a long-distance, Ultra-Audion receiver that will get anything on the air that can be had. They are made in Canada and are fully guaranteed. Complete, detailed instructions accompany each set, any of which can be quickly installed and easily operated after a few minutes' experiment.

Act Quickly

The Club opens Friday morning. It will close when 100 members have joined. Call early Friday and enroll. It obligates you to nothing, yet reserves for you the Club Privileges until November first.

Club Privileges and Savings

1. Unrestricted selection: Club members may select from any of the famous DeForest Crosley guaranteed Radiophones.
2. Combination Price: Most radio sets are sold "Stripped" (without accessories) which accessories must be purchased separately for cash. Club Prices include outfits complete, ready for use with no additional cash payment.
3. No Cash Payment: Club members make no cash payment. Only the regular weekly payments.
4. Extended Terms: Most radio sets are sold for cash. Club members are given terms extending over six to nine months without extra charge.
5. No Interest: Although given exceptionally easy terms, Club members pay no interest charges. The Club Price is the total cost.
6. Life Insurance: In the event of the death of a Club member before the account is paid in full, the unpaid balance is cancelled, without further payment.
7. Relief Insurance: Should a Club member become sick or unemployed, he can make half-payments for a reasonable period.
8. Free Exchange: Club members have the privilege of exchanging their set (but not tubes, batteries, etc.) at any time within one month for any other DeForest Crosley set of greater value, and receive full credit for all they have paid.
9. Home Demonstration: We will send our service man to the homes of Club members for a demonstration and test of their sets to insure proper installation and operation.
10. One Month's Free Service: Any attention or service required on sets of Club members will be supplied free for one month from date of delivery.

WARNING!

When agents for other radio sets try to sell you something "just as good" or better" than the DeForest-Crosley Radiophones, bear in mind that DeForest-Crosley dealers are carefully selected and restricted in number and that EVERY store can not have these sets as MUST try to sell you another. These Radiophones outsell every other make in America last year—because they are the BEST VALUE.

Fifty Dollars a Month

(Guaranteed to you by the Canada Life)

How Fifty Dollars a Month looks to the Average Man

Age 20—Happy on Fifty Dollars a Month.

Age 21—Fifty Dollars a month is not enough.

Age 35—Thinks he can easily afford to "spend" Fifty Dollars a month

Age 50—Things are not going as well as they were.

Age 55—Strange how these assets have depreciated! Fifty Dollars a month is good interest on $10,000, and not to be despised.

Age 60—He finds Fifty Dollars a month pension, added to what income is left, brings happiness.

You know of men well up in years who are still "drudging along." They cannot stop if they would, but must go on to the end of their days working for a living. You can avoid that.

Why Not Pension Yourself?

Why not "take stock" of your present financial position—to size up your personal affairs and decide on a plan for the future?

Our New Pension Plan

guarantees that upon reaching a certain age in life you will receive a monthly cheque for $50.00, $100, $200, $250—as you may now decide—and this monthly payment cannot cease as long as you live.

An Income for Life

Think what it may mean to you to be certain of an income right up to the end of life, when you consider that 97% of people in their later years are partially or wholly dependent upon others for support.

When they were younger they did not have the chance now offered you. It was not then possible to secure such a convenient and certain provision as this Monthly Pension Plan.

And This is Not All

Suppose some day before you reach age sixty you meet with a mishap and become totally and permanently disabled through accident, illness or any cause. (Such a thing has happened soon after men have secured this new policy of the Canada Life.) Immediately, the payment of further premiums would be cancelled. The Canada Life would become responsible for sending you $50.00, $100, $200, $250, a month, as arranged, for the rest of your life.

There are many other benefits.

An average deposit of only a few dollars a month will return you $50.00 a month later on.

M'GRAW PLANS 1925 CAMPAIGN

Has Visions of Winning the Fifth Straight Pennant Next Year.

NEW MATERIAL GOOD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—John McGraw, veteran manager of the New York Giants, already is figuring upon his 1925 campaign and a bid for his fifth straight National League pennant.

Temporarily the Giant chieftain will take a well-earned vacation in connection with the European tour of the Giants and White Sox after one of the most strenuous campaigns he has ever had, but upon his return he intends to line up his forces for the coming year. He left last night for Quebec, where he will join the tourists and sail to-night on the steamer Mount Royal for Liverpool. They expect to return November 25 on the Leviathan from Cherbourg.

Discussing his 1925 prospects, McGraw expressed confidence that his team would be even more formidable than this year, with new talent developing rapidly. The Giants finished the season and went through the world's series with two rookies, Lindstrom and Terry in the infield and another, Wilson, in the outfield. In addition, McGraw figures that such newcomers as Dean, Maun and Baldwin in the pitching box will strengthen his hurling corps for 1925.

MONTREAL TEAMS RESUME PRACTICE

McGill and M.A.A.A. Strive To Remedy Defects Seen Saturday.

MONTREAL, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—With a view to strengthening up his squad for the return match with Argonauts at Toronto on Saturday, Coach Greenwood started last night with a series of new offensive plays and a hard scrimmage workout. The only absentee from the workout was Fean Bennett, who is still on the ailing list with an injury to his right knee. Gardner, Booth and Evans were worked out on the backfield, while Crain and Matthews worked at quarterback. The linesmen were switched about frequently, giving each an opportunity of showing his ability.

The defensive work of the team has been particularly good in the two games played, but the offensive has been rather weak.

To strengthen the attack a number of new plays were tried out last night, of line plunging and end runs. The heavier men were worked in with the end runs which added to the attack.

The senior wings were worked out against the substitutes and some of the intermediate players, while the senior backfield players were sent in against the strong line. Duno and Anderson worked better than at any workout this season, while the other players showed marked improvement in their tackling.

After their somewhat disastrous game against the University of Toronto squad in the opening intercollegiate game last Saturday, McGill players resumed workouts last night at the Percival Stadium. Coach Shaughnessy wasted no time picking out the many flaws shown against the "T," and immediately started in to attempt and correct weaknesses. No sooner had the backfield players appeared on the gridiron than he set them catching high punts kicked by a relay of booters, who stood on the high ground at the back of the concrete stand, and sent them sky-high into the gridiron. Fumbling punts by backfield players was one of the main causes of the McGill defeat at Toronto.

NOVEL GOLF MATCH.

Every Club In Canada and United States May Enter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—A novel golf tournament intended primarily to arouse interest in the betterment of golf courses through the work of the green section of the United States Golf Association, was announced yesterday by W. D. Vanderpool, president of that association.

The tournament will take place on October 25. It will be an 18-hole affair, the winner being the player who, on that day, playing his home club handicap, makes the best score against par. Every club in Canada or the United States may participate without interfering with local events or regular week-end games.

SHORTSTOP WORRIES COBB

Ty Cobb has already started to worry about shortstop for 1925. Rigney didn't have a very good season this year an dis complaining of a hip injury that has handicapped his major league career.

STRAIN TELLS ON RUEL

Catching almost every game for Washington, Muddy Ruel, rated the best catcher in the majors, lost 20 pound during the season. He weighed 155 when he reported in the spring, 135 when he finished.

STOUT, VERSATILE ATHLETE

Captain "Buzz' Stout of Princeton is an ideal leader. Not only is Stout a great player, but he has a fine personality and is very popular at Princeton, where he also stars in other sports.

4,000 AT QUEBEC SAW BIG LEAGUE TOURISTS

Chicago Win From New York In Clatter Of 31 Hits.

QUEBEC, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—Thirty-one hits rattled off the bats of the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox players in the first of their two exhibition games played here Tuesday, before 4,000 people, when the White Sox won by a score of 10 to 8. Robertson pitched for the winners, while Scott and Huntsinger were seen on the mound for the National League champions. Both teams play again to-day, after which they will sail for Europe. Score:

Chicago	10	16	1
New York	8	15	2

Robertson and Picinich; Scott, Huntsinger and Henline.

RUGBY UNION BUILDS STADIUM IN ENGLAND

Double-Decked Stands Will Give Each of 50,000 Persons Complete View of Field.

When alterations have been completed at its Twickenham ground the Rugby Football Union of England will have an enclosure in which 50,000 persons can be accommodated without the slightest inconvenience. In remodeling its ground on the lines of the best modern arenas for football the union is erecting a new double-deck stand behind the northern goal, 300 feet long and fifty feet high. That this is no small task is evidenced by the fact that it is necesary to use a travelling crane with a gib of 100 feet long by means of which girders 110 feet in length are lifted into their proper places.

No less than 400 tons of steel are being required for the frame of the new stand. Three thousand chairs or tip-up seats will rest upon a floor of patent inclined reinforced decking. Beneath this there will be standing room for 6,000 more persons, so that the whole stand will accommodate 9,000 fans, one-third of whom will be able to sit at ease.

This new grand stand possesses the peculiarity of being fed from both ends. By two main staircases the public will be brought along a distributing passage with supplementary stairs leading to the seating accommodations. Great care has been exercised so that each spectator will have a clear view of the top of the rugby goal posts. It is possible that in the course of time there will be a similar stand behind the southern goal where the clock now stands.

The terracing of the enclosures in front of the existing stands has been rearranged with a higher tread and a broader step, so as to give perfect sight of the game to every spectator Alterations also have been made to the old stands—east and west of the field—so that the means of access and egress will be considerably facilitated. The new stand is being built by Humphreys Ltd., of Knights bridge, from the designs and plans of A. Leitch of Westminster, who also has arranged for the modification of the old stands and the improvement in the terracing according to the latest ideas.

COLT BROKE RECORD.

LATONIA, Ky., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Chilhowee, the son of Ballot-Bourbon Lass, established a new American record of 1.48 4-5 for a mile and one-eighth here yesterday when he won the Covington purse by four open lengths from Graeme and Hopeless. The colt broke the old record held by Goaler and Grey Lag, of 1.49, made in 1921.

BOLEY FOR SALE PRICE $100,000

Jack Dunn Demands Big Figure for His Star Shortstop.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 15.—One hundred thousand dollars or not a cent.

That's the price set upon the brow of John Bopoloski—none other than Joe Boley himself, the "greatest shortstop in the minors."

Jack Dun, owner and manager of the Baltimore Orioles, six times champions of the International League, greatest record-breaking club in organized baseball, is the man who labeled Joe.

Joe does the shortstopping for Dunn. He has been doing it for six years—those six years Dunn has been winning pennants by anywhere from six to 16 lengths.

Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers a year ago shot his price up to $80,000 for Boley. Dunn refused. Robbie went another five thousand. There wasn't a nibble from Dunn.

The White Sox made a bid of $50,000 two years ago. Dunn turned to the society page and continued his reading.

Reported Sold for $100,000.

Now there comes the report that Mr. Dunn has at last sold his prize beauty for the price he wants—$100,000—and the glad news for everybody but Baltimore fandom will be announced in due time.

Boleys' admirers do not want to see him leave the Orioles. But they realize that no man can give his best for six years on a fighting championship minor league club and still have any too much to spare when he goes up.

Boley either goes up now or never. His six years of toil would avail him nothing, because if a minor can't go up he feels he has been a failure.

And a man who has shortstopped on a six-time consecutive winner is no bust.

Ten years ago Joe had never seen a baseball. He worked 10 hours a day in a coal mine in Mahoney City, Pa. For months he never saw daylight, working a day turn in the mines.

Joe and a mining donkey collided and he got a bump and a grouch at the same time. The combination caused him to quit his job and get a lung full of fresh air.

Started as Pitcher and Catcher

From sandlot baseball, where he pitched and caught, Joe ambled into semi-pro baseball at Johnstown and then in pro-baseball as a second sacker at Harrisburg, New York State League.

Dunn got him in 1918, toned him up a bit and shot him in at short.

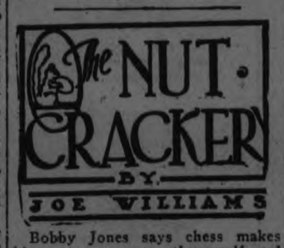
Dunn was warned that Joe's eyes were bad, due to his long confinement in the coal mines. He was told that Joe would never do at such a vital spot on the field.

Dunn's answer was that he would give Joe a season of daylight and see how it worked.

It worked. Joe hit over .300 and fielded .947 in 137 games. He improved in batting in 1920. And continued to shine afield. Dunn was winning flags. Offers were made for Boley but Dunn held on to him.

At the beginning of this year Boley's salary was $9,000, more money than paid to any other shortstop in the league.

And what makes Boley's sale story sound plausibie is the intimation from Oriole Park that Dunn is going to dismantle his great baseball machine this year.



Bobby Jones says chess makes him more nervous than golf and we presume he is talking from a spectator's viewpoint.

Dempsey imitates a slow motion picture fight in his vaudeville act. It is almost as slow as some of the real fights we've seen this year.

Pictures of the prize sweet potatoes of Mulberry County are already beginning to crowd McGraw and Harris off the first page.

We are shocked to learn that Zev was poisoned by wood alcohol. We figured he had a lot of horse sense.

If all men were equal it wouldn't be so hard to pick out a hat in a restaurant that fits.

Bare backs are the new sartorial fad in London, whereas half backs are the current hysteria in these more or less United States.

It is said the Giants will have an official song next season. It doubtless will be called "In the Sweet Buy and Buy".

The young lady at the next desk was surprised to hear that it takes more than a permanent wave to be a star at curling.

The man who claims he discovered Walter Johnson was at the world series. . . . All 4368 of them were there in fact

In some respects the cheer leader may be an awful sap, but you never see the ambulance guys taking him off the field in a stretcher.

By beating the Cubs in the city series the White Sox proved baseball hasn't changed any in the last 18 years.

Young Slattery of Buffalo is called a second Philadelphia Jack O'Brien. . . . . That's an awful handicap to start a youngster out with.

We note by the papers that Christy Mathewson's senility has advanced to a point where he is picking all-star teams.

Indian summer prevailed during the series games and the scalpers naturally made the most of it.

While baseball may still be in its infancy, we see no reason why the magnates should act like babies all the time.

We suppose it's all right to say the air pilots in the Dayton races got away to a flying start.

Cobb says ball players today are getting too much money—and of course you can remember the time when Ty absolutely refused to accept a $6,000 raise.

No one would complain if the baseball fellows revived base stealing and let the other forms of thievery alone.

Jimmy O'Connel wins the distinction of being the goat of the 1924 series without even putting on a uniform.

McGraw says he has done everything to make baseball what it is to-day, and considering what it is, we are not inclined to contradict him.

The fight critics say Fred Fulton is an enigma. We have never met an enigma face to face, but it must be a terrible thing.

Dempsey is doing a monolog in vaudeville, but the fans would rather hear him say it with fists

The difficulty of bribing nine players at once doubtless explains why baseball is not more crooked than it is.

Critics say Dempsey has too many old jokes in his act .....Thus explaining the present whereabouts of Carl Morris and Battling Levinsky.

At one of the World Series games Babe Ruth evinced the makings of a real baseball expert ....He went to sleep.

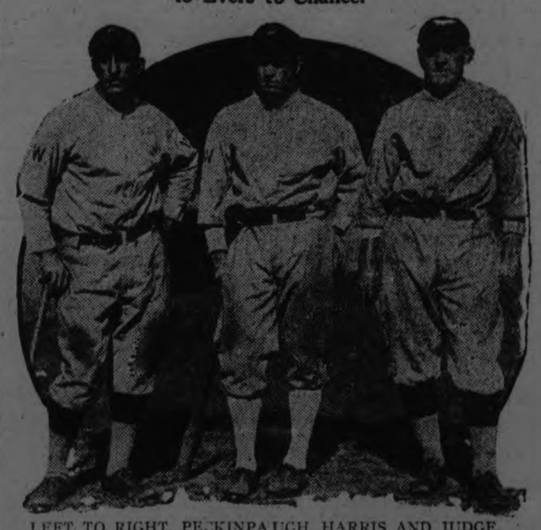
They call 'em slush funds, but after listening to the lobbyists you feel gush funds would be better.

Perhaps you've noticed a junior world series draws about as much attention as a junior flyweight championship fight.

When Landis told Ban Johnson to keep his shirt on he doubtless was considering the possibility of an early winter.

DOUBLE-PLAY WIZARDS

"Peck to Harris to Judge" Makes Fans Forget "Tinker to Evers to Chance."



LEFT TO RIGHT, PECKINPAUGH, HARRIS AND JUDGE.

The whole baseball world acclaims this Washington infield trio the fastest double-play combination on the diamond to-day. In fact, a lot of experts think that the Nationals, in Peck and Harris, have the fastest keystone combination in the history of the sport.

Time was, in the height of the old Chicago Cubs' glory, when the baseball world thrilled to the old slogan. "Tinkers to Evers to Chance." But it is doubtful if that trio, great as it was, had any edge at all on "Peck to Harris to Judge."

1924 WORLD SERIES ONE OF GREATEST

Every Variety of Baseball Offered in Clash Between the Giants and Washington—Winners Lacked the Reserve Strength.

BY BILLY EVANS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.— It will be a long time before there is another world series like the 1924 event.

The clash between the New York Giants and the Washington Nationals offered every variety of baseball.

The first two games played at Washington were brilliant affairs. Each game was filled with tense situations. The result was always in doubt. Then came three ordinary games, followed by two more thrillers.

Real drama was offered in the first game in the defeat of Walter Johnson. After waiting 18 years to get into a world series he went down to defeat after 12 innings of hard fighting.

Johnson struck out 12 men. Two home runs in the temporary stands, that would have been outs on the regular field, kept him from scoring a shutout.

The world was pulling for the popular Johnson to win and he lost. That was the opening surprise in a series filled with thrillers.

Washington's pitching ace had been beaten. It seemed that Johnson must win one, possibly two games, if his club was to have a chance.

Southpaw Zachary pitched the second game. During the last month of the American League race, he gave every evidence of being pitched out.

Marberry to Rescue.

For eight innings Zachary pitched beautiful ball, then wilted. Fred Marberry was rushed to his relief and saved the game.

Zachary, by his fine work and well pitched victory, had furnished an upset as striking as the defeat of Johnson.

Zachary made it apparent to Manager Harris that a good southpaw would make all kinds of trouble for the Giants. However, his other veteran lefthander, George Mogridge, had been off form for a month with a bad arm. It was doubtful if he would be able to start.

Pitcher Marberry, a great relief man, but a poor starter, was the Washington pitching surgeon for the third game. He lived up to his reputation.

In this game came the blow that looked as if it would wreck the chances of Washington, the injury that put Peckinpaugh out for three games.

The team fought on in his absence, but was sorely handicapped because of Washington's limited supply of reserve infielders. Peck's injury forced the right side of the infield to be broken up.

In the fourth game came suprise number two. George Mogridge turned in a great game until his arm gave out only to have Marberry again rush to the rescue and save it.

Lacked Reserve Strength

Lack of reserve infield' strength so handicapped the club that with the Giants leading in games, 3 to 2, having beaten Walter Johnson for the second time, the series seemed all over but the shouting from a National League standpoint.

Southpaw Zachary gave hope again by turning in another great game, beating Nehf and evening the series.

The final clash offered every variety of baseball in the book, including some dumb stuff that it not there.

The big opportunity it presented was the chance for Walter Johnson to be a hero, after seemingly passing out of the picture after his second defeat.

One of the outstanding features of the series was the erratic pitching. Pitchers came and went with reckless abandon. Some were so wild they didn't get a chance to pitch to more than one batter.

The New York infield lived up to expectations, but the outfield fell down badly. Young and Meusel, stars a few years back, have slowed up. Wilson, if properly pitched to, can be stopped.

Nats Took Chances.

Washington, in victory, showed a woeful lack of reserve strength, particularly in the infield. The loss of Peckinpaugh made this apparent.

The Washington outfield played fine ball. Goslin, Rice, McNeely and Liebold did well in the field and at bat.

Contrary to expectations, the Nationals took more chances on the bases than the Giants. Ruel had the edge in stopping the would-be stealers. Gowdy, a star in a world series 10 years back, fought courageously—gave his best.

Muddy Ruel caught great ball for Washington, but failed to hit in the first six games. He made two hits in the final game and they helped win the series. His lean average was a most timely one.

Unquestionably the Giants had a better punch. Washington tried to make its punch come into play after a runner reached first.

Washington fought courageously. To its refusal to quit must go most of the credit for winning.

For champions, both clubs have glaring weaknesses.

ROGER PECKINPAUGH POISE PERSONIFIED

Makes Hardest Chances Look Easy—Cobb Says He's Best.

That a certain star player very often has much to do with the success of a ball club was proved in the third game of the world series.

The loss of Roger Peckinpaugh in that game made the Washington club look like a different aggregation.

To the great credit of the club there was not letup in the effort to win. Washington is a courageous club if nothing else.

There is no gamer ball player in the American League than Manager Buck Harris. His spirit is the spirit of the ball club.

After Peckinpaugh, who pulled a tendon, was removed from the lineup, the team battled on, constantly threatened, but failed because the club lacked the punch in the crisis.

It was in the field that the absence of Peckinpaugh was most apparent.

There is an assurance to the play of the Washington infield when it is intact. Plays are reeled off with accuracy and speed that is almost unbelievable.

The moment Peck left the game the thread of accuracy was broken. The play was halting and at times ground balls trickled through the infield that seemed easy to handle.

Peckinpaugh is poise personified. He makes the hardest kind of chances look easy. His poise has been a guiding influence in the great success of the Washington club.

To my way of thinking Manager Harris had no more valuable assistant, Peck's work in the field and at the bat vieing for honors with the great Walter Johnson's pitching, the catching of Muddy Ruel and the relief work of Fred Marberry.

Ty Cobb, after Peckinpaugh had made a great play in the second game of the series, remarked to me:

"A great shortstop like Peck makes the work of a manager easy. You must have such a type of player to put over a pennant winner.

"I regard him as the most valuable shortstop in the majors. He certainly could play with the Detroit club."

I echoed the opinion of Manager Cobb, for Peckinpaugh to me has been such a wonderful fielder that his work is almost mechanical.

A comparison between the fielding of Peckinpaugh and Frankie Frisch offers an interesting angle.

Peck is slow of foot compared with Frisch, yet he covers just as much teritory. Peck seems to sense direction and has an uncanny habit of shifting a few steps on every batter, those few steps often being the deciding factor in making possible the execution of the play.

Frisch, on the other hand, doesn't pay nearly so much attention to position. His great speed enables him to get to them.

As a result Peckinpaugh is often set for a play that Frisch would make on the run. A play is always more thrilling if the fielder just reaches the ball rather than being set for it.

For that reason Frisch appears to be a far more brilliant fielder than Peckinpaugh, yet he isn't. It just seems that way.

However, Cobb would no doubt welcome Frisch as much as Peckinpaugh. There is no question but that Frisch is the most valuable infielder in the majors.

GLASGOW TEAM STRONG

Eleven's Defeat of Sheffield, 11 to 0, Lauded by Soccer Critics.

The strong game put up by the Glasgow Association football team in beating the Sheffield eleven by 11 to 0 in a Glasgow Cup tie recently at Hampden Park caused widespread comment in soccer circles abroad. "Certainly the team which the Yorkshire town sent north was not so strong as it might have been, but, apart from that, the supreme aristry of the Glasgow forward line in particular impelled the question as to why there cannot be more such displays when league points are at stake," comments The Athletic News

"It has been for some years now a common remark that our fountain of great footballers has run dry; that we do not produce players of the type of R. S. McColl, Bobby Walker, James McMenemy and of others who shed lustre on the game in by gone days,' continues the writer. "I have never agreed with that wail of pessimism. We have the natural talent in abundance, but I hold that the tension at which the league and cup tie football is played nowadays prohibits its full development in a great number of cases.

"And there is another very important consideration. Our league clubs commit the blunder of taking from the ranks of the junior clubs young players who have not had sufficient time to mold their game or to cultivate temperament which enables a man to forget the presence of big crowds. Many a promising career has been wrecked in this way.

"At the present time the junior clubs are richer in talent than they have been for some years, and therefore, this is a fitting moment to appeal to the big organizations to exercise a wise discretion in their selection of recruits."

SIMMONS CROSSES EXPERTS

The experts slipped on Outfielder Simmons of the Philadelphia Athletics. They said because of his peculiar foot-in-the-bucket stance he wouldn't hit. In his first year he has topped the .300 mark.

McGRAW AFTER ROUSH

Having won his tenth pennant, John McGraw is casting out lines for next year. Not satisfied with his outfield, he seeks to get Ed Roush of the Reds in a trade.

HEAVY SCORING MARKS ENGLISH SOCCER PLAY

Total of 109 Goals in Twenty-two Matches Surprises Critics.

Goals galore and startling somersaults marked the first games of the season among football teams in the English and Scottish Association leagues. Barely has an opening been marked with such a bewildering boom in goals. Some of the goal sensations were: First Division, twenty-eight goals in five games; Second Division, eighteen goals in three games; Third Division (south), twenty goals in five games; Third Division, nineteen goals in four games; Scottish League, twenty four goals in four games.

A total of 109 goals was thus scored in twenty-two matches, or an average of practically five goals for each game. In all, 125 goals were obtained in the forty-four matches in the English league and thirty-four in the ten Scottish contests. In the opinion of the critics three goals in a single match should satisfy those who clamor for thrills.

In commenting on the season's opening The Athletic News says:

"The slippery grounds and uncertainty of early form are reasons for the prevailing peculiarities, but for the somersaults there is no accounting. It's just the luck of the game. Its variations are its glory.

"In the East Lancashire duel at Burnley the home team matched a lead of three goals in a quarter of an hour, but were beaten by Blackburn Rovers by 5—3! Quite in keeping with the oddities of the day was the fact that Burnleys' defense had not previously been beaten and that Hill, the house captain, opened with two goals from centre half-back in the period started—as many as he scored throughout last season—yet finished on the losing side.

"McIntyre, who scored four times in five minutes for Blackburn against Everton on the fourth Saturday of the season two years ago, broke again and registered three glorious goals.

"Anfield was also ablaze. Liverpool made the third time pay for all. They had lost their first two games and they looked like completing a disastrous hat trick, for with less than half an hour to play Manchester City were leading by two goals. But Liverpool not only saved the game, but turned seeming defeat into a brilliant victory by a remarkable revival and sensational finish, in which they scored three goals in twelve minutes.

"It was a game of shocks and fierce fluctuations, as the following time-table shows: 30 minutes McKinlay scored for Liverpool; 33 minutes Roberts scored for City; 35 minutes Roberts scored for City; 61 minutes Barnes scored for City; 62 minutes Forshaw scored for Liverpool; 78 minutes Shone scored for Liverpool; 86 minutes Johnson scored for Liverpool; 88 minutes Shone scored for Liverpool.

"A similar transformation was seen at Ashington, where Barrow, after scoring twice in twenty minutes, conceded to their opponents five goals. Albert Fairclough, Derby County's new forward from Bristol City, scored four goals against unfortunate Fulham, but five was the recurring figure of this weird and wonderful day."

PITCHES, ALSO HITS 'EM

In Fred Heimach, Connie Mack has developed not only a good southpaw pitcher but a fine batsman. Heimach wins many a game for himself with a timely base hit.

IN LINE FOR TITLE

If Eddie Collins has a good year next season he is certainly in line for the most valuable player honor. Collins ran Johnson a close second for the title this year.

JAMIESON RATES BEST

Outfielder Jamieson of the Cleveland club is rated the best outfielder in the American League. He does everything well and is a hustling ball player.

LIBERALS OPEN CAMPAIGN WITH LONDON MEETING

great reception by a crowd of 4,000 or 5,000 at the Waverley market, Edinburgh, Tuesday. The government had entered a contest of an absolutely unique kind, the premier said, addressing the gathering. The Liberal party had gone under the shelter of the tory guns to prevent the liberals from being hopelessly wiped out in this election, he declared. "I don't mind them blaming us for the election," the premier assured the audience. "When you get what Tory members of the House of Commons described as contemptible party tactics to defeat the Labor party in the house we must go back to the constituencies and ask them to return us in sufficient numbers to defy both parties combined.

"We have stood for the honor of our country in Europe. We found it pretty low down when we took office but we succeeded in raising it pretty high. We found unsettlement in Europe but whoever comes after us will find something like settlement. We found the nations divided and we are leaving them co-operating."

Premier MacDonald said he was amazed to see in the election address of former Premier Stanley Baldwin the absurd statement that bad trade had resulted from the labor party's abolition of the McKenna duties. He challenged Mr. Baldwin to make good that statement, which he said was untrue. The industries which had been affected by those duties had improved What the country was suffering from now was the wastage of the war and the stupidity of the peace made afterwards.

The premier's speech was frequently cheered.

GAVE A RECITAL

Pupils of Mr. F. G. Mann Provide Interesting Programme.

A large and appreciative audience in St. John's Parish House heard the recital by many of the pupils of Mr. F. G. Mann A.Mus., the organist of St. John's Church.

The careful manner and ability demonstrated by both junior and senior pupils reflected to the highest degree the thoroughness of Mr. Mann's training methods and during his discourse prior to the presentation of diplomas, Dr. Blagrave congratulated both master and pupils very highly.

In making the presentation of the certificates Dr. Blagrave said that he was very pleased that a branch of McGill University's Conservatorium had been established in Peterborough and also that he was able to act as its local representative.

He gave particular mention to the pleasure he derived from the fact that their first public recital was being held in St. John's Parish House, and felt that under the leadership of Mr. Mann, the local secretary, we could expect big things in the future.

The speaker fittingly touched upon the place held by McGill among the universities of this country, and, while not wishing to made invidious comparisons, as an old McGill graduate, he was proud to say that she rated second to none in Canada. He mentioned that in these musical examinations McGill's standard was particularly exacting and that in order to pass the student must obtain 67 per cent. and for honours 87 per cent. All the more gratifying was it when he learned that two of Mr. Mann' spupils, who had passed with honours, headed the list of their particular grades for the entire country, which, of course, would embrace practically all the important communities between St. John, N.B., and Victoria, B.C.

The programme was given in the following order:

(a) "The Old Shepherd ..... Schafer
(b) Allegretto Scherzando .... Gurlitt
Faith Boorman.
(a) "An English Pastoral" .... Butler
(b) "Sad Moments" ..... Melartin
Miss M. E. Rome.

SOFTBALL SERIES TO START TO-NIGHT

Official Opening of League at Brock Street Rink at 8 O'clock.

Official opening of the local Softball League will take place to-night in the Brock Street Rink, when Mayor J. J. Turner, Ex-Mayor W. H. Taylor, G. N. Gordon and W. H. Bradburn will be on hand to assist with the opening ceremonies.

To-night's bill is sure to be a good one as the Rotary and Kiwanis will put on the curtain raiser, and with these two teams on the field they should draw a bumper crowd alone, as their game will undoubtedly be one full of thrills. Besides this contest, which starts at 8 o'clock, there will be a second game between the De Laval and the Lock Works, which will also be a snappy contest. The De Laval-Lock Works game is scheduled to start at 9 o'clock.

NEW WITNESS IN DELORME'S TRIAL

Man Alleged To Have Seen Delorme Enter Garage at One in Morning on Day of Killing.

MONTREAL, October 15 (Canadian Press). — A new witness in the trial of Rev. J. A. Delorme, former priest, charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul, was foreshadowed in the address to the jury by R. L. Cander, K.C., this morning, in which the Crown Prosecutor set before the jurymen a synopsis of the facts he hoped to prove by evidence.

The new witness is a man whose place is near the Delorme garage at the back of the house on St. Hubert Street.

Mr. Calder explained to the judge that on previous occasions he had questioned this man, who had declared he knew nothing of the matter.

He was informed from other sources, however, that the man in question knew the accused, and had seen him enter his garage with his car about one o'clock in the morning of 7th January, 1922, the morning on which Raoul's murdered body was found beside a deserted shack in the outskirts of the city.

Nothing else that was new was put before the jury this morning.

ART STUDY CLUB.

First Meeting of the Season Held Last Evening.

The first meeting for this season of the Art Study Club of the Women's Art Association was held evening at the home of the president, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, with a good attendance.

A paper, on "Balance and Composition in Pictures," was given by Mrs. Munro, and proved exceptionally interesting and instructive. The inspiration and insight into a proper study of painting received from Mrs. Munro's excellent address will be very helpful in following out the course of study outlined for this season.

The speaker, who illustrated her address with copies of the work of the Old Masters, pointed out the various attributes of any picture; the balance, harmony and rhythm that go to make up its composition. Some paintings have a universal appeal, while others depend for interest on the observer's knowledge of the story behind their execution. Others again have a historical reference that gives them their interest and attraction. Mrs. Munro emphasized the necessity of seeking for the touch of the beautiful that is in all great work and said that there is something in every painting of importance that appeals to all.

The next meeting will be on October 28th, at the home of Mrs. J. M. McCulloch, Charlotte street, when Mrs. McCulloch will give a paper on "Canadian Artists."

ZEPPELIN ZR-3 LANDED SAFELY THIS MORNING

German Flag Flown Over America For First Time In History.

MADE RECORD TIME.

First Part of Voyage Fine, Later Part Full of Heavy Weather.

LAKEHURST, Oct. 15. — Canadian Press. — The giant Zeppelin ZR-3 was safely moored in her berth at the naval air station here at 10.45 to-day.

The airship completed the transatlantic journey from Friedrichshafen, Germany, a distance estimated at five thousand miles, in eighty-one hours and twenty-five minutes.

Immediately that she was snubbed fast her navigating officers and crew disembarked, the former climbing into the hull and cabin with field mechanics to begin inspection of the gas bag, duraluminum structure and motors.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the commander of the airship, and president of the Zeppelin Co'y, jubilantly declared:—"Gentlemen, a new world's record of 5,0000 miles of continuous flight."

"The first part of the voyage was fine," Dr. Eckener said; "the last part was full of heavy weather. From five a.m. on Tuesday to five a.m. today we battled against winds with a velocity of 55 to 60 miles per hour. We changed our course from the direct line we were pursuing from the Azores to Lakehurst, because we found ourselves heading into a south west wind, which was rising, and a small low pressure behind it. On Monday evening we were making 45 miles an hour. We headed toward Nova Scotia into a south east wind, then came along at a great speed along the coast southward. A favoring wind pushed us toward Lakehurts, past Boston and on to New York at a rate of 90 miles an hour. So, gentlemen, we are here."

The safe arrival of the airship marks the fourth successful attempt of humans to span the Atlantic Ocean in a non-stop flight.

This was first successfully accomplished by the Royal Flying Corps Officers Alcock and Brown, who flew from Newfoundland to Cliffden, Ireland, in a little over sixteen hours."

German Flag Flown.

For the first time in history, the German flag was flown over an American city by an air vessel, when the R-3 passed over here to-day with the German ensign fluttering from her after fin. The flag was still in place when the dirigible landed at Lakehurst.

"THE LITTLE ANGEL"

By Alice Rohe.

(Written for the United Press).

NEW YORK, (United Press). — Sometimes when a new play is being weighed in the balance of ponderous criticism something happens in the audience which is illuminating.

Witness, "The Little Angel" by Ernest Vajad, just presented by Brock Pemberton. "The Little Angel" tried its wings for the first time in New York on Saturday night an evening when theaters are crowded, not so much with students of the drama, as it were, but those bent on giving themselves and their families a weekly treat.

And so, into the sophiscated audience of that Hungarian comedy, came a nice, honest, respectable couple. With them was their 14-year old son. "The Little Angel" ! ! ! — Ah, implied—for the budding preceptions to see!

Now there has been a lot written as to whether or not the subject of Vadja's comedy is one for farcial treatment. Whether the presence of the couple with the 14-year old son was funny or patheric comes under with the same head. Sentiments were divided.

The play hinges upon a 17-year old girl's seduction. This occurred while she was at her first ball, during a faint. She hasn't the slightest idea what has happened. Indeed she has been reared so carefully she still believes storks brings babies. She is ingenuously happy when it is revealed amid the horror of her relatives, that she is to become a mother. This superlative innocence which the young baron, when coerced to marry her, brands as a well-known ruse, is the cause of more bright lines and real wit than the subject would at first suggest.

This is augmented by the stern virginal purity of the spinster aunt, guardiain of Anita.

Naturally the mother sitting through this racy sex comedy didn't laugh once. Which pretty well summed up the whole situation. What is comedy for one, is tragedy for another. Incidentally this third of Vadja's plays now running in New York brings out most clearly the difference between Anglo-American and continental point of view.

"The Little Angel," while not so fine a play as "Fata Morgana," is far superior to "Grounds For Divorce"— Vadja's two other plays on the sex motive. The latter has been raised to success by the art of that deft comedienne, Ina Claire.

Brock Pemberton, with the assitancet of Willy Pogany, has given "The Little Angel" a beautiful setting. While the action drags in spots "The Little Angel" is not only one of the most amusing but one of the important plays of the season. Rare has a more exquisite portray of innocence-convincing innocence been glimpsed on Broadway than the Anita of Marina MacLeod.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

DRINK AND DEGENERACY.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—What young man of sound mind would drink beer, wine or spirits, or anything containing alcohol if he knew that the children that might be born to him would be defective in some way. That is no man's fad, but the pronouncement of commissions appointed in several countries to enquire into the liquor problem. The French Commission reported that in certain districts where they used to get the finest soldiers in the world, they could not, during the Franco-German War, get more than fifteen or twenty out of a hundred able to defend their country. Both the French and English commissions agreed that a man might never be really drunk and yet leave behind him a family of weaklings that, if they lived, would go through life suffering in some way for the fault of the father. There may be seeming exceptions in the first generation, but not in the second. One look at a drunk man will show that every particle of his body is poisoned and, of course, each repetition increases the injury. If we look round us we can clearly see the results.

Experiments on animals prove that even when the male only is made to inhale the fumes of alcohol, the offspring will be nervous and undersized. If there were more knowledge of this subject there would be less outcry for liberty to drink and less willingness to run the risk.

One thing should never be forgotten, that the great cause of insanity is drink. There can be no doubt about that now since it has been shown that the number admitted to asylums has been greatly reduced since prohibition came into force, both here and in the United States. Another terrible fact stands out beyond dispute: that the great number of criminals are constantly being recruited from the alcoholic degenerates.

We must learn to look on this question as a national menace that must be conquered or we will fall behind rapidly.

CHURCH UNION IN THE MARITIMES.

To the Editof of The Globe.

Since your paper failed to carry a news item last week that the Maritime Synod voted 194 to 1, calling on its ministers, elders, members and adherents to remain loyal to their Church and accept the decisions of the General Assembly and Parliament as final, and since your issue of Monday, October 13, carries an item to the effect that the one who voted did so by mistake and that the anti-Union members of the Synod "refused to vote" and afterwards formed a Synod of their own to meet next fall, would you be good enough to allow me to state:

1. That the anti-Union section of the Synod which met and organized had just 15 ministers present.

2. That in the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island there are only 24 ministers in charges who are opposed to the Union of the Churches.

3. That in these Provinces there are 268 charges and mission stations in the Presbyterian Church.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

One of the most dramatic incidents in Hunt Strongberg's production of "The Fire Patrol," the sensational melodrama which will be shown at the Grand Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week, occurs when a blind, old sea captain is led by his enemy to a cliff and left alone and helpless there. With his arms outstretched, fumbling clumsily with his cane, he walks slowly towards the steep precipice that will mean his unknowing death—on and on—until his foot steps heavily into—space.

There is a tension in this scene that has never been surpassed on the screen. Usually suspense is on the side of the audience only, with the characters knowing their action beforehand. In this case, it is on the side of both character and audience, which naturally doubles its intensity.

AT THE CAPITOL.

LARRY SEMON IN NEW COMEDY AT CAPITOL THUR.-FRI.-SATURDAY

Larry Semon, the king of laughmakers, comes to the Capitol Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in his latest comedy-success, "Her Boy Friend."

THOMAS MEIGHAN COMING TO CAPITOL ON MONDAY

Thomas Meighan will be seen in James Oliver Curwood's story, "The Alaskan," at the Capitol next Monday and Tuesday. This is the first out-door drama that Meighan has produced in many months and is crammed with surging action. Most of the out--door scenes were taken in British Columbia, where the Rockies provide magnificent settings for this great story.

GREAT RACE IS FEATURE IN TOM MIX PICTURE

The big race scene in Tom Mix's new William Fox production, "Oh You Tony!" which opens at the Capitol Theatre for a three-day run, is punctuated with thrills and excitement. Tom is entered with his wonder horse Tony for the race, the winner of which gets $25,000. Due to the plotting of Earle Foxe and Dolores Rousse, villain and assistant respectively, Tom is delayed in arriving until the last minute. It is only because of a number of false starts that he succeeds in arriving at all.

Wearing white riding trousers, high black boots, a white flannel shirt striped with black ,and a big white Stetson, Tom tears madly down the street on Tony and is duly registered as an entry by the judges. At the crack of the pistol, the horses go off down the street, around the corner, and the race is on.

Claire Adams, leading lady, stands near the judges stand, jumping excitedly up and down as the position of the riders is announced to the clamoring crowd. As two of the riders round the corner on the home stretch, the horses galloping furiously, Tom and Tony passed the tape a full length in advance of their nearest rival.

Leaping from Tony while the horse is still galloping at full speed, Tom dashes across the street and seizes Miss Adams in his arms, accepting with flushed face and happy smile the cheers and congratulations of the admiring throng. Five hundred extras are employed in this scene.

Others in the cast are Richard Lareno, Charles K. French, Pat Chrisman, Miles McCarthy, Mathilda Brundage, May Wallace and Evelyn Sherman.

AT THE ROYAL.

MARY PHILBIN'S FIRST BIG FILM

Colorful Bowery Construction for "Fools Highway"

Commencing to-morrow picture-goers will see at the Royal theatre, Mary Philbin's new Universal—Jewel staring vehicle, and her first big role since she made picture history in "Merry-Go-Round." The story, "Fools Highway," adapted from Owen Kildare's famous life-story of the Bowery, "My Mamie Rose," is one of the year's spectacular productions by Universal.

The old Bowery was reproduced in detail, with its elevated railways, its quaint old resorts, its queer characters whose names have gone down into tradition, and its odd glamour that has long out-lived the place itself.

Steve Brodie lives again, the man who took a chance, in the quaint story. Chuck Conners, Jackie Doodles, Philadelphia O'Brien all famous figures in the New York of a quarter of a century ago, appear in it. The first automobile in New York chugs painfully over its cobbled streets.

Mary Philbin, as the "Mamie Rose" of the Kindare novel, plays a remarkable role throughout the big picture, directed by Irving Cummings. It is a known fact that "My Mamie Rose" is the true story of the life of Kildare, originally a Bowery gangster, who, through the love of a girl, reformed and finally became one of America's best known authors. Step by step the picture treat with his life, and the girl who changed it.

The sordid side of the Bowery is eliminated. The picture shows it as it was seen through the eyes of the author, a place of glamour and romance. Its true sides, with its pitfalls and its tragedies, is not shown, save in a few hints, in the treatment of the story.

A notable cast appears with Miss Philbin. Pat O'Malley is seen as "Mike Kildare," the prototype of the author Charles Murray, Lincoln Plumer, Edwin J. Brady, Max Davidson, William Collier, Jr., Kate Price, Steve Murphy and Tom O'Brien, play the other picturesque characters.

Several of the sets deserve special mention. Famous old saloons, "Suicide Hall," one of the old honky-tonk theatres of the Bowery and several of its quaint old shops were duplicated, as was Steve Brodie's famous resort, from old photographs. But the streets itself the greatest task of Elmer Sheeley, art director at the Universal City. Every building was made true to photographs of the period; the old elevated stations and the queer little steam trains of the day were carried out in perfect details.

Bernard McConville, supervising editor of Jewel productions at Universal City, handled the script, the adaptation being made by Harvey Gates and Lenore Coffey, and the scenario by Harvey Gates.

"HAPPINESS" A CURE FOR THE BLUES

"Happiness" the current attraction at the Royal is practically one long series of laugh provoking incidents that leaves one exhilarated after seeing it. Laurette Taylor is superb as the happy-go-lucky little shop girl and holds her audience in every scene. To-night is the final performance and lovers of the better photoplays should see it. The supporting program includes Larry Semon and the New Leather Pushers.

BURNS FEDERATION REVISED RULES

Thirty of Burns' Letters in Next "Burns' Chronicle."

At the annual conference of the Burns Federation at Dumfries, Scotland, a number of questions of interest to Burns' enthusiasts were discused. Sir Robert Bruce, LL.D., editor of the "Glasgow Herald," the President of the Federation, presided.

A revised constitution was adopted, under which the Executive Committee will be reconstituted on a more democratic basis. The principal office-bearers will be, as hitherto, ex-officio members of the committee, but the remaining members will be directly elected by the Burns Clubs of each territorial area provided for under the new scheme. It is hoped that in this way the executive body will maintain a closer touch with individual clubs and district associations, in consequence of which it is anticipated a higher degree of co-ordinated effort in pursuing the aims of the federation will be secured, while clubs will benefit by more intimate association with the respective committee.

The delegates accepted a proposal to give effect to a resolution of the Dunfermline Conference to appoint a special committee to appeal to Education Authorities and schoolmasters to institute competitions in Scottish literature and history and to raise a fund for the provision of prizes and bursaries. The object in view is the preservation of the Scottish vernacular through the interest of the younger generation, and it is hoped that as a corollary of this the federation will be enabled to join forces with other agencies in fostering a Scotish literary revival.

An interesting announcement was made that a series of Burns's letters to the number of 30 had been secured, and these would be published in the next numbers of the "Burns' Chronicle."

For the 104th year Russia holds its big annual fair at Nizhni-Novgorod. This year's exhibition is expected to sell 225 million dollars' worth of goods. Neither America nor any leading European country has exhibits. The fair goes on, nevertheless, big-scale. Participants are China, India, Persia, etc.

Russia, by isolation, is being driven to trade alliances with Asiatics. Military aliances would be the logical outcome.

Brotherhood of Knox Church Approves of Present Act.

The following resolution was unanimously carried by the Brotherhood Class of Knox church, Peterborough, at the session of the class held Sunday, Oct. 12, 1924:

"Resolved, that we, members of the Brotherhood Class of Knox church, Peterborough, express ourselves as in favour of the continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act, strengthened, where that may be deemed necessary, and strictly enforced; and, further, that we place ourselves on record as opposed to Government control, which, in our opinion, would be a retrograde step.

SUBSCRIPTIONS CLOSE.

Two Hundred Million Dollar Loan To Germany Oversubscribed.

LONDON, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—Subscription list for British portion of two hundred million dollar Dawes plan loan to Germany closed at one this afternoon when it was indicated that the loan had been considerably oversubscribed.

It is apparent that eager subscription of the American portion gave a decided impetus to desire to obtain allotments of the British slice.

The greater part of editorial and financial opinion in press is that the loan carries ample security and from the business view point has been made as sound as possible.

BOOKS OF BANK GOOD EVIDENCE

Assistant Manager of Toronto Branch in Box All Morning.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Most of the books of the Toronto branch of the Home Bank were identified and put in as evidence this morning in the trial of Clarence F. Smith, Home Bank director. Gordon L. Chapman, the assistant manager of the Toronto branch, was in the witness-box all morning, and beyond identifying the reports and books, gave no other evidence for the Crown. He is being closely cross-examined by Gordon Waldron, the defence council, as to the large accounts in the branch and the manner in which they were reported on to the head office. Chapman admitted that he had been cautioned by the Crown not to have any conversation with J. C. Whitaker, who had been supervisor of the bank.

CROWS NEST PASS RATES DISALLOWED

Rates on Westbound Freight Will Be Appealed Seems Certain.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—That the judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners, disallowing Crow's Nest Pass rates on west-bound freight will be appealed seems practically certain. Reports received here, particularly those emanating from the West, indicate that there is much dissatisfaction with the majority judgment of the Board, and though its effect is to remove many of the discriminations which were emphasized at the hearings, the net result is claimed to be increased railway freight rates on a large number of commodities.

The main question involved, with which the majority and minority judgment of the Board issued yesterday are concerned, is primarily one of law and jurisdiction. Has the Board of Railway Commissioners power to set aside the agreement confirmed by the legislation enacted by Parliament? The majority report affirms the right of the Commission to do this.

Provisions for appeal against the judgments of the Board are made in the Railway Act. These may be made either to the Governor in Council or to the Supreme Court.

A SILVER RUSH.

Several Hundred Miners Rushed To Cornwall.

LONDON, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—A rush of silver prospectors has been made to Cornwall following the discovery of a thick vein of silver lead near Perdanzbuloe.

Several hundred miners are now prospecting in that district.

At one time the neighborhood was one of the busiest mining centres in Cornwall, two thousand men being employed in obtaining a wide range of minerals including, silver, copper tin and iron.

PRINCE ARRIVED IN TORONTO O. K.

Large Crowds Gathered at Union Station to Greet Royal Party.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Transformed by elaborate decorative scheme, Toronto's grimy Union Station resounded with cheers as Baron Renfrew, the British Empire's "smiling Prince" arrived early this morning after travelling all night from Windsor. Greeted cheartily, if informally, by Lieutenant-Governor Harry Cockshutt, Premier G. Howard Ferguson, members of the Ontario Cabinet and Mayor W. W. Hiltz, the Prince of Wales and his party soon moved out of the ancient depot, to be again welcomed by vociferous cheers from the great mass of people, whose enthusiasm could not be restrained by a cordon of police. Swarming around the royal car, the crowd continued to acclaim the Prince, who has not visited Toronto since 1919. But the heir to the British Throne was anxious to be at the fox hunt arranged in his honor by the Toronto Hunt Club. Attired in riding breeches, and carrying his hat and riding whip, the Prince acknowledged the plaudits of the crowd and then disappointed thousands on the streets which it was expected would be traversed by the party to get to the hotel. Instead of driving there the party started immediately for Aurora, twenty-five miles north of here, where the chase commenced about eleven o'clock from the estate of Chief Justice Sir William Mulock.

The journey of the Prince and his party from Toronto to Aurora was nothing short of triumphal.

Thousands of people took advantage of a glorious October morning to travel out to points of vantage along the route, and school children, given a morning holiday, gathered in many villages as the party passed, welcoming the Prince with cheers.

The town of Aurora was en fete the main street, which is of considerable length, being massed with the citizens.

Driving in open car with George H. Beardmore, M.F.S., of the Hunt Club, "Edward P." had a cheery wave of the hand for all who greeted him. A number of bobbed hair damsels in a large, expensive car, by a daring dash when the Prince's car was near Aurora, managed to break into the procession, securing a place of honor immediately behind His Royal Highness. The feat was remarked with a smile from the Prince. The grounds surrounding Sir William Mulock's residence were crowded with those who were to take part in the hunt, and again the Prince received a tumultuous reception as he greeted the Chief Justice and stepped inside to breakfast. Shortly before noon the chase commenced and within a short time the hounds picked the scent and the gay party, resplendent in their hunting suits, were away over the brow of a nearby hill in pursuit of the elusive reynard.

FIGHTING IN CANTON.

Traffic Seriously Interfered With on Streets.

CANTON, China, October 15 (Canadian Press). — The streets of Canton wer the scene of heavy fighting to-day between merchants, the Volunteer Corps, and the so-called Red Army, composed of Chinese labourers.

Firing continued at four o'clock this afternoon, and the traffic was seriously interfered with.

WEDDING BELLS

BEDORE—COURNEYEA.

The Church of the Holy Rosery, Niagara Falls, New York, was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding this morning at six o'clock, when Rev. Father Harrington united in marriage Cecelia Courneyea, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Courneyea of Tweed, Ontario, and James Bedore, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedore of Peterboro, Ontario.

The bride looked very pretty in a navy blue Duvetyne suit, and hat to match, and carried a boquet of bridal roses. After the ceremony the bridal couple returned to the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Basil Meagher, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The happy couple left on the 10.30 New York Central amid showers of confetti and good wishes for New York.

ARTHUR—HENRY.

The marriage took place at St. James' Methodist Church on Saturday, October 11, of Bruce B. Arthur, of Melville, Saskatchewan, and Eva Beatrice Henry, of 556 Romaine Street. Rev. J. D. Richardson officiated. Attendants were Miss Olive M. Heaton and Charles E. Talmage. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur will reside in Melville, Saskatchewan.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM DRAKE.

The funeral of the late William Drake, took place from Comstock's undertaking parlours on Monday afternoon. Mr. Drake was born in Peterboro, in 1855, and has resided here all his life. He has been in poor health for the past year, but has only been confined to his bed during the last two weeks, while he was visiting his son, Norman, in St. Catharines. He was a member of Court Little John C.O.F., and also of High Court. In religion he was a Methodist, being a member of St. James' church. The services were conducted by Rev. Richardson and Greatrix, and assisted at the graveside by the Rev. Mr. MacKinnon.

The pallbearers were R. D. Robson, A. R. Robson, H. Fitch, D. A. Lang, J. H. Sherwood, R. Mulligan.

To mourn his demise he leaves two daughters and two sons: Mrs. R. F. Reineking, of Chicago, Mrs. J. G. Moss, of Newmarket, David of Hamilton, and Norman of St. Catharines. One sister, Mrs. Donovan, also survives. His wife predeceased him three years ago.

BIRTH.

GARBAGE GIVES TROUBLE AGAIN

Stones and Earth Will Not Burn, Says Sanitary Inspector.

MEN MAY REVOLT.

The men who feed the city incinerators are on the verge of revolt. They are harassed daily by the tactics of some citizens who mix ashes and garbage; they are snowed under with an unprecedented amount of weeds; and day after day they are compelled to re-light fires under a matted mass of damp refuse that refuses to burn. And to cap it all the garbage collectors continue to find stones and even boulders hidden in the garbage boxes and cans of citizens.

Sanitary Inspector Charles Stapleton points out that strong measures must be taken if the work of disposing of the city refuse is to continue. The men are not supplied with wood, he says, and rely upon branches of trees and old boxes that come in on the wagons. They do manage somehow to burn green weeds and potato tops, and wet garbage, but all their skill and science cannot enable them to ignite rock or burn rock. And hundreds of people in the city consider it only a smart trick to hide soil and stones in an apparently innocent box of garbage.

Five teams are constantly hauling refuse to the incinerator. When a collector stops beside a house he picks up a box containing, on the surface, the class of refuse he is collecting at the time, tips it into his wagon, and finds that another class altogether is hidden at the bottom. The incinerator men then object to dumping this on the fire.

That system must end, the edict from the Sanitary Inspector says. The work is being held up and will be stopped altogether some day when the fires are extinguished.

Thoughtful citizens will hereafter keep food refuse, weeds and all material that can be burned, separate from ashes and crockery and other materials impossible to burn. Stones and earth cannot be accepted, and receptacles containing them may be refused by the garbage collectors.

PREMIER MACDONALD'S PLATFORM COLLAPSED UNDER A GROUP OF 200

No Person Injured in Mishap at Cleckheaton, Where Labor Leader Addressed Crowd Of 10,000—Baldwin Opens Campaign In London.

SAYS SOCIALISTS DOMINATE LEADER.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press). — Former Premier Baldwin opened his campaign for Parliament yesterday by addressing a large meeting in Queen's Hall, during which he ridiculed what he characterized as the "Labor Government's universal panacea of national ownership and national control to set things aright."

Mr. Baldwin described the Labor Ministers as "cheap jacks of politics," always full of enthusiasm but never doing anything. He pictured Premier MacDonald as being overborne and helpless in the hands of the extreme Socialist wing of his party, and predicted that the Labor administration never would accomplish anything until it "killed this old man of the sea."

Mr. Baldwin's speech constituted the general theme of the Conservative and Liberal speakers in the campaign, while on the other hand the speeches of the Laborites mostly dwelt upon what they call "the unholy pact" between the Liberals and the Conservatives to keep Labor out of power.

Conflict of Systems.

Minister of Health Wheatley, who is regarded as one of the rising men in the Labor administration, commenting on the situation, said he regarded former Premier Lloyd George's declaration of war on Labor as a public announcement that Labor could not be purchased. The Minister added that politics nowadays was a conflict, not between men but between systems. Competitive capitalism was on trial for its life. He declared former Premier Asquith would need all his oratorical ingenuity to convince his friends that the Conservative-Liberal pact was not a coalition.

Some of the Liberal newspapers are becoming anxious over the implications of the pact which gives the speakers for the Laborites the chance to represent the pact as a union of capitalistic interests against Labor. These newspapers urge the extreme importance of the Liberal party preserving its complete independence. They declare that any other policy would be suicidal.

Premier in Accident.

Premier MacDonald had a rather exciting experience while addressing 10,000 electors at Cleckheaton yesterday afternoon. During his address the platform collapsed, throwing the Premier and some 200 persons to the ground.

Fortunately no one was injured.

Sir Auckland Geddes, former Ambassador to the United States, has come out of his long political retirement to deliver addresses at a number of Conservative meetings.

Although Premier MacDonald's voice is beginning to show the strain of addressing an average of twenty meetings daily, he continues to prosecute a vigorous campaign. Last night the Premier spoke to a huge gathering at Manchester. It is estimated that 5,000 persons heard him talk.

Lady Astor issued an election address at Plymouth, in which she says she stands for "peace, progress, partnership and private enterprise." She says the policy of the Labor party, if it gets clear of its Socialist majority, to take over one industry after another must bring about insecurity and thus prevent investment of new capital in British trade.

RAPID PROGRESS IN DELORME CASE

Five Witnesses Heard At Opening Session Yesterday.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16. — The hearing of evidence in the third trial of Rev. Adelard Delorme charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul, in January, 1922, was carried out here yesterday afternoon with great expedition. Counsel for the crown and defense alike disposed of witnesses with a minimum of delay, and although the hearing did not start till a late hour, and included the reading of several lengthy documents, such as the will of Alfred Delorme, father of Raoul and that of the deceased boy, yet five witnesses had testified and undergone cross-examination at adjournment.

The witnesses were the deputy Prothonotary, an officer of the Tuelle estates office, the notary public Belanger and his assistant, and the voluminous testimony of Willy Marien, chartered accountant, regarding his examination of the accounts of Adelard Delorme's administration of his half-brother's affairs. The evidence was a repetition of that in previous trials on the will and estate of the deceased, Raoul Delorme.

WAS NO OFFENCE.

Auto Engine Number Accidentally Destroyed By Law Officer.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—No offence against the Quebec Motor Vehicle Act is committed by an officer who, in endeavoring to ascertain whether an auto engine number has been falsified, accidentally destroys all the manufacturer's figures on the motor, Judge Monet ruled yesterday.

At the same time, the court decided, that where a search warrant is taken out permitting a constable to seize a touring car, it is illegal for the search party to confiscate an automobile for another make and type. Both points were raised in a case in which private agents had secured a warrant to raid a garage.

ITALY APPOINTS FOOD COMMITTEE

Effort To Prevent Rise In Prices Of Necessities.

ROME, October 16. — In order to combat the bigh cost of living in Italy, the cabinet yesterday decided to create a central food office and to prohibit the export of yellow maize until December 31, except on licenses issued by the ministry of finance. It was also decided that two types of bread should be baked, one a "popular loaf" and the other a "loaf de luxe."

A central food committee will also be appointed to handle the situation. It will be composed of the president of the Association of Italian communes, delegates from the principal Italian cities representatives of the ministries of the interior, finance, national economy and communications, and also five citizens who are experts on food problems. The duty of this committee will be to study and propose measures to prevent the rise in the prices of necessities.

The cabinet, in addition, adopted measures for the inspection of sales of frozen meats in the local markets, and for the promotion, regulation and opening of the new shops to be conducted directly by the producers, eliminating as far as possible, the middleman.

MARGARET BONDFIELD HURRIES TO HASTINGS

Her Visit To Canada Cut Short By Elections.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—"I am going back confident of victory and absolutely sure that Labor will be returned with increased strength," stated Miss Margaret Bondfield, M.P., whose visit to Canada has been cut short by the British election, and who was in Montreal Wednesday. Miss Bondfield is returning to contest her seat in Northampton, and will have only six days to personally conduct her campaign. SUES LEOPOLD AND LOEB.

Taxi Driver Files $100,000 Action Against Chicago Slayers.

CHICAGO, October 16. — A suit for $100,000 damages for mutilation alleged to have been iscurred at the hands of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Charles Ream, a taxicab driver.

Ream was attacked by two men on 21st November, blindfolded, drugged and mutilated.

After the arrest of Loeb and Leopold, now serving life terms in prison for the murder of Robert Franks, Ream claimed to identify the two rich men's sons as his assailants.

THIRD GROUP IN UNION DISPUTE

Some Ministers Refused To Commit Themselves On Church Question.

RESTS WITH PEOPLE.

VANKLEEK HILL, Ont., Oct. 16. A third group in the church union question was revealed at yesterday's session here of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, when a number of ministers from small congregations refused to commit themselves on the question, pleading that their congregations were divided, and that they did not desire to influence its members one way or the other.

Rev. R. W. Dickie of Montreal, sponsering this new group, objected to motions on the Church Union question coming up at the Synod. They were merely propaganda, he said. The whole question of church union had gone beyond the church courts and it rested now with the people.

A number of resolutions on church union were finally passed after many of the delegates had refused to vote.

The resolutions passed were:

Expressing of satisfaction in the passing of the Church Union Act; asking the Ontario and Quebec Legislatures to enact union legislation; that ministers should openly declare themselves on the church union question; that union members of non-concurring congregations join unionist churches in their vicinity; that unionist ministers be safeguarded where their congregations were opposed to union; that unionists' majorities, weakened by the loss of non-unionists, be safe-guarded.

INDIANS MAY BE GIVEN SENATOR

Dr. J. H. Jacobs, of Iroquois Tribe, Claims Promise From Premier King.

RIGHT BY SERVICE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Senatorial representation for the Indian tribes of Canada is a possibility, according to assurances which Dr. J. H. Jacobs, B.A., M.D., full-blooded Iroquois of the Caughnawaga reservation, says has been given to him by Premier King, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and others.

Dr. Jacobs, who is medical officer to the Caughnawaga reservation, states the tribes are too scattered to make representation in the Commons possible, and that their only hope of representation is through the Senate. Referring to the citizenship of the Indians, Dr. Jacobs pointed out that "although conscription did not apply to us (Indians) we enlisted in a greater percentage than any other race in Canada. We have a right to a direct representative in Parliament, because we are the original citizens," said Dr. Jacobs. "But above all those who have offered their lives for the nation have a right to a voice in its affairs."

WEATHER INSURANCE SUIT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Supreme Court Justice McCook awarded a judgment for $1,101.10 in favor of William Massce against the Detroit Baseball Company, yesterday. Massce sued for services rendered in drawing up a "fair weather insurance policy" for the Detroit Baseball Club in 1921, and in obtaining its acceptance by the British Dominion Issurance Company.

AIRSHIP'S CREW ATE AND SLEPT IN NORMAL WAY

Ran Out Of Wash Water Nearing America, But Otherwise Lived As At Home.

CAPTAIN'S STORY.

Log Of ZR-3 Tells of Discovery Of Rip In Gas Cell —Quickly Repaired.

LAKEHURST AIRDROME, N.J., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press). — The ZR-3 slumbered last night, safely cradled in the Lakehurst Airdrome, after a memorable flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

Her German crew slumbered also and her four American passengers. The ship, which had set a new record for sustained flight, appeared none the worse for the effort.

But the humans whom she had carried so far, they were red-eyed and weary. They had traversed 5,066 miles under hazardous conditions, and they had done it in a single continuous flight of 81 hours and 17 minutes.

This was the official record, as computed by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, and president of the Zeppelin interests, and by Commander J. H. Klein, Jr., of Lakehurst Field, who made the trans-oceanic flight.

The ship's log recorded that she left Friederichshafen, Germany, at 6.35 a.m. on Sunday, October 12, the time being one hour east of Greenwich. She touched earth here at 9.52 a.m., Eastern standard time, Wednesday. Dr. Eckener was authority for the statement that the mileage was 5,066.

Speed 62.35 Miles An Hour.

Thus the average speed of the ZR-3 for the whole distance was approximately 62.35 miles an hour. The approximate average of the British R-34 during her westward flight of 3,200 miles across the Atlantic in 108 hours, made in 1919, was 29.63 miles an hour.

As a further indication of the strides lighter-than-air aeronautics have taken during those five years, the fuel tanks of the ZR-3 were one-quarter full when she berthed. They held 7½ tons—enough, according to Lieut. Commander S. M. Krauss, to have carried her 1,800 knots farther on, or a goodly part of the distance to the Pacific Coast.

When the R-34 reached her destination at Mineola, Long Island, from East Fortune, Scotland, her fuel tanks held barely a half-hour's supply. For her to have proceeded further would have been to court disaster.

Captain's Narrative.

Each of the 32 passengers on the ZR-3 had his story to tell when he disembarked within the Lakehurst Hangar yesterday. But the most complete of them all was the story told by the diary-log of Captain George Steele, prospective commander of the dirigible.

He related how, on October 10, the date set for the flight, such crowds surged at the gates of the Friedrichshafen Airdrome that he was lost in the crush; how the big bag failed to rise because of atmospheric conditions; how the take-off was postponed for two days.

"The 12th of October came in on a foggy day," Captain Steele's record continued. "When the hangar doors were opened there was a blue fog outside. But things were better. The ship had been carefully trimmed and the temperature was better; that is, colder. At 6.25 the ground crew started to take the ship out, and at 6.35 the engines were started and we were off. There was a great cheer from the crowd; the band played the national air, and there was much fluttering of handkerchiefs. Several thousand people were on the field, but their view of the ship was brief. She at once rose into the fog and disappeared from sight.

"In that manner we passed out of Germany. When the clouds at last permitted a view of the ground, we saw France. We passed some distance from Belfort, Besancon, Manlin and Rochefort. But we made a slight deviation to pass over Cognac.

"At 3.30 we passed over the mouth of the Gironde River to the Bay of Biscay. It had taken us only nine hours to reach the Atlantic, averaging over sixty miles an hour. The ship felt the effect of the complication of currents in the air. In addition we were near the ground—500 to 1,000 feet—and the movement of air across the hills caused additional eddies. The result was a gentle roll and pitch, but not uncomfortable. When we reached the sea the bumpy motion ceased.

"At four o'clock, when the watch was relieved, the men stretched out comfortably and began to bank up sleep against their night watches. Some of the more energetic ones played a tune on the phonograph, but this met with disapproval. Evening fell over a calm sea with a clear sky, with just enough red in the West to be 'sailor's delight.'

Sail in Moonlight.

"The course was laid for Cape Finisterre, but darkness fell before we sighted the Spanish coast. While Dr. Eckener and I were in the dining-room, about seven o'clock the ship began to jump about. We looked out of the window, and there, under a full moon, lay the precipitous coast of Spain. At 7.40

KILLED HIS WIFE AND CHILDREN

John Buchanan Pirie, aged 40 (lower right), former captain in the Royal Air Force, walked into the police station in Ottawa, Ont., and told the sergeant he had just killed his wife and two children. He had at first planned to end his own life, then changed his mind.

He blamed his inability to obtain employment for his act.

Detectives going to his rooms found the bodies of his wife, Mrs. Caroline Pirie, 35 (lower left), and daughters, Kathleen 7 and Joan 6 (above).

Three true bills of murder were returned by the Grand Jury at yesterday's session of the Supreme Court of Ontario in Ottawa.

J. A. Ritchie, Crown Prosecutor, said he could not state when Pirie's trial would be held.

When the true bills were returned, R. A. Olmsted, counsel for the defence, did not make any formal request for a delay in the trial.

As Mr. Olmsted is awaiting word from England, it is considered very probable that when the indictments are read to Pirie he will present a formal request that an adjournment to the January Assizes be made to arrange and complete the defence.

BRITISH SNAPPED UP GERMAN ISSUE

Share Of Loan Was Quickly Subscribed—Lists Closed.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The British portion of the German loan had almost an instant success as the United States portion and was quickly oversubscribed yesterday and the lists closed. No announcement has been made as to how many times the issue was covered, as there are still huge applications by post to be considered but the stock exchange has already established a nominal premium on the price of two pounds.

It is expected it will be several days before allotments are made. One interesting provision of the issue is that other portions of the loan issued by continental nations in the form of sterling bonds shall not be saleable here for a period of two years, and no official quotation of them will be allowed on the stock exchange for the same period. The object of this provision is to prevent a possible adverse effect on exchange, which it is hoped will be more stable at the end of two years.

MOTORIST ACQUITTED.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 16.—Wm. R. Hodges, traveller, was acquitted of manslaughter, the Judge taking the case out of the hands of the jury. Hodges is alleged to have run down and killed a boy on a roadway near the city.

MINERAL WEALTH IN ARCTIC AREAS

Captain Bernier's Report Confirmed By Captain John Murray.

QUEBEC, Oct. 16.—A confirmation of the statement made by Captain J. E. Bernier and his associates of the most recent exploration voyage to the Arctic circle that almost limitless mineral wealth was to be found on the islands of the north, was made yesterday by Captain John Murray, who arrived here from Wakeham Bay, Hudson Straits, in command of the Nova Scotian auxiliary schooner Albert Revillon. Captain Murray took supplies north to the Revillon trading posts.

Though he did not go as far north as Captain Bernier, the commander of the Albert Revillon said that there was not the least doubt that great wealth in minerals was to be found in those vast areas of the north country, and was convinced that sooner or later the government of the Dominion of Canada would see fit to send an expedition north, equipped with every possible facility to make a real study of its potentialities.

BUILDING PERMITS OFF.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The value of the building permits issued to 56 Canadian cities during August showed a decline of 14.7 per cent. as compared with July and 14.1 per cent. as compared with August, 1923. The figure for August 1924, was $9,463,756, and for August of last year $11,011,758.

"DOMINION LAW AGAINST LIQUOR IMPORTATION DOES NOT APPLY"

Hon. N. W. Rowell Declares Province Can Not Restrict Sale To Government Shops—Wet Majority Would Cancel Automatically Present Prohibition Of Imports.

OPPORTUNITY FOR BOOTLEGGERS.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Oct. 16 — By Canadian Press.—Under Government control of the sale of liquor in Ontario for beverage purposes, the Canada Temperance Act, which now prohibits importations of intoxicating liquors, would automatically cease to apply, said N. W. Rowell, K.C., dealing with the legal aspect of the Federal measure in a public address here last night.

He also declared that the province had no power under the British North America Act to legislate against importation in order to restrict the traffic to government shops and dispensaries.

Replying to the suggestion that even though there were government sale of both spirituous and malt liquors under government control, part four of the Canada Temperance Act would continue to apply. Mr. Rowell pointed out that part four of the act expressly permits the importation of any intoxicating liquor which the province permits to be sold. In other words the prohibition of the importation of liquor is co-extensive only with the prohibition of the sale.

Introduced the Law.

"I had the honor to be a member of the government of Canada which introduced and procured the enactment of that legislation," continued Mr. Rowell. "It was introduced and passed, because it was recognized that the provinces had no jurisdiction to prohibit the importation of intoxicating liquors. . . . . it is said that the province may itself legislate against importation. I do not believe the province has any power to prohibit importation."

Mr. Rowell pointed out that British Columbia had unsuccessfully endeavoured to obtain federal legislation to prohibit importations into the province in order to save the government dispensaries. The failure to control importations, he said, gave the bootlegger his big opportunity, and that would be the state of affairs in Ontario under government sale.

11 HORSES BURNED.

Stables Belonging To Elias Rogers Coal Company Destroyed.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—Eleven horses were burned to death, Capt. Ed. Mitchell of Yonge street fire hall, was overcome by smoke and train service was held up for over an hour last night when a fire destroyed the stables belonging to Elias Rogers' Coal Company on Don Esplanade, south of the railroad tracks. The damage will be heavy.

72,000 IN RUSSIAN PRISONS.

Soviet Reports Mild Treatment and Efforts at Reform.

MOSCOW, October 16.—Seventy-two thousand persons are in prison in Russia at the present time, according to a report made yesterday by the Commissar of Justice.

Of these, 43,000 are serving varying terms for criminal and other offences, 26,000 are awaiting trial, and 3,000 are awaiting deportation.

The prison statistics for the other parts of the Soviet Union were not made public.

"The chief aim of the Russian prison policy," declares the report, "is neither revenge and intimidation, nor cruel punishment. Our aim is to reform the prisoner and to accustom him to work.

This we do by education, propaganda, and compulsory work, and we use none of the cruel methods employed by Western countries, which tend to degrade prisoners and to render them useless as members of society."

SCORCH READILY.

CONSTABLE DRUNK.

Perth County Council Accepted His Resignation Summarily.

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Perth County is without its county constable. John Hutchins, who had the office, presented his resignation to the County Council yesterday afternoon, and it was accepted. The officer was convicted in Huron County recently of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Yesterday morning members of the Council voiced the opinion that they did not want a constable who had been convicted on such a charge.

The officer was invited to state his case, which he did, reiterating that he was not guilty, and had appealed the case. However, he resigned.

The appointment had been made a full time one only at last session and a salary of $100 a month given.

MERCHANTS DEFEATED.

Large Loss of Life in Million Dollar Canton Fire.

HONG KONG, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Naval authorities here were advised that the great fire, supposedly of incendary origin, which was raging yesterday in Canton, had been put under control this morning when the damage was estimated at seven million dollars, with probably a large loss of life.

According to a wireless message picked up here, the Merchant Volunteer Corps of Canton has been defeated by the "Red Army," composed of Chinese laborers, after a street warfare lasting two days.

Plebiscite Bulletin

Oct. 16, 1924 — PETERBOROUGH — No. 23

GOVERNMENT CONTROL FAILS

LAST year a commission of Scottish churchmen composed of two Presbyterian ministers and three laymen visited British Columbia to investigate carefully the working of, so called, government control of the liquor traffic. Read these brief extracts from their report:

NO CONTROL ABOUT IT

"There is little control in the government control system beyond the creation of a government monopoly of the liquor traffic for revenue purposes. The public bar has been abolished but there has been, in consequence, a great increase of drinking in private places, THE HOME, the hotel bedroom and the club.

"The clubs have sprung up everywhere, largely in connection with hotels, where members have lockers in which their store of liquor is kept. When liquor is desired, a service token has to be purchased and presented to the club steward.

LAW READILY EVADED

"These clubs provide a ready means of evading the law and are practically a reincarnation of the old bar in a more private form. The abuses connected with them have been so flagrant that, on the testimony of the police, THE CLUBS ARE A HOPELESS PROBLEM TO HANDLE.

TAXES NOT REDUCED

"Enquiry of civic officials as to whether government control had reduced the city taxes received response in the negative and the remark was offered that there appeared to be no prospect of a reduction in the near future.

THE SYSTEM IS UNSATISFACTORY

"After a careful study of the situation, the commissioners came to the unanimous conclusion that Government Control in British Columbia is unsatisfactory as a solution of the liquor problem.

"It allows unrestricted purchase of liquor.
"Encourages secret drinking.
"Leads to evasion of the law through the activities of clubs.
"Drunkenness has not diminished.
"THE BOOTLEGGER IS AS ACTIVE AS EVER."

ROWDYISM MARRING GENERAL ELECTION

Cannon Crackers Exploded at Meeting of Charles Norton, Conservative.

By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 16—Rowdyism is marring the general election campaign. At Southwark last night Labor sympathisers exploded Cannon crackers inside a hall where Charles Norton, Conservative candidate was addressing a meeting. The audience fled. Sir Auckland Geddes, former British Ambassador to Washington declined to be daunted by the threat of more drastic disturbances and announced a series of eight speeches in the most notoriously rough district of London on behalf of Ex-Premier Stanley Baldwin.

The Independent Labor party which is the radical wing of the Labor movement issued an election manifesto bemoaning the political and economic system under which children of the rich inherit vast properties while slum children at birth are confronted with ill fortune "we voters can at least change that system", the manifesto said.

The issue at stake is between the old order and the new.

LABOR HAS GOOD CHANCE.

Leon Trotsky Says Now Is the Time For Labor to Obtain Parliamentary Majority.

MOSCOW, Oct. 16. — (United Press).—Speaking in the Caucasian town of Piatogorsk, Leon Trotsky, Minister of War declared that now was the most favorable moment for the British Labor party to obtain a parliamentary majority at the polls.

Prophesying heavy Liberal losses, Trotsky, said: "If the Conservatives win, returning curse on to power, much difficulty will result over the Anglo-Russian Treaty A fresh outburst of class struggle will result in that case".

ON THE TRAIL OF THE MOOSE.

Have you followed the trail of the lordly moose through the flaming forests of the north and heard him call from the barrens or tracked the fleet-footed deer over newly-fallen snow, with the keen wind in your face while the trees cracked in the frost and the whole forest seemed vibrant with life? If you have you know the real joy of the Canadian autumn, which is never found on the city's streets nor in pulsing marts of commerce, but only in the clean open spaces and the fragrant silent woods.

Now that the leaves are turning crimson and gold you will begin to dream of the little hunting camp in the far north woods, of sparkling dewy dawns, tramps through the fallen leaves, blasting camp fires, wonderous autumn nights and the bed of balsam boughs, for there is no tonic in all the world for a tired brain and a weary soul like a hunting trip in the northern wilds.

Canadian National Railways tap the choicest of the solitary hunting districts of Northern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces and if you are going off on a hunt this year go to the nearest ticket office and procure a copy of "Hunting in Canada," which contains full information as to the various districts, accommodation and guides. Then pack up your old rifle, sweater and togs and be off. 11,14,16,18

THE CHAMPIONS.

Heartiest congratulations are due the members of the Lakeview Baseball Club upon the successful culmination of their long campaign to bring an Ontario championship to Peterborough, thus repeating their triumph of last year.

The junior team has played consistently good baseball throughout the season and has most worthily represented Peterborough in many a stirring diamond battle, the climax coming with yesterday's final victory at Oshawa.

The Lakeviews have the honour of being the only Peterborough team to win a provincial title this season, whereas last year four Ontario championships were captured by local clubs.

Although the season was not as successful as in 1923, the Junios have saved it from being a blank and have made it possible for Peterborough to boast of at least one championship every season for the last three years.

Incidentally the local teams in other series, although finally eliminated from their respective races made a splendid showing, the Maple Leafs, Sacred Heart and Kiwanis teams being the Eastern Ontario representatives in the semi-finals, maintaining Peterboro's record as one of the best baseball towns in the province.

It is worthy to note that Peterborough was the only city in Ontario, outside of Toronto, to be represented in all six series of the O.B.A.A., in itself an achievement to be proud of.

The city in general is delighted with the triumph of the Lakeviews and, showed it by the fine reception tendered the champions last night.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Some good cannot fail to come of the conference by the Dominion Government and representatives of the Provinces that has been called for Ottawa early next month.

It is hoped to define the respective taxing spheres of the Federal and Provincial administrations, thus avoiding some of the overlapping and duplication that now exist.

Canada is suffering not only from overtaxation but from too many kinds of taxation, and because of the operation of too many tax-collecting agencies.

The Citizens' Research Institute, which, as Examiner readers know from the reports that have appeared in these columns, has been conducting an investigation on this line, announces that the number of taxing bodies in Canada amounts to over 5,000, and further testimony of the same kind is supplied by the Financial Post, which cites the instance of a Canadian manufacturing firm which had to know all about and meet the requirements of no fewer than thirty-three taxes, all of them subject to frequent changes.

It is high time then that a businesslike attempt should be made to simplify the taxation problems, prevent the overlapping of the present method and make the collection of taxes not only less expensive but less of a burden.

The representatives who attend the conference will find plenty of material upon which to work, and out of their deliberations may come reforms that will relieve the present situation.

A SPLENDID WORK.

According to the annual report of the Mothers' Allowance Commission, the Province of Ontario spent $1,612,701 upon this work during the year—a large sum, it is true, but one that will not be begrudged by the citizens generally in view of the splendid use to which the money was put.

Indeed, it is difficult to estimate in terms of dollars and cents the value of the work of the commission.

The report is full of human interest facts.

It shows clearly how valuable a factor in preserving for Ontario the best of all her assets—her children—is the assistance given the Province to widows with families.

Homes are being kept together that otherwise would be broken up with the death of the breadwinner.

Mothers who would have been unable to earn a living and bring up two or three children have been encouraged to face the future with their families around them, instead of placing them in some charitable institution.

The result is that the children of such families are not deprived of a mother's love and influence, the home life goes on as before, the youngsters are being educated and the wolf is kept from the door.

The allowances are not large, but they are of most valuable assistance to widowed mothers who, without such help, would be fighting a losing battle in trying to keep a roof over the heads of their families.

THE AMERICAN CAMPAIGN WARMS UP.

Now that the baseball series is over the American people are again taking an active interest in the presidential campaign in progress. It has been an exceptionally quiet and uneventful campaign, the only excitement being the uncertainity as to the strength of Lafollette and the question which arises as to whether there will be a deadlock in the Electoral College, throwing the election into Congress.

* * * *

President Coolidge has lived up to his name of "Silent Cal." He has made only two campaign speeches, and neither of these have been notable contributions. Coolidge is a very ordinary, third-rate speaker and his political managers are playing a wise game in keeping him at Washington in dignified silence. He would be stronger today if some of his lieutenants were as silent. Secretary of the Navy Denby started on a speaking tour, but his speeches were so indiscreet that he was recalled. Secretary of Commerce Hoover bitterly attacked the whole principle of public ownership in a recent speech and it was so reactionary in tone that it has seriously injured the Republican cause. However, despite the weakness of the Republicans on the platform there is no evidence that the industrial Northern States and New England will desert Coolidge.

* * * *

John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, has personally made the best impression of any of the candidates. He has been conducting a whirlwind speaking campaign and his speeches are masterpieces of lucid English and show a wide knowledge and strong grasp of both national and international affairs. Whether he is making headway is doubtful. Internal strife and lack of organization in the Democratic ranks in many states is handicapping Davis. He is not strengthened by the presence on his ticket of Governor Charles W. Bryan as vice-presidential candidate, who cannot carry with him any votes in the West and is regarded in the East as somewhat of a soap-box demagogue.

* * * *

Lafollette, heading the Progressive ticket, is developing unusual and dangerous strength, particularly in the West. Backed by Labor he may pull a big vote in the industrial East. Lafollette cannot be elected, but he may prevent the election of either Coolidge or Davis.

A straw vote is interesting, but whether it has any significance is another matter. The Literary Digest has been taking a nation-wide poll, which would indicate that Coolidge will be elected easily, wth Lafollette second and Davis a bad third. Its latest poll covers 52 states and analyzes answers from 1,451,591 votes. Of these votes Coolidge has 808,340, Davis 275,674 and Lafollette 351,178. Coolidge has 56 per cent. of the total vote, Davis 19 per cent, and Lafollette 24 per cent. If this poll is any guide the Harding landslide of 1920 will be repeated.—London Free Press.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Some of the arguments over the O.T.A. issue are highly-coloured enough to match the autumnal tints of the trees.

The last week of the campaign is at hand. And then after all the talking will come the real battle—that of the ballots.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, October 16. — Receipts yesterday morning: 68 cars, 757 cattle, 159 calves, 1,600 hogs, and 1,387 sheep and lambs.

Frank Hunnisett bought a rather nice bunch of 1,000-pound butchers at $6.00 a cwt.

Butchers' cows and bulls were in larger volume and trading in these was active at steady prices. Good cows sold at $4.00 to $4.25 and common to medium cows $3.00 to $3.50. All the bulls were bolognas and the bulk sold at an average of $2.65 a cwt. The few baby beeves on sale were readily picked up at $8.50 to $10.50.

Calves are not coming in too freely and the market continues quite steady. Choice calves average 11 cents and extra good ones will touch a cent better. The other grales are unchanged.

Lambs are not quite as strong, but it is difficult to cut the price 25 cents a cwt. Ninety-pound ewes sold yesterday morning at 12 cents, and bucks, 110 pounds, at 10 cents The ruling quotations are 11 3-4 to 12 cents on ewes. Heavy shipments of breeding ewes are being made to the country at 8 to 8 1-2 cents a pound.

Packers dropped their bids on hogs back to $10.00 a cwt. f.o.b. yesterday, but sellers are not willing to accept the cut. The bid price will be further reduced to-day to $9.75 a cwt f.o.b.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, October 16 (Canadian Press). — A stronger feeling has developed in the market and prices are advancing. This is attributed to the increased demand for supplies, which resulted in a more active trade being done, especially so for export in storage eggs. Quite a few sales are reported of car lots.

Toronto firm, retailing specials 58 to 65, extras 55, firsts 45 to 50, seconds 38, storage extras 48.

Montreal egg market firm, jobbing extras 47, firsts 40, seconds 30 to 32 f.o.b.

Manitoba firm. Retailing extras 50, firsts 40, seconds 33.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, October 16 (Canadian Press). — There was a fair inquiry from British importers for Canadian spring wheat here yesterday, but ownig to the high prices ruling, little business was transacted.

The trade in cash grain was also slow, but the tone was firm.

Ontario No. 3 extra barley was quoted at $1.08, No. 3 grade $1.07, Ontario No. 2 oats at 67 to 68 cents, and No. 3 grade at 63 cents per bushel, ex-track.

Remington Bookkeeping Machine

Enables one bookkeeper to do the work of three

"A machine with a mind almost human," the Remington Bookkeeping Machine is noted for its uncanny accurate, three-in-one service. The following are a few of its outstanding features.

It posts items to the Ledger and shows the new balance at the close of each transaction.

It writes Statements and obtains and shows total debits, total credits and balances, all in one operation.

In addition to giving the daily balance of each customer's statement and ledger account, it supplies the daily total of each sub-division of the ledgers—daily trial balance; also the grand total of all the outstanding accounts in all the ledgers.

With it, one bookkeeper can do the work of three ordinary people and do it with more speed, greater accuracy and infinitely less trouble—to say nothing of the satisfaction and saving such a result will mean to you—the employer.

You can buy a Remington Bookkeeping Machine on very easy terms. Ask your nearest agent for a demonstration or mail this coupon for particulars.

RIVERS FOUND RICH

Alaskan Waters Found Full Of Undeveloped Horse Power.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 16.—(Associated Press).—Fifty-five individual streams in southeastern Alaska show an aggregate of 25,520 primary and 464,810 average horsepower in undeveloped sites, according to a report made to the Federal Power Commission by Joseph Cummings Dort, hydro-electric engineer of the Forest Service, who made a survey of southeastern Alaska in 1921 and 1922.

The sites examined were classified as to district, location, average static head, average stream flow, primary and average horsepower, total concentrated at plant site, total cost of development and average horsepower cost.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 16 (Canadian Press). — Sharp new upturns in the price of wheat resulted yesterday from continuel export buying on a large scale. It was estimated that between six million and seven million bushels of wheat had been bought since Saturday for shipment to Europe.

Wheat closed buoyant, 4 to 4 1-2 cents net higher, December 151 to 151 1-8 and May 155 3-4 to 155 7-8, with corn showing 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 cents gain, oats 1 3-8 to 2 1-8 cents up, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to 22 cents advance.

STEAMED DATE PUDDING.

Four tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup molasses, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 cup white flour, 1 1-4 cups graham flour, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, 1-2 pound dates.

Soften butter. Best eggs well. Add molasses, butter and milk and beat with egg beater. Mix and sift white flour, salt and soda. Add to graham flour with spices and stir into first mixture. Mix well. Scald dates, remove stones and cut in small pieces. Stir into dough. Put into a buttered mold and steam 2 1-2 hours. Serve with lemon sauce.

GILMOUR CHURCH HAD ANNIVERSARY

Rev. Norman McLeod, of Park Street, Was Special Preacher.

Anniversary services were held in Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church on Sunday.

The Rev. Norman R. McLeod, of Park Street Baptist Church, was the special preacher, and he delivered inspiring sermons to good congregations both morning and evening. The church choir, under the leadership of Mr. Will Paul, rendered several pieces in fine style.

On Tuesday a fowl supper was held, when about 400 people sat down to a splendid repast. A good programme followed, when the Rev. Dr. Rose, Rev. N. R. McLeod and the Rev. Mr. Craw of Lakeview Presbyterian Church addressed a crowded church. Various musical items were given by talented artists, both belonging to the congregation and outside. Special mention must be made of little Phyllis Moore, who rendered very effectively a number of recitations.

Miss Mabel Paul presided at the organ.

The pastor of the church, Rev. W. S. Edgar, brought the meeting to a close by asking the company to sing the National Anthem.

A THOUGHT.

"IF."

If you can give each day the best that's in you
And say with truth each night, "I've earned my pay,"
If you can toil with brain and nerve and sinew
Alert to make the most of every day;

If you can make the time clock in the morning
A sterner master than the clock at night;
If you can welcome duties, never scorning
To do them, whether great or little, right;

If you can take your manager's decision
About the plan of work you should pursue,
And make him know you need no supervision—
That what he wants to have you do you'll do—

If you can feel that every obligation
To those who pay you cheerfully is met,
Your job is safe. The labor situation?
Hard times? And unemployment? You should fret!

—Curtis Folks.

SLEEP.

Why are so many modern children nervous, neurotic or erotic? The answer, says Dr. Caroline Hedger, is that "the child of this age doesn't get enough normal sleep."

Radio, jazz music, movies and other diversions keep them up late. They upset their endocrine glandular balance by eating too much candy—sugar unstabilizing the pancreas. And, too, abnormal or subnormal children are the natural product to be expected from the unnatural life of parents and a jazz environment in youth.

PETER SPRATT WON HIS LINDSAY CASE

Exonerated From All Blame in Lindsay Accident.

LINDSAY, October 16. — Yesterday afternoon the jury empannelled to inquire into the cause of the death of Annie Eleanor Telford, who was fatally injured by being struck with a truck driven by Peter Spratt on Saturday afternoon, brought in a verdict exonerating Mr. Spratt from all blame in connection with the fatality.

The evidence submitted showed that Mr. Spratt was driving about nine or ten miles an hour on a fourteen-foot pavement, and did not see the child until after the car hit it.

The front wheel passed over the body, and the child was picked up between the front and hind wheel of the car.

Mr. L. C. Telford, father of the child, was a former resident of Peterborough, being employed at one time with the De Laval Company.

ONTARIO WHEAT HIGH.

TORONTO, October 16 (United Press). — Ontario's fall wheat crop will average 26.9 bushels to the acre, compared with 23.1 bushels last year, according to final estimates issued by John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture.

The yield of oats will average 34.5 bushels per acre.

INFANT MORTALITY.

CHICAGO, October 16 (United Press). — Children die at the rate of one every six minutes in the United States from malnutrition and neglect, asserted Herbert C. Hooks, secretary of the Evaporated Milk Association, in addressing a health congress here.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Barn and Season's Crop Destroyed In Absence Of Owner—Girls' Championship.

CAMPBELLFORD, October 16. —About eight o'clock on Wednesday night fire completely destroyed the barn and entire crop of Mr. Bert Hay, who lives on the 7th Concession of Seymour. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Hay was away, and when he returned he found the barn in flames.

Girls' Championship.

The contest for the senior girls of the High School field day sports, which resulted in a tie for four of the girls last week, was run off, and Miss Mildred Cowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cowell, Queen Street, rented Dr. Lillian Young's house for cup.

Dr and Mrs. H. Beattie, who have been living on Canrobert Street, have rened Dr. Lillian Poung's house for the winter months, while Miss Young and her mother are away visiting friends.

Held Reception.

About fifty people gathered at the True Blue Lodge Rooms on Tuesday night, from both the ladies' and men's lodges, and other friends, with Sister and Brother Clarke in honour of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke are both prominent members in the lodges. A complimentary address was read by the Worshipful Mistress, Sister Tripp, wishing them a happy and prosperous future. The evening was spent in music and in games, after which a dainty lunch was served. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts, and all report a good time.

Born—In Campbellford, on October 11th, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, Hastings Road, a daughter.

Mr. Harry Abar, of Oakville, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Abar, Hastings Road, left on Wednesday for the West, where he expects to stay permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown and family have moved into Mrs. H. Donald's house, on Frank Street. Mrs. Donald expects to leave the end of this month and spend the winter with her niece, Mrs. Miller, at Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack, who purchased the house on Frank Street, lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith, moved into their new home on Tuesday.

Captain and Mrs. Hyland and family, of the Regent Theatre, have moved into the new bungalow on Richard Street, owned by Mr. Towns. This new and up-to-date home has just been finished.

Mrs. Thos. McManus and children, of Toronto, are visiting their sister, Mrs. F. Wilsher, Booth St.

Mrs. Woodward, of Cannington, is spending some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. A. Humphries, Booth Street.

Miss Nelly Hoover, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Thos. Church, in Orillia, for several weeks, returned to her home on Queen Street on Wednesday.

Mr. Ralph Free, of Windsor, is spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Free, Hastings Road. Mrs. Free and little daughter accompanied him as far as Toronto, where she is visiting her mother.

A large number of the townpeople went to Norwood on Wednesday for the Fair.

Margaret Anderson, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Canrobert Street, had an operation for appendicitis on Tuesday. The operation was quite successful, and she is doing well.

ECZEMA IN FORM OF RASH
Face Utterly Disfigured. Cuticura Heals.

"Some time ago eczema broke out on my face in the form of a rash. It continued to spread and become more unsightly week by week. The irritation caused me to scratch my face, which after a few weeks was utterly disfigured. The trouble went on for at least two months.

"A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased a box of Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and before they were used I was healed." (Signed) Miss Emma McPherson, Cloverville, Nova Scotia.

VERA FOSTER WAS BURNED TO DEATH

Found By Brother In Mass of Flames on Front Lawn —Girl Was an Invalid.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—A sad accident occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Foster, third concession of Alton township, Prince Edward County, on Wednesday, when Verna Foster, aged sixteen, who has been an invalid since childhood, had been left for a few minutes on the lawn in front of her parents' home when her brother, coming out of the house, found the girl in flames, the whole of her clothing having been ignited. The boy tore the shreds of burning garments from her, but it was too late to help her, as she was terribly burned all over body. She was taken into the house and Dr. Walmsley of Picton, was called. He arrived promptly but could do little for her and she succumbed to her injuries at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning.

It is supposed that the girl had struck a match and ignited a book which had caused her dress to catch on fire. The county coroner was notified and after making an investigation, decided that no inquest would be necessary.

NORWOOD FAIR DREW THOUSANDS WITH PERFECT OCTOBER WEATHER

Fifty-sixth Annual Agricultural Exhibition On Wednesday Was One of the Most Successful—All Departments Well Stocked With Exhibits—Races Were Fast.

HASTINGS BABY BEST AT SHOW.

(By Staff Reporter)

The 56th annual exhibition of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society at Norwood closed its second day yesterday with a record exhibition for 1924. Everything—the weather, the crowd, the exhibits, combined to make the Norwood Fair as successful this year as its reputation for a splendid Fall Fair would warrant.

"Nice fair, nice grounds, nice people," was the way one of the outside judges summed up the verdict when he bade good-bye to the secretary.

Between five and six thousand people attended Norwood's second day yesterday. Gate receipts totalled $2,033.

The special items of entertainment included three well-contested races, a large and busy group of refreshment stands and games in a section crowded with concessions, a Boy Scout and Cadet drills, a drawing contest and a better baby show. The big tent where Grafton and Company, Limited, of Peterboro, were making their thirty-second appearance at Norwoods' annual Fair, was a popular centre all afternoon. The Caledonian Band from Peterboro, brave in kilts and bonnets, entertained the crowd in front of this tent where men's wearing apparel was attractively displayed, and the Scotch musicians of the Arlie Marks' Stock Company also added to the tuneful atmosphere of the Fair. Hot meals were served by the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society.

The horses raced on a track heavy with dust and under a hot sun.

The open trot, with purses of $75, $50 and $25 for first, second and third place, was won by Major Hal, owned by S. Blewett of Peterboro, coming first in all three heats. Second place in all three was won by Bessie Brooks, owned by Frank Montgomery of Peterboro, and third by Polly Stout, owned by R. Elmhirst of Keene. Bub, owned by Ed. Jones of Peterboro, also ran.

Time: 1.10, 1.08, 1.08½.

The 2.30 trot, with purses of $40, $25 and $15, was won by Just Jack, owned by R. Elmhirst of Keene, 1-1-3-1, with second money won by Cy Winger, owned by W. Elmhirst of Indian River; 2-3-1-3, and third money by Mack R. owned by Charles Armstrong of Havelock, 3-2-2-2. Time: 1.12; 1.10; 1.11; 1.10.

The green pace, with purses of $25 $15 and $10, was won by Mr Healey owned by S. Blewett of Peterboro; 1-1-1, with second money to Betty Azoff, owned by A Elmhirst of Indian River; 2-2-2, and third money by Prince R., owned by Chas. Fife of Indian River 3-3-3. Time: 1.15, 1.12, 1.13.

The judges for the speeding events were Dr. Munro of Warsaw and Fred Jones of Peterboro, starter; J. M. Nattrass of Millbrook, timer; Chas. Quinlan of Peterboro.

Traffic regulations were very well looked after at the Norwood Fair. An efficient policeman kept the track fairly clear of pedestrians, while Provincial Constable N. F. Maker, Sergeant John Deannard, and Constables Gordon Puffer and John Thompson, of Peterboro, assisted materially in looking after the crowd.

Big Poultry Showing

The poultry display was particularly large and excellent at Norwood Fair this year. In view of the increasing demands on the large building already provided for poultry, the directors are contemplating enlarging the premises for next year's show. There were nearly seven hundred birds on view an increase over the last year's total, and they were all of fine type. H. T. Lush of Peterboro had nearly a hundred entries, practically every one a prize-winner, R. M. Brown of Peterboro also made a fine exhibit, and H. S. Van Allen of Stirling and Dr. Alyea of Colborne had their usual large showings. Rocks, white, buff and barred, were in the lead, and there were good specimens of Wyandottes. There was a good deal of competition in the Houdans and Polands, the best bird being chosen in a Silver spangled amber cockerel. There was also a big display of bantams and water fowl. A few pigeons and rabbits had a section at one end.

The big main building, where music from the Newcombe agency stand added to the attractive atmosphere of the interior, with its good flooring and overhead decorations, contained hundreds of specimens of ladies' work, domestic science and the fine arts, that would have filled a much larger space, had the same been available. Arranged in decorative ways, the big interior overflowed with the exhibits of fine embroideries and paintings. A section in the centre of the hall was devoted to a house plant dsplay and exhibit of butter, cheese, cooking and vegetables all well represented and all of the best quality. A showing of Japanese pie pumpkins, broken out with an attack of warty lumps, attracted much interest.

In the fancy work section, a pair of portieres was on view, composed of highly-varnished large kernels of corn, strung on varnished cords, nd interspersed with green glass beads and tiny varnished paper rolls. There were some very fine house plants and window boxes, with a prominent tall fyshsia and a couple of cacti plants, including one of the one day-blooming cereus in a rat-tail cactus.

The Baby Show

At one end of the hall, the 40th Northumberland Chapter of the I.O.D.E. sold the handicraft of workers in the Blind Institute, and at the other was a small room devoted to a better baby exhibit and a Child Welfare educational exhibit, in charge of Miss F. J. McEwen, one of the nurses from the Provincial Board of Health, Toronto. Some fifteen babies were judged by Dr. J. A. McDonald of Hastings. The first prize, an Oil Color Portrait of the winner, offered by the Roy Studio, Peterboro, with a value of $10 was won by Irene Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynch of Hastings. The second and third prizes of $6 and $4 respectively, offered by the 40th Northumberland Chapter of Daughters of the Empire, went to Frederick Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Andrews of Norwood, and to Thelma C. McNeely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McNeely of Norwood.

Good Cattle.

There was a fine display of cattle and horses. The sheep entries numbered a little over a hundred, the swine were very light, only about twenty animals occupying the big stys arranged for their benefit. Peterson Brothers of Norham had a small herd of Polled Angus cattle and Mitchell Brothers of Norham had some fine Herefords. A big showing of Ayrshires by F. M. Rutherford of Bonar Law and a herd of good-looking Jerseys occupied the cattle barn on the hill. Garnet Kerr, of Campbellford, showed the Jerseys. Farther along the way, in open stalls, were Shorthorns, owned by John Boland of Indian River and Andrew Knox of Norwood.

Robert Stillman of Campbellford showed a flock of fine Cotswolds, with Hutchinson and Sons and G. H. Curtis of Warkworth specializing in Oxford Downs. F. C. Hendry of Hastings had Leicesters and J. G. Honey of Roseneath showed Dorset Horns.

Yorkshire swine were shown by Thomas Carew, of Roseneath and R. Honey and Sons, of the Minster Farm, at Dartford.

In the ring, judging went on all afternoon. There were big classes of horses, with heavy draught predominating. Hope Brothers, of Indian River, showed many of the latter, Fred Fox of Birdsall's had general purpose horses, and Shaw Brothers of Peterborough, were showing roadsters.

There were four good entries in the contest for lady drivers, with single horse in harness and rig. Miss Helen Shaw, of Peterboro, won first prize, Miss Lewis of Welcome, second. The John A. Robb cup for the best lady driver, with single horse and rig, also went to Miss Shaw, for the third consecutive year.

Harry Redmond of Otonabee, won the wool auto rug, value $6, donated by B. F. Ackerman, Son and Company, for the best gentleman's turnout.

One of the interested spectators of events in the ring was Mr. Dunham, one of the oldest living exdirectors of Norwood Fair, and father of Thomas Dunham, one of the present directors.

Judges in the various sections were as follows: Light horses: James F. Ault, of Winchester; heavy horses, E. H. Sills of Napanee; beef cattle and sheep, G. H. Mark of Little Britain; dairy cattle and swine, N. Copeland of Cornwall; poultry, L. G. Jarvis of Burlington; dairy products, G. A. Gillespie of Peterborough; grain, W. M. Fowlds of Hastings and E. C. Pakenham of Norwood; roots and vegetables, F. C. McRea of Norwood; fruit, A. B. German of Hastings; domestic science, Miss Teresa Kavanagh of Bancroft; domestic manufactures, E. P. Cuffe of Norwood; ladies' work, Miss M. V. Powell of Whitby; fine arts, Miss V. Powell of Whitby and Mr. R. G. Lawlor of Norwood; house plants, C. H. Williamson of Peterboro; drill, Major Nelson of Westwood.

Drawing Contest.

In the drawing contest, prizes in the Farmers' class, for horses that are doing farm work only, of $12 and $8 respectively, were won by Henry Puffer of Clarina and G. A. Brethen, M.P. of Norwood. In the heavy class, open to all teams engaged in heavy work, with prizes of the same amount, awards went to Percy Wilson of Norwood and to Henry Puffer of Clarina.

Officials for Norwood's Fair this year were as follows: Honorary president, E. Hawthorne, president; P. M. Glover, 1st vice-president; W. Thompson, 2nd vice-president; C. Elmhirst, secretary-treasurer; J. E. Roxburgh, Norwood.

Directors: Messrs. Andrew Knox, Col. R. E. Birdsall, Wm. Breckenridge, J. F. Elliott, Thos. Dunham, S. McGee, G. A. Brethen, M.P., D. Barrie, J. A. Robb, W. Barrie, Wm. Knox, J. D. O'Keefe, C. A. Calder, Wellington Burgess, J. Scott.

Honorary Directors: Messrs. J. A. Sexsmith, E. N. McDonald, John Kelly.

PRINCE THROWN FROM HORSE IN WILD FOX HUNT

His Mount, the "Bounding Kildare," Failed To Jump a Five Rail Fence.

ATTENDED DANCE.

Hunting Party Succeeded In Shooting Two Red Foxes.

TORONTO, October 16 (Canadian Press). — A day spent to the music of thudding hoofs and the ring of the huntsman's horn—a day amid the rolling hills and the crimsoning maples of North York, capped by a dinner at Government House and a brief visit to the York Club dance—tells the tale of yesterday's visit to Toronto by His Royal Highness Edward of Wales.

Last night the Prince bore two souvenirs of his ride across the Ontario hills and farm lands. One is the brush of a red-coated reynard, who led the baying pack and the red-coated hunters such a merry chase.

Two foxes were taken by the party.

The other is a bruised ankle, received when bounding Kildare just failed to clear a five-bar rail fence and landed heavily, throwing the Prince over his shoulders.

Up in an instant, the Prince sped, feet of foot, after the lagging Kildare. A pause, and he was up again and flashing away once more in the vanguard.

Pluck is not lacking in the future ruler of the British Empire.

Returning to the hotel about six o'clock, the Prince arrived somewhat tired looking. However, there was no time to rest, and what was left of his time was spent in interviews.

Mayor Hiltz was one of his callers.

Later His Royal Highness invited ex-Mayor T. L. Church to come and see him.

Among others who were invited to call were officers of the Toronto Regiment of which His Royal Highness is Colonel-in-Chief.

The Prince recalled that he had met the regiment coming into Testubert on 20th May, 1915, while he was coming out of the lines. He also inquired how the Regiment was getting along, and recalled that he had met officers on several occasions afterwards in France during 1915, 1917 and 1918.

Later the Prince left for Government House for dinner, and afterwards attended the York Club ball.

A last-minute engagement of the Prince followed his visit to the York Club dance, when it was announced that His Royal Highness had accepted an invitation to attend the informal dance at Strathrobyn, the home of F. B. Robins.

While no announcement has been made as to the Prince's movements for this forenoon, it is felt that h wil lplay a round of golf and make several social calls.

His Royal Highness will leave for Ottawa at 1 p.m. to-day.

530 CANDIDATES.

Stanley Baldwin Has 530 Followers To Contest For 615 Seats.

LONDON, Oct. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—According to the first official Conservative list issued last night, followers of Stanley Baldwin have 500 candidates to contest for 615 seats in the House of Commons. This is considerably in excess of the number of Conservative candidates in last election.

TRAIN HUSBANDS.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 16—(United Press).— Train the boys as well as the girls for matrimonial contests.

Organize home on 50-50 basis or it will perish.

Wives should go out more; association with servants causes shriveling of personality.

Divide the family income equally between the mother and the father, after all bills are paid.

Make the home more attractive, or the intelligent man will quit marrying.

These are some of the demands of the modern age Dr. Edith Hale Swift social hygiene exponent, pointed out to the United Press.

The man with a matrimonial education will be able to find his collar buttons as well as mind the baby in a pinch, Dr. Swift declared.

"The part time wife and the part time husband will be the feature of the new home," she asserted. "The old order of the husband being stimulated by his eight hours work and diverse list of associations while the wife is tied to drugery of house hold tasks is changing. In short time the husband wonders why his wife's viewpoint is so different from his.

"It's time we did something to train boys to be good husbands."

UNEARTHED FORTUNE.

Jewelled Ornaments Valued at $2,000 Found at Red River.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Gold coins, some of them on ancient vintage, and jewelled ornaments, the whole probably worth $2,000, were unearthed from a cache on the banks of the Red river by boys playing on the river bank here. Their ownership is unknown.

AIRSHIP'S CREW

we had La Escatada lighthouse abeam, and the course was laid for Azores. During the night the course and speed were checked occasionally by sighting on torch bombs dropped from the ship.

"When the end of our watch periods came we found the berths very comfortable, and enjoyed undisturbed sleep. I bought a large woollen comforter and a blanket in Friederichshafen to take on the voyage. The ship is not equipped by the builders with bed clothes, and those supplied for the crew were made of kapok. I hesitated to bring my comforter, on account of its bulk, but I am glad I did. With its protection I was able to sleep in nothing heavier than pyjamas.

"In the morning of the thirteenth we passed directly above a British steamer headed for the opposite direction. By radio the ZR-3 inquired the steamer's position and reply was received indicating that we had been drifted about sixty miles southward of our assumed position. The course was accordingly changed, and at 11.40 San Miguel Island was sighted on the port bow.

"At 2.20 we reached the southeastern end of Tercerra Island, and traversed its south coast. After leaving Tercerra, the ship was driven to a height of about 5,000 feet, in order to lift the safety valves and lose lifting gas to compensate for the loss of weight of gasoline used.

Gas Bag Ripped.

"During this manoeuvre to-day, something happened which must be carefully watched during all such manoeuvres. Upon returning to flying height, which was at this time above 1,000 feet, a rip about two feet long was found in the lower part of one of the gas cells. This was immediately repaired, and the result was nothing worse than a small amount of air finding its way into the cell to mix with the hydrogen and reduce its purity. If, however, the hole had been larger or had not been so soon discovered enough air might have found its way into the cell to form a dangerous mixture of gas and also to reduce the lifting power of the cell. It is therefore standard practice to have men carefully inspect the bottoms of the gas cells—the only part they can see—during each considerable gain or loss of altitude by the airship.

"At a height of 5,000 feet, down to 2,000 feet, we were approaching Pico Island, and all we could see of the island was its peak, triangular in outline, projecting above the clouds. From 3.20 we were passing through and over the islands of the Azores.

"Calamity overtook us earlier in the day. The wash water gave out. We have joined the ranks of the unwashed and unshaved. The commissary promises to ration sufficient water for a shave just before landing—if we land soon enough. He is meanwhile furnishing good, hot meals, and we are at least well fed. We are well housed, too; and anyone who will make a couple of trips a day through the corridor from the tip of the nose back and down to the depths of the lower fin, need not complain of lack of exercise."

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government, and 35 leading universities, and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coil oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

LAKEFIELD AND THE DISTRICT

Children's Fair Was a Big Success—Pioneer Work in the West.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 15.—A children's fair was held on Friday afternoon on the lawn of Mrs. W. A. Nixon on Colborne Street, and was a very interesting event. Misses Zetta Nixon and Mary Hendren were the originators of the idea and went to a great deal of trouble to carry out their plans. There were several booths at which for incredibly small sums one could win beautiful prizes, and as a crowning touch there were "real movies" at four o'clock. Barney Google and Spark Plug were in evidence and the price of admission included a free ride on the famous racer. Mrs. S. Hunter's loaf of home-made bread won first prize in the domestic science exhibit. A booth, at which home cooking, candy and soft drinks were sold, was in charge of Misses Zetta Nixon and Mary Hendren. Miss Constance Stuart, Miss Hannah Webster and Miss Aileen Brown were in charge of the various shows in the real midway. Master Emeric Robinson, clad in a khaki uniform, was the policeman, and kept the peace for the entire afternoon. The entertainment was most original, and showed a great deal of real talent and a combination of originality and clever imitation, which is rare in these days, when fairy tales are regarded as old-fashioned, and there is little to appeal to the imagination of children.

The "movies" were held at the close of the afternoon, as most of the principals had star parts, Miss "Tiny" Stuart was a Spanish Queen, Misses Zetta Nixon and Aileen Brown were ballet dancers, Miss Dorothy Sutton was a witch, and Misses Maxwell Hamilton Hannah Webster and Constance Stuart, and Master Emerie Robinson were clowns.

The proceeds amounted to a little more than $1.00, and of this 50 cents was given to the Children's Aid Society collection, and 50 cents was retained to be given the Mission Band.

Mr, and Mrs. Ernie Butler, of Stoney Lake, were in the village on Thursday.

Mr. R. F. Downey, school inspector, of Peterboro, visited the local school on Tuesday.

Misses O'Delle Watson, Goldie Wannamaker of Lakefield, also Laura Bowen of Warsaw, were in the village on Thursday.

Mrs. Fred Young, Miss Aileen and Master Freddie visited friends in Campbellford during Thursday and Friday.

Messrs. "Babe" Wannamaker, "Fat" Morin and "Dick" Junkins, all of Lakefield, were in the village last Thursday night.

Miss Mildred Charlton left last week for Trout Creek, near North Bay, where she has secured a position as teacher.

Mr. Wm. Watson, who has spent the summer in the village, has returned to Peterboro.

Mrs. Melville Miller was in Lakefield on Saturday.

Misses Olive McNaughton, Mary Buchanan and Etta Bullock, who are attending Lakefield High School, spent the week-end at their homes.

All the farmers at present are busy cutting corn and filling their silos.

Mr. Harry Hockaday and son, Clayton, visited his daughter, Mrs. Clayton Dunsford, of Douro, over the week-end.

Mrs. Wm. Hatton was in Lakefield on Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Gardener visited his parishioners of Hall's Bridge on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, Misses Bessie and Daisy, and Mrs. Leon Ellsworth and baby, Roydan, visited friends in Norwood on Sunday.

The annual harvest thanksgiving service was held in St. Aidan's Church last Sunday.

Misses Pauline Sturgeon and Grace Hetherington, both of Peterborough, visited friends in the village on Sunday.

Miss Laura McFarlane visited friends in Lakefield on Saturday night.

Mrs. Leona Mathews, of Dummer, passed through the village on Sunday.

Mr. Frank Galvin, of Lakefield, passed through the village on Sunday.

AT YOUNG'S POINT

School Inspector Visits the School—Personal Mention.

YOUNG'S POINT, Oct. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Little, of Stoney Lake, were in the village on Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Lane and daughter, Marjorie, were in Lakefield on Monday.

Mr. Frank Carroll attended the teachers' convention in Peterborough on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mr. Lees, school inspector, of Peterboro, visited Pine Grove School, Douro, on Tuesday.

The Ellsworth ice cream parlor has closed for the season, as Mr. Ellsworth has rejoined his theatrical company and is now en route to California. Mr. Ellsworth intends being back to reopen his store in the spring.

Why Stay Fat?
You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are pleasant to take, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A box is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat. You can reduce steadily and easily without going through long sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet with fear of bad effects. Get a box and start getting slender now.

Raspberry Sponge.

Prepare package of raspberry gelatine according to directions. When beginning to set beat with a dover beater until frothy. Add one cup heavy cream whipped until stiff. Fold in one cup candied cherries and one-half cup nut meats and turn into a mould to chill and become firm Serve with whipped cream slightly sweetened and flavoured with vanilla essence.

LAKEFIELD MEN PARADED SUNDAY

Sixty Members of H. N. S. From Lakefield and Young's Point Here on Sunday.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 15. — Sixty members of the Holy Name Society, representing the parishes of St. Paul's, Lakefield, and St. Mary's, Young's Point, went to Peterboro' on Sunday and took part in the impressive parade of the Holy Name Society. The address of Father O'Brien was a source of inspiration and consolation to all, and in the renewed pledge, given by 1,400 men en masse, was an inspiration to go forward in faith.

Sunday marked the first anniversary of Father Garvey's appointment to the combined parishes of Lakefield and Young's Point, and the response of so many parishioners to the invitation to Peterboro' was gratifying indeed to him in his work.

The annual tag day for the Children's Aid Society was held on Saturday, with results highly gratifying to all interested. A bevy of young girls, under the direction of the convenor, Mrs. Laurence Grahame, canvassed the village on Saturday afternoon and evening, each team being given a section of the village to avoid the mistake of overlapping. The winning team was composed of Misses Doreen Johnston and R. Darcy, who collected more than $30. Other teams were Misses Clarice Kidd and Beatrice Charlton, Misses Ida Webster and Lillian Mason, Misses Fern Bolton and Jean Webster, and Misses Maude Nixon and Marjorie Reddick.

Misses Mary Hendren and Zetta Nixon contributed 50 cents from the proceeds of their children's fair, held on Friday.

Owing to the teachers' convention, the tag day of the schools was not held till Monday, and the returns are not available at present, but will be announced later. The total receipts to date are $60.12.

Messrs. G. H. Spence, J. W. Riddath, R. H. Little and W. H. Stabler are enjoying a week's fishing trip. They paddled up Deer Bay Creek to Stop Log Lake, where there is an abundance of fish, and it is expected that there will be splendid sport. Extensive preparations had been made for the holiday, and their friends in the village expect to share their catch.

Among those who were present from a distance for the sports day at "The Grove" were Mr. and Mrs. Macrae, and Mrs. A. E. Dawson, of Toronto; Miss Gwyneth Pullen, of Oakville, and Mrs. Marsh, of Lindsay.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

QUESTION OF LIBERTY

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir:—Our emotions are a poor guide in any business arrangement and our domestic or family affairs are the chief business arrangement with which we have to deal. We must look at Prohibition not as a question then of liquor merely but of Liberty, because it has bound up in it the complete overturn of our whole principle of government and private life. Instead of proportional representation which people seem to lean towards it is the elimination of minorities and of individuals by the majority who under Prohibition give them no "representation... at all either publicly or privately. That is why Labour in the U.S. declares officially against Prohibition year after year. Under the prohibitive principle—please note this—you have no "rights" any more of any kind. Those in power in the town or at Toronto as in Russian can simply say as did the absolute monarchs of old "the King wishes it" and that ends the matter. The suppression of liquor is a trival matter. It is the introduction of force on the ground merely that "I think it best" that matters. That will so affect us in all walks of life that it will put us under the heel of whoever gets into power and holds the keys of the treasury and command of the police. Liquor has done a vast amount of damage, but the suppression of our freedom of choice, in all our affairs, private and public is infinitely worse. For the people in this way vote themselves into personal bondage is surely incomprehensible. Many of those who seeks to impose this constitutional slavery upon us are themselves by no means qualified to dictate. As the Globe's (Alberta) correspondent showed, the chief bootleggers fled when Prohibition was beaten. Why not drive them out in Ontario? Women have been "prohibited" in the churches by the ministers, not of course on the ground of justice but of just what I am urging as the real basis of Prohibition—the mere "We say so" of their male "friends". Of course it is all merely a matter of time. It cannot last. But now is a good time. We must beware of becoming drunk with our emotions.

NEWS OF MARMORA

Concluded Series Of Sermons In Methodist Church —Personals.

MARMORA, Oct. 16.—On Sunday evening Rev. D. R. Clare concluded his series of sermons on the text "Almost Thou persuaded me to be a Christian." His previous subjects were:

1 What is a Christian?

2 Why some are not Christians.

3 And on last evening he spoke on "Why I am a Christian."

His theme was divided into five divisions.

I like to be a Christian—

1 Because of its simplicity. It is the simplest creed in the world—love of God and love of one's neighbor.

2 It is the greatest of all callings and it is the noblest of occupations.

3 It has the richest of rewards both in this world and the world to come.

4 There is the greatest chance of growth in the Christian life and lastly there is the best companionship, when a Christian.

Mr. J. H. Doige spent a pleasant week-end in Toronto.

At the Methodist Sunday School on Sunday last, the special temperance programme prepared by the Ontario Plebiscite Committee was effectively rendered by superintendent, teaching staff and scholars in their respective parts.

At the Sacred Heart Church on Sunday morning, Father Traynor made interesting referenee to his recent European trip.

COFFEE

Coffee contains a stimulant—as much as five grains of caffein to a cup. In a contest at Hornell, N.Y., Harold Whitford drinks 36 large cups of coffee without becoming intoxicated though he gets ill and has to be carried home.

This doesn't prove anything.

Plenty of rum-hounds can guzzle a whole quart of whisky without getting drunk. Others act foolish after one drink. This is the real problem in trying to determine by law just what constitutes an intoxicating beverage.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through the hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears Get a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 15—The sixty-first anniversary of the Lakefield Baptist Church was celebrated on Sunday, October 12. The church was decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, fruit and grain, signifying the season of harvest, which is now almost past. The effect was extremely pretty and tasteful.

Rev. T. L. White, who leaves soon for a new field of labor, was in charge of the services at the special request of the people, who are deeply regretting his departure. Miss Beatrice Campbell sang a solo very sweetly at the morning service, and the choir rendered an anthem, "The Lord is my Shepherd."

The pastor spoke on "Joy and Hope," referring briefly to the passing of another milestone in the history of the church and the blessings which God has showered upon it.

It is customary to wish "Many happy returns" on an anniversary, but that is hardly in keeping with the hymn so often sung, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus, come quickly." We meet at the Lord's table and partake of the symbols which speak of redemption, knowing that St. Paul's epistles tell us that it is only "till He come." The wish of the pastor is that the people of the church may be found filled with joy and hope in believing and with all goodness and all knowledge, and his prayer is that they may not be satisfied with less than the fulness. The lukewarm Christian, whose heart does not burn with zeal at the mention of God's holy name, is a detriment to the church. There are five great attributes of the Christian—Joy, peace, hope, goodness and knowledge. God is only Father to those who have been born again of His Holy Spirit. Goodness is the outcome of joy and peace and should be the natural result of our religious experience.

If we do not show the world Christian goodness they have every right to doubt our sincerity. Knowledge gives perception to detect the truth and to turn a cold shoulder on the false teachers. Joy is a wonderful gift of grace. The long-faced Christian is a poor advertisement and never wins a soul for Christ. God rebuked the children of Israel for their lack of joy and gladness, as we read in the book of Deuteronomy. When joy leaves the heart then we are in a position to yield to the enemy. We need a full, deep and abiding joy every moment of every day.

Peace with God; there is no peace without faith in Jesus Christ, either in time or in eternity. There is the peace of reconciliation, and there is that peace of God which passeth all understanding, and which lasts even when the foundations of the world are shaken.

Hope, to the Christian, means more than either expectation or desire, but is a combination of both. The hope of the church is that Christ will come again and receive us unto Himself; He will come to take us out of a world of pain and disappointment, and take us to be with Him, so that we may sing with the ransomed throng, "Worthy the Lamb that died."

Goodness is the outward manifestation of the in-dwelling Christ. Where there is faith there must be works, and in our homes, business and social activities Christ should shine forth in us if this is not so, people have a right to doubt our profession.

Knowledge is an essential in these days when false teachers are trying to take away the cross of Christ and to doubt the efficacy of His Body and Blood. When these false teachers come we should be grounded in God's Word so as to give a reason for our belief and to refute false doctrines. So many Christians (so-called) do not give enough of themselves to Him, and it will be a sad day for them when they stand naked before His throne. Let us believe in and appropriate His precious promises, and abound in joy, peace, hope, goodness and knowledge.

At the evening service, Mr. White took his text from the 25th chapter of Numbers, "A man called Phineas," stressing Phineas' zeal for the Lord at a time when sin and iniquity flourished, and how God remembered his steadfastness and rewarded it.

A quartette from the Methodis choir, composed of Mrs. McMillan, Miss Doidge, and Messrs. A. B. Burrows and Ralph Payne, rendered two duets very acceptably.

The united congregations of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches attended the evening service.

On Monday evening the annual congregational dinner was held in the schoolroom, practicallt every family in the congregation being represented. A very pleasant time was spent.

IN LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

Pioneer Health Work in the Far West—Personal Mention.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 15.—The following extract is taken from the Edmonton Journal of Sept. 24, and refers to Dr. Robert Graham Huckell, grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, of Lakefield. Dr. Huckell graduated from McGill University, Montreal, in May of this year.

"Dr. R. G. Huckell of the medical staff at Ponoka, and Miss Elizabeth Clarke, superintendent of public health nurses, are now conducting a clinic at Rife, northwest of St. Paul de Metis, under the auspices of the government health department. They completed last week a similar clinic in the Pendryl district, near Buck Lake and about 80 miles west of Westakiwin.

"In the Pendryl clinic 50 cases were dealt with during the two days it was in progress, and the ailments represented in the list ranged from tonsils and adenoids to a broken leg. The work done was, in many cases, to review diagnosis previously made by the district nurse, Miss Kennedy, and in addition to giving advice to settlers, otherwise quite out of reach of medical service.

"It proved to be a piece of real pioneer advertising to get into the Buck Lake country, the roads being in places almost impassable, and sloughs quite too numerous for either comfort or speed. Both because of the difficulties thus encountered in transit, and the valuable service rendered at the clinics, the people of the district have since expressed to the health department their appreciation of its action of sending Dr. Huckell and Miss Clark to their relief."

Twelve members of the A.Y.P.A. motored to Millbrook on Thursday evening to attend the meeting of the Peterboro' District Council A.Y.P.A. Rev. Walter Cox, of Lakefield, was elected honorary president of the society.

Next Sunday morning Rev. T. L. White preaches his farewell sermon in the Baptist Church, Lakefield, and in the evening at Selwyn Baptist Church, the Lakefield Church being closed in the evening to enable the congregation to attend the anniversary service in the Presbyterian Church.

On Sunday next the Presbyterian Church will celebrate its 61st anniversary. Rev. J. W. Gordon, of St Andrew's, Peterboro', will be the special preacher. On the following evening there will be a dinner in the schoolroom followed by a concert in the church.

Mrs. Geo. Morson was the hostess of a delightful bridge party on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lawrence Grahame. Mrs. MacKenzie and Mrs. E. R. Tate were the prizewinners. Mrs. Morson has spent the summer in the village wi h her daughter, Mrs. Osborne, and leaves with her husband for Cuba about the middle of the month.

Mrs. Marling and Mrs. H. J. Stuart were hostesses of a small bridge party on Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Morson. The party was held at Mrs. Marling's home on Regent Street.

Mrs. Langley entertained at the tea hour on Thursday. A delightful time was spent.

"But, DOROTHY, salad forks go on the INSIDE!"

DOROTHY changed the forks with a start. She resented Mary's tone of mingled surprise and reproval. But she resented more the fact that she didn't know where the salad forks went. No wonder, either. There were no salad forks at home, nor bouillon spoons, nor many of the other beautiful things they used at Mary's house. Dorothy felt as though she had missed much—because her mother hadn't enough silverware.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE JUDGMENT

To that cabin below the whole company repaired in all speed in the surgeon's wake, Sir Oliver coming last between his guards. They assembled about the couch where Lionel lay, leaden-hued of face, his breathing labored, his eyes dull and glazing.

Sir John ran to him, went down upon one knee to put loving arms about that chilling clay, and very gently raised him in them, and held him so, resting against his breast.

"Lionel!" he cried in stricken accents.

And then, as if thoughts of vengeance were to soothe and comfort his sinking friend's last moments, he added:

"We have the villain fast."

Very slowly, and with obvious effort, Lionel turned his head to the right, and his dull eyes went beyond Sir John and made quest in the ranks of those that stood about him.

"Oliver?" he said in a hoarse whisper "Where is Oliver?"

"There is not the need to distress you——" Sir John was beginning, when Lionel interrupted him.

"Wait!" he commanded in a louder tone. "Is Oliver safe?"

"I am here," said Sir Oliver's deep voice, and those who stood between him and his brother drew aside that they might cease from screening him.

Lionel looked at him for a long moment in silence, sitting up a little. Then he sank back again slowly against Sir John's breast.

"God has been merciful to me, a sinner," he said, "since He accords me the means to make amends, tardily though it be."

Then he struggled up again, and held out his arms to Sir Oliver, and his voice came in a great pleading cry:

"Noll! My brother! Forgive!"

Oliver advanced, none hindering, until, with his hands still pinioned behind him, he stood towering there above his brother, so tall that his turban brushed the low ceiling of the cabin. His countenance was stern and grim.

"What is it that you ask me to forgive?" he asked.

Lionel struggled to answer, and sank back again into Sir John's arms, fighting for breath; there was a trace of blood-stained foam about his lips.

"Speak! Oh, speak, in God's name!" Rosamund exhorted him from the other side, and her voice was wrung with agony.

He looked at her, and smiled faintly.

"Never fear," he whispered, "I shall speak. 'God has spared me to that end. Take your arms from me, Killigrew. I am the—the vilest of men. It—it was I who killed Peter Godolphin."

"My God!" groaned Sir John, whilst Lord Henry drew a sharp breath of dismay and realization.

"Ah, but that is not my sin," Lionel continued. "There was no sin in that. We fought, and in self-defence I slew him—fighting fair. My sin came afterwards. When suspicion fell on Oliver, I nourished it—Oliver knew that the deed was mine, and kept silent that he might screen me. I feared the truth might become known for all that—and—and I was jealous of him, and—and I had him kidnapped to be sold——"

His fading voice trailed away into silence. A cough shook him, and the faint crimson foam on his lips was increased. But he rallied again, and lay there panting, his fingers plucking at the coverlet.

"Tell them," said Rosamund, who, in her desperate fight for Sir Oliver's life, kept her mind cool and steady and directed towards essentials, "tell them the name of the man you hired to kidnap him."

"Jasper Leigh, the skipper of the Swallow," he answered, whereupon she flashed upon Lord Henry a look that contained a gleam of triumph for all that her face was ashen and her lips trembled.

Then she turned again to the dying man, relentlessly almost in her determination to extract all vital truth from him ere he fell silent.

"Tell them," she bade him, "under what circumstances Sir Oliver sent you last night to the Siver Heron."

"Nay, there is no need to harass him," Lord Henry interposed. "He has said enough already. May God forgive us our blindness, Killigrew!"

Sir John bowed his head in silence over Lionel.

"Is it you, Sir John?" shispered the dying man. "What? Still there? Ha!" he seemed to laugh faintly, then checked. "I am going——" he muttered, and again his voice grew stronger, obeying the last flicker of his shrinking will.

"Noll! I am dying! I—I have made reparation—all that I could. Give me—give me thy hand!"

Gropingly he put forth his right.

"I should have given it you ere this but that my wrists are bound," cried Oliver in a sudden frenzy.

And then exerting that colossal strength of his he suddenly snapped the cords that pinioned him as if they had been thread. He caught his brother's extended hand, and dropped upon his knees beside him.

"Lionel, boy!" he cried.

It was as if all that had befallen in the last five years had been wiped out of existence. His fierce, relentless hatred of his half-brother, his burning sense of wrong, his parching thirst of vengeance, became on the instant all dead, buried and forgotten. More, it was as if they had never been. Lionel, in that moment, was again the weak, comely, beloved brother whom he had cherished and screened and guarded, and for whom when the hour arrived he had sacrificed his good name and the woman he loved, and placed his life itself in jeopardy.

"Lionel, boy!" was all that for a moment he could say.

Then:

"Poor lad! Poor lad!" he added. "Temptation was too strong for thee."

And reaching forth, he took the other white hand that lay beyond the couch, and so held both tight-clasped within his own.

From one of the ports a ray of sunshine was creeping upwards towards the dying man's face. But the radiance that now overspread it was from an inward source. Feebly he returned the clasp of his brother's hands.

"Oliver, Oliver!" he whispered. "There is none like thee! I ever knew thee as noble as I was base. Have I said enough to make you safe? Say that he will be safe now," he appealed to the others, "that no—"

"He will be safe," said Lord Henry stoutly. "My word on't."

"It is well. The past is past. The future is in your hands. Oliver. God's blessing on't."

He seemed to collapse to rally yet again. He smiled pensively, his mind already wandering.

"That was a long swim last night—the longest I ever swam. From Penarrow to Trefusis—a fine long swim. But you were with me, Noll. Had my strength given out—I could have depended on you. I am still chill from it, for it was cold—cold—ugh!"

He shuddered, and lay still.

Gently, Sir John lowered him to his couch. Beyond it, Rosamund fell upon her knees and covered her face, whilst by Sir John's side Oliver continued to kneel, clasping in his own his brother's chilling hands.

There ensued a long spell of silence. Then, with a heavy sigh, Sir Oliver folded Lionel's hands across his breast, and slowly, heavily rose to his feet.

The others seemed to take this for a signal. It was as if they had but waited mute and still out of deference to Oliver. Lord Henry moved softly round to Rosamund and touched her lightly upon the shoulder. She rose and went out in the wake of the others, Lord Henry following her, and none remaining but the surgeon.

Outside, in the sunshine, they checked. Sir John stood with bent head and hunched shoulders, his eyes upon the white deck. Timidly almost—a thing never seen before in this bold man—he looked at Sir Oliver.

"He was my friend," he said sorrowfully, and as if to excuse and explain himself, "and—and I was misled through love of him."

"He was my brother," replied Sir Oliver solemnly. "God rest him!"

Sir John, resolved, drew himself up into an attitude preparatory to receiving with dignity a rebuff should it be administered him.

"Can you find it in your generosity, sir, to forgive me?" he asked, and his air was almost one of challenge.

Silently Sir Oliver held out his hand. Sir John fell upon it almost in eagerness.

"We are like to be neighbors again,' he said, "and I give you my word I shall strive to be a more neighborly one than in the past."

"Then, sirs," said Sir Oliver, looking from Sir John to Lord Henry, "I am to understand that I am no longer a prisoner."

"You need not hesitate to return with us to England, Sir Oliver," replied his lordship. "The queen shall hear your story, and we have Jasper Leigh to confirm it if need be, and I will go warranty for your complete reinstatement. Count me your friend, Sir Oliver, I beg."

And, he, too, held out his hand. Then turning to the others—

"Come, sirs," he said, "we have duties elsewhere, I think."

They tramped away, leaving Oliver and Rosamund alone. The twain looked long each at the other. There was so much to say, so much to ask, so much to explain, that neither knew with what words to begin. Then Rosamund suddenly came up to him, holding out her hands.

"Oh, my dear!" she said, and that, after all, summed up a deal.

One or two over-inquisitive seamen, lounging on the forecastle and peeping through the shrouds, were disgusted to see the lady of Godolphin Court in the arms of a beturbaned bare-legged follower of Mohammed.

Five Thousand Heard Ramsay MacDonald In Manchester Yesterday.

HAS GREAT FAITH.

Tumultuous Reception Given Premier MacDonald Last Evening.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press). — Addressing five thousand electors yesterday in one of Manchester's largest auditoriums and thousands outside the hall by means of loud speakers, Premier Ramsay MacDonald intimated that he did not fear the proposed combination of Liberals and Conservatives in various constituencies in order to poll the strongest possible anti-Labor vote.

"It may be, but I do not think it will that in some constituencies the combination of Liberals and Conservatives may have for the moment the same effect as the combination had in the House of Commons," said the Premier, who received a tumultuous reception when he rose to speak. "I will make a present to them of the victories they are going to have under that condition. The victory which they achieved in the House of Commons is not going to settle the fate of the party unless it is a ramshackle party without root or foundation. We can go down. We have been down before. The Labor party has been ousted for a moment by unholy combinations. We may lose a seat here and there, but I mistake human nature very much if the manifestataion of enthusiasm I have seen in the last two days mean a mere passing emotion of superficial state of public opinion."

Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative Premier, in a speech in Queen's Hall last night, said that until the later party could purge itself from the extremist element, it could never play its part as it desired to do as a patriotic constitutional party. Confidence in the outcome of the election, which Premier MacDonald expressed with his tongue he did not feel in his heart. A policy which the Labor Government had put forward was based on emotions, Mr. Baldwin said, and when emotions had to be translated into action the Government had found it an impossible situation.

There was no subject Mr. Baldwin was more eager to attack than on the rise on prices of foodstuffs, he said, and if returned to power, the Conservative party would cause an expert investigation at once into the cause of the advance in the prices of all foodstuffs in common use among the people, and if it were possible to deal with the matter, the Conservative party would do so.

NAMES ON VOTERS' LISTS TOO OFTEN

Some Names Are Down As Often As Four Times.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The discovery of the fact that some names are placed on the voters' lists as often as four times caused the election officials of the Ontario Government yesterday to issue warnings to the electors about exercising their franchises too freely in the approaching liquor plebiscite. The letters on the subject were addressed by Chief Election Officer Alan Dymond to all returning officers, emphasizing the penalties of fine and imprisonment which are provided for persons seeking to vote more than once or wrongfully in an election.

The situation has arisen, according to the Government officials, "quite inadvertently, owing to the haste with which the lists were revised. Duplication resulted, several workers accordingly turning in the same names."

WEDDING BELLS.

JONES—HATHERLY.

MILLBROOK, Oc. 16.—A pretty autumn wedding took place at high noon on Wednesday, October 15, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hatherly, when their second daughter, Bertha Grace, became the bride of Mr. W. Jones of Toronto.

The bride was given away by her father, and was becomingly gowned in silver grey satin-faced crepe, with trimmings of cut steel and silver lace. A touch of delicate pink in the narrow ribbon girdle harmonized with the same shade in the Killarney roses which composed her bridal bouquet. Grey shoes and stockings completed the bride's attire. Her sister Miss Mary Hatherly, acted as bridesmaid, her dress being of sand-colored crepe with brown trimmings, brown suede shoes and stockings and bouquet of Ophelia roses. Mr. S. Jones of Newtonville, supported the groom.

The bridal party stood under an arch of white and silver twined with autumn foliage, and trimmed with white bells, and with large vases of flowers standing at the base on either side. Rev. F. H. Howard performed the ceremony, and Miss Elsie Peters, of Bowmanville, the bride's cousin, played the wedding march.

The table at which the bridal party was seated in the dining room for the wedding breakfast, was daintily trimmed with pink and white, and centred with the handsome three-story cake, in which the bride placed the knife before it was cut, and served to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left by motor for Peterboro, and thence by train to Toronto and points west, the bride travelling in a dress of sand crepe with trimmings of reindeer brown, and shoes and stockings to match. Her coat was reindeer brown polo cloth, trimmed with brown fur, and her hat also of the same shade of brown.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold bar pin with onyx and diamond setting; to the bridesmaid silver candle sticks; to Miss Peters a bar pin with amethyst and pearl setting and to the groomsman gold cuff links.

Many beautiful gifts were received including cut glass, pierced silver, dainty china, fine table linen, cheques etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home in Toronto.

The guests comprised only the immediate relatives, and among those from outside points were: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Climo, of Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Peters, of Canton; Mr. and Mrs. W. Haw, of Orono; Mr. and Mrs. W. Hatherly, of Peterboro; Miss Ethel Hatherly, of Toronto; Miss Elsie Peters, of Bowmanville; Mr. and Mrs. F. Patton, of Monaghan; Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hatherly of Cavan.

MUST FIX RAIN PIPES.

Merchants May Be Jointly Liable With Council For Accidents.

Several claims for damages through accidents were considered by the Legal Committee of the City Council last night, Alderman J. Crowe in the chair.

It was suggested that all merchants on George Street be notified that in the event of accidents due to ice gathering on the sidewalks from faulty roofs, the city will join the merchant as co-defendant in any action.

On May 5 this year a notice was sent to the City Engineer, requesting him to report any leaky rain pipes, but no report had been made. A motion last night asked for a report without delay.

There were present Mayor J. J. Turner, Aldermen W. Stocker, J. Maher, N. Phelan and J. Crowe.

THE EXPERTS PLAN WILL BE DELAYED

Marx Government Will Have to Go to the Country in General Election.

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, October 16. — Just when it seemed that the German cabinet crisis had been passed, to-day's developments completely reversed the situation and made dissolution of the parliament a practical certainty.

Chancellor Marx was thought to have weathered the storm and to have won the support of the strong Centrist party and to be making head way toward including a few Nationalists in the Cabinet, but it now appears probable that his government, which approved and accepted the reparation experts' plan, will have to go to the country in a general election.

Whatever the outcome of such an election is, it will inevitably delay the operation of the experts' plans.

LIP STICK INDIGESTION.

Rouge Users in Germany Develop New Sickness.

LEIPZIG, Germany, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Lip stick indigestion has developed here among the women who use rouge too freely according to physicians. Many of the cosmetics, particularly cheaper kinds, contain harmful ingredients, assert doctors, which cause complications when they come in contact with the food.

TRUE BILLS FOR TORONTO BROKERS

Aemilius Jarvis and Other Members of Firm Will Appear at Assizes To-day.

TORONTO, Oct. 16. (Canadian Press).— Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer of Ontario; Aemilius Jarvis Sr., Aemilius Jarvis Jr., and Harry G Pepall, President were present and general manager respectively of the formerly well known Toronto Brokerage firm of Aemilius Jarvis and Co., Ltd., and Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former deputy Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, all had true bills brought in against them by the Grand Jury which yesterday afternoon presented their finding to Chief Justice R. M. Meredith.

They will all appear before the Chief Justice in a criminal assize court this morning for arraignment on charges which arise out of alleged irregularities in connection with the handling of Provincial Bonds. This formality will be followed by the fixing of date of the trial which will to a large extent depend upon when Wm. Tilley K.C. appointed special crown counsel to act for the prosecution in these cases, will have time available for the purpose.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

NEWS FROM KEENE.

Will Reproduce Pioneer Social and Church Work—Motor Accident.

KEENE, Oct. 16.—Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, of Keene, is busy these days preparing an exhibit, reproducing pioneer, social and church life of one hundred years ago in Ontario, for the Methodist Missionary Centenary, Toronto, Nov. 3-7.

He visited Belleville on Tuesday again, and with ex-Mayor C. Hanna and Mr. Mikel, K.C., will arrange for the loan of valuable curios and relics from the U.E.L. families.

Already he has secured the Bible brought to Canada by Philip Embury; the deed and collection boxes of the Hay Bay Church, 1792; and valuable personal effects of Rev. Robert Burking, a pioneer Indian missionary of the Hudson Bay Territory.

A very special feature of the big centenary will be music by the Missauga Band, Curve Lake. In negotiating with the Indians, he pointed out the fact that it was among the Missauga Indians that our missionary work started, and historically it would be fitting they should take part.

Chief Dan Whetung will accompany the band and they will be billetted at the Y.M.C.A., College Street. The band offered to give their services for four days free, and only their expenses will have to be met. As the promotion literature will go into every village of Ontario and Quebec, the honor that falls to the band is considerably great.

Leaguers Active

The Young People's Leagues of the Bay of Quinte conference are holding their annual district conventions in series from October 2 to October 15.

Already very successful gatherings have been held at Napanee, Belleville, Trenton, Northport, Woodville, Port Perry, Lindsay, Stirling and follow on Wednesday of this week, Cooper and Centreton. Peterboro and Bowmanville districts have deferred theirs until November.

The conference league executive and a returned missionary from China, Rev. J. Earle, have been the visiting speakers, with the object of promoting the devotional and missionary interests of the societies.

Great interest centres in the conventions this year because of the historic association with the Bay of Quinte Methodist conference, in whose bounds the Canadian Methodist Church and the Methodist Missionary Society were organized 100 years ago. The Conference Epworth League was organized at Belleville, the forward movement for missions began in Cobourg district, one of whose members, Rev. Dr. F. C. Stephenson, became its well-known secretary, and another Rev. Dr. W. E. Smith, of China, its first missionary. Since that time, the idea has so spread that each district has a missionary of its own, and two of them, Rev. E. W. Morgan, China, supported by Picton district, and Rev. W. R. McWilliams, B.A., B.D., of Japan, of Campbellford and Brighton districts, have been home on furlough this year. In this conference, at Peterboro and Belleville, the last union was consummated; and now the Young People are nominating delegates to attend a great National Young People's Council in view of union next year.

During the coming winter, a debating series will be organized, culminating in an inter-district series, and a final for the biennial convention next year.

One item of compelling interest at all the conventions is the promotion of the great five conference league gally as the opening event of the great centenary of the missionary society, to be celebrated in Toronto, No. 3-7. It is expected that 3,000 delegates from all over Ontario and Quebec will assemble at that time. This meeting will be arranged for and conducted by the Young People themselves.

At Cobourg district, a debate on the O.T.A. will feature the evening session, and in the Belleville district an historic review by Rev. Dr. F. E. Mabott, of Belleville, formerly of Peterboro.

While motoring on a detour between Belleville and Trenton last Thursday, Rev. Andrew McLauchlan and Andrew Rennie, of Keene, had a narrow escape. They were hurrying from 'Centenary Church at Bayside to Grace Church, Trenton, to show some lantern slides, when the right front wheel came off. Fortunately, the car stayed upright, and help from a nearby quarry soon twisted the steering-arm back and supplied a bolt, and the car was ready for the road. It seems remarkable that not a scratch or dent is visible on the car after the adventure.

Born, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mather, on Sunday, October 12.

Rev. McLauchlin exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Howard, S.T.L. Millbrook, on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Howard preached anniversary services for Bethel Church. Music for the occasion was furnished by the choir of South Dummer Church.

800,000 Idle War Veterans.

Field Marshal Earl Haig Appeals For Help In Finding Employment.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (United Press).—There are still 800,000 ex-service men upon the unemployment list in England, according to Field Marshall Earl Haig.

Addressing National Executive Council of the British Legion, Earl Haig appealed for help in finding employment for these jobless veterans of the world war.

Of the 800,000 unemployed ex-service men, 300,000 are not much over thirty years of age," he said. "They gave their best years to serve their country— and all they want now is work, not doles, and the least that their felow countrymen can do for them in their present dire need is to insure that at all costs jobs shall be found for them."

NEWS OF HASTINGS.

Special Services in the Churches on Sunday—Personal Mention.

HASTINGS, Oct. 16.—Anniversary services were held in connection with the Methodist Church at Westwood on Sunday. Rev. D. M. Stinson, of Wilfred, a former pastor of the church, had charge of the morning and evening services. On Monday evening the annual fowl supper was served in the Town Hall. After the inner man had been satisfied, a programme was given. Rev. Stinson acted as chairman, and opened with a few well chosen remarks. The South Dummer orchestra was present, consisting of piano, mandolin, Spanish guitar, and violin. The artists were Miss Ruby, Miss Eva Allen, Mrs. R. Knox and Mr. Allen. The first musical number was given by the orchestra, after which Miss Leta Slade recited "The Farmer's Wife."

Mr. W. Bird played a Hawaiian guitar solo. Rev. M. L. Hinton, of Hastings, was called on for an address. Another orchestra selection followed, and also a solo by Mrs. C. Breckenridge. Rev. W. Rogers, of Norwood, gave an address, and Mr. Bird gave another Hawaiian guitar solo. The closing number was a musical selection by the orchestra.

A Junior Game

A junior game of baseball was played on Friday afternoon on the recreation grounds of the Hastings Separate School, when the pupils of the above school were defeated by the pupils of the Hastings Public School by the score of 8-5.

On Monday afternoon another game of baseball was played between the pupils of the above schools, which resulted in a tie, the score being 3-3. This game was also played on the Separate School grounds.

Teachers Meet

The schools in Peterborough County in this district were closed on Thursday and Friday so as to enable the teachers to attend the annual teachers' convention, which was this year held in Peterborough. The teachers who attended the convention were:—Miss Mae Hinton, Westwood School; Miss Ona Dorsee, Norwood Public School; Miss Kathleen Lynch, Boundary School; Miss Bessie Brechenridge, Elgin School; Mr. Earl Fairman, Fife's School.

A number of the members of the Young People's League attended the Young People's convention which convened in Stirling last week.

A large crowd from the town and vicinity attended the Warkworth Fair on Friday, and a few of the residents attended the Fall Fair in Marmora.

The Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their monthly meeting in the schoolroom of the church on Monday afternoon.

Several of the local temperance workers were in Norwood on Friday evening and heard Mrs. Gordon Wright, of London, Dominion president of the W.C.T.U., where she gave an excellent discourse on Temperance.

Mrs. William Richards, of Brockville, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. L. Hinton, at the Parsonage.

Mr. Neil Macdonald was taken to the Nicholls Hospital in Peterborough on Tuesday morning. It is quite probable that it will be necessary for Mr. Macdonald to undergo an operation before his health will be improved.

Mr. Richard Walsh, the local drover, shipped seven cars of hogs and two cars of sheep from this district on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Orval Waters, of Burnley, was in Hastings on Saturday.

Miss Muriel Cruikshank has returned from Millbrook and Peterborwhere she spent her vacation.

Miss Helen M. Baker, of Moira, spent a day recently with relatives in Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith were in Norwood on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Allen, of Toronto, are spending a few days at their cottage here. Mr. and Mrs. Allen expect to close the cottage for this year, this being the last trip from Toronto this season.

Mr. Richard Lees, school inspector for Peterborough County, is in this vicinity paying the various schools an official visit.

The village schools have a holiday on Wednesday afternoon, as is a yearly custom, it being Norwood fair day.

New gravel has been distributed on Albert Street East, which has been a great improvement, as the road was badly in need of repair.

A large number of the members of The Holy Name Society journeyed to Peterboro on Sunday where they attended the service held in Saint Peter's Cathedral in the interests of the Society.

NEWS TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 16.—Anniversary services were conducted on Sunday afternoon and evening by Rev. Mr. Damiel, of Seymour circuit. A fowl supper was held on Monday night, when a good programme was given.

Miss Eva Inkster, who is teaching near Stirling, was home for the week-end.

Ripe wild raspberries were picked one day recently on bushes along the fence on Mr. Oliver Garneau's farm.

A number from here attended the fairs at Warkworth and Marmora last week.

Mr. Gibb, of Old Havelock, is rushing to completion the cottage for Charli McNichol. The material used was brought from Havelock, formerly the McNichol Hotel at that place.

Mr. Jud Davidson, of Havelock, returned last week and has opened up the blacksmith shop again.

Mr. James Wright spent a few days in Toronto last week on business.

Mr. V. Chaplain has opened up a meat market in the small tin store two dorrs north of the church.

Mr. Sam Ellis intends disposing of his house and property and moving to Havelock, where he will look after the interests of the fishing tackle factory to be located there.

The threshing machine is making its annual rounds in this vicinity.

Ice formed on water in receptacles that were left standing out all night.

Which Window would make You Stop?

How one merchant increased sales and quality patronage by increasing the light in his windows.

"OUR windows were lighted like those of the average store. We found by actual count that they were stopping 12 out of every 100 persons who passed.

We doubled the amount of light by using a larger size of Edison Mazda Lamps in our reflectors. We found that we stopped 17 out of each 100. And an average of 4,500 people passed nightly.

The result has been not only a marked and sustained increase in sales, but we have increased our quality patronage and are doing a bigger business in higher-priced women's wearing apparel.

But what surprised us most was the cheapness of better lighting as compared with the sales return. While our total current cost for window lighting was increased from eight to seventeen cents an hour, the sales value of our show windows increased 40 per cent."

Make This Test.

YOU, too, can increase the drawing power of your windows by using more light. Beginning tonight, see how many of each hundred passers-by are attracted to your display. Then install larger lamps and see how many more stop.

Ask your lighting company or an Edison Mazda Lamp Agent to help you conduct the test and to show you the standard window and store lighting equipment for your size and kind of store.

"Liver Trouble so Severe I Had to Quit Work"

Mr. Thomas Honey, Brantford, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from enlargement of the liver for ten months, and finally I had to quit work. I would wake up in the mornings with a bitter taste in my mouth, had frequent headaches, yellow complexion, and pain in my right side, and between the shoulder blades. It was almost unbearable, and terribly weakening. I could not sleep at night and my heart also bothered me. But the whole trouble has now left me, thanks to that wonderful medicine, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CONTROL OR PROHIBIT?

Editir of The Examiner.

Sir,—For many years the "drys" and the "wets" have been debating the liquor question, until now even the dullest person can see clearly that there are really only two things possible for us to do. We must either control the liquor traffic or prohibit it. It is amusing to hear men vehemently declaring their opposition to the principle of Prohibition while at the same time saying that they favour Government control, which, of course, includes the principle of Prohibition. If it is right in principle to partially prohibit it is, of course, absurd to say that it is wrong to totally prohibit. When once the principle is admitted the rest is merely a question of degree.

Well, what about controlling it? May I be permitted to ask if this is not precisely what we have been trying to do for ages? And with what success? Let the cries of women and children be the answer.

Every decent man and woman must be ashamed of the record. Our most vigorous efforts have failed to get us within sight of control. And yet we have a most amusing bunch of optimists who still profess to believe that the liquor traffic can be controlled! To contend that it can be controlled is to go against the facts, and to say with Henry Ford that "history is bunk."

In several other Provinces just as noisy assurances as those that are now hearing were given to the people that the traffic would be controlled. And the results are such that even if we are not prepared to go quite so far as David, we certainly feel quite justified in saying that at least some men are liars.

Would it be wise for us to close our eyes to present conditions in these other Provinces, and to calmly walk into a similar trap ourselves while being serenaded with noisy declamations, misrepresentations, illogical and superficial reasoning, and impolite personalities?

Would it not be evidence of greater shrewdness on our part to learn wisdom by the bitter experiences of others, and to decide to retain what we have together with Premier Ferguson's promise that, if supported, the O. T. A. will be strengthened and enforced?—Yours,

J. C. Smith.

SOCCER

The G.W.V.A. Football team to play against the Thistles in the semi final of the "Gordon Cup" to be played at the Oval on Saturday after noon next, will be selected from the following players:

HOARDED FOOD IS DESTROYED BY CART LOAD

The Peterborough Incinerator Swallows Up 30 Bags of Potatoes at a Gulp.

UNEMPLOYED STARVE.

Foodstuffs Held Rather Than Reduce the Price—300 Men Out of Work.

WASTED FOOD.

30 Bags of potatoes.
7 Barrels of apples.
50 Pounds of butter.
30 Baskets of tomatoes.
6 Bags of onions.
Many barrels of squash and pumpkin.

MEN OUT OF WORK.

111 Listed at Government Office.
70 Listed at G. W. V. A.
120 Estimated Unlisted.

This is the record of Peterborough for one day. The food was swallowed up in the city incinerator, while the men walked the streets, dependent upon charity for the meagre fare that keeps them and their families alive.

The thirty bags of potatoes would have supplied every out-of-work man in the city with 9 pounds; the seven barrels of apples would have given every child of every out-of-work man a rare treat; the 50 pounds of butter would have made the dry bread that is the only fare available to many more palatable for once; the thirty baskets of tomatoes and the bushels of tomatoes that were destroyed loose would have added to the scanty meal of many unfortunates; and the other food would have been acceptable in many Peterborough homes.

But the merchants who had held the fruit and food until it was rotten, delivered it to the rapacious maw of the incinerator, and scores of people are hungry in Peterborough to-day.

Some Cases.

While the tumbrels make their rounds collecting the food that would be salvation to many, one man, for whom the G.W.V.A. is working, tramps the rounds of the factories in search of work while his wife and children subsist on the lean provisions brought in by the neighbours and societies. The man has been out of employment five weeks; has spent all his savings; is without fuel and food and credit to purchase them; and his children are without the milk that is necessary to their health.

In another house in the centre of the city a worn-down man sits by the window and sees the waggons pass. He lost his job through an accident three months ago, and has been unable to obtain another. His wife works all day at her washboard, while his four children have pinched cheeks and thin arms, and weak legs show under their ragged clothes. "Lots of work in the bush," the man has been to'd. But even if this man were fit for bush life which is doubtful, of what use is $30.00 a month to his family? Rent for his bare home, without sanitary conveniences or floor covering, is $17.00 a month. That leaves $13.00 for food, clothing, fuel and doctor's bills that are inevitable in a family with four children. And coal costs $16.00 a ton; hardwood $12.00 a cord; and everyone knows that the whole $13.00 would not supply the most meagre food for the five persons for a month.

Then suppose he could exist on the wages paid, how about insurance on his life? If he died without leaving his widow protected in this way he would be censured, and his family would become a charge on the community. What chance has he?

And the waggons loaded with wasted food roll past.

The Pity of It All.

There is no comeback for the man who is out of work and down on his luck. He must pay the prices set for produce, and his wife and children suffer for the lack of life's barest necessities, potatoes, and its little delicacies like butter.

It was suggested to-day by Sidney Whatley, secretary of the G.W.V.A. that over-stocks of vegetables and fruit might very well be given to the needy families in the city before being allowed to rot; or failing that, might be sold at a reduced price to families in distress. These people cannot buy at the full price, so that no trade is being lost by reducing the price.

The practice of allowing foodstuffs to rot and be carried to the incinerator rather than reduce the price was condemned by half a dozen prominent men in conversation with The Examiner to-day. Even the old Saturday night sales, when stocks were reduced, have disappeared, they pointed out.

And to-day the garbage waggons are hauling many dollars worth of hoarded food to destruction.

WAR IN SHANGHAI COST $50,000,000

Chinese Merchants Are Raising a Fund to Pay Their Transportation Home.

(By D. C. Bess, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, October 16. — Marshal Chi Hsieh Yuan, victorious over Lu Yung Hsiang, in the war around Shanghai, arrived here to-day aboard a special train.

The action of the British in seizing seven Chekiang generals yesterday, has definitely eliminated the menace of any further warfare.

The foreigners are not entirely easy in their minds, however, with Shanghai thronged with defeated and disgruntled troops and naval guards were maintained in full strength at the concession barriers.

Soldiers are roving through the Chinese quarters of the city and the Chinese business men have raised a fund to pay their transportation to their homes.

It is estimated that the war in the Shanghai area cost $50,000,000. Three months will be required to repair the Hang Chow Railway.

MARX MAY RESIGN.

Dissolution of Parliament May Take Place Without the Chancellor's Resignation.

BERLIN, Oct. 16. — Chancellor Marx has issued a statement confessing the hopelessness of trying for further extensin of his conduct toward the right.

The Foreign Office announced that Marx might resign, whereupon President Ebert would dissolve Parliament, or that dissolution might take place without the Chancellor's resignation.

Say Peddler Misrepresents.

G.W.V.A. Officer Declares Man Selling Memo Books Doesn't Represent Soldiers.

A man who is peddling memo books from door to door in the city, representing himself as a member of a soldier organization to which the funds go to assist out of work veterans, is not making correct representations, according to Secretary S. Whatley of the G.W.V.A. So far as Mr. Whatley knows there is no accredited soldier organization seeking funds in this way, and the credentials should be shown before citizens donate the twenty-five cents asked for.

Members of the G.W.V.A. are indignant that such misrepresentations should be made, especially in view of the fact that the members themselves are endeavoring to provide for all needy members of the organization without appealing to outside sources.

ACCUSED APPEARED FOR ARRAIGNMENT

Trial Of Peter Smith and His Accomplices Will Be Held Next Week.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press..) — The trials of Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer, Aemilius Jarvis, Sr., Aemilius Jarvis, Jr., Harry P. Pepall, general manager of Jarvis brokerage firm, and Charles M. Matthews, former Deputy Provincial Treasurer, on charges in connection with bond deals disclosed at the session of the Public Accounts committee of the Ontario Legislature, will begin next week. All the accused appeared before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith to-day for arraignment.

W. N. Tilley, K.C., special Crown prosecutor, asked that the trial proceed as early as possible but the counsel for accused declared they were not ready and it was decided to adjourn until next week. His Lordship declined to grant an order for further particulars, an application for further details having been made by the lawyers for the defence.

LOVE OF TRAMPING MADE HUNTER RICH

Louisiana's Newest Oil Field Found by a Quail Hunter.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 16.—(Associated Press).—Tradition having it that a burro once kicked up a gold mine in the Rocky Mountains and that the copper deposits in the southwest were found in a similar manner, folks in this section were not so greatly surprised when it developed that Louisiana's newest oil field was discovered by a quail hunter.

W. W. Lemoine, a local business man who, during the open season spends as much time in the fields as he does in his office, for years has been an inveterate prospector for oil, and about half his time on hunting trips was "wasted" exploring woods and marshes for traces of the "black gold."

Lemoine went hunting along Bagdad Bayou near here one fine day three years ago and came upon one Tillman, a negro recluse. The usual topic of conversation with Lemoine was oil, and he soon reached the subject. Tillman knew of no oil, but he did know where there was gas. The upshot was that Lemoine agreed to give Tillman an annuity of $1,800 a year if he would show him where it was and if anything came of it.

Tillman led Lemoine straight across the country to Indian Bayou, only a few miles from here, and there, in the edge of the marsh was the negro's "gas." Lemoine touched a match to it and it burned. Back to Lake Charles he hurried and his first step was to take in his partner, H. M. Henshaw. Then the two set out to get leases. They tied up 4,000 acres of land without expending a penny, agreeing only to pay the owners from $2 to $3 an acre provided they interested some concern that would attempt exploration and development. Fellow citizens of the pair here knew what they were about, but they did not set Lake Charles afire with their enthusiasm, else the leases would have been more difficult to obtain.

There followed a struggle to find some oil concern to tackle the proposition. After geologists and other experts had gone over the ground a company became interested and agreed to test the field throughout. The money to bind the leases was in hand, and Lemoine and Henshaw were to get a forty-eighth royalty as their share of what was produced.

Drilling began 18 months ago and still Lake Charles sailed along on an even keel. Lock Moore well No. 1 was a flivver; so was No. 2. Then the company jumped 80 acres south and started sinking the Miller well. There's a rumor that the 80-acre jump was made because the question of title loomed in the intervening plot of ground. Anyway, the drilling was resumed. They had moved out of the pine woods, out of what appeared to be a natural oil dome, and entered the low marsh land. The first 3,000 feet were easy. As the engineer said: "The pipe almost went down of its own weight." Then came gumbo, shale and sand for 900 feet and then—the gusher.

The usual horde of proven oil field workers, wildcatters and what not has moved in, machinery and material for more wells and tanks is being transported to the field by the trainload, and Lemoine is oiling his shotgun and exercising his dog preparatory to the opening of the 1924 hunting season.

PARTIES JOINED.

39 Women Candidates Have Been Nominated This Year.

LONDON, October 16 (Canadian Press). — It is calculated that local pacts between the Conservatives and Liberals have been reached in 44 out of 70 constituencies in which the Labour candidates won in the last election through a split vote.

In 38 of the 44 ridings Liberals have withdrawn candidates and in other six Conservatives have left the field to the Liberals.

Up to the present 39 woman candidates have been nominated, five more than in the election a year ago.

FIND INDIAN SKELETON.

Believed To Be Over a Thousand Years Old.

MONTREAL, October 16 (Canadian Press). — While excavating for the foundation of a new warehouse in the Outremont district, a labourer yesterday discovered the skeleton of an Indian brave, which is believed to be over one thousand years old.

The remains were only two feet below the surface, in a sitting position, head between the knees, according to the funeral rites of the ancient Algonquin Indians.

Except for the crushing of the skull by the labourer, the skelcton is complete.

The discovery is regarded as of universal importance, and according to one authority may prove the long-considered theory that the Indian village of Hochelaga was on the north-western side of Mount Royal generally believed.

DISSOLUTION CERTAIN.

Reichstag Will Likely Dissolve To-day Or To-morrow.

BERLIN, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Centrist Party it appears, after once deciding in favor of a coalition with the right wing, later voted against it. At 3 p.m., it was stated that dissolution of the Reichstag to-day or to-morrow was most likely.

LAFOLLETTE NOT LOVED BY HUGHES

Hughes Says Lafollette Victory Would Result in Destruction To Prosperity.

SEW YORK, October 16 (Canadian Press). — Republican attitude toward the November elections was further demonstrated last night when Secretary of State Hughes fired his main broadside in an address here toward the Lafollette movement.

The Republican Party continues to profess in official statements and by the actions of its leading campaigners no fear of Democratic strength, but real alarm at the growing sentiment for Lafollette.

Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice-president, has made attacks on the Lafollette movement his main theme during an intensive campaign in the West.

Last night Mr. Hughes took the same subject.

The Secretary of State told his hearers that a victory for the Lafollette party would result in the destruction of prosperity in the United States, and that only the re-election of President Coolidge would ward off a "serious disaster."

While Mr. Hughes was detailing the Republican side of the campaign story in New York, Senator Lafollette continued his Western campaign with an address in the Coliseum at Des Moines, Iowa.

Standing room was at a premium, and the audience gave the Independent Party leader a rousing reception.

Senator Lafollette discussed the problems of the farmers.

Mr. Lafollette renewed his charge that the Federal Reserve Board, "in conspiracy with New York and Chicago bankers," put into effect the deflation policy four years ago which proved ruinous to American agriculture. The Board, he declared, has "worked hand in glove with Wall Street to exploit the farmer and the producer."

RUTH COST MORE.

Sum Paid for the Home Run King By Yankees Was $135,000.

BALTIMORE, October 16 (Canadian Press). — Groves, who is 25 years of age, has been playing professional baseball for six years.

In the five years as an Oriole pitcher, he has won 108 and lost 36 games. Lack of control seems to be his only trouble.

According to Edwin Barrow of the New York Yankees $135,000 was paid for Ruth so the sum paid for Groves does not eclipse the amount paid for the home run king.

POPULAR PRICE, ADMISSION. - - - - - - - - - - 35c.

The Moderation League of Ontario

President, I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.

A CAMPAIGN based on the vilification of other Provinces of Canada cannot make any appeal to the people of Ontario.

Even if it were the case—which, of course, it is not—that conditions in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and Quebec were what the Compulsory Prohibitionists claim, there is this one important fact, incapable of being ignored: Each and all of them had tried the Prohibitionists' own plan, and had, on the first opportunity, discarded it.

And in discarding it, had done so emphatically.

Where votes have been taken, the decision against Prohibition was so pronounced that one wonders why it should have been necessary to take a vote at all.

But in every case, every obstacle that the ingenuity of the Prohibitionist could devise was placed in the way of the people being allowed to express their will. In some cases it took years before the Moderationists were able to get a plebiscite.

But the result was always the same—Overwhelming and signal defeat of Prohibition.

Not a defeat of Temperance and Moral order, as some would have us believe—for Canada is a Temperate and Moral country—but a defeat of the ugly tyrant of Compulsory Prohibition, whose mis-rule and presumption had become intolerable.

The conditions of the other Provinces are not sealed books open only to the "impartial" eyes of Prohibition writers. They are open to anyone, and certainly are well known to those who live in them.

What is proposed here in Ontario under the name of Government Control is not a return to the conditions prior to 1916—not a return to the public drinking bar—but the adoption by the Government of a method of dealing with the problems, some undoubtedly arising from excesses in drinking, but some others the direct result of Prohibition, which this Province wishes to see solved effectively and with due regard to the self-respect and prosperity of the Province.

From every corner and section of the Province, disinterested men and women are rallying in hundreds of thousands to this Cause. All classes are getting behind it.

Let us make the voice of Ontario, clearly and unmistakably, heard on the side of Government Control.

Mark your Ballot as follows:

1	Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act?
2	Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquor in sealed packages under Government control?	X

Lakeviews Win Junior O.B.A.A. Title for Second Successive Year--Team Warmly Welcomed Home

FRANK WHITEHOUSE TRIUMPHED DECISIVELY IN THE FOURTH AND FINAL BATTLE WITH M'CORMICKS

Lakeviews' Fighting Spirit Carried Them Out In Front After Bad Break.

THREE RUNS DOWN AT END OF THE THIRD

Team's Second Championship With Whitehouse Pitching—A Splendid Record.

DEFENCE SHAKY.

Both Teams Showed Strain Of Series—Fifty Fans With Lakeviews.

Peterboro has one Ontario baseball championship.

The Lakeviews 1923 O.B.A.A. junior title holders, repeated their feat of last year and captured the provincial honours for the second time in succession by beating the McCormicks, champions of Toronto and conquerors of Guelph and Niagara Falls, in the play-off game at Oshawa yesterday, coming from behind to triumph over the Queen City youngsters by 7 runs to 4.

McCormicks got away to a flying start and at the end of the third frame were in front 3 to 0.

But the fighting Lakeviews were not to be denied.

Lew LeBarr's crew cut down the lead to one run in the fourth and coming back with three counters in the fifth inning moved out in front and stayed there for the balance of the game..

The unlucky start might have unnerved many a team but not the Lakeviews whose ability to come from behind to pull out a victory has been demonstrated on many an occasion in the last two O.B.A.A. campaigns.

Whitehouse Triumphs.

It was a battle of southpaws with Frank Whitehouse pitted against Irish Rasson and once again the Peterboro ace proved his superiority over his Tornto rival.

Whitehouse got the worst of several tough breaks in the first two frames when McCormicks mixed several healthy swats with a couple of decidedly scratch hits to score three runs but then the sterling left-hander levelled away and pitched superb ball, holding the Toronto representatives to three hits and one run for the balance of the game. He did not walk a man, whiffed twelve of the opposition and finished in a blaze of glory by striking out the side in the ninth inning.

Whitehouse has pitched the Lakeviews to two Ontario championships and his work yesterday was in keeping with the splendid record he has established.

Rasson started like a whirlwind, allowing but one scratch hit in the first three innings but he wobbled from then on and was touched for eight safeties in the last six frames, gave two bases on balls, hit a batter, contributed a balk and helped in his own undoing by a wild heave to first base. With all that the little Toronto southpaw has a fine brand of stuff and will be heard from again.

Both teams showed some effects of the strain and the defensive work was not as clean cut as in several of the other games of the series. But in spite of that fact there were a number of spectacular plays that enthused the crowd. Don Cameron, Lakeview shortstop had two of them, a running one-handed pick up of a fast roller and a beautiful play on a hard hit ball, that he knocked down, pounced on like a cat and then made a lightning fast throw to Lebarr. Lebarr handled fourteen chances nicely at first base, making several fine catches of wide throws and adding a nice grab of a high fly along the right field foul line.

For McCormick's Clark's catch of Whitlow's fly was a feature. The Toronto shortstop went way back of second base to bather in the drive. Eisner had a double play unassisted..

Some 50 Peterboro rooters supported the Lakeviews in fine style while McCromicks were accompanied by a band of about the same number of enthusiasts and the rival supporters had a field day as the tide of battle swung this way or that.

The game was well handled by Umpires Si Del and Reg. Fair of Oshawa.

The Game By Innings.

Lakeviews did nothing with Rasson in the first. Ash fanned, Marchen rolled to Rasson and Lebarr missed three. No runs, hits or errors.

McCormicks opened strong. Swing singled over second on the first ball pitched and stole second. Boyd sacrificed him to third. Eisner rolled a slow one to Whitehouse and Sling slid in safely with the first run of the game. Clark rolled to Marchen, Eisner going to second. Henry struck out. One run, one hit, no errors.

In the second Whitehouse grounded to Henry and Whitlow was tossed out by Eisner. Halliday cracked a single off Woodrow's shins but was cut down when he tried to steal second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Toronto crew came back with two, aided by Dame Fortune. Sinclair struck out to open the frame but Woodrow got a lucky double on a fly to short centre when Whitlow and Marchen collided. Gillespie who has struck out nine times in the series got hold of a slow breaking hook and crashed a triple to deep right centre scoring Woodrow. Whitehouse struck out Rasson and when Swing cut a fast grounder at Marchen the innings looked to be over. The ball, however, took a Washington hop in front of Marchen and went for a single, scoring Gillespie. Boyd doubled past third sending Swing to the difficult corner.. Cameron's running one-handed pick up of Eisner's roller retired the side. Two runs, four hits, no errors.

The Peterboro youngsters were retired in order in the third. Johnston and McIntyre both struck out and Cameron rolled to Henry.

For McCormicks Clark grounded out to Lebarr, Henry struck out. Sinclair also took three swings but the third one was on a wild pitch on which he made first. Sinclair stole second and went to third when Halliday's throw hit him and bounced to the outfield. Whitehouse whiffed Woodrow to wind up the frame. No runs, or hit, one error.

The Lakeviews Start.

The Lakeviews started out to overhaul the Toronto crew in the fourth. After Ash had flied out to Swing, Marchen singled to second, Eisner making a nice stop. Lebarr singled to centre and when Sinclair let the ball roll through his legs Marchen scored and Lebarr reached second. Whitehouse singled through short scoring Lebarr Whitlow and Halliday fanned. Two runs, three hits, one error.

In McComicks half Gillespie fanned and Rasson rolled to Whitehouse. Swing was safe on Johnston's fumble. Boyd hit to Cameron who threw low to first, Swing going to third and the batter to second. With two runners on Whitehouse whiffed Eisner. No runs or hits, two errors.

Won In Fifth.

The Petes won the game in the fifth. Johnston struck out but the third one was a wild pitch and he reached first. Collins replacing McIntyre bunted safely. Johnston stole third and on the next pitch Collins purloined second. Cameron was out bunting foul on the third strike. Ash hit to Rasson who tarew wide to first, Johnston and Collins scoring and Ash going to second. Marchen singled to centre scoring Ash. Lebarr flied to Sinclair and Whitehouse struck out. Three runs, one hit, one error.

For McCormicks Clark bunted to Whitehouse and was thrown out. Henry fanned and Sinclair popped to Marchen. No runs, hits or errors.

In Lakeviews sixth Clark made a great catch of Whitlow's fly to short centre. Halliday skied to Swing, Johnston singed on the ground into right, but Collins flied to Eisner.

McComicks got their last counter in their half of the frame. Woodrow bunted and was tossed out by Johnston, Lebarr making a fine play on a wide throw. Gillespie dropped a double along the right field foul line. Rasson rolled to Whitehouse, Gillespie going to third. He scored when Swing beat out a grounder to short. Swing died stealing. One run, two hits, no errors.

Making It Safe.

That made it 5 to 4 but the Lakeviews speedily increased their lead by bagging two more in the seventh to make the game safe. Cameron walked to start with and went to second on Rasson's balk. Ash singled past third and on the play to hold Cameron at that station reached second. Marchen walked filling the bases. Lebarr hit to Eisner, who threw low to the plate, Cameron and Ash scoring and Lebarr going to second. Whitehouse's liner was converted into an unassisted double play by Eisner who caught the ball and then touched second to double Lebarr. Whitlow fanned. Two runs, one hit, one error.

For McCormicks Boyd was tossed out by Johnston, Eisner rolled to Lebarr. Clark singled between short and third and stole second but Cameron made a lightning play on Henry's roller for a put out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Halliday first up for Lakeviews in the eighth fanned. Johnston was hit and Collins looped a single over second. Johnston stole third but Collins was thrown out when he tried to steal second on the next ball and Cameron struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sinclair rolled to Cameron, Woodrow struck out and Lebarr made a fine catch of Gillespie's high fly back of first base. No runs, hits or errors.

The ninth was soon over.. For Lakeviews Ash fanned, Marchen was thrown out by Clark and Woodrow pulled down Lebarr's liner.

Whitehouse struck out Rasson, Swing and Boyd on eleven pitched balls in McCormicks' half, getting the first two on three strikes in a row while Boyd missed two, fouled two more and then missed the third one.

THE RUN THAT WON THE WORLD'S TITLE

The upper picture shows Ruel coming for home with the run that won the World Series for the Washington team. This was in the twelfth inning of the seventh game. McNeely, who crashed out the hit that scored him, is seen rounding first base. Nick Altrock does a war dance at first base and Bentley, the losing pitcher, and Kelly, the Giants' first baseman, run from the field.

KIWANIS DEFEAT ROTARIANS 15-2 LOCK WORKS EASY FOR DE LAVAL

Mayor Turner Dutifully Opened Softball League With Assistance of Bill Taylor and Les Nunamaker—De Laval Won By 20-9.

GOOD FIELDING AND BAD.

The local City Softball League got away to a great start last evening in the Brock Street Rink when it was officially opened by a short speech by Mayor J. J. Turner, in which he announced that both Mr. W. H. Bradburn and G. N. Gordon intended to be present, but that important business in both cases had interfered and this was the reason why both were not on hand. He also announced that Mr. Gordon had informed him that he would present individual trophies to each member on the winning team.

The Mayor then took the mound and threw over the first ball, while ex-Mayor Taylor, donor of the present cup to the Softball Lague, did the receiving and Les Nunamaker, who is here with Tris Speaker and his party, did the swatting, taking three good swats at the pill.

The curtain-raiser put on by the Rotary and the Kiwanis was a fair game, but the Kiwanis proved to be far too strong for their club rivals. Kiwanis hit hard and often, winning easily by the score of 15 to 2. Gord. Matthews did the twirling for the loosers. He went strong at the first of the game, but he weakened, and the Kiwanians slammed his offerings all over the arena. Besides hitting everything Matthews had to offer, they played a great game in the field, turning in some very snappy plays. Carl McLean, who did the pitching for Kiwanis, had a lot of speed, and was a mystery to the Rotary sluggers. He fanned 12 batsmen, while he held Bob Abbott's boys to 5 scattered hits, Webber made his first appearance with the Kiwanis this year and turned in a flawless game, netting a triple, a double and a single in five times up.

DE LAVAL SUPERIOR.

The Lock Works were not in it with the De Laval last evening when the Separator boys handed them a 20 to 9 trimming in a nine-inning contest that was jammed full of errors on the part of the Lock Works and numerous hits by the De Laval.

The De Laval nine were never headed, and had practically everything their own way throughout. They collected a total of 20 hits off Thorndyke and Connors, who did the Lock Works' mound work, while Kennedy pitched a nice game for the winners, holding his opponents to 13 hits. McDougal at short stop and Taylor behind the bat were the outstanding players, while the Connors brothers also played steady ball.

The De Laval are a more evenly balanced team and displayed lots of vim. Every man on the team played a nice game, while Galbraith, Fowler and Miller were the most effective at bat.

EXAMINER INTERSHOP LEAGUE

At Solomon's Alleys last night the Examiner Intershop League opened, and was featured by some great rolling on the part of the different teams.

No team got away last night with three straight wins, each team winning at least one game. The Linos took two out of three from the Jobbers in the opening game and the Proofers followed suit by taking two from the Inters. The Newsies were next in line and they took two out of three from the Casters and the Monos copped two out of three from the Directors.

Albert Stanley was the high man of the evening for three games, having a nice score of 574, with Max Swanston next with 564 and Jack Heron third with 535. There were some great single games rolled, plenty of the bowlers going over 200, but the best efforts of the evening were Sharpe with 257 and Seates with 254.

O'CONNELL'S STORY DID NOT GIBE WITH SANDS

Reported Reason Why Landis Exonerated New York Trio.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.— Frank Frisch, George Kelly and Ross Young, New York Giant veterans implicated by Jimmy O'Connel in the latter's attempted bribery of Heine Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, were exonerated of all connection with the scandal by Commissioner Landis because O'Connell's story did not jibe in any respect with the circumstances at the time of his action.

This was disclosed yesterday by a source close to Commissioner Landis and established for the first time the real reason why, apart from their own denials, Frisch, Kelly and Young were cleared in the investigation which preceded the world's series.

According to this source O'Connell's story of what happened before and after he approached Sand during the game at the Polo Grounds September 27, was diametrically opposite to that related by Sand and also the accounts given by the others called before Commissioner Landis.

Asked by Landis what he did after offering Sand $500 to "throw" the game, O'Connell was said to have related that he walked to the batting cage and there told Kelly what had happened. Then, O'Connell said, he took part in batting practice.

According to Sand, however, O'Connell did not approach any other player at once out went to the bench and sat alone in one corner.

BIG RECEPTION FOR LAKEVIEWS

Mayor Turner and Aldermen Had Crowd Of Citizens In Triumphal Home-Coming.

MET AT BOUNDARY.

Peterboro gave the Lakeviews, twice champions of the O.B.A.A. Junior Series, an uproarious welcome on their return from Oshawa last night, after taking the scalps of the Toronto McCormicks.

The cars containing the victorious players, were met by a retinue of automobiles at Springville, and the triumphal procession of cars proceeded along the highway to the corner of Charlotte street and Monaghan Road, where Mayor Turner, and the majority of the aldermen, were waiting with the Rangers' Band the Fire Department, and hundreds of citizens, to welcome the 1924 champs.

The parade that followed was marked by a wild outburst of noise. The Lakeviews were placed on the fire truck which, with its sireen and bell going full blast, headed the procession. Next came the Mayor and Aldermen marching ahead of the band, and then followed a retinue on foot and in cars, while fire works added a blaze of color. Charlotte street and George street were lined with people and at every corner the players were wildly cheered.

The procession proceeded to Brock street Rink, where His Worship Mayor Turner, in brief speech, congratulated the Lakeviews on behalf of the citizens upon the honor they had given Peterboro by winning the Ontario championship, and upon the clean and sportsmanlike manner they have conducted themselves during the season.

Mayor Turner intimated that there would be some further recognition later on of the victory of the Lakeviews and thanked all those who had co-operated in the success of the reception.

The Lakeviews were then driven to the Class Cafe, where they were the guests of Mr. Charles Cheu at a most enjoyable banquet.

Especially in view of the fact that the arrangements had to be made in a hurry, the welcome tendered the Lakeviews was a remarkable one, indicating that the people generally appreciated the splendid showing made by the youngsters in their long campaign for the championship.

COLLEGIATE STUDENTS MAKING NEW RECORDS

Gordon Pogue Smashed Senior Pole Vault Mark Of Last Year.

The old gives way to the new. This is true in the P.C.I. field sports for two more records set up by former athletes have been broken. Both these new records are for the pole vault, senior and junior.

Gordon Pogue, vaulting with great form, overtopped by 3¼ inches Boyd Craw's record of 8 feet 2¼ inches, set up last year, making a new record of 8 feet 5¼ inches. In the junior event Harry Doughty vaulted 6 feet 11 inches, beating all past junior vaulters of the school by three inches.

The cross-country race will be run this afternoon after school, and a large string of runners is expected.

PETERBORO'S CHAMPION JUNIORS ESTABLISH PROVINCIAL RECORD

Victory Crowns Lew Lebarr's Lakeviews After Strenuous Season—Won 8, Tied 2 and Lost 3 Games—Toronto and Kingston Series Went Four Games Each.

ONTARIO CHAMPIONS.

Frank Whitehouse, pitcher.
Harry Halliday, catcher.
Lew. LeBarr, Jr., first base.
Johnny Marchen, second base.
Don. Cameron, shortstop.
Jimmy Johnston, third base.
Fred Ash, outfield.
Harry Whitlow, outfield.
Don. McIntyre, outfield.
Harry Cheu, utility.
Lambert Collins, catcher and outfield.
Al. Griffin, outfield.
Lew. LeBarr, Sr., manager.
Walter Jackson, coach.

Such is the roster of the Lakeviews, who have again captured the Junior O.B.A.A. championship, the first junior team to twice win the Ontario title since the series was organised.

Lew LeBarr's team have had a long and hard fight for the honours.

Since winning the city series from the Crescents, the Lakeviews have played thirteen games in the O.B.A.A. play-offs, winning 8, drawing 2, and losing 3.

Their first clash was with Oshawa, who were beaten in two straight games.

The second series saw Lakeviews pitted against Belleville, who succeeded in making a third game necessary by winning their home game 5 to 4. The Peterborough youngsters won the play-off at Cobourg handily.

Then came the hard-fought Kingston series. In the first game at Kingston the two teams batted 12 innings to a 2-2 tie. Lakeviews won the second game at home easily by 16 runs to 6, but in the replay of the Kingston game were defeated 3 to 0, making a fourth battle necessary.

This was played at Belleville, and the LeBar crew by a sensational rally in the ninth, when they were 2-0 behind, emerged victorious by 3 runs to 2.

Meanwhile the McCormiek's, who had won the T.A.B.A. junior championship, had disposed of Niagara Falls, who were beaten in the finals last year by the Lakeviews, and of Guelph, the 1922 champions.

The story of the final series begins with the spectacular seventeen innings tie in Toronto, in which the two teams scored three runs each in the first five frames ,and then battled twelve more innings without breaking the deadlock.

McCormicks then upset the dope by coming to Peterborough and beating the local youngsters 3 to 1, giving them a big edge on the series.

But the Lakeviews are fighters, and they walked into Toronto and sewed up the race by walloping McCormicks 6 to 0.

Yesterday they overcame a three-run deficit, and captured premier honours.

ABOUT THE PLAYERS.

Seven of the victorious Lakeviews were also members of last year's champions. Pitcher Frank Whitehouse, Catcher Halliday, First Baseman LeBarr, Shortstop Cameron, and Outfielders McIntyre, Whitlow, and Collins are the players who have twice felt the thrill of winning an Ontario title. Of the others Second Baseman Marchen, Third Baseman Johnston are graduates from last year's Maple Leaf Juveniles, Utility Player Cheu was with the C.G.E. Juniors last season ,Outfielder Griffin was formerly with the Crescents, and Outfielder Ash was out of the city last summer.

The Lakeviews have probably the only English-born battery in the O.B.A.A., both Whitehouse and Halliday having been born in England, although ,of course, both have lived in Peterborough most of their lives.

Whitehouse's record last year and this have proven him to be the best pitcher in junior ranks in Ontario, while Halliday has developed into a most capable backstop, with lots of fight and courage.

The Lakeviews have practised faithfully, pulled together in great style all year, and have richly earned their title.

YOUNG WITH QUEEN'S.

Ex-P.C.I. Quarter Making Place With Canadian Champions.

Howard Young has made a place on the first team at Queen's University. Along with Batstone, Ludby and the old guard which has carried Queen's to two Dominion championships, he will wear the tri-color and aid in the effort to crown the crest of Queen's once more with victory.

Howard is in his first year as a medical student. Last year he was quarter-back for the P. C. I. team, which reached the Interscholastic semi-finals. He was the best quarter the Collegiate squad ever had, and was a big factor in every one of their successes.

The Queen's mode of attack and defence was no new thing to Young, as Mr. C. S. Browne, the P. C. I. coach, has always trained his team on the Queen's pattern. Certainly much of the credit is due Coach Browne, as Young received all his training under his able supervision. Mr. Browne says that it was Young's talkling which won him his number.

The P.C.I. team is agog with the news, and all its players are pulling for Young to make a regular berth.

BARROW DENIES TRADE OF HOYT FOR SHOCKER

Says There Is No Chance For Deal, Though Yanks Would Like It.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. — Stories out of St. Louis to the effect that Urban Shocker, star spitball pitcher of the Browns, would be traded to the Yankees for Walter Hoyt, were denied in toto by Edward G. Barrow, the business manager of the local club.

"That proposition was made to us during the playing season, and we turned it down flat," said Barrow. "The Yanks, I dare say, would be interested in a deal for Shocker but not unless the Browns would consent to take one of our regular pitchers beside Hoyt. There is nothing doing on that angle of it."

Shocker has pitched his last game for the Browns, according to reliable advices from the Mound City. Owner Phil Ball and Manager Geo. Sisler, as well as Shocker himself, believe that the spitballer has outlived his usefulness in St. Louis.

There are many rumours that Shocker and Sisler did not get along well together, and Urban, it is said, desires a change of scenery.

It is well known that the Yanks tried to get him last winter but failed Miller Huggins has always been keen to get back the pitcher he once let slip through his fingers, but baseball observers believe the Browns would not consider a deal of Shocker for Jones, Bush or Shawkey, unless considerable other talent were thrown in. The Yanks would refuse to include Pennock or Hoyt and this is likely to block the trade.

BIG BUSINESS.

Radio apparatus sold in 1924 may amount in value to $300,000,000, according to Roger W. Babson, economist. One manufacturer of insulating material alone expects to sell $4,000,000 worth of panels, knobs and dials this year.

LEFTY GROVES SOLD.

Philadelphia Paid $100 More For Groves Than New York Paid For Ruth.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Robert (Lefty) Groves, pitching ace of the Orioles, International League leading team, was sold to the Philadelphia American League Club to-day, according to Manager Jack Dunn, for $100,600, or one hundred dollars more than the New York Yankees paid the Boston Red Sox for "Babe" Ruth.

EXCELSIOR RUGBY PRACTICE.

All junior Rugby players who intend to play rugby with the Excelsiors this year are requested to attend the rugby practice at Central park at 5.15 on Friday night. A good turnout will ensure rugby in Peterborough this year and a junior O.R.F.U. team from Peterborough. There are good prospects for a team, but better support should be given by the players to encourage the executive to carry on, and this can be done by being out for the practices. So a good turnout is expected on Friday night.

GOLF NEWS.

The annual golf competition for the Brown Trophy is to be played on Saturday afternoon, commencing at 1.30 p.m. As this is the last competition of the season it is requested that as many of the men players as possible take part. The conditions of play are posted at the club house.

FUGITIVE.

Alabama man fled his home 22 years ago, thinking he had killed a man. All these years he has kept under cover, suffering the tortures of remorse. Recently he learned that the man he shot recovered and lived. His soul paid a price for something he didn't do.

This victim of fate's irony involves interesting problems in philosophy. For instance, if a man tries to murder an enemy and his crime is frustrated by his cartridges being blanks, is his intent as evil as the actual deed? The law says not, even though the man did everything in his power to accomplish the killing.

SEEING STARS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — (United Press).—This is the time of year when the "star gazer" is right in his element, for October and November are two good months to look at the stars, November being the month of meteors.

During October the Great Nebula in Andromeda can be seen without the aid of a telescope, says a bulletin from the American Nature Association. You will recognize in the East in November old acquaintances in the Pleiades and Hyades in Taurus, and Aldebaran, the fiery-red eye of the Bull.

November was known in ancient times as the Pleiad month and it was then the ancient Kings of Persia never failed to grant any request presented to them on November 17, the day when the Pleiades came to the meridian at midnight. This exquisite little group, with five stars forming a tiny dipper, and two additional stars visible to keen groups in the heavens. The V-shaped cluster of the Hyades is scarcely less famous.

With the visit of Mars this Summer, when it was only 34,000,000 miles away, and nearer than it had been in a century, a remarkable impetus has been given "star gazing." Reports of a new comet discovered by the Bonn Observatory recall the visit of Halley's Comet in 1910.

In November every year several meteor swarms are due. The Leonids, so-called because they come from the general direction of the constellation Leo, appear about November 15, but you will have to be up before sunrise to see them, because Leo is then in the morning sky.

The Andromedes, which will appear to come from the direction of Andromeda, will appear in the evening hours, however, about November 23 or 24. Then there are the Taurids, several different groups appearing at different times during the month from different points in Taurus. These also will appear in the evening hours from the direction of Taurus, nearly due east. An occasional fire-ball, which is simply a meteor of exceptional size or brilliancy that may succeed in reaching the pear among the Taurids.

The object that will probably first catch the eye November evenings will be the straggling W in Cassiopeia in the northern heavens high above the pole. You will probably search in vain for the Big Dipper for it is so close to the horizon in November that it is largely concealed from view. Possibly you will be able to make out the outlines of the Little Dipper, though, with the North Star, Polaris, at the end of the handle.

Next to Cassiopeia, the Great Square in Pegasus with the constellation of Anoromeda joining it on the east, is one of the most noticeable of the fall groups. It now lies directly on the meridian due south of the zenith overhead. To the southwest of the Great Square lies Aquarius, The Water-Bearer, which can be distinguished by the Y-shaped group of stars, the urn from which a stream of faint stars is flowing toward the south and southeast.

Mars, still in Aquarius where it has been for many months, will move rapidly eastward during November and recede from the earth. In October Mars is the only one of the bright planets to be seen. You must get up before sunrise to see Venus, which is glorious at that time.

NEWS LAKEFIELD.

Reception and Presentation To Mrs. T. R. Darcy.

LAKEFIELD, October 16. — A reception was held on Monday evening in the Lakefield House by the members of St. Paul's Parish to say good-bye to Mrs. T. R. Darcy and her family, who are leaving for Detroit, where Mr. Darcy is at present engaged.

During the evening addresses were read and accompanying presentations made. Mrs. Darcy and her daughters were completely taken by surprise, but replied suitably, assuring their friends of their affection and appreciation of the remembrances:

Mrs. Darcy, Lakefield.

Dear Mrs. Darcy,—We, the members of St. Paul's Parish and the Catholic Women's League, assemble to-night we wish you and your family a happy and prosperous sojourn in your new home. Words fail to express how we shall miss you and your dear family.

You have ever been a willing and congenial worker in all St. Paul's parochial works, and your winsome girls have proven in more ways than one that they desired to follow the example shown by a good mother.

We ask you, dear Mrs. Darcy, to accept as a small mark of our esteem and appreciation, these rosary beads, hoping that as you tell them over, you will occasionally remember your friends in far-away Lakefield.

Again assuring you of our good wishes we sign on behalf of St. Paul's, Lakefield, and the Catholic Women's League,

Mrs. Charlton,
Miss Mona Fortier,
Mrs. Lawless,
Miss Kennedy,
Miss Lillian Condon.

Misses Roleen, Margaret, Myrtle and Mary Darcy.

Dear Friends,—We, your girl associates of St. Paul's choir, Lakefield, wish to tell you to-night how sorry we are to see you leave us. We can hardly find words to express the many ways in which you proved a source of help and inspiration to us all.

However, we console ourselves by thinking that Detroit is not so far away but you will at least let your thoughts revert at times to your "old pals" at Lakefield. We ask you to accept these prayer books and beads as a little memento of our happy days together, and hope that in perusing them you will say a prayer for the lonely choristers at St. Paul's, Lakefield.

Signed on behalf of the choir,
Margaret Allen,
Margaret Charlton,
Isobelle White,
Josephine Allen,
Pearl Charlton,
Margaret Bissonette.

Mrs. Darcy and her family are a loss not only to the parish of St. Paul's but also to the community, where they are held in the highest respect, and the people of the village join in regrets at their departure and in good wishes for their future happiness and prosperity.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretions or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Four big climaxes in one motion picture!

And not one of them to which any critic can prefix that dread little word "anti-!"

This is the score of "The Fire Patrol," Hunt Stromberg's sensational production, to be shown at the Grand Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

In nine out of ten pictures, the climax is easily anticipated by blase theatre-goers. But how can it be when there are four instead?

"Try and do it!" encourages Mr. Stromberg.

The usual routine of mechanically developed details leading to one obvious crisis has been clearly avoided in "The Fire Patrol."

Bang! and the picture is off to a record start with a frightful explosion in the hold of a ship!

Who-e-e! A terrific storm plays havoc with the world, while human hearts hide their darkness in its gloom!

Help! A vessel bursts into flames, miles from safety, and the fire patrol is launched in a flurry of frantic energy!

Wow! The hero and the villain fight for each other's blood in the most realistic combat since that of "The Spoilers."

The explosion sequence was a dangerous task from a technical standpoint, but its effectiveness more than discounts the trouble of procuring it. And it is not merely a meaningless device dragged into the picture extraneously. It is the climax of the prologue.....a vital bit in which a sea captain, leaving his watch to save his wife from the enemy, is blinded by the explosion which results from his forgetting his duty to the ship in his more important duty to the woman he loves.

As for the storm, a terrific upheaval of nature, it has none of the casual quality of the usual storm. It symbolizes the souls of the players, who are caught in a vortex of passion as drowning as the rain that beats overhead.

And the fire at sea not only gives effective photography. It stamps the hero with dishonor, as well as giving opportunity for the use of the fire patrol for the first time in motion pictures. Mr. Stromberg's production has nothing to do with those febrile melodramas in which the fire has obviously been decided upon first and the story written afterwards!

BEAUTIFUL MARY PHILBIN, IN "FOOLS HIGHWAY," AT ROYAL TO-DAY.

Owen Kildare's Story of New York's Bowery.

Here is a picture that is gripping in its dramatic power and yet is singularly free from obvious drama. A picture which offers pictorial proof that all of life's drama is not bottled up in skilfully prepared dramatic situations but is contained in every instant of one's work-a-day existence.

The picture is "Fools Highway," a sincere picturization of Owen Kildare's life history as described by him in his famous novel, "My Mamie Rose." It was filmed as a Jewel feature by Universal with Mary Philbin in the starring role. Irving Cummings directed its filming. The picture opens at the Royal Theatre to-day.

It is difficult to classify the production. It is not a spectacle. It has its setting in the drab quarter of New York of the "Nineties." But it is colorful, beautiful in its simplicity, in its human interest appeal. Its emotional power is tremendous, but is not smashing. Life in the Bowery moves across the screen with the calmness of a quiet stream flowing through a meadow, but it carries you along over the broken cobblestones with a power that is compelling, because everything is true to life.

Mary Philbin as "Mamie Rose," the little mender in the second-hand shop, achieves even greater heights as an emotional actress than the characterization of the quaint, but charming little organ-grinder of "Merry-Go-Round," the role which made her famous. She doesn't act, she just lives the life of the little girl whose whole life is centered around her love for a young Bowery tough whose creed is "fists for fortune." And there is that about her work which makes you feel that she "believes" in it. Her characterization is not a slight or fickle thing, but has a deep sincerity which reflects the true artistry of the beautiful young actress.

Pat O'Malley swaggers through his role of the young Bowery political student to whom "Mamie Rose" has given her heart, with a sense of nonchalance that is delightful. It's a wonderful part excellently handled.

Irving Cummings has produced a picture here that should live as an epic of the Bowery. It is a graphic presentation of human thought and action, free of theatrical atmosphere, rather a picture of life—off-stage.

AT THE REGENT.

"WARRENS OF VIRGINIA" REVEALS GREAT DRAMA OF CIVIL WAR WITH REALISM.

Fox Picture Carries Touching Love Story of Southern Girl and Northern Soldier.

There probably has never been a play of the Civil War which more realistically sets forth the pathos of the lost cause of the south than did "The Warrens of Virginia" written by William C. De Mille. It is a theme that never fails to strike a responsive note in the hearts of the American people. As a stage play it was a great success. Now, it has been made into a screen production by William Fox and is appearing this week at the Regent.

Unlike most war dramas, it touches lightly on actual battle scenes and dwells long on the romance of the war tides. Brother against brother — sweethearts torn apart—bitterness—hatred — patriotism. All the big emotions that were brought out in those soul-trying days give opportunity for fine acting and for dramatic situations. Under the skilful direction of Elmer Clifton, none of these opportunities has been lost.

Added to this, is an element of never-failing interest in the representation of famous historical characters. The invincible, black-bearded Grant and the aristocratic Robert E. Lee, as well as General Griffin and General Warren move across the screen with utmost naturalness. General Warren, in particular, is humanized until he appears, not at all as the proud and stern commander of the history books, but as the head of an old Virginia family, torn between the love of his daughter and his duty to his country.

Agatha Warren, a beautiful Southern girl, is in love with Ned Burton, a Southerner, too, but in sympathy with the Northern cause, and stationed with the northern forces not far from the Warren home. In one of those strange truces which could have happened in no other war, he is invited to visit here there. General Griffin, his commander, at first refuses him permission to go; then at the instigation of one of his aides, orders that he accept the invitation and be arrested there as a despatch carrier. The despatch is to be faked in such a way that it will mislead the Southerners and allow their much needed supply train to proceed over a road where it can be easily surrounded and captured.

Ned at first refuses to take part in the conspiracy, but the General finally persuades him that love of country is a greater thing than personal love, and the plot is laid.

AFFRONT TO TONY'S ABILITY RESULTS IN REAL HORSE RACE

Jockey Wanted To Know If He Should Pull His Mount To Let Star Win

MIX ANSWERS "NO"

And Wonder Horse Proves Ability By Winning Despite Many Obstacles Placed In His Way

A real horse race is pictured in Tom Mixs' latest William Fox production which comes to the Capitol theatre today, Friday and Saturday. It is not a turf course race but a road race; up hill, down dale, through cow paths, over fences and across trackless fields. A he-man western race in which heart and courage counted more than speed.

Here is how it developed into a contest, not merely a sequence:

Director J. G. Blystone was outlining the course of action to be taken when one of the actors who was riding in it, a real jockey, incidentally questioned:

"Supopse I find myself winning the race shall I pull my horse and let Mr. Mix go ahead?'

Mr. Blystone did not have a chance to answer. As if he considered the question an affront to Tony's ability Tom Mix replied:

"There will be no pulling in this race. It's to be run on the level and if Tony can't win the race I'll get a horse that can and we'll shoot the scene again. That goes for everybody."

And so the race was run and despite obstacles placed in Tony's path by the villians the race was not re-run.

Claire Adams plays opposite Mr. Mix in the role of leading lady. Others in the cast are Dolores Rousse, Earle Foxe, Charles K. French, Pat Christman, Mathilda Brundage, May Wallace, Evelyn Sherman.

OBITUARY

MRS. OUGHTRY MORROW KINDRED.
On Wednesday evening, October 15th, 1924, the death occurred of Mrs. Oughtry Kindred of this city. Deceased before her marriage was Agnes Laing of Keene.
Funeral private, on Saturday, at 3.30 p.m.

MRS. M. CLEMENTS.
The late Mrs. Clements, whose sudden passing away at Carnduff, Sask., was recorded last week, was born in 1892 in a farm home in the Township of Chandos, in the County of Peterborough, Ont., her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trotter, being old residents of that locality.
In June, 1912, she was united in marriage to Mr. Marmion Clements, and in 1914 came with him to settle in the Carnduff district, where she and her husband have been hard-working, self-respecting residents ever since.
Besides Mr. Clements and six small children, she is survived by her father and mother, one sister, and three brothers still residing in Chandos, and one sister in Peterborough.
Her sudden calling away drew forth many expressions of sincere sympathy for the bereaved family and the tokens of respect for her memory were evidenced by wreaths and sprays of floral tributes from the following: The L.O.B.A., the L.O.L., the family, Mr .and Mrs. Cephas and Carl Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. George Carley, Mr. and Mrs. John Clements, St. Andrew's Sunday School and Bible Class, St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid, and the Home Makers' Club.
The many friends of Mr. G. W. Mulligan will be glad to know that he is so far recovered from his injuries as to be removed to his home to-day.

PRINCE OF WALES DANCED ALL NIGHT

Arrived at His Hotel at 6 O'clock This Morning and Was Up at 9.

TORONTO, October 16. — Despite the fact that His Royal Higness, the Prince of Wales, attended three informal dances last night, and during the early morning, returning to his hotel at six o'clock, he as up at nine, and one hour later was whirled away to Hart House, at the University of Toronto, where he played squash racquets.

In characteristic fashion the heir to the British throne danced his way into the hearts of the matrons and the debutantes last night ,at the semi-formal ball held in his honor at York Club. Again hsi memory stood him in good stead as he recognized and danced with several whom he had met overseas, and on the later occasion of his last visit here in 1919.

It is not improbable that the Prince found the ball room somewhat crowded with 350 guests, for less than two hours after his arrival he made a quiet exit, and was whisked away to "Chudleigh," the home of George Beardmore, where about fifty dancers of the younger set weer gathered. In the early hours of the morning he entered "Strath-Robyn," the suburban home of Lt.-Col. F. B. Robins. Here the number of guests is reported to have been even smaller and it was not until the grey dawn broke that he arrived at his hotel.

After the game of quash racquets the Prince and his party left for Ottawa, His Royal Highness announcing that he had enjoyed his stay very much.

QUANTITY TO BE LIMITED

Attorney General Nickle Says So In Letter To Mr. J. H. Burnham.

In reply to a letter from Mr. J. H. Burnham, Attorney-General W. F. Nickle writes as follows:

Toronto, 14th October.

Dear Mr. Burnham,

As I write, I have before me yours of 10th October,

Government control would, in my opinion, without doubt include legislative provision for limiting the quantity of liquor that might be sold to any one purchaser.

Yours sincerely,

W. F. Nickle.

DROP FORGERY CHARGE.

Settell Is Now Charged With Obtaining Signature To Cheque By False Pretenses.

HAMILTON, Oct. 16—(Canadian Press).—E. Clarence Settell, former Secretary of Sir Adam Beck was before Magistrate Jelfs, again this morning and was sent up for trial on charge of obtaining signature to a check for $39,925 by false pretences Crown Attorney Ballard informed the court that the crown was prepared to drop the forgery charge which had been formulated. The case is now entirely out of Magistrate's hands. Settell was sent for trial last Monday on a charge of stealing money obtained on cheque and two charges mentioned to-day were not pressed at that time.

LAKEVIEWS WILL PLAY GENERALS

Fans Will Get a Chance To See One More Good Game.

The baseball season is not over yet, and on Saturday the fans will have an opportunity of seeing the Lakeviews, twice junior Ontario champions, in action against the C. G.E. team, runners up for the Eastern Ontario intermediate honours this year, and intermediate champions of Ontario in 1923 and 1922. The game should be a real battle, as there is keen rivalry between the two teams. Whitehouse, the Lakeviews' crack young left-hander, will be on the firing line for the junior champs, with Halliday catching, while C.G.E. will likely use Jeff Hardill and Bob Ross as their battery. The game will give the fans a chance to see the champion youngsters perform against a strong intermediate outfit.

GRAFTON'S 32ND YEAR AT NORWOOD FAIR

The Well Known Clothing Exhibit of the Big Firm Has Grown to Mammoth Proportions.

Celebrating their thirty-second consecutive annual appearance at Norwood Fair, the Grafton Co. erected the finest display booth yet on their old stand in the midway. Fifty feetfrontage was required to contain the exhibit, which was the outstanding feature on the entire grounds. A fine showing of fall and winter Overcoats and Suits, as well as men's furnishings of all kinds, was given a lot of attention by an interested army of men, emphasizing as it did the newer fabrics, styles and sterling quality of Grafton tailoring, coupled with the remarkable values made possible by the firm selling direct, "manufacturer to wearer."

As an additional attraction, the Peterboro Pipers Band gave several programmes on a platform erected in front of the exhibit, which kept a huge crowd entertained while inspecting the clothing.

The programme consisted of full strength band numbers, Scotch dances, songs and humor.

Graftons has become such a part of the Norwood Fair, that it would be greatly missed if not present.

The young couple who were unattended left on the 5.30 C.N.R. train for their new home in Bobcaygeon.

VICTOR W. SCOTT ON STAND TO-DAY

Smith Had An Account In Montreal Branch Since 1921, Said Witness.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Victor W. Scott, manager of the Montreal Branch of the Home Bank was chief witness in the trial of Clarence F. Smith, Home Bank director, this morning Smith had an account in the Montreal Branch said witness since 1921. He did not think the accused had the account before he was made director of the bank, when the bank suspended Scott testified that Smith was over drawn $60,737.95 and had a direct loan of $90,000. He was also director of several companies which loaned money from the bank. The witness said that Smith had asked on one occasion concerning the British Dominion account. The accused had never been interested in the operation of two boats which the bank got as security on one loan, John Braidwood who was in the foreign department of Bank said that the item of $60,687.51 which appeared in the monthly return of department as deposits was really made of unsecured loans to H. J. Daly. The witness admitted that the item was carried into the annual statement as deposits.

NOTICE

Getting rid of Leaves at this season of the year is a problem confronting Citizens generally as it is contrary to the Fire By-law to Burn Leaves Within the Fire Limits, and in places to endanger Pavements or Sidewalks.

We suggest Leaves be raked up into piles at one corner of the Garden to rot and use as fertilizer for flower beds, etc. Any surplus Leaves may be burned on earth roadways away from Walk or Pavement, providing some adult person is in charge of the fire, which should be thoroughly soaked with water when the operation is over.

FIRE ON WINDY DAYS SHOULD AT ALL TIMES BE AVOIDED.

Fire Permits to Burn Leaves must be obtained from Fire Chief Gimblett.

PROPORTION OF THE C. N. R. DEFICIT BORNE BY C. P. R. AS BIG TAXPAYER

E. W. Beatty, President of Canadian Pacific Railway, Indicates Incongruity of Canada's Railway Competition —Says C. P. R. Revenue Improvements Mean Larger Contribution to C. N. R. Treasury.

ADDRESSED BOSTON TRAFFIC CLUB.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 17. — What the result of Canada's great experiment in public ownership of railways will be, the future alone can determine, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, declared in address before the Traffic Club of New England here last night.

According to President Beatty, Canada faces a problem in her rival systems, the privately operated Canadian Pacific and the publicly owned National Railways, for which proposed solutions urging either complete government of complete privte control, have not been found practicable.

After tracing the development of the two systems, the Canadian Pacific at first under government supervision and later under private management, and the building, acquisition and consolidation of the National Railways, President Beatty said: "The Canadian Pacific is the largest taxpaper in Canada, therefore, the greater the deficits of the National Railways, the heavier the taxes of the Canadian Pacific; whereas, if the National Railways are successful by reason of the diversion of traffic from the privately owned system, the loss the revenue of the latter is greater than that represented by increased taxation. Again, the greater the revenue of the Canadian Pacific, the greater its contribution to the exchequer of the rival system will be. A more delightfully incongruous situation it is hardly possible to imagine."

Example of the U.S.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Beatty said that when Canada was gathering together the greatest publicly owned railway system on the northern half of the North American continent, some people referred to the illuminating, if disagreeable, consequence of the United States excursion into public ownership, and then pointed to it as a horrible example.

"To others of us, however, experience, while expensive was fortunate and the results were such and the figures so large that anyone who could run could read, and the dangers of such a situation were brought home to millions of people in a very short space of time. What the result of the present great experiment now being tried in Canada will be, the future alone can determine and whatever that result is, it will, I hope, in the next few years be communicated to the people of our country in terms which they can appreciate in order that their decision as to the character of their transportation systems in future years may be made with full knowledge of the facts of and of Canada's necessities."

Although United States railway executives have told him, Mr. Beatty said, that in their opinion, one of two solutions was possible, namely the extension of the National principle to all railways, or the absorption of the national system by the Canadian Pacific, neither possibility was within the contemplation of the Canadian people at this time.

Afraid of Monopoly.

The word "monopoly," he said, still heads a menacing significance for many, and added that the existence and rivalry of the two systems under different administrations, was considered a good thing for the country and the transportation companies.

President Beatty declared his system shared the problems of roads in the United States in giving effective service and at the same time maintaining properties and credit and in seeing that the interests of security and shareholders were not jeopardized.

The railways of the United States he said, have made great strides for? ward in public relations. Railways now know, he said, that their very serious problems would not be understood unless explained and that public favor would not be obtained without a sincere attempt to earn it by works and not by words.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST THREE

Identified By Widow as Slayers of Her Husband—Revolver Found.

MONTREAL TRIAL

MONTREAL, Oct 17. — Sidney Harrison, Alfred Deschambault, and B. Watkins, alias Davies, were committed for trial Thursday on the charge of having murdered F. X. Beauvais, Verdun storekeeper and city and local letter carrier, in his shop on LaSalle Road on the night of Sept. 8, Voluntary statement was set for Oct. 23.

Judge Enright committed the three after the victim's widow had positively identified Harrison and Watkins, as two of the three or four young fellows who had entered the store just before the fatal shot; and after Dr. Wilfred Jerome, medico-legal expert had sworn that the bullet which had killed Beauvais had been fired from a revolver found on Oct. 2, in a field at Laval De Montreal, about ten feet from a stolen automobile, in connection with which Watkins was arrested. The others were arrested later. Full confession has ben made by one of the prisoners, it came out at the inquest, although the document was not flyed.

The claim that the name of Deschambault is not mentioned in that confession was used by defence counsel as an argument for the release of the lad. The crown, however produced a witness who testified that he left Deschambault with the other prisoners in an automobile about an hour before the murder was committed, and Judge Enright held that circumstance was sufficient for all three to be sent for trial.

TRADE OF WEST INDIES SOUGHT

Hon. T. A. Low Leads Delegation on Extended Survey of Business Prospects.

SHIPS ARE SLOW

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 17.—With the sole purpose of holding out to the West Indies "the big hand of friendship", a trade delegation consisting of Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of trade and commerce, and H. J. Logan, M.P., and several experts in tariff and shipping, numbering altogether ten or twelve, will leave Halifax within the next few weeks for the South and will return to Ottawa about Feb. 1, according to a statement made by Mr. Logan in addressing the Halifax Commercial Club, Thursday. Mr. Logan spoke of the vast possibilities of increased trade with the West Indies and deplored the fact that Canada had but two trade commissioners among nine million people, whereas the United States has over seventy.

He expresseid disagreement with the requirement of the Civil Service commission, that prospective commissioners should be under 32, years of age, and university graduates. He said that he would rather have as a trade commissioner a well experienced commercial traveller than a university graduates with gold medals who has not otherwise qualified for the position.

Mr. Logan sharply criticized the present agreement relative to steamship service between Canada and the West Indies. While a bi-weekly service of ten knots had been promised in the agreement,these boats of last winter did not make seven knots and the government itself was advertising sailing but every three weeks.

"If we had violated a treaty with a foreign country," declared Mr. Logan. "As we have violated our trade treaty with our brother Britishers it would almost be a casus belli."

JURY SET FREE WOMAN ACCUSED OF SLAYING MAN

Spectators Applaud Verdict Acquitting Johanna Tell of Killing Employer.

WAS HOUSEKEEPER

Jurors Doubted Whether She Could Have Escaped Charles Blair.

MIDDLETON, Conn., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Johanna Tell is free.

Last Wednesday a jury found her not guilty of the charge of unlawfully shooting to death on last April 8 Charles Blair, her sweetheart—employer.

When the verdict was rendered, tears coursed down the cheeks of the toil-worn little woman who shot the husky steeplejack to death, hacked his body with an axe and secretly interred it.

They were her first tears in the course of the trial. She reversed the "weep and go free" axiom by which many woman defendants set their conduct in courts.

Applause For Verdict.

Wednesday Mrs. Tell's tears flowed. They suddenly ceased, though, as there came to her ears a round of applause from the crowded room. She came out of a daze to find the arms of her fourteen-year-old daughter, Lillian, about her, her aged counsel's hand in hers—came out of her daze to find that she was being applauded for the first time in her life.

She said, in her first moments of freedom, as she sat in a friend's apartment::

"I didn't realize at first what the hand-clapping from those men and women who have been sitting behind me day after day meant. Now they tell me it meant they believed my story, and the jury believed me when I told them I just had to aim that pistol at Mr. Blair to save my life.

"Wonderful To Be Free."

"Oh, it's all so wonderful to be free. I don't know yet what I shall do with my freedom, but I hope to make something of my life."

Smiling into the eager pretty face of her daughter, she continued:

"You know in those months out in the jail at Haddam, I worked at my knitting and my sewing. I had to do it so I wouldn't think too much. Now, maybe I can earn a living for my babe and myself as a seamstress. I hope so, anyway."

In her halting way, Mrs. Tell said that she never would repeat the mistakes that have brought so much tragedy into her thirty-five years.

Her Story Believed.

The jury had the case under consideration two hours and twenty-eight minutes. Members of it said they were almost a unit in their belief in the major portion of Mrs. Tell's story as she narrated it on the stand. The one element of doubt was whether she could, by fight, have prevented Blair's murderous onslaught.

ZR-3 PEACE SYMBOL

Will Be Named "Los Angeles" as Consort of "Shenandoah."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—The ZR-3 was declared yesterday by Secretary Wilbur, speaking in behalf of the navy, to be "a symbol of peace and friendship between her builders, her owners and other nations." To further define her role, he said the ship would be re-christened "Los Angeles," when the Government formally takes possession.

Mr. Wilbur's announcement was made in the course of a speech at a luncheon to Dr. Hugo Eckener, head of the German Zeppelin Company, and several executive officers of the air cruiser during their visit to Washington. The party was received by President Coolidge, who reiterated the congratulations he had telegraphed on the arrival of the ZR-3 at Lakehurst ,and after a conference with the national advisory council for aeronautics, returned to Lakehurst, N.J., last night to resume supervision of activities at the field.

FASTEST MOTOR RACER KILLED ON NEW TRACK

Ernie Ansterberg Lost Control of Car on Charlotte Speedway.

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Oct. 17. — Ernie Ansterberg, a world famous automobile racer, was killed late on Thursday on the New Charlotte Speedway, when he lost control of his car while trying the new track, struck the upper rail and went over it. He died on the way to the hospital.

Ansterberg arrived here this week from Los Angeles, with a number of other racers, for the inaugural races at the speedway, October 25. He held the world's record for the fastest lap on a mile and a quarter board track, having made this record at Altoona, last summer. Ansterberg was married and his wife is said to be in Los Angeles.

LABORERS LOOT CANTON STORES

Casualties of One Thousand in Chinese City Rent by Disorders.

SNIPERS ON ROOFS

CANTON, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Casualties in the fighting so far are estimated at about 1,000.

These include both those who perished in the fire which had swept three-quarters of a square mile of the city, and those killed by bullets of soldiers posted as snipers on the roofs of houses.

Looting of houses and shops on a large scale was going on yesterday.

Some foreign residences were reported disturbed.

The Red army, the labourers' faction in the present strife, was reported late yesterday to be moving into Saikwan, in the western part of the city, which had remained out of the fighting area.

Few of the city's gates were open yesterday, and the streets normally busy were practically deserted.

The Canton Volunteers for some reason not yet announced, were keeping unseen and quiet.

The trouble in Canton between the Merchants' Volunteer Corps and the so-called Red Army, composed of Chinese labourers, grew out of the delivery of firearms ordered by the merchants to protect themselves from what they have termed danger to their lives and property.

BRITISH INTERVENE.

SHANGHAI, October 17 Canadian Press). — Landing of 7,000 Central Chinese Government troops at Chinwangtao was prevented yesterday by orders of the commander of the British garrison here, according to a despatch to a Japanese news agency.

The despatch said that the commander declared such a landing would be incompatible with the protocol of 1901.

The final protocol made between China and eleven Powers in 1901, closing the situation brought about by the Boxer rebellion, provided in part for the occupation of Chinwangtao and other points "for the maintenance of open communication between the capitol (Pekin) and the sea."

GUNBOATS TO CANTON.

WASHINGTON, October 17 (Canadian Press). — The United States gunboats Sacramento and Pampaugo, of the South China patrol, have been ordered to proceed to Canton, owing to disturbances there, and were due to arrive on 15th October it was reported to the State Department yesterday by Consul-General Douglas Jenkins, in Canton.

Mr. Jenkins reported that there had been fighting in Canton between the Sun troops and Merchant Volunteers followed by many disastrous fires.

All United States citizens were safe, he added, although one had been slightly wounded by a stray bullet.

He described the situation in Canton as "critical, though no actual disorder has occurred since 10th October."

BALDWIN HEARD OVER RADIO BY GREAT THRONGS

Conservative Leader's Speech Broadcast From London — Appealed for National Unity.

PREMIER'S PROGRESS

MacDonald Received With Enthusiasm in Four of Potteries District.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — In contradistinction to the difficulty experienced in hearing the speech of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, which was broadcasted from the City Hall, Glasgow, on Monday, hundreds of thousands of people throughout the country last night heard very clearly a thirty minutes' quiet election talk by former Premier Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader.

Mr. Baldwin spoke directly into a microphone at a London broadcasting station, where the acoustics are perfect.

He appealed for national unity instead of class hatred, and said that the Conservatives made no wild promises or alluring claims. They were not patent medicine vendors. What the country needed, he declared was a Government with a sufficient majority to avoid annual elections.

PREMIER IN MIDLANDS.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — Premier Ramsay MacDonald continued his tour of the Midlands yesterday. He motored from Manchester through the potteries district, en route to Birmingham, and everywhere he was enthusiastically received.

Speaking at Congleton, the Premier said that it was everywhere evident that politics was beginning to move the hearts of the people. He declared that the combination of the Liberals and Conservatives in various constituencies in order to defeat the Labour candidates was a great tribute to labour.

At Macclesfield a woman presented the Prime Minister with a silk muffler and his daughter Ishbel with a box of handkerchiefs.

The enthusiasm which has been manifest throughout his tour so far was especially masked at Hanwell, where the Premier described the Campbell case as "a fake to mislead fools."

350 LIBERAL CANDIDATES.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — It was officially announced last night that the Liberal Party has 350 candidates already in the field.

In the last election the party had a total of 454 candidates.

The Miners' Federation has decided to run 47 candidates, besides the four which the miners' districts in Scotland have in the field.

CONDEMNED BY THOMAS.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Pres Cable). — In a speech last night at Retford in support of the candidature of Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Premier, J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Colonies, said he did not hesitate to condemn the sort of stuff that John Ross Campbell wrote when he was acting as editor of The Workers' Weekly.

Incitements to the soldiers to disobey orders of their superior officers should not be tolerated.

Personally, he would not have withdrawn the prosecution against Campbell as once it was instituted a prosecution should go on to a decision of the Court. But who would blame Attorney-General Hastings for his action? No jury would have convicted Campbell because he had fought for his country with honour. Besides he had been editor of the paper for only a short time.

ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT
PUBLIC MEETING
Town Hall, Keene—Oct. 18th
U. F. O. Hall, Indian River—Oct. 21st
8 O'CLOCK P.M.

INDIAN PILOT.

Douglas Edenshaw, full-blooded Haida Indian, son of an Indian chief of Massett, Queen Charlotte Islands, British Columbia, has just been appointed as a fully qualified pilot for the navigation of deep sea boats in Pacific coast waters. He is now official pilot of the 4,000-ton lumber-carrying ships El Abeto, El Cedro and El Ciuta of the Massett Timber Company, Ltd.

The appointment of Douglas Edenshaw is remarkable by reason that not only is he the first red men to be appointed to such a position, but because so short a time ago as 58 years his ancestors, the Haidas, were the most warlike and dangerous of Pacific coast Indians.

ARSON CHARGE FAILED

Chatham Man Was Accused of Setting Fire to House.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Israel Solway, of Chatham, on trial for arson before Justice Rose, at Sandwich sittings of the Supreme Court. Thursday, was found not guilty. The jury was out one hour. According to the evidence adduced at the trial, Solway's a gasoline container; gasoline was used by the firebug who set fire to the home of Samuel Kovinsky, and Solway, it was shown, was in the vicinity the night of the fire.

GERMAN FINDING OF DAWES PLAN NEAR COMPLETE

Equivalent of Almost One Billion Gold Marks Already Available for Reparations.

PAID NEXT YEAR

Whole Amount May Be Paid Out in Germany for Deliveries in Kind.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—When Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr., takes over the position of permanent agent-general fer reparation payments in Berlin, on October 31, he will have to his credit for meeting reparation payments the equivalent of 940,000,000 gold marks, less some small accounts which have already been paid out for deliveries in kind.

This sum is made up of 140,000,000 gold marks paid by the German government from revenues, and 800,000,000 gold marks of the credit with the Reichsbank as part of the new note issue based on the present Dawes' loan.

Payment Sept., 1925

The agent general will htus have within 60,000,000 marks of the billion stipulated as earmarked for reparation payments before September 1, 1925. The new bank of issue also will have 600,000,000 gold marks of the Reichsbank reserve and the entire Rentenmark issue which will be called in inside of seven years.

Germany's total paper currency, which is covered by forty per cent. gold, will amount to about 3,500,000,000 marks exclusive of rentenmarks which are regarded as having a larger gold covering than any other bank issue in Europe.

Probably the whole billion will be paid out in Germany for deliveries in kind so that the agent general unlikely will have any cash transfers to make during the first twelve months. The reparation commission has been authorizing deliveries in

Oct. 17, 1924 | PETERBOROUGH | No. 24

Hon. Mr. Ferguson's Important Statements

THE worst blow that has been struck at the claims of the Moderationists for the benefits of, so called, "Government Control" has been delivered by Hon. Mr. Ferguson. As Premier of Ontario he has examined the systems of Government Control in both British Columbia and Quebec. Note what he says about them:

"Looking into the matter of operation both in British Columbia and Quebec, their systems are called 'Government control,' BUT THERE DOES NOT APPEAR TO BE VERY MUCH RESTRICTION OR ATTEMPT AT CONTROL. Properly speaking, they only operate a monopoly for the purpose of the revenue that is in it."

GOVERNMENT CAN'T CONTROL

In the foregoing statement Hon. Mr. Ferguson has made it clear that the Governments of British Columbia and Quebec have been unable to "control' the liquor traffic 'in their respective provinces. Instead, they have each simply operated a monopoly for the sale of liquor. In consequence, all the evils that always attend the sale of liquor, are flourishing in their provinces in aggrevated forms. What more needs be said about the failure of, so called, control in those two provinces?

THE EVILS OF THE TRAFFIC

Now note Hon. Mr. Ferguson's comment on what the Government will attempt to do with the sale of liquor should the O.T.A. be defeated:—

"With this Government our first thought is to restrict its use and curtail to the utmost the evils that may arise from it."

Note carefully the meaning of the foregoing statement. The sale of liquor by the Government or otherwise is an evil. Should the O.T.A. be defeated the government does not expect to be able to overcome the "evil" but it will reduce the "evils" in every way it can. The trouble is that no government that has attempted to do so has been able to control them.

ENFORCE THE O.T.A.

If then the government in the event of the defeat of the O.T.A. does not expect to be able to prevent the "evils" that accompany the sale of liquor, but only to reduce them as much as possible, why not let Hon. Mr. Ferguson carry out his other promise? This promise is as follows:—

"If the people vote for the continuance of the O.T.A. the government will treat it as any other piece of legislation and will strengthen any weaknesses that may be revealed in it from time to time and GIVE IT ACTIVE AND VIGOROUS ENFORCEMENT." Therefore,

VOTE FOR THE O.T.A. (Advt.)

THE WAR IN CHINA.

Victorious Troops Have the Sympathy of Japan in Present Conflict.

OSAKA, Japan, Oct. 17.—(United Press).—Chang Tso Lin's Manchurian troops completely occupied Shan Hai Kwan, the gateway city in the great wall of China, to-day, and captured 1,000 Chi Li troops, according to Mukden despatches.

A Manchu detachment is reported pursuing Wu Pei Fu's troops toward Chin Wang Tao.

In connection with the above despatch, it is well to recall that Japanese sympathies are with Chang Tso Lin, and that Mukden, whence the report comes, is the Manchurian war lord's headquarters.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

CABLE.

The Western Union starts laying a new cable, to run between New York and Rome. This cable, 5422 miles long, will cost a fabulous sum. The investment indicates that the telegraph people do not expect radio to usurp the cable's place, at least not for a long time.

We'll need them both. The competition will spur them on to improved service. This new cable will transmit 1500 letters a minute, five times as fast as ever before. Wireless certainly didn't delay this improvement.

MURDERED.

In the last ten years 85,000 Americans are known to have been murdered. Thousands of others, never detected.

In the next ten years, at the present rate, 120,000 to 150,000 will be struck down by pistol shot, dagger, poison, etc.

The murder rate is disgracefully high, and increasing faster than population. Whether capital punishment curbs crime is debatable. But we're lunatics if we don't put murderers where they'll never kill another—and keep them there. Parole or pardon of killers is too dangerous for experiments except in veryrare cases.

AWAY.

Thirty-eight out of every 100 women in four typical cities are working and earning money outside their homes. This is revealed by a government check-up in Jacksonville, Passaic, Butte and Wilkes-Barre.

More than half of these breadwinning women are or have been married. And 61 per cent. of the married women workers live with "wage-earning husbands."

The pinch of economics is destroying the American home.

TOURISTS.

Back from Europe, a friend tells us he had to pay $30 a day for a room in a second-grade hotel in London. So it's easy to believe that American tourists are leaving 300 million dollars over there this year, as experts claim. Three hundred thousand made the trip this summer.

One big result of this is that foreign currencies have been propped up by the demand for foreign money by Yank tourists.

BABY'S THINGS

When travelling with a baby, put everything you will need for him where it is easily accessible and you can get it on a moment's notice.

A NEW CABLE LINE.

Arrangements Being Completed For Start Of Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—A new trans-Atlantic cable between Germany and the United States, via Azores, is soon to be laid, according to Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Commercial Cable Company, who returned from Europe last night. Mr. Mackay went abroad several weeks ago to confer with Dr. George Solmssen, president of the Board of Deutsch Atlantische Telegraphen Gesellschaft, a German company which will control that end of the new link between Europe and Azores.

REMAINS OF A PETERBORO MAN FOUND LYING IN WOODS NEAR CAMPBELLFORD

Frank Linton Had Been Out Hunting and Failed to Return in Evening.

TAKEN A WEAK SPELL.

Search Party of Fifty Men Scour the Woods For Several Hours Last Evening.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 17—Last evening about eleven o'clock the body of Frank Linton was found lying in the woods near here. Deceased had been out hunting during the day and when he failed to return at supper time a search was instituted in which about fifty men took part. His gun was found leaning against a log and the body was found a short distance away with the head resting on a cap. The position of the body indicated that the deceased had been overcome by a weak spell when he lay down. Mr. Linton had been unwell for several months. He was employed by the Peterboro Lumber Company in Peterboro and this summer returned to his home in Campbellford where he had been recuperating On Wednesday and Thursday he went out hunting alone and on Thursday remarked that he had never felt better in his life.

He was unmarried and was forty-nine years of age. He was a son of the late Robert and Mrs. Linton, Front street, Campbellford. Funeral announcements later.

William Keir

Last evening the death took place of William Keir, aged seventy-five years. Deceased was a well known resident of Campbellford. He had been ill for some time. He leaves a widow three sons and one daughter. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Hand Mutilated

Mr. G. F. Phillips, Garry street, who has charge of some of the machinery at Dam Nine, had the misfortune to have the first finger of his left hand cut off and the second one badly cut and bruised. He was using the planing machine and joiner when the accident happened. The Hydro doctor was called and his wounds were dressed and he was brought to his home.

Head Badly Cut

On Thursday, Mr. James Hicks, Inkerman street, was drawing lumber from the Campbellford Cloth Company Mill, when a board which was thrown from a window struck the load and caused another board to fly up and cut his head badly. He was taken to the doctor and had it attended to.

Mr. Bert Hay, 7th concession of Seymour township, was married at Hastings by Rev. Mr. Hinton, at the Methodist parsonage, on Wednesday, to Miss Pearl Stephens, daughter of the late E. P. and Mrs. Stephens of the English line, in Seymour township. It was on his return home that he found his barn burning and all his crop destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Owen, Frank street, have received word that their son, D. A. Owen, of Toronto, was married to Mrs. Ghent, of Toronto, late of Havelock.

Mr. Owen is an old Campbellford boy and spent most of his life in the town. He has been in the hardware business for a good many years.

Mr. Earl Williams' Grand took several of the lady teachers of the Public school to Toronto, where they are spending Thursday and Friday visiting the city schools, instead of having a convention. Most of the Public school teachers are in the city, the others going by train.

Mrs. W. J. Abernethy, Hastings Road, accompanied Mrs. Williams to the city.

A New Doctor.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, of Calgary, Alta., are in Campbellford this week. The doctor is looking for a place to practice medicine, and there is a possibility that he will decide on Campbellford.

Mrs. G. H. Ivey, Sr., who has been with her daughter, Mrs. Garnet Green, in Cobourg, for six weeks, returned to her home in Campbellford on Wednesday night. Mrs. Green has been suffering with rheumatism for some time. About two weeks ago she had her tonsils removed, and now she is improving in health.

NEWS FROM MADOC.

Teachers Had An Interesting Convention—Personal Mention.

MADOC, October 17. — The teachers of Centre Hastings met in annual convention here.

The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Foster, who heartily welcomed the teachers to Madoc.

Mr. Connor read the minutes of the 1923 convention, which were approved. The secretary also read various communications from the O.E.A., the publishers of the school, etc. The treasurer's report was then read. Miss Moran and Mr. Ryan were appointed auditors.

A Nominating and Resolution Committee was appointed.

Resolution: Mr. Hough, Mr. Todd, Misses Garrett, Marshall, Barnes and Kerr.

Nominating: Mrs. Williams, Misses McWilliam, Danford, Shea, Laffani, Mr. McAdam and Mr. Prentice.

The delegates to the Ontario Educational Association gave their reports.

Miss Garrett spoke of Premier Taschereau of Quebec, who pleaded for a better understanding between Ontario and Quebec, and thought it would be well if many in Ontario should learn French. He also stressed the need for Canadian unity.

The second address was that on domestic science as a useful and enjoyable part of the school work of both girls and boys.

Miss McGrath advocated a board of reference to settle disputes between teacher and school board, also that if a teacher did not take her sick leave every year that it should accumulate for her, and, when needed, that she should get extended sick leave. She told of Dr. Benson's belief that we studied many things more or less useful, while we neglected to study our diet, which is largely the foundation of our health.

Once more the O.E.A. "simplified spelling" was advocated and urged that it be given a trial. The subnormal child was discussed.

Mr. Hough told earnestly of the great importance of the teachers' work, and that though teachers and conditions might change, the profession went on forever.

Mr. Ray Atkin, agricultural representative, was called on. He claimed that agriculture was really one of the most important subjects for rural schools. He spoke of the lack, or supposed lack, of time, but showed how it could be helpfully worked in and give the child such knowledge as to enable him to know the why and wherefore of many things. He referred to Denmark as an example of what agricultural education may accomplish. He had with him a chart and briefly referred to a few of its lessons on soil and bacteria. Chief plant foods are carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, sulphur, iron, magnesium, calcium, nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium. Test for acid soil, it will turn blue litmus paper red. How to cure acid—Apply lime and under-drain. He spoke of much useful information the child should have in his notebook for future reference.

After an enjoyable song by a class from the Madoc School, Mr. Walks, B.A., of Toronto Normal School, taught a fourth class a literature lesson on the "First Ploughing." He taught a clear and impressive lesson, dwelling on what called the farmer out to plough and how and why they called. After some discussion on these the session was closed.

The evening session was in the basement of the Presbyterian Church where many of the teachers with friends enjoyed a pleasing program. After some solos, instrumental numbers and community singing, lantern slides of birds and animals and lectures on them were given by Mr. Pack, of the Museum at Ottawa.

On Friday, after roll call, the committee brought in their reports. There were ten or more resolutions, one of which was that this Institute take a trip next year for their convention, but by a standing vote it was voted down by a small majority.

Multiplication and division were stressed on, with endless drill and mental work until these facts are firmly impressed on the child's memory.

Mr. Walks next discussed history, hoping to show its importance, and how to teach it, always remembering that he who tries to teach it must know it. He advocated outlines being written on the board, and copied by the child. History develops the judgment, trains the imagination, teaches ethics, and should be introduced through interesting biographies, illustrated by pictures or concrete material. After considerable discussion, especially on when "three days of grace" should be allowed, and how much history should be taken in public schools, the class adjourned.

The last session called for the auditors' report.

Next was a discussion on teaching grammar, which was opened by Mr. Prentice, who pointed out some of our "falls" in grammar, which were checked up by the entrance examiner. The use of definitions were discussed, also the clause object of a proposition, and how the uses of a word gave it its gramatical value.

Next was primary reading by Misses Garrett and Barnes. "Phonics" were stressed, along with sight words, in phonics train the ear to hear sounds, the lips to make them, the mind to analyse and put them together, the eye to recognize the letter and word as the symbol of sounds, also to study how the soundc were made. Give short, bright, interesting work and stories.

Mr. MacGuire recommended a key list of words to which the child might be referred for forgotten sounds.

After a short discussion of this subject and others, the class was dismissed.

Local and Personals.

Mr. McBain and family, of Madoc, spent the week end in Peterboro.

Mr. F. A. Burt, of the Dominion Bank, Madoc, spent the week-end in Toronto.

NEWS OF APSLEY.

Harvest Thanksgiving Service Held In St. George's Church.

APSLEY, Oct. 17. — St. George's Harvest Thanksgiving service was held on Wednesday evening and was attended by a large congregation. The church was most beautifully decorated, and the congregation's offerings of fruit and vegetables were most abundant. The service was bright and hearty, being fully choral, the special anthem for the occasion being "Fear not, O Lord," by Simper. The Rev. P. J. O'Connor Fenton of Norwood, Rural Dean for the Deanery of Peterboro, preached a forceful and telling sermon, taking for his text, "Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ," Ephesians v., 20.

Record congregations marked the Harvest Thanksgiving services at St. Paul's Church, Lasswade, and St. Stephen's, Chandos, on Sunday afternoon and evening respectively. Both churches were prettily decorated, with a profusion of the fruits of the earth. Some who attended St. Paul's travelled a distance of twenty miles each way. The little church of St. Stephen's was packed to the door with worshippers, there not being enough seating accommodation available for all. Good congregations also attended the Methodist Churches at Lasswade and Haultain, where similar services were conducted by Rev. G. Ogden.

ARMISTICE DAY, NOV. 11.

Usual Two Minute Silence Will Be Observed This Year.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17. — The usual armistice day two minutes silence, will be observed on Tuesday, November 11th, at 11 o'clock, throughout the British Empire. This is in addition to the observance of armistice day and thanksgiving day on Monday, November 10th.

ZEPPELIN CALLED A 'CRANK'

Kiderlen-Waechter's Memoirs Tell of Inventor's Struggles.

BERLIN, Oct. 17. — When Count Zeppelin launched the idea of the dirigible airship thirty years ago the Wurttemburg court circles and the common people ridiculed the idea according to the memoires of the late German Fireign Minister, Baron Alfred von Kiderlen-Wachter, recently published.

The Baron on visiting his Subaian home in 1895, was told Stuttgart, the locksmith, whom Zeppelin had employed to construct his first model, that he had advised the inventor to give up his plans because they were "swinish nonsense."

Four years later the Baron still refused to take Zeppelin's invention seriously. When his aunt tried to arrange a match between him and the young Countess Hela Zeppelin, he jokingly remarked: "At last I would get a free ride on a future airship," but he did not fall in love with the 19-year-old Countess whose father was regarded as a crank.

HERE'S A KNOCK FOR FAT ROMEOS

Disgusted With Present German Stage Tendencies.

BERLIN, October 17 (United Press). — Germany's actor Romeos are a lot of fat, bow-legged, knock-kneed, round-shouldered, chicken-breasted folk, opines Walther von Hollaender young Berlin writer and art critic.

Disgusted with present German stage tendencies, he says it is revolting to find ninety out of a hundred strut the stage in Falstaff rotundity, chirping their love songs to as many fat and flabby Juliettes.

Actors, and also actresses, nowadays are too lazy, he declares. They have long since given up the ambition to become models for kingly poise and gait. Nowadays, they are content with imitating the slovenly and carelessly walking man in the street.

Hollaender challenges everybody who thinks he is exaggerating to name for each stage in Berlin only one actor or actress with a fairly perfect body, or who walks properly.

As the first step to remedy these pitiable conditions Hollaender proposes that the Berlin theatres each dismiss one of their too many "Regisseurs" (assistant producers) and employ instead a gymnastic teacher, claiming that a staff without such a teacher is ridiculous.

His second suggesion is that all producers undergo a three months' training in a gymnasium, so that, thereafter, they may be able to see for themselves what deplorable figures hop about their stages.

MONTREAL LADY ADDS TESTIMONY

Mrs. Henri Scott Was Badly Run Down For Over 3 Years.

"When I compare my present good health with the miserable condition I was in before taking Tanlac I just feel like praising the medicine to everybody," is the grateful statement of Mrs. Henri Scott, 412 St. Zotique St., Montreal, P.Q., Canada.

"For three years past I have been so run-down that even my ordinary household duties were a burden to me. I was troubled with indigestion, could not retain my food at times, my nerves were bad and headaches often forced me to lie down for hours.

"Two bottles of Tanlac made a wonderful change in my condition and six bottles was all I needed to bring me back to my normal self again. Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

PACKERS' PRACTICE

Armour and Swift Companies Charged With Discrimination in Buying.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—The complaint against Armour and Company and Swift and Company, announced to have been issued by Secretary Wallace, under the Packers and Stockyards Act, charges those companies with refusing to do business with traders located on the Chicago Livestock Market, and requires an answer to the charges by November 20. A hearing is set for December 1 in Chicago.

The complaint declares that about one-third of all hogs consigned to commission men at Chicago are purchased by traders, although they ultimately are secured by the packers. The Armour and Swift companies are alleged to be restricting and confining their purchases to commission men of hogs not previously purchased or handled by any trader. The complaint declares this to be an unfair and discriminatory practice.

Representatives of Armour and Company, in a statement yesterday, said the only instructions on the subject given to their hog buyers were that insofar as practicable they should purchase first hand hogs and not second hand hogs.

COMPASS DOESN'T POINT TO NORTH

Direction Changes From Year To Year—Scientists Seek Reason.

The magnetic compass has been used for more than 600 years and to-day is more widely employed than ever before; by miners underground, by explorers, travellers, hunters, trappers, prospectors, pioneers, timber cruisers and others overland; by navigators on the seas; and by airmen high above the earth. With this small, delicate, restless instrument they are enabled to tell direction. Yet contrary to popular belief the magetic compass does not point due north, but more or less eastward or westward of it at different places. At Halifax it points twenty-two degrees west of north, at Vancouver twenty-five degrees east of north, while at Fort McPherson on the Mackenzie river, within the Arctic circle it points forty-four degrees east of north. Scientists state that this is because the magnetic poles of the earth are not situated at the geogrpahical poles as shown on our maps of the world.

Changes From Year To Year.

The problem of the compass is still further complicated by the fact that it changes its direction from year to year; it marches to the westward for many years, then turns backward and marches to the eastward, then reverses again and marches to the westward, etc. Moreover, its very confusing behaviour is quite different in different places. Whether this is caused by a shifting of the magnetic poles, by changes within the earth itself, or by some influence of the sun or planets, scientists have not yet been able to determine.

Surveys Necessary.

In order that the compass may be used with reliance, therefore, the different countries of the world carry out magnetic surveys to measure its exact direction and supply the information to the public in the form of magnetic maps. Owing to the continual shifting or "march" of the compass, as it is called, the work accomplished by a magnetic survey would become obsolete unless proper corrections are applied; so this march is measured at certain points and the work corrected accordingly from time to time.

Canadian Survey One Of Largest.

This information is particularly valuable in such a large new country as Canada, and it is therefore interesting to note that one of the largest magnetic surveys in the world is being made in this country by the Topographical Survey of Canada, whose field parties cover such wide areas on their land surveys. The cost is very silght because these measurements take but a minute or two and are made during spare moments in the land surveys.

The magnitude of the work accomplished since it commenced in 1880 is shown by the face that nearly 20,000 of those measurements have been made already and maps published, showing the results, for compass users.

39 WOMEN IN FIELD.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — Thirty-nine women candidates have been chosen so far, this being five more than ran in the last election.

There are 12 Conservatives among the women candidates six Liberals, and 21 Labour nominees.

ATTACK PONSONBY.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — Arthur Ponsonby, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, who is understood to have been largely responsible for the Russian Treaty proposals, will be opposed in Brightside, Sheffield, only by a Conservative.

A pact has been arranged between the Conservatives and Liberals to make a combined attack on Ponsonby, and it is hoped in this way to accomplish his defeat.

There was a four-cornered contest in Brightside in the last election.

Emanuel Shinwell, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Mines, is also to have a straight fight with the Conservatives in Lialithgow, Scotland, where there was a three-cornered battle last December. His Conservative opponent is James Kidd, a former member for Linlithgow who was defeated in the last two elections.

As Shinwell's majority last year was a handsome one it is thought he is not in very great danger of being defeated on 29th October, even if Kidd does receive Liberal as well as Conservative support.

In West Fulham, London, and in South-East Ram, the Conservatives and Liberals have sunk their differences to fight the Labour candidates.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, Liberal, who is running now as an anti-Socialist and Constitutionalist in East Walthamstow, in order to win the seat, has to succeed in a riding which has been held by Conservatives in the past three elections.

Sir Stanley Johnson, who was elected in 1923, is again in the field. Sir Stanley's majority last December was only 244, but the total of the anti-Labour vote was well over 12,000, while the Labour candidate polled 6,000 votes.

CUT-AND-DRIED

The village band is a vanishing institution, along with the individual amateur musician. Radio and phonograph have canned music.

It's an age of can—canned food, canned music ....and even canned thought. The increasing tendency toward specialization gets the average person in such a rut that he is too tired after work to do much thinking for himsel. The professional "thinker" is among our generation. His thoughts, alas! are usually futile. Specialization destroys the individual mentality.

THOSE GERMAN FIREARMS.

Some time ago the Examiner called attention to the fact that cheap German firearms were being imported into Canada in large quantities, and that many of these were said to have been made out of old German service rifles.

However true the latter part of the statement may be, there is no doubt of the influx of German-made weapons, and judging by the verdict of a coroner's jury in Toronto this week, some of these firearms are of the very poorest quality, being so inferior in construction as to make them unsafe for use.

It is only ten years ago since Canada went to war against Germany.

It seems strange to read of Canadian children being killed by weapons made by men who were our enemies a few years ago, and made so poorly that they are a menace to public safety.

Dealing with Germany in trade may be unavoidable in view of the economic situation, but at least Canadians should see to it that their money is not paid out for German-made trash that is not only poor value but that is positively dangerous.

Care should be taken to see that no more of this kind of weapon are placed on sale in this country, to perhaps kill more of our Canadian youngsters.

THE SPEED LIMIT.

It is announced that 106 people were fined for speeding during the past year in Frontenac County.

The figure shows how difficult it is to enforce the regulations in regard to fast driving on Ontario's roads.

Does any one imagine that this number represents more than a very small fraction of the number of motorists who were guilty of speeding in the last twelve months in this particular county?

While a hundred were caught, thousands of offenders must have escaped, for it is a safe wager that one hundred cars a week were driven faster than twenty-five miles an hour, particularly as Kingston is visited by thousands of tourists each summer, and tourists as a rule seem to have scant regard for speed laws.

Some motorists favour the raising of the limit to 35 miles per hour.

As the Examiner sees it, that policy might prevent many motorists from being lawbreakers, but it would not make traffic conditions any safer—in fact, would probably render them more dangerous than they are at present.

And then there is the other class of driver who, knowing that he is entitled to operate his car at thirty-five miles an hour would immediately regard that as a challenge to travel at forty miles an hour.

Raising the speed limit would be a very dangerous experiment; the present regulation may not be perfect, but it at least has some curb upon motorists.

HON. W. A. BUCHANAN.

His many friends in Peterborough and district were doubtless much interested in the fact that the name of Hon. W. A. Buchanan, ex-M.P. of Lethbridge, has been prominently associated with the leadership of the Liberal party in the Province of Alberta, even although it is extremely unlikely that Mr. Buchanan will see his way clear to accept the honour offered him.

Mr. Buchanan, who is a native of Fraserville, and who was a member of the editorial staff of the Review here for five years, leaving to accept a position on the staff of the Toronto Telegram in 1898, has had a most successful professional and political career in Alberta, and is considered as one of the leading statesmen of that Province.

Many honours have been showered upon him. He has been a member of the Provincial Legislature and of the Federal Parliament, was for some time a member of the Alberta Cabinet, and has been connected with many public activities.

Mr. Buchanan, as his friends here realize, has all the qualifications, including a long experience in the field of public service, for leadership, and if he should decide to change his mind and accede to the wishes of many adherents of his party in Alberta, hundreds of those in the East both of Liberal and Conservative allegiance would be delighted at the choice.

Hon. Mr. Buchanan is a Peterborough graduate who most emphatically has made good.

KEEPING THE PEACE.

A London policeman has been bound over to keep the peace for singing the National Anthem at a Communist meeting in Trafalgar Square. His action, said the magistrate, was provocative. That he himself may have been provoked beyond measure did not enter into the matter, for there is a presumption that the London Bobby is superior to the simple human imotions, fear, anger and the rest, says the Montreal Star. Yet he is not believed to have a heart of stone, a certain dignified acquiescence in the open adoration of the buxom maidservants on his beat being sondoned as a minor peccadillo. To be provoked into a show of affection for a lady is one thing; to be provoked into a show of anger at a Communist is another altogether. In the former case he is sticking to the rules of the game; in the latter he is forgetting his duties as an umpire.

When the London Bobby, in an access of pervent patriotism, broke into "God Save the King," he was rooting for one side. He was asking for trouble, just as a football referee, who suddenly burst into the yell of one of the contesting teams, would be asking for trouble. Forgetting for a moment that his stand should have been the stand of Gallio, who cared for none of these things, that his task was only to lay firm hands on those who were breaking heads and send for ambulances for those whose heads were broken, he nailed his colors to the mast as a servant of the King. The hearts of many will glow at his action, the magistrate no longer among them, yet no one who reflects will fail to appreciate the ironical corollary to the whole affair. Those who are most busy at the present time attacking the Crown and Constitution of Britain are able to do so only by virtue of the protection which the Crown and Constitution themselves afford. Which is absurd.

GETTING THE DETAILS.

If the plebiscite campaign could only be prolonged for a few more weeks it might be possible for the electorate to get a pretty comprehensive idea of what the Ontario Government intends to substitute for the Ontario Temperance Act, should that measure be rejected.

One by one the details are being dragged out in some manner or other.

The latest clue is furnished not by the Premier himself but by his Attorney-General, Hon. W. F. Nickle, who in a letter to Mr. J. H. Burnham gives it as his opinion that Government control would include legislative provision "for limiting the quantity of liquor that might be sold to any one purchaser."

Mr. Nickle's statement is the first definite information in regard to one particular phrase of Government control that has been given, although there has been much speculation and not a little controversy as to what restrictions would be placed upon Government sale in the event of the O. T. A. being scrapped by the votes of the majority of those going to the poles next Thursday.

The official facts now before the public, as gleaned from statements of the Premier and the Attorney-General, that the system the Government has in mind is different from that in vogue in British Columbia and Quebec and that there will be some limit placed was known two weeks ago.

upon the amount of liquor that any one person can buy.

That is not a great deal, but it is a lot more than was known two weeks ago.

WHY HE WAS LOCKED UP.

He attracted instant attention because he was wearing that odd combination, an overcoat and a straw hat. The bank cashier asked him what he wanted. The stranger presented a check for 80 million dollars and said he wanted it cashed.

He gave his name as John D. Rockefeller, and unquestionably believed it.

The cashier detained him with conversation until police arrived. This happened in Hammond, Ind. Investigation revealed that he had escaped from his keepers in Michigan.

The joke is not altogether on this lunatic. As a matter of fact, as was just as happy as if he really had the 80 millions. More than that, probably happier.

It isn't so much what we possess or are in life, as what we think we have and are.

The baby with his first rattle is happier than the rich man with a new motor car, racing horse or country estate.

The hungry ditch-digger's slab of pie tastes better to him than a $5 luncheon to a fellow with a jaded appetite.

Happiness is in the imagination. Life is what we make it.

This apparently wasn't intended to be an intellectual world. For, while knowledge does not necessarily bring unhappiness, it does bring disillusion. And ignorance is nearly always happy.

For one thing, ignorance doesn't know enough to worry.

Ignorance has fears, which intelligence laughs at.

But, of the two evils, worry is far worse than fear. Both are destroyers, yet for every man who dies of fear a thousand at least are sent to premature graves by worry.

If Socrates could drop back into the discussion, he might suggest that a man who imagines he has 80 million dollars isn't any crazier than a man who imagines 80 millions is the supreme thing in life.

The greatest values are imaginary. Maturity would be happier if the imagination that makes youth joyful were not intentionally and brutally killed to make youth grow up "practical."

"Don't kid yourself!"—This saying is the sourest of destroyers.

INTER-EMPIRE TRADE.

Though under the British Preference arrangement, South Africa is automatically entitled to the same concessions granted Australia in the recently arranged trade treaty between that country and Canada, it is interesting to note that Premier Hertzog has cabled Ottawa for confirmation. It is thus indicated that South Africa is closely watching the foreign trade situation and eager to take advantage of any opportunity that may offer for the building up of her trade within the Empire.

This should help Canada's business with South Africa, by increasing our imports from that Dominion. From South Africa we buy chiefly raisins and dried fruits, pineapples and wool. In the four months ended July 31 of this year, the raisin imports amounted to but $413, those of pineapples $8,794, and of wool $12,686. There is room for improvement in these figures, particularly in the first two items, of which Canada is a large consumer.

The point is that Canada has an overwhelming trade balance against South Africa. This country's exports to that Dominion during the 12 months ending August 31 amounted to $9,043,097, as compared with but $112,363 worth of imports. A purely one-sided business has its difficulties, chiefly connected with financing the purchases, and unless Canada takes pains to purchase more in South Africa, she is liable to see a business which has been growing at a gratifying rate for the past several years cease to develop. Our business with South Africa has more than doubled since 1922. For the 12 months ended August 31, 1922, it was but $4,122,437. The main items are wheat, flour and newsprint, all of which Canada produces in abundance, and all capable of further expansion in production.

In view of encouraging trade with both South Africa and Australia, it would seem wise for Canada to place as much of her raisin and dried fruit trade with these sister Dominions as possible, provided, as may be expected, that these countries can compete with present sources, largely in California, and that the tariff advantages under the new arrangements will enable South African and Australian producers to compete as to price. Both Dominions seem to set great store on the fruit and raisin business, and both are anxious to largely increase it. Canada can further her own interests by becoming a good customer of both.

Behind all these trade arrangments, however, is the larger idea of the British Empire, and its furtherance by every possible means. It must be made to stand as a bulwark, stretching clear around the world, cemented by mutual good-will, and standing for the ideal of peace and advanced civilization. We can talk these ideas as much as we please; we can accomplish a great deal by such means, but there is nothing for the furthering of good-will between nations to compare with pleasant trade relations, bringing mutual profit. Therein lies one of the most important results we may expect from mutual tariff concessions.—Border Cities Star.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, October 17. — Prices on butchers' cattle are closing the week quite steady and packers are wanting a supply of good to choice butchers next week. Bologna bulls and common cows are in good demand and at least one abattoir was not able to fill up with these this week. Half a load of bologna bulls sold yesterday morning at 10 cents a cwt. better. Stockers and feeders are slow and one dealer has carried three loads all week without moving them. Prices on all butchers were about unchanged yesterday, but some of the week's remnants were sold at easier prices. One load of 780-pound stockers went at $4 25 a cwt.

Only one car of calves was shipped to Buffalo this week, but the supply has not been sufficient to weaken prices, which remain steady at the quotations. A few good calves sold at 10 1-2 cents yesterday and heavy calves at 6 1-2 and 7 cents.

Lambs are selling steady at 12 to 12 1-4 cents for choice ewes, with heavies a cent a pound lower. The breeding lambs are still in good inquiry at 8 to 8 1-2 cents a pound.

The packers did not get any hogs at $10.00 a cwt. f.o.b. on Wednesday. Receipts are increasing, but are not heavy enough to give the buyers control of the market. The week-end figure holds at $10.25 a cwt. f.o.b. and $11.25 off cars. A good many hogs have sold at 15 cents a cwt. higher than these prices this week.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, October 17 (Canadian Press). — In sympathy with the advance in refrigerator futures in the United States the market in Canada is very firm. The bulk of the trading is now confined to storage eggs, which are moving into consumption very freely.

Toronto firm, with tendency upward. Demand good.

Montreal firm, retailing firsts 45 to 50, seconds 35 to 40.

Ottawa jobbing extras 50, firsts 38, seconds 33.

Winnipeg firm, retailing firsts 37 to 50.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, October 17 (Canadian Press). Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand $4.48 1-2
Cables $4.48 7-8

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, October 17 (Canadian Press). — A moderate amount of business was transacted with British importers for Canadian grain here yesterday, there was a better demand from exporters in the local cash grain situation, and some fair sized sales were made, including about 100,000 bushels of No. 2 feed oats at 1-4 cent per bushel over the Winnipeg October option, c.i.f., here, but at the close of the market sellers of this grade were asking 3-4 to 1 cent per bushel over.

Thre was a good inquiry from the local buyers for Ontario grades of milling barley, and prices ruled firm, No. 3 extra grade at $1.07, while No. 2 white oats sold at 67 and 68 cents, and No. 3 grade at 63 cents per bushel, ex-track.

The market for Canadian Western oats was easier.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Cattle, receipts 11,000; fed steers averaging 1,100 pounds upward, dull; spots lower; yearlings fairly active; edge slightly off lower grade youngsters; top long yearlings $12.60; 1,112 pound averages $12.50; next highest price $12.35; top matured steers $10.60, average weight 1,470 pounds; bulk fed steers $8.25 to $10.00; some long fed 1,601 pound average at $10.30; sizeable string grass Kansas $7.75; plainer kind downward to $6.25; vealers steady to strong; bulk around $10.00; few at $10.25 and better to packers; other classes generally steady; fat cows and heifers continuing very sluggish.

Hogs, receipts 24,000; largely 10 to 20 cents lower than yesterday's best average; 25 cents lower than best price; closed fairly active, firm; underweight, opened weak; closed 25 cents higher; top $11.00; bulk good and choice 190 to 325 pound butchers $10.50 to $10.90; majority better 140 to 160 pound weight $9.00 to $9.50; bulk packing sows $9.60 to $9.90; better 120 to 130 pound slaughter pigs largely $8.25 to $8.75; estimated holdover 19,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Corn underwent a sharp break in price yesterday, powerfully affected by assertions on the part of a trade authority that there is an over supply of feed grains, and that the next Government report will show a decided increase of the official estimate of corn production.

Closing prices for corn were heavy, 2 1-2 to 4 3-4 cents net lower, December $1.09 5-8 to $1.09 3-4.

Wheat finished weak 1 7-8 to 2 3-4 cents off, December $1.49 to $1.49 1-8 and May $1.53 1-8 to $1.53 3-4, with oats 1 5-8c to 2c down, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to 10 cents gain.

NEWS TRENT RIVER

Moonlight Night Contributed To Success Of Fowl Supper.

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 16.—The fowl supper and entertainment on Monday night, following the anniversary services of Sunday, was a grand success.

The beautiful moonlight night brought an immense crowd. The long tables, set in the spacious new dining hall, were laden with wonderful things to eat, for which the ladies of this congregation are famous. Supper was served at 6 o'clock, and not until 9.30 was the last one served. Two men of the congregation were placed at the entrance of the dining hall to handle the crowds and prevent a stampede.

During the serving of the supper, the Havelock Methodist Sunday School orchestra delighted everyone with their numbers. The programme was as follows:—Chorus by the choir; recitation by Bessie Inkster; Havelock Choir, selection; dialogue by four young ladies of the congregation, entitled "A Society for Doing Good"; reading, Mrs. W. Redden; solo, Rev. Mr. Daniels; drill by the Day School, "Miss Canada"; duet, mouth organ selections by W. W. Redden and son, Rufus; recitation by Dorcas Nixon; solo, Mrs. Arthur Russel; quartette, Havelock Quartette; address, Rev. Mr. Daniels selection, Havelock Mixed Quartette; address, Rev. Mr. Herrington, of Cordova; selection, Havelock Quartette; address, Rev. Mr. Elliot, of Campbellford. Reeve Vanvolkenberg acted as chairman.

Special mention is to be made of the dialogue by the four young ladies, in which the characters were Mrs. Susannah Riddle, a widow (Laura Wight); Mrs. Keziah Raymond, a widow (Elgan Ruttan); Miss Mervilda Marigold, an old maid (Mabel Inskster); Miss Jemima Jenkins, a poetical old maid (Miss Ethel Rose). All those taking part in this did excellent. Miss Laura Wight made a 'cute little widow of only six months, but was already receiving attention from the young men sect. Miss Elgan Ruttan, also a widow, but looking for her second husband; Misses Mabel Inkster and Ethel Rose wore wonderful costumes of a loud type, and made quite a display as spinster ladies who were doing church work as an excuse to attract the young men. Miss Ethel Rose was gifted with poetry and read a copy of her latest writing.

After the programme, Mr. Isaac Lawson moved a vote of thanks to all those who took part. The receipts from the services on Sunday, and the supper, amounted to nearly $360—going over the top, as $300 was the required amount.

A temperance meeting will be held Friday night at the church. The speakers will be Rev. Mr. Elliot and G. A. Kingston, of Campbellford.

Miss Dorcas Nixon, of Lakefield, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nixon.

Miss Bessie French and Mrs. James Cook were at Campbellford last Monday.

Misses Marie Davey and Gertrude Maynard, of Campbellford, motored to Toronto to-day.

Mrs. Redner (nee Mamie Davidson) of Rednerville, is visiting at the parents, home.

GOOD HASH.

A delicious hash is made by using meat and breadcrumbs, letting the crumbs take the place of the usual potato.

FOR LUNCHEON.

For luncheon some day serve bread toasted and dressed with a white sauce to which grated cheese has been added.

Jugo-Slavia, which is entitled to five per cent, Japan, to three fourths of one per cent, and Rumania and Greece together, to two and one fourth per cent of reparation payments, have already placed orders up to the limit of their twelve months, chiefly for machinery. The Italians who are entitled to ten per cent, and Belgium to eight, also have gone far into their allowances. The French and British orders are not proportionately so large.

EXHAUSTED WOMEN QUICKLY RESTORED

COUNTLESS thousands of women must work day after day in their homes, in offices and stores who are really unfit for their tasks. With bodies exhausted and nerves overstrained, they must get through each day by will power alone.

Such women should not be content to drag on, making their sacrifices of health, strength and even happiness. They should begin at once the upbuilding of their bodies.

Weakened bodies can quickly be restored. Amazing improvement often is shown in just a few days. Signs of returning vitality soon appear.

Wincarnis gives to wasted bodies the very elements they must have to be nourished back to vigor. For fifty years this strength giver has revivigorated weak, nervous, exhausted men and women.

If you are lacking in strength and your vital nerve force is failing, go to your druggist today and begin the safe Wincarnis treatment. A sixteen-ounce bottle, which is a fourteen-day Wincarnis treatment, is sold for $1.50 by all leading druggists. Wincarnis is so effective that only three tablespoonsful a day need be taken. Try Wincarnis at once and see the difference just a few days will bring.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Special Services Held At Fairmount Church—Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 16.—Fairmount Methodist Church held successful anniversary services on Sunday, Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B. A., of Cambridge Street Church, Lindsay, preaching morning and evening to the pleasure and profit of his hearers.

The church, which was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion, was filled to capacity for evening worship. The special selections by the choir included the anthem, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest," a duet, "Missing," by Miss I. Southam and Mr. W. Fallis, and a concluding anthem, "Open thy Windows."

As an introduction to his sermon, Rev. Mr. Barraclough made an earnest appeal to his hearers to support the Ontario Temperance Act, reminding them that this fight for cleanness, purity and sobriety is God's fight, and Right must eventually triumph, though reactionary influences must not be ignored. The deep personal interest of the speaker in the present campaign caused him to diverge from his original theme several times during his discourse, as he presented the claims of the hour in language of intense earnestness, and urged that the advantages gained through prohibition of the liquor traffic should not be lost through indifference, or lack of knowledge of the issues at stake, on the part of those favoring the retention of the Act.

The text was chosen from Galatians vi, 9: "Let us not be weary in well-doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not," and the subject was developed under three heads: (a) Growth of Christian character; (b) The removal of stumbling-blocks out of our brother's way; (c) The final goal—the establishment of the Kingdom of Righteousness upon the earth.

One hundred dollars was asked by the trustees board as a thankoffering on Sunday, and at the close of the evening service over that amount had been placed upon the plates.

Trevor Clarry

The late Trevor Clarry, beloved and only son of Judge L. F. and Mrs. Clarry, of Calgary, Alberta, was born in Millbrook twenty-two years ago. Educated at Nightingale School, Edmonton, Western Canada College, Calgary, and at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, deceased, who would probably have chosen the law as his profession, gave every promise of a brilliant career.

Previous to the accident which resulted in his death, Trevor was taking his Arts course at Columbia University, New York, his winning personality making him a general favorite with his fellow students, and with the Faculty as well.

Injured in a motor accident last July, at Fall River, Mass., when he sustained a compound fracture of the leg, deceased was removed to the French Hospital, New York, early in August. Some of the most eminent surgeons in New York were in attendance on his case, and everything that medical skill and careful nursing could suggest was done to relieve his sufferings and effect a cure. Complications set in, however, and he passed away on Saturday, October 11, when on the very threshold of his promising young manhood.

His parents spent some weeks in September with their son before returning to their home in the West, and left with the assurance that he was on the way to permanent recovery. In less than three weeks word of his grave condition was received, and though all possible haste was made to reach his bedside, before they arrived in Toronto the sad message announcing his death was wired to them.

The Misses Mabel, Gertrude, Blanche and Gussie Clarry, who had given most devoted attention to their nephew during his long illness, accompanied the remains from New York to Millbrook, reaching here on Sunday.

Besides his sorrowing parents, the immediate surviving relatives include his one sister, Miss Helen Clarry, recently a student at Havergal Hall, Toronto.

The funeral took place from the residence of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Clarry, on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m., Rev. G. S. Gervan and Rev. F. W. Howard having charge of the service. Rev. W. Buchanan, of Lethbridge, Alberta, who was returning to the West that day, remained over to be present at the funeral as a warm personal friend of the family.

The pallbearers were all college chums of the deceased, students at Toronto University, and included:—Messrs. Jack Birch, Lloyd Morgan, Harkie Johnson, Nelson Roycroft, Anglin Johnson and Charlie Henderson.

Two cars were required to convey the beautiful floral tributes which came from Calgary, Toronto, New York, Peterborough, Lindsay, Ottawa, and other points. Telegrams and letters of sympathy were also received from a wide circle of friends, the messages arriving from many points, practically extending from coast to coast.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were:—Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., Deputy-Speaker of the House of Commons; Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., and Mr. George J. Sherry, High Court registrar, of Peterborough; Mrs. (Dr.) W. Whyte, of New York; and Mrs. G. Blakeley, of Cleveland, Ohio, a cousin of Mr. Clarry, senior. Interment took place in the Presbyterian cemetery, Millbrook.

Rev. F. H. Howard had charge of anniversary services on the Keene circuit last Sunday, exchanging with Rev. A. McLaughlin, who preached anniversary sermons at the Zion appointment, the congregations filling the church comfortably afternoon and evening. Music was furnished by members of the choir from the Millbrook Church, a quartette consisting of Miss Ethel Richardson, Mrs. F. Johnston, Messrs. W. H. Coombe and G. A. Duncan, with Miss May Duncan presiding at the organ, rendering a number of selections at the two services. As probably happened in the majority of pulpits throughout Ontario on Sunday, Mr. McLaughlin gave considerable attention to the question of paramount importance at this time, presenting clearly the duty of Christian voters who desire the good of their province to vote for the retention of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Service was withdrawn at the Millbrook church in the evening out of compliment to the sister church at Zion so that as many as possible might be present on the latter's anniversary occasion.

Rev. Joseph Wilks took charge of the morning service in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, on Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. F. W Howard.

Rev. G. S. Gervan attended the meeting held in Peterborough on Monday when the claims of those opposed to church union were discussed. Over three hundred were in attendance, with probably half of the gathering in favor of the proposed union of the three churches who have practically agreed upon joining forces within the next year.

Miss Adelaide Dunhan, of Indianopolis, is visiting her uncle and cousin, Mr. G. A. and Miss May Duncan.

Misses Mary Higgs, of Whitby, and Eileen Higgs, of West Cavan, were guests of Miss Phyllis Richards over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Darling, and baby girl, "Betty," of Peterborough, were guests of Mrs. M. Staples, Cavan, and Mrs. E. S. Burnham, Millbrook, on Sunday.

VOTE FOR THE O.T.A.

Again the call is sounding, to summon to the fight,
The friends of Prohibition, the champions of right,
For the forces of John Barleycorn, in fierce, war-like array,
Flaunting their flag of Purity, are mustering for the fray,
Close with them then, ye Temperance hosts, and fight while fight ye may,
Stand firm 'gainst those, who would oppose, the good old O.T.A.

The Liquor Fiend in O.T.A.'s fast fetters, bound has lain
Four years, and bright prosperity, with all her glorious train,
Has smiled upon Ontario, full favoring, far and nigh,
Since his polluted springs were stopped and their foul streams ran dry;
'Tis true, those giant Canaanites, Bootlegging, Home-brew, Dope,
Still in the land are left, and we must with them bravely cope.

Some say that immorality, as mists of morn should flee,
And Righteousness soon flourish like a river watered tree,
Red homicide, white slavery, all rapine, wrong and crime,
Would disappear, and we should have, well, just a heaven! time,
If we, plain duty's voice obey, and flock out to the Poll,
And vote, as free Canadians should, for Government Control.

Forbid it Heaven, that we should e'er so weak, unworthy, grow,
As to lend our aid and influence to that which well we know,
Has brought to ruin countless lives of splendid promise fair,
And left its serpent trail of blight, and sorrow everywhere;
Aye, broken hearts, unhappy homes, disgrace and poverty,
Who but would blush to cast a vote for Liquor flowing free?

Can we forget the shattered wrecks we've seen go drifting by
Upon Life's sea, nor heed those wrecks, in deeper depths that lie,
The wreck of age and of sunny youth, of maiden, and little child;
The good, the great sage and savant, by vile Bacchus beguiled?
Think of the guileless maiden late by frenzied lover slain,
Think of the parents' agony, and the tears that fell like rain.

And of the drink-crazed lover, who, in pride of manhood's prime,
Soon with his life on gallows' tree, must expiate his crime,
Bringing his aged parents down in sorrow to the grave.
For love of Heaven, O, think on these, ye who of freedom rave,
And shun the awful guilt and sin of adding to the toll
Rum takes of lives, by voting for Government control.

Ye partisans of liquor, say, if since the world began,
Strong drink has ever helped to make one wiser, holier man?
For saving from destruction one, can it lay lawful claim,
Whom by its aid has risen yet to honor, wealth or fame?
How many weak ones has it helped the path of life to tread—
When comforted a sin-sick soul, or cheered a dying bed?

Good people of Ontario, you now are called to choose Between a Safe Sobriety, and this great Baal Booze.
If Booze our country will advance, to honor's stately height,
Then pray for it, and vote for it, strive for it, main and might,
If not, then down with the accursed stuff, and banish it, we say,
Cast the old Dragon out, by voting for the good O.T.A.

(Mrs.) A. F. Calder.

HIT TH' SUNSHINE.

When you are on your uppers,
Hit th' sunshine.
When there's yellow in your scuppers,
Hit th' sunshine.
When y'u very seldom grin, an' you seem to feel all in,
An' your bendin backbone shrivels till it shrinks your puddy chin,
An' yo'u've lost your cunning charm, and you don't know how to win,
Hit th' sunshine,

When y'u feel yourself a slippin',
Hit th' sunshine.
An' things are torn an' rippin',
Hit th' sunshine.
Just clench your feeble fist, give your grit a trigger twist,
An' with your on'ry conscience, turn a high brow humorist,
An' remember that all trouble is a moody mental mist,
Hit th' sunshine.

When life is rich an' rosy,
Hit th' sunshine.
An' y'u're feelin' coy an' cozy,
Hit th' sunshine.
Folks that are worth while, all wear a catchin' smile,
This spreads th' laughin' habit in a very little while.
An' they disinfect their neighborhood of ev'rything that's vile,
'Cause—they hit th' sunshine

A PLEA

(Author Unknown)

Lord, let me bring a little grace,
To every dark and gloomy place;
Let me rejoice that I can give
Some splendor to the life I live,
A little faith when I am tried,
A little joy where I abide,
A touch of friendship now and then
To mark my comradeship with men.

Lord, let me bring a little mirth
To all who share my days on earth;
Let something I have said or done
Remain when I have travelled on,
To prove the man I tried to be
And make men glad they walked with me;
A flower, a smile, a word or cheer,
Make these my gifts from year to year.

Lord, not for high renown I ask,
Let me bring merit to my task,
A fair companion I would be
For all who share life's toil with me;
When heavy burdens weigh me down
Grant me the courage not to frown,
And howsoe'er my hopes shall end,
Let me not cease to play the friend.

Lord, let me carry where I go
Some little joy to all I know,
Let these into my life be wrought,—
A little faith, a little thought,
A little mirth, a little grace
To glorify the commonplace,
Lord, let some little splendor shine
To mark this earthly course of mine.

EVENING FROCKS.

While white frocks are still most popular for evening for young women and old alike, a delicate pink is being used considerably.

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

Mortgage Burned at Gore's Landing Methodist Church.

COBOURG, Oct. 15 (Special).—A notable gathering was held by the Gore's Landing Methodist Church at Rice Lake on Monday night, of which Rev. F. J. Horwood is pastor, which was marked by the unique event of burning the mortgage on the new church there, erected about four years ago during the pastorate of Capt. Rev. E. Horston, now of Woodville. This charge consists of only about twenty families. As a new church building was an absolute necessity, they went heroically at the task and put up a neat structure at a cost approximately of $7,520. The greater amount of the cost was paid at time of the dedication of the church, but $1,300 remained unpaid. Last week a canvass was made and this amount was paid in. In addition, the congregation placed $169 on the plates as a thankoffering on Sunday. Capt. Horstan preached on Sunday at both services. On Monday evening an entertainment was held, at which Capt. Horston gave a fine address. Miss Ventress, of Colborne, with recitations; Miss Earle and Miss Marion Runciman, of Cobourg, with vocal solos; assisted in the programme with much acceptance. On Sunday evening a choir of Young People from Cobourg led the service of praise and sang two anthems.

Duck Supper at Harwood

The Sheiks champions of the Cobourg softball league of twelve teams, accompanied by a number of their friends, enjoyed very much a duck supper on Thursday evening at the new hotel at Harwood. They report a very enjoyable time.

Fenella Anniversary

Rev. S. A. Kemp, of Warkworth, preached anniversary sermons in the Fenella Methodist Church on Sunday, and was heard with much acceptance. The usual tea meeting, or fowl supper, was dispensed with, and the ladies of Fenella instead are serving a hot dinner and a fowl supper on Friday at Roseneath Fair.

A Triangular Exchange

The coming to Gore's Landing on Sunday last of Rev. E. Horston to preach anniversary sermons resulted in a triangular exchange. Rev. A. R Edmeson, Little Britain, went to the Woodville circuit to conduct anniversary services at the Hartley appointment, and Rev. F. J. Horwood, Camborne, preached on the Little Britain circuit in the afternoon and at Woodville at night.

ALONE WITH OURSELF.

Did you ever try gettin' away from the crowd and fadin' away from the world? Most anyone's mind, if it's really allowed, works oddly as thoughts are unfurled.

To stretch by a stream and just leisurely dream is good for a soul, so they say. The thoughts of the past linger in but don't last, for the future ones drive them away.

It's good for a man just to loaf when he can and let his mind run as it will. No rush and no hurry; no reason for worry if time is the thing you must kill.

Go on, do your planning while scenery scanning; just flop in the beckoning grass; such thoughts as might fret you; well, don't let them get you, but rather allow them to pass.

When e'er your mind's gropin', get out in the open, and put heavy thoughts on the shelf. Don't let worry tease you; you'll find it will ease you to just get alone with yourself.

REVELATIONS OF YOUR SOLE!

Now Science Reads Between The Lines Of Your Feet To Learn What Are Your Characteristics and Habits.

BY GENE COHN

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—What does your sole reveal?

It may be that you can read character in a person's face, or from the shape of the hands—but can you tell who puts the best foot forward?

Recently a French specialist declared that the feet betray characteristics as readily as the head or hands, and now comes Dr. William M. Scholl, national authority on the foot and just returned from a European trip, to explain how, within given limitations, to read pedatal personality.

He says the feet betray many secrets.

Of course, many a distinguished woman has crushed what character her feet may have had in tight shoes. But this very crushing process in itself betrays a vanity or a tendency to be style bound.

But to get your mind on your feet, as it were, here are a few observations that might be made at bedtime or in the morning:

The active, alert races of the world have well-arched feet. Note the Greek sculptural works and you will see strong, supple, high-arched feet.

As civilization slides downward the feet tend more and more toward the aboriginal and the feet grow flatter, with a clumsy shuffling walk. It is hard to imagine a leader of men having a bad case of flat foot.

The sentimental foot: it is long, thin and tapering, as are the hands. This indicates an artistic temperament, sensitiveness and a capacity for much love. A thoroughbred horse has such lines.

The practical foot; it is squarely built and firm and not particularly beautiful. It has not been disorted by trick styles in shoes. Common sense is indicated by squareness. This person has not surrendered to vanities but has thought of comfort and usage. It is solid.

The vagrant or wanderer's foot; it is flat from misuse and lack of care. It spreads loosely with toes well separated.

The timid foot; this is to be found chiefly in the unrounded, somewhat flat foot of the growing girl. It has poor muscular control and indicates indecision and timidity.

The rugged foot; it is to be found chiefly in the British Isles, a rugged, unspoiled foot. It is short and chunky and may be found in mountain people and those who live hardy lives.

The American foot; it is not as chunky as the English foot, but where care in footwear has been used it is short, muscular and well squared. It indicates specialization and vitality.

The criminal foot; it is likely to be distorted or to resemble a claw. In the case of a drug addict it is likely to be bony and the flesh white from impaired circulation. Emaciation is shown more quickly in the feet than probably any other part of the body.

The adventurous foot; it shows rough usage. It is likely to be bunioned and out of form. Is lacking in care and well worn and muscled. Frequently is found in policemen and others who use their feet a great deal.

"Of course," conludes Dr. Scholl, "sole reading is no more 100 per cent certain than palm reading, but in general way you can classify a person's characteristics."

Do you recognize your foot in any of these types? In the center is Miss Muriel Martin displaying a practical foot. No. 1 is the sentimental or artistic foot. No. 2 is the timid, indecisive foot—the type found in growing girls; No. 3 is the adventurous foot, showing the marks of wear and tear; No. 4 is the rugged, self-formed American foot; No. 5 is the foot of a vagrant, a typical foot to be found in reformatories.

DEVELOPE YOUR PERSONALITY

ASK THESE QUESTIONS.

Take an inventory of your character qualities. What do you lack? Adjustments, improving your whole personal aspect, are easily made once you put your finger on your weaknesses. The following questions should help you to identify your faults, those faults and habits that detract from your personality:

1. Is my desire to develop my personality merely a vague dream?
2. Have I the ability to drive myself into doing a thing?
3. Can I do things that are distasteful to me? Even though I know the results are good?
4. How many times have I failed to accomplish a task I set myself to?
5. Do my associates consider me dependable?
6. Am I merely a dreamer—a talker, not a doer?
7. Am I an unimportant figure among my associates?
8. Do people generally ignore me?
9. Am I a poor conversationalist?
10. Can I express myself clearly? Is my voice timid?
11. Do I talk too much? Am I too forward?
12. Do I reflect interest in things that are told me?
13. Do I affect sophistication? Boredom? Do I know that appearing bored cannot favorably impress anyone? That it usually antagonizes people?
14. Am I a good listener?
15. Am I ignorant of the usual courtesies one expects in conversational association.

CRASH

A 10-ton steel safe, being hoisted to a high window, breaks loose and falls nine floors with a terrific crash, in Boston. For years millions of Americans have stood around watching safes dangling from cables, hoping to see such a catastrophe. And when it happens, only a few people are nearby to witness it.

The spectator loves calamity—provided he isn't one of the victims. The only reason people watch a safe-hoisting is the hope they'll see it fall, just as the possibility of seeing a driver killed draws swarms to auto races.

LATEST FACTS ABOUT RADIO

The return to the United States of the explorer Donald B. MacMillan, who with his crew has been ice-bound in the Arctic regions for 16 months, promises to bring us new knowledge of some of the mysteries of radio. The success of the MacMillan party in transmitting and receiving messages while their ship was wedged in the polar ice has been one of the most dramatic achievements in radio communication.

The chief purpose of the expedition was that of scientific investigation. MacMillan's observations about the movements of glaciers, which he once said were threatening another ice age, and his studies of the effects of atmospheric electricity and terrestrial magnetism, are certain to add important contributions to scientific knowledge.

From the frozen North to the South Seas, radio is demonstrating its power to carry entertainment to the people of the earth.

Not long ago, at one o'clock in the morning, a vast audience of listeners in Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, Chile, Peru, Equador, the Philippine Islands, China, Fiji Islands and various islands of Polynesia enjoyed a special program broadcast by Station KGO at Oakland, Calif. The governors of Pacific Coast states took part in the program.

The first Canadian city to provide public radio concerts for its people is Toronto, where a powerful loud-speaker has been installed on the 365-foot tower of the City Hall. Entertainment broadcast from stations in the United States and Canada is carried clearly to the streets below.

In the first test with the city's receiving set, a 12-tube Superultradyne, an instrumental number broadcast from Washington, D. C., was reported to have been heard for several blocks. Market quotations sent out by a Chicago station were heard distinctly two blocks away.

Thus radio takes its place as the modern village crier.

Russia soon will add vast numbers to the army of broadcast listeners, if recent reports are correct. These dispatches say that the Soviet Government not only will permit the construction of home-made sets, but that the Government will go into the business of manufacturing sets to be sold at popular prices.

Although Russia has 40 high power transmission stations, most of them have been used for ordinary radio telegraph communication. Now, the reports say, many of these plants will be devoted to the broadcasting of programs. It is possible that under exceptional conditions of winter-time reception, their signals may be heard occasionally in the United States.

THE BOY WAS RIGHT.

A young entrance pupil, writing on the June examination in composition at a certain Ontario centre, contributed the following choice bit of literature:

"An editor is a man who edits a paper. Some editors use a pen to write with, but some use a sissors. Lots of editors gets news from scribers. Some editors are Fairisees. All editors lie. An editor that can't lie ain't no good for an editor. An editor should like gossip. Women'd make good editors only editors must keep secrets. An editor never has any money. Once an editor got ten dollars and it made him crazy. An editor never wants any pay for his paper and some people never think of paying an editor. When an editor gets a free ticket, he has to give a dollar's worth of free advertising in advance. More people know how to edit the paper than the editors do. The only stumbling block is that they can't run them machines that cast the type. If the editor asks for his pay for his paper, the fellow gets mad, so it is cheaper to borrow his neighbor's paper. Some editors are not afraid of men. I once knew a woman that frightened an editor and made him crawl under a table. If you are nice to an editor he will say nice things about you in his paper."

(This boy is said to have passed with honors).

TULLE SCARFS.

Tulle scarfs may match the frock in colour or they may differ. Violet tulle with a grey frock, or red with black, or orchid with pink, are successful combinations.

DO YOU ENVY HER, GIRLS?

Mrs. Smith Wilkinson, Nottingham, England, is said to spend more money for clothes than any woman in the world. She has also been referred to as the "best-dressed woman." Her expenditures for less than a year were placed at $150,000. Well, here she is, ladies! and you can figure out for yourself whether she gets her money's worth. The young gentleman at the right is her very youthful husband.

Mrs. Rose Peters

Toronto Woman Advises Young Mothers

Toronto, Ont.—"During all my years of wifehood and motherhood I have had such great comfort from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that I do not hesitate to recommend it to other women who need strength and help during expectancy. Favorite Prescription relieved me of all nausea, or sick stomach, and kept me well and strong. I took this splendid tonic and nervine during each of my four expectant periods and I feel quite sure that my babies were just as greatly benefited as I myself, for they were plump and exceedingly healthy from the first moment."—Mrs. Rose Peters, No. 257 Sackville Street.

Health is most important to every woman. You cannot afford to neglect it when your neighborhood druggist can supply you with Favorite Prescription, in tablets or liquid This Prescription is made in Dr Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont. Send 10 cents there if you wish a trial package.

NEWS OF OMEMEE.

Temperance Meeting Held In the Village—Social Events.

OMEMEE, Oct. 17—The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. H. Hall, on Thursday afternoon. About twenty members were in attendance The President, Mrs. T. E. MacPherson, presided in her usual bright and efficient manner. Following the opening Ode, roll call etc, a report of the Institute basket was given. This, a new idea for raising money, was started last month, each member contributing some article to be the basket and then bringing something out of it, each price being set by the contributor and duly put in a book which travels with the basket. The money paid for an article is dropped into a sealed box, the contents of which amounted to something over $5.00 for the first month This month all articles given will be of the home-made variety.

The Institute members have pieced three quilts, two of which will be quilted on Friday afternoon at the home of the President.

During the afternoon, Mrs. F. Hart, nee Vivian Parsons, was made the recipient of three table spoons as a slight remembrance from the Society. The hostesses were Mrs. Sloan, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Morcombe.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. McGinness.

Sunday, October 19th., will be observed as Childrens' Day in the Anglican churches, all over the Dominion. The special sermon in Christ Church, Omemee, will be a communion service at 8 a.m. for teachers and parents and all interested in Sunday School work. This will be followed by Sunday School at 10 a.m. and a special Children's service at 7 p.m at which the Rev. Mr. Feirheller, of Bethany, will be the speaker.

On Sunday morning, the Rev. E. W. Rowland, pastor of the Methodist church and Rev. J. A. Black, pastor of the Presbyterian church, exchanged pulpits and each directed their discourse on the line of Temperance. In the evening both pulpits were occupied by prominent speakers from Lindsay, engaged in the plebiscite campaign, Mr. W. W. Staples speaking in the Methodist church and Mr. Kitchener in the Presbyterian.

On Tuesday evening, a public meeting was held in Coronation Hall in the interests of the O.T.A. Splendid addresses were given by Magistrate Bradford, Newton Smale, and Dr. Kirkconnell of Lindsay.

Rev. E. W. Rowland acted as chairman and spoke a few words during the programme as did also Rev. Mr. Black. The musical numbers consisted of The Maple Leaf Forever, solo Miss Lila Parsons, chorus by several young ladies, "Keep the Foe Retreating", and a temperance chorus set to the tune of "Let the Lower Lights be Burning" which was heartily sung by the entire audience.

There are about 450 names on the Voters' List in Omemee, which means an average of about 45 votes to be cast each hour. Make sure of your vote by being early.

Among those who attended a Deanery meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of this district, at Bobcaygeon on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. H. McQuade, Mrs. Charles Bent, Mr and Mrs W. G. Stephenson, Rev. A. T. and Mrs. Weir, Misses A. and R. Stephenson, Misses E. and L. Curry, Mrs. R. J. Adams, Mrs. F. Clemett and Miss E. Robinson.

TRY FOR CHANGE.

"Where are you going for your vacation?" a friend asked Mr. Mann of Anytown.

"Same ol' place. Salt Creek!" replied Mr. Mann.

"Why don't you ever change?"

"Too much trouble finding a new place."

That's the attitude of many vacationers. And it isn't a particularly good one to adopt, if the proper results are to be gotten.

The fundamental purpose of a vacation is to allow a complete change of life, habits, surroundings and people. There should be a change of scenery, a change of food, change of the preparation of food.

In such vacations lie psychological values that result in the greatest benefits of the vacationer. A return to the same place year after year; a meeting of the same people—all such samenesses leave little to the imagination and offer few surprises. In brief, they are all right but they are psychologically off key.

The ideal vacation would be one in which all persons could go back to boyhood simplicity of mind ond play; complete making over.

Since this is impossible to most folks, get the next best thing: as complete a change as is possible each year.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

The redingote is a new and altogether logical development of the vogue of narrow coats and the tailored note in street dress.

THIS Autumn the black satin slip is the foundation of many smart costumes in the same wardrobe. With the new redingote of wool rep, kasha, faille silk or cashmere, you have a very chic semi-tailored street costume which has quite the effect of a narrow coat over a sheath frock. With the same satin slip you can have a decidedly elegant afternoon frock by wearing it with a tunic blouse of printed Georgette. With a lace tunic blouse you have an informal dinner dress. This particular version of the redingote came from Paris and has the new Chinese collar and braid trimming.

HUNTING MOOSE AND DEER.

For many years hunters from Ontario have realized that the very best hunting grounds are located in the vicinity of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Hunting clubs, as well as small parties, appreciate the necessity of arrangements made in advance. Canadian Pacific agents are qualified to give you accurate information as to where deer, moose and big game can be found. They are plentiful in the French River district to Sudbury from French River; along the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Sudbury to Chapleau, and also in the Maritime Provinces, as well as in the district around Sharbot Lake.

Ask any Canadian Pacific agent for a copy of the Hunters' Pamphlet or write W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R. Building, Toronto. 10,17,24,31

An inventor in England has designed a registering meter for measuring fine coal, grain, and other material which is loaded through chutes. The device consists of a bar of metal, twisted to form a screw of very long pitch, which nearly fills the chute. The coal or grain, falling down the chute, flows around this screw and makes it turn. A meter is attached to the screw and adjusted so that it registers the quantity of material that flows past; the hand on the meter dial gives a direct reading, usually in tons.

ARCTIC NIGHT A MYTH

No Perpetual Darkness in the Winter—Idyllic Summer.

A good many of our illusions about the Arctic regions have been dispelled in recent years by explorers who have penetrated into the uncharted seas. The awful silence of the North, the darkness of the long Arctic night, the absence of life and movement—they are all a myth.

Mr Harold Noice, a young man who was "apprenticed" to Stefansson eight years ago, and who has since become an explorer on his own account, may be regarded as a reliable witness in these matters.

He has written a book, "With Stefansson in the Arctic" (Harrap) which records the first impressions of a traveller in the Far North.

"It was now December 6, and here on Banks Island we were 300 miles north of the Arctic Circle. Now or never the perpetual darkness should appear, but we saw none of it.

"Every day there were at least five hours of light that was sufficient for travelling purposes. We did not see the sun itself, but it tinted the sky a beautiful red and pink as it circled round from east to west just below the southern horizon.

No Death-Like Silence

"As to the continuous, death-like silence, it really isn't there. In summer, when navigating through the icefields there is the bumping and crashing of the boat against the ice, and cakes of ice are constantly overturning with a splash that can be heard for miles.

"Then there is the noise of innumerable birds, loons, ducks, swans, gulls, cranes, all trying to talk at once.

A summer scene in an island 77 deg north, just after a snowfall that has been melted by the sun, is thus described:—

"Between me and the shore load—where a mother eider-duck and her young brood swim and cluck contentedly —stretches a soft green carpet of grass and moss. Wild flowers, like tiny sweet-peas, blue and pink and purple, bloom along the brook close by. White and yellow butterflies flutter abut, while beetles and and ants tumble in and out of the crevices in the moss wall."

There is no lack of food for the hunting and killing. Caribou, bear, oribos, wolf and seal, besides birds and their eggs.

"Our new discovery," says the author, "which has been named Meighan Island, is the nesting place for the rare Hutchin's goose, and they could be heard cackling and honking everywhere inland. We had eggs for breakfast, eggs for lunch and eggs at supper-time — boiled eggs, fried eggs, scrambled eggs, north latitude 80 de. and fresh eggs to eat!"

NEWS OF WARSAW.

Gordon Sharpe Had Arm Broke While Cranking a Car.

WARSAW, Oct. 16.—On Monday forenoon Gordon Sharpe, who had just that morning gone to work for Mr. Frank Harding broke his arm cranking the car.

Mrs. A. F. Choate is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Norman Bell, Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. E. Choate and family left Sunday morning for a motor trip to Essex.

Mrs. Wm. Wasson and daughter Ruth, spent Sunday with old friends in the village.

Mr. Ben White, Peterboro, is visiting friends in and near Warsaw.

Mr. Frank Harding arrived home unexpectedly on Thursday after his four weeks in the hospital in Ottawa. He can go around a little by using crutches.

Mrs. Ed. Payne returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. Archie Carveth, Lakefield, visited his mother on Sunday.

Rev. W. Atkinson is in Toronto this week.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frankish on Friday, October 10th, a son.

Walter Gallagher returned home on Saturday.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Aiken, held from her home to Warsaw cemetery, on Saturday afternoon, was largely attended. Rev. W. Atkinson, assisted by Rev. F. G. Weir, conducted services. The pall-bearers who were chosen by herself, were: Dr. Munro, Messrs. A. F. Choate, Nathan Payne, Paul Payne, E. R. Hamblin and Wallace Anderson. There were many beautiful flowers.

Mrs. Aiken will be much missed in this district. There are but few homes in which she has not been, and always to help in time of sickness. She had a very soothing voice and manner, and a gentle hand; no trouble to much, if it made a patient more comfortable. For the past five years she has been far from well, and must often have helped alleviate suffering, when she herself was hardly able to keep up. Even during the last week she regretted her inability to be with a patient.

Bethel holds its anniversary services next Sunday.

Warsaw Methodist Church will hold no service except the Sunday School, when special temperance work will be taken up.

The Presbyterians at Warsaw and Cottesloe will hold a field day for the O.T.A. on Sunday.

At 11 a.m. Sunday, Mrs. R. J. Weir and Mr. H. P. Cowan from Peterboro will address the people in the Warsaw Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Atkinson will conduct the regular afternon services at Cottesloe and at 7.30 p.m. Mrs. Weir and Mr. Cowan will speak at Cottesloe. In Warsaw at 7.30 p.m. Mr. Atkinson will conduct the Union service in the Presbyterian church and he and Dr. Munro will speak.

Good congregations attended the Methodist Anniversary services on Sunday morning and evening. A union choir gave excellent music and though the organ pump went down during the evening service they gave their anthem and led the singing.

Rev. M. Beddick of Lakefield conducted the morning service and preached in the evening. The morning text was taken from Jeremiah 6:16, and the evening one was "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul.

ONE PRAYING FAMILY IN COUNTY.

Pointing to a map of Essex and Kent counties, Ontario, which in the past century has given many religious leaders to the Dominion, Rev. George N. Hazen, D.D., of Blenheim, recently gave Windsor Methodists an eye-opener as to the godless conditions found by the first preachers as they guided their horses through the bush settlements. Nathan Bangs, the first itinerant, visited Wardsville, Thamesville, Jeanette's Creek and finally Sandwich and Detroit in 1804. The next year his successor, William Case, made the same rounds and reports finding only one praying family in the whole peninsula.

Dr. Hazen told of the putting of gunpowder into the [illegible] of the candles in a room at the hamlet of Sandwich where Bangs was to preach. The lads sat with mingled anticipation and fear, but service was over before the first sputtering explosion came. But that was a minor difficulty compared with the moral conditions resulting from religious isolation. Families that were left for years without educational or church facilities lapsed badly, particularly in Northwest Essex, a hundred and twenty years ago.

Dr. Hazen's tracing of the journeyings of the beloved missionaries up and down the Thames valley and Essex peninsula from Ingersoll to Malden served as an introduction to a year of study and celebration in connection with the centenary of the Methodist Missionary Society. In his audience was John Milne, 86 years of age, and the earliest Sunday School superintendent in the county, who was able to tell of progress made since the systematic instruction of the children in religion began. The district will conduct public celebrations of the missionary centenary throughout Essex in November.

FABLES ON HEALTH

A fully equipped radio set includes not only the parts actually in use, but tools and spare parts for emergency use.

Besides the every-day tools, such as pliers, screw drivers and other necessary implements, the radio fan should be supplied with apparatus that keeps his batteries in good shape at all times, and others that may be substituted when those in use break down.

A storage battery charger will more than repay the fan for its cost in saving trips to charging stations, besides cost of charging. A hydrometer is necessary to keep tab of the battery solution, and a bottle of distilled water is another necessity.

The battery should be kept on a rubber pad or a tray to keep the carpet or floor from soiling.

A spare tube should always be on hand, in case one in use burns out.

And for the fan who likes to test various hook-ups, test clips can save him from useless soldering jobs. When the fan finally decides on a "permanent" circuit, his electric soldering iron, with its accompanying rosin powder and solder, comes in handy.

SQUADS WILL WAGE SCIENTISTS' WARS

Handful of Men Will Annihilate Cities at Command of Chemists, Professor Declares.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Science is man's greatest servant and his worst enemy, according to Professor Harvey B. Lemon, of the Physics Department of the University of Chicago, in speaking of the branch of learning to which he has devoted his life.

"Professor Lemon has painted a word picture of the next year, in a lecture to a class of the university.

"Perhaps in twenty years armies will be unnecessary, and a small group of men, equipped with deadly devices, will destroy great centers of population at a single stroke, as they are ordered by their commanders," Dr. Lemon told his classes.

The lecturer stated that men, women and children would perish at the will of scientists, and entire centers of population will be annihilated in a few moments by the simple pulling of a lever or pushing a button, which may control the devices of the scientists that will wage the wars.

"Scientists," the profesor concluded, "will absolutely control the wars, and a mere 'corporal's guard' will wage them."

SHORT SKIRTS VOGUE

Paris Cuts at Least Five Inches Off Last Year's Length.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Rouged shoulders and peacock feathers entered the fashion lists today.

Regine Flory, whose sensational attempt at suicide this Summer apparently has not spoiled her beauty or her daring, introduced the first innovation, while Mrs. Walter Passish, of New York, wore the feathers as a quaint trimming to a white clinging gown of watered silk.

Skirts Much Higher.

Another noticeable fact today was the increasing tendency of skirts to mount toward the knees. At least five inches have been cut off last year's popular length.

Sleeves are returning to favor for the first time since the war.

A daring attempt by two dressmakers to reintroduce the shirtwaist failed dismally.

ANOTHER AERIAL.

If you have trouble tuning out a station to get another, try dropping a wire out of the window and using it in place of the regular antenna. Try to make this wire at least 30 feet long.

SWEDEN PROTECTS EAGLES.

Government Issue Decree Forbidding Their Killing.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17.—The Swedish Government has issued a decree prohibiting the killing of eagles. This is a step in the nation-wide movement for conservation of nature and animal life, and is mainly the result of the efforts of "Sweden's John Burroughs", Bengt Berg, who has aroused great enthusiasm through his books and films.

Other recent measures taken in the conservation movement are the opening of a special preserve for "vilents," a species of European buffalo, and also for the Swedish beaver, in order to prevent their dying out.

PIPERS HAD A BUSY DAY AT NORWOOD FAIR

Piping, Singing and Dancing Were the Features.

At Norwood Fair on Wednesday the ePterboro Kilty Band had a busy day satisfying the numerous requests to hear the rendition of the pipes also the numerous dances they put on around the Exhibition Grounds.

On arriving at Norwood the Kilties played to the Fair Grounds and recived an enthusiastic reception on entering. Thereafter, they played up and down the various roads along the midways. At the north stand Messrs. Smith and Henry rendered a humorous sketch; also a number of tunes by th eband. Later, they occupied the grand stand, near the race track, and entertained the great audience to pipe music and singing. Piper Samuel Thomson, danced the Highland Fling and the sword dance to the strains of the bagpipes played by Piper Alex Milne. As a special request, of Dr. Munro of Warsaw, the Band members danced an eightsome reel and Highland reel.

PLEATS ARE IN

If theskirt of this season is not pleated all the way around it is quite sure to have pleated sections or inserts.

FOR BEST RESULTS.

Two sets exactly alike in construction may not get the same results in reception. For highest efficiency extreme care must be taken in tuning in, in use of the tubes and in the general co-ordination of all parts.

JOHN WESLEY'S BROAD MINDEDNESS

In the face of the religious controversy which has raged during the last few months between what is known as modernism and fundamentalism it is interesting to direct one's attention to the fact that the greatest of the Protestant denominations in point of numbers is one of the few sects that has escaped the bitter debate. The Methodist Episcopal Church has been able to present a statement of its basic tenets which has commanded the unanimous allegiance of its representative body, the quadrennial general conference. William E. Brigham writing to the Boston Transcript from Washington explains:

The reason for this singular unanimity is entertainingly set forth in a little study of John Wesley, prepared under the title of "Back to Wesley," by Frank W. Collier, of American University, whose Bible class has grown to be one of the famous institutions of Washington. Far be it from this correspondence to engage in a religious discussion, however; the only purpose is to set forth Dr. Collier's discovery of the founder of Methodism as among the first of the evolutionists and through that discovery to explain why his followers today find warrant in regarding with sympathy a point of view which at least has avoided for them some of the embarrassments and antagonisms of forensic discussion.

Wesley's Broad-Mindedness.

In his study of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism and one of the epoch-making men of the Christian Church, Dr. Collier discovered that Wesley was not only one of the broadest minded of the founders of denominations, but that he gloried in this broad-mindedness; and while for a half a century he devoted himself to itinerant preaching, incidentally becoming one of the greatest scholars of his age, he kept up a lively interest in almost every branch of knowledge, including the sciences.

This broad-mindedness in religion, with Wesley's intense thirst for knowledge, explains his attitude towards the paysical sciences. Dr. Collier shows that Wesley considered it his religious duty, as no one else had done it or would do it in his day, to make a compilation of the results of the physical science of his time. But the science of Wesley's day, as of our own, could not be reconciled with a literal interpretation of the Bible. Wesley found no trouble there. With marvelous good sense for a loyal churchman of his period he set forth clearly that the supreme aim of the Bible was to teach religion, and that science and history were incidental. Dr. Collier cites the following comment of Wesley on the third chapter of Genesis to prove that Wesley did not go to the Bible for his science:

"The inspired penman in this history, writing for the Jews first, and calculating his narrative for the infant state of the church, describes things by their outward sensible appearances, and leaves to us, by further discoveries of the divine light, to be led into the understanding of the mysteries couched under them."

As An Evolutionist.

That Dr. Collier finds Wesley to have been almost "obsessed" with the idea of evolution will come as a revelation to many readers. He even shows that Wesley abridged the work on physical science by Bonnet, who coined the word" evolution," and published it with his own on the same subject. But Dr. Collier seeks to be perfectly fair. He points out that Wesley did not, in his conception of evolution, get beyond what is known as special creation. But he also makes clear that practically all in Wesley's day were in the same position, and so was Darwin until 1854, until after his study on Galapagos Island. This entire section devoted to evolution is astonishing, as it reveals Wesley as using language which might well have come, with no change whatever, from the pen of Darwin. Here is a sample, in which Wesley reaches a climax where he seems to be overcome with the marvelous gradation and progression in nature, and closes with what might be termed the evolutionist's doxology: "By what degrees does nature raise herself up to man? How will she rectify this head that is always inclined toward the earth? How change these paws into flexible arms? What method will she make use of to transform these crooked feet into supple and skilful hands? Or how will she widen and extend this contracted stomach....The ape is this rough man....and is the last creature that served to display the admirable progression of the works of God." That the general idea of evolution, gradual, orderly, progressive change is expressed by these words cannot be questioned. The book abounds in quotations of like significance.

Wesley connot be claimed exclusively by the Methodists, for, although the founder of Methodism, he belongs to the general Christian church; and modern Christians might learn something from him in his attitude toward those movements which are not strictly religious.

GREENLAND FLAPPER WEARS SIX-POUND BEAD NECKLACE, TROUSERS, BEARSKIN BLOUSE

DOROTHY MIX (ABOVE), SISTER OF DONALD MIX, DR. MACMILLAN'S RADIO OPERATOR IN THE FAR NORTH, AND A GREENLAND FLAPPER DOLL. MARY C. FASSETT, 9, DRESSED IN A FAR NORTH FLAPPER COSTUME BROUGHT BACK BY MACMILLAN.

BY HAROLD MATSON

WISCASSET, Me., Oct. 8.—Heavy beaded necklaces, forming a yoke six inches deep and weighing as much as six pounds, are being worn by the well-dressed flapper of Greenland to-day.

Dr. Donald B. MacMillan, arctic explorer, returns to his home port here with that message:

"You may talk about your chic flappers of Paris and New York," the arctic veteran says, "but none of them has the style nor the imagination for color that is exhibited in the dress of girls in southern Greenland towns."

Dr. MacMillan brough home with him several of the Greenland "flapper" costumes.

The yoke of beads, which has already created quite a stir in designers' circles, is as colorful as the most riotous flower garden," Dr. MacMillan explains.

"But the clashing colors do not clash, it seems," he continues, "perhaps because of the artistic effect the Greenland flapper has in her background—that of solid white snow."

The Greenland blouse is sealskin or bearskin and is worn in any color desirable—for American dye makers have distributed their product well through the Greenland regions.

The blouse is, in effect, a tunic, for it fits over the flapper's trim trousers. The trousers are of hide and they too, may be seen in any color. And then, reaching to the Greenland lassies' capable knees, high sealskin boots are being worn. These are bleached white.

"The whole effect," Dr. MacMillan describes, "is one of a flower garden. Down both sides of the streets walk these Greenland girls in their colorful outfits. You can travel all over Greenland and you'll find not two costumes alike.

"Each girl makes her own clothes so each exhibits a bit of originality."

The crew of the Bowdoin, the explorer's arctic schooner, is somewhat silent about these Greenland girls, but Dr. MacMillan laughs and admits:

"If we were behind time in coming home you might suspect that we lingered in southern Greenland ports."

LIVELY MEETING HELD IN TORONTO

Albert Britnell, Well Known Toronto Book Seller, Died From Heart Failure.

TORONTO, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—What at first promised to be a quiet, orderly conducted debate on the plebiscite, held under the auspices of the League of Women Voters, in the Foresters' Hall last night, between I. F. Helmuth, K.C., president of the Moderation League of Ontario, and Rev. Ben. Spence, for the Ontario Plebiscite Committee, turned out to be an exciting affair, and but for the tact of the chairman, might have ended in disorder. A tragic incident during Mr. Spence's address occurred when Albert Britnell, well-known Toronto bookseller, suddenly fell from his chair and was carried out of the hall unconscious, and almost immediately expired. Death was due to heart failure.

When Mr. Britnell was being carried out, some man in the audience yelled out, "That's what booze does."

"Who said that," angrilly blazed Mr. Spence. "Give me your name and come to the platform. That's a cowardly thing to say. That man is Mr. Albert Britnell, a warm, personal friend of mine. I repeat it's a cowardly thing to say."

By this time the audience had reached the high state of excitement which had been aroused by Mr. Spence's heated words and called for the man to go on the platform. He did not do so, although had Mr. Spence not resumed his interrupted speech, several men in the audience would have dragged him forward. From then on the audience became more restless and inclined to show feeling. Both factions participated in in the interruptions.

HOW VOTE WENT ON PLEBISCITE

Questions In 1919 Were Analogous To Present Ballot.

Government Control.

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (By Canadian Press).—Following are figures, as assembled by the Prohibition Union of Canada, showing the result of the voting on the liquor question in Ontario in November, 1919, when the electorate was asked to vote for or against continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act. There has been one vote on the liquor question since then, in May, 1921, in Ontario. This vote, however, was practically a federal government referendum to settle the question of importation of liquor by private individuals. The 1919 vote is analagous to the forthcoming plebiscite, in that it asked for an expression of opinion on whether or not the O.T.A. should be abolished, and whether or not a more extensive sale of liquor under government control should be permitted in Ontario.

On the question in 1919: "Are you in favor of the repeal of the O.T.A.?" 370,248 votes were cast in the affirmative and 777,537 against. Two other questions, dealing with the sale of light wines and beers, were answered in the negative by a majority of approximately 350,000 votes. On a fourth question, dealing with government control, such as is proposed in this year's ballot, the same number of votes were cast, but the majority against government control was about 240,000, whereas the majority against the abolition of the O.T.A. was 407,289. That is, nearly 70,000 people who opposed the repeal of the O.T.A. also voted for some system of government control.

On the present ballot only two questions are asked, affecting, firstly, the continuance of the O.T.A., and, secondly, the proposal to establish sale of beverages under government control.

In the 1919 plebiscite, Peterborough voted 6,078 for the O.T.A., and 3,224 for government control.

WORKING

European industries in 1921 were producing only 61 per cent. as much as in 1913. The figure now has risen to 84 per cent., according to the economists, Jacoby and Stillich.

Wise Providence retards recovery until war hatreds cool off. If Europe hadn't suffered intensely after the World War, her politicians would have another one under way by now. The headache of the "morning after" curbs a drunkard's thirst.

CAPACITY.

The iron and steel industry within another fortnight or month will probably have recovered sufficiently from depression to be producing at a rate of 75 per cent. of capacity or full-time operations.

But the steel industry over-built during the war boom. Its capacity now is half greater than before the war. This giant industry, wailing because it's operating at 60 per cent. of capacity now, is actually producing almost as much as in 1913. The nation still measures by comparing with wartime instead of normal peacetime.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Six sweetened stewed prunes, 3-4 cup cooked cereal, 2 slices broiled bacon, 1 poached egg, 1 cup cream of potato soup, cheese ramikin, 2 small pickled beets, 4 ounces broiled herring, 2 tablespoons lemon butter, 3 tablespoons shoestring potatoes, 3-4 cup stewed tomatoes, 1 cup shredded celery cabbage with sour cream dressing, 2 tablespoons lemon sponge, 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 1-2 inch square ginger bread, 4 macaroons, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 tablespoons table cream, 1 toasted bran muffin, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 2 dinner rolls, 1 tablespoon orange marmalade, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 3784. Protein, 397; fat, 1722; carbohydrate, 1665. Iron, .0174 gram.

Cheese Ramikin (Individual)

One-quarter cup stale bread crumbs from the soft part of loaf, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 tablespoons finely chopped cheese, dash mustard, 1-8 teaspoon salt, paprika, 1 tablespoon butter.

Sprinkle a well-buttered mold or cup with bread crumbs. Beat egg well with milk and cheese, salt and mustard and pour over bread crumbs. Cover with remaining crumbs and dot with butter. Bake in a pan of hot water for 25 or 30 minutes. When firm to the touch remove from the oven and serve at once.

Total calories, 343. Protein, 8; fat, 237; carbohydrate, 20. Iron, .0015 gram.

LOSE WEIGHT.

Three large or four small unsweetened stewed prunes, 1 poached egg, 4 ounces broiled herring, 3-4 cup stewed cabbage, 2 tablespoons lemon sponge, 1 macaroon, 1 pint skimmed milk, 1 toasted bran muffin, 2 slices gluten bread, 1 apple.

Total calories, 1077. Protein, 251; fat, 226; carbohydrate, 600. Iron, .0162 gram.

Lemon Sponge.

One tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, grated rind and juice of 2 lemons, 2-3 cup sugar, 3 eggs (whites), 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Soak gelatin in cold water for 15 minutes. Let the grated lemon rind stand in the boiling water for 10 or 15 minutes and strain over sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved and add to gelatin. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. When mixture is cool stir in lemon juice. Let stand until jelly begins to set. Then beat with a wire whisk until frothy. Add whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry and beat mixture until stiff. Turn a mold to chill and become firm.

Total calories, 799. Protein, 108; fat, 14; carbohydrate, 677. Iron, .0013 gram.

LOSE WEIGHT.

Four large unsweetened stewed prunes, 1 cup clam bouillon, 4 tablespoons baked beans, 1-2 cup stewed tomatoes, 1 cup combination vegetable salad, 1 baked potato, 4 tablespoons floating island, 2 slices gluten toast, 1 slice Boston brown bread, 6 radishes, 6 spring onions, 2 slices gluten bread, 1 pint buttermilk.

Total calories, 1222. Protein, 225; fat, 344; carbohydrate, 653. Iron, .0158 gram.

When making the floating island, take out a spoonful of the beaten egg whites before adding the sugar. Drop this on the milk while scalding for the custard. This poaches the white and keeps it firm until needed.

The iron content of buttermilk is less than that of skimmed milk. Even the extra vegetables fail to make it up.

If the beans are baked with molasses and molasses is used in the brown bread the calcium content is increased.

String beans, carrots, peas, cauliflower, celery and onion are used with a generous amount of lettuce in the combination salad. Any vegetables, with the exception of potatoes, lima beans and corn can be used as convenient. Season with lemon juice, salt and pepper.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Six sweetened stewed prunes, 1 cup cooked cereal, 4 tablespoons hash, 1 cup clam bouillon, 4 tablespoons macaroni with cheese, 4 tablespoons baked beans, 1-2 cup stewed tomatoes, 1 cup combination salad, 2 baked potatoes, 4 tablespoons floating island, 4 tablespoons apple tapioca pudding, 1-2 cup cream, 1 tablespoon sugar, 6 radishes, 6 spring onions, 2 tablespoons oil mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chopped nuts on vegetable salad, 2 slices Boston brown bread, 2 bran muffins, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

It's rather interesting to see how a few nuts and some extra cream and butter increase the fat calories. The "fat" of nuts is easily digested. The fat of cream is considered easy to digest.

Do you ever serve radishes for breakfast in the spring time? It's worth trying, for they are delicious with toast or hot muffins and the day is before them for their digestion.

LOSE WEIGHT

Two tablespoons stewed dried apricots, 1 cup cream of spinach soup, 6 button radishes, 2 slices white meat of roast chicken and the gizzard (if you like it), 1 large baked onion with 1 teaspoon butter, 1 green pepper stuffed with shredded cabbage and celery, 2 crisp pieces gluten toast, 1 tablespoon whole wheat croutons, 1 thin piece gluten bread, ½ pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1051. Protein, 226; fat, 466; carbohydrate, 359. Iron, .0178 gram.

Cream of Spinach Soup

One pound spinach, 2 cups white stock, 2 slices onion, 1 slice lemon, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk.

Wash spinach and cook 10 minutes in its own juice. Add onion, lemon and stock and simmer 20 minutes. Rub through a colander. Melt butter, stir in flour and when smooth slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add spinach puree and reheat. Serve at once.

Total calories, 657. Protein, 134; fat, 348; carbohydrate, 175. Iron, .0263 gram.

This rule will serve four persons.

GAIN WEIGHT

Four tablespoons stewed dried apricots, 1 shredded wheat biscuit with a banana and 1 tablespoon sugar and 1-2 cup cream, 1 egg scrambled with 2 tablespoons chopped ham, 1 cup cream of spinach soup with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 6 button radishes, individual steamed cherry pudding with sugar and 4 tablespoons cream, 4 tablespoons fruit cocktail, 1 slice white meat and 1 thigh roast chicken, 2 tablespoons dressing, 2 tablespoons mashed potato, 2 tablespoons gravy, 1 whole candied sweet potato, 1 baked onion with 2 tablespoons cream sauce, 1 green pepper stuffed with shredded cabbage-celery and nuts with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons chocolate ice cream, 1 large piece sponge cake, 2 pieces whole wheat buttered toast, 1 tablespoon whole wheat croutons, 2 nut rolls, 1 hard roll, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk, 1 tablespoon currant jelly.

Total calories, 4038. Protein, 413; fat, 1682; carbohydrate, 1943. Iron, .0198 gram.

The cherry pudding is made with two tablespoons of canned cherries in a custard cup covered with two tablespoons dumpling dough. This is steamed and served warm.

The fruit cocktail is made quite sweet with sugar.

The nut rolls are intended for luncheon and the currant jelly should be served with the chicken.

LAUNCH PLANE IN MIDAIR

An airplane has been launched in midair successfully. It was done at Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, O., during the international air races. The army dirigible TC-5, piloted by Lieutenant Frank McKee of Scott Field, soared skyward with the plane, a Sperry Messenger, then cut it loose. Lieutenant C. V. Finter of Langley Field, Va., piloted it. Picture was taken just as the plane cut loose.

SEEK LEPOSY CURE.

Marriage of Two Lepers Was Celebrated Recently.

MANILA, Oct. 17.—The marriage of two lepers was celebrated recently at a nuptial mass at San Lazaro, the contagious hospital in Manila, after which the couple were sent to Culion Island, where some 5,500 lepers are confined and where they hope to be cured of the disease.

The romance started in San Lazaro and the courtship was carried on chiefly by mail, the superintendent of the hospital believing this the most dignified manner for the young native lovers to exchange messages.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was given the couple by their friends in the hospital, and a few hours later they departed for the leper colony.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Prince Andrew of Russia, who recently tried to retrieve cr part of his lost fortunes as the proapietor of a country club, has landed in the bankruptcy court. He owes $42,500 and has no assets. Most of the debts were contracted in building the cluhouse and grounds.

FOOD.

The number of Americans working on farms has increased 15 per cent. since 1900. But they are growing 40 per cent. more food. Figures furnished by the expert, Davis Friday.

Scientific agricultural methods, all the way from commercial fertilizer to tractors, have more than made up the shortage of man-power on the farms. The country, of course, is growing, and so is the food market. What is overproduction of crops now will be shortage within a few years.

HONOR'S DISHONOR

(Reprinted from the Moderationist, 17th Oct., 1924)

In the main this campaign has been conducted on both sides with a dignity and fair-play which are highly commendable. Strong statements, of course, have been made, but they are only to be expected, and to the passion which comes from sincerity and conviction much is to be forgiven. There is, however, one action of the compulsory prohibitionists to which the strongest exception must be taken. That is, that in exhorting the public to vote their way they ask that this should be done for "the honor of Old Ontario." The implication that the honor of the Province will be besmirched by a vote for Government Control, and that those who vote for Government Control have a less sense of honor than those who do not is in the highest degree reprehensible. It is also a silly lie, the stupidity of which is only mitigated by the fact that it can only receive a very small acceptance. Let us hear less of this matter of the honor of Old Ontario. It belongs to no one party and adorns no one point of view, but it may well be suspected of being least appreciated by those who prate most about it.

A PROHIBITIONIST THREAT

In their paid advertisements the Ontario Plebiscite Committee (a wilful misnomer, since the Moderation League of Ontario also has a plebiscite committee) gave as a reason for supporting them:

> 8. Repeal of the O.T.A. and the introduction of government sale would launch the province into interminable and exceedingly costly law suits over the question of legal importation—litigation reaching right up to the Privy Council;

Who would launch this litigation? The Prohibition Party? Or the bootleggers? Obviously under Government Control no one else would have any interest in doing so. In the other Provinces which voted against importation "save for purposes made lawful by the laws of the Province" Government Control has stood unchallenged from this source. That is the best answer to all these self-conjured doubts.

Government Control is People's Control, and what the people want will be had, threat or no threat from the Plebiscite Committee.

Swell our majority by marking your X for Government Control as follows:

1	Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act?
2	Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquor in sealed packages under Government control?	X

10 REVUES FOR BALD HEAD ROW

Plethora of Scandals, Follies and Vanities Brighten Broadway's New Season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.— Something must be done about it. The amalgamated Order of Tired But Bald-Headed Business Men has captured Broadway. They're being catered to.

No fewer than ten big, expensive, spectacular revues now are on the boards. And this does not include Charlot's Revue, which is now taking to the road. Nor does it include a young army of musical comedies which are not pretentious enough to be worthy of the name "revue."

The latest to join the ranks is Hassard Short's "Ritz Revue." One might say it is last, but not least. It is a complete spectacle, with high-calibered performers, witty lines, catchy tunes, spectacular settings and beautiful girls.

* * *

Take a look at the list:

Ziegfeld Follies, Passing Show of 1924, Greenwich Village Follies, Scandals, Vanities, Grand Street Follies, Kid Boots, Artists and Models, Music Box, and Ritz Revue.

The difference between a "revue" and a "musical comedy" is considerable. A normal week's gross receipts for the "Follies" is $42,000. The average weekly box office receipts of an ordinary musical comedy is $10,000.

* * *

Hassard Short in his "Ritz Revue," has accomplished that thing that all producers strive for, but seldom attain. That is a warmth of feeling, a tie of friendship between audience and stage. The Tired But Bald-Headed Business Man knows that $4.40 has been eased from his pocket, but he doesn't mind it. He gets the same pleasure as he would at a big house party. He feels at home.

And small wonder. The cast includes Charlotte Greenwood, Raymond Hitchcock, Myrtle Schaaf, Madeleine Fairbanks (one of the twins), Leila Ricard, Stanley Rogers, Jay Brennan, Eddie Conrad, Tom Burke, William Ladd, and a young and beautiful girl named Jackie Hurlbert.

There isn't a show on Broadway that can best that cast. And no show can even tie it for quality of singing voices.

So by all means, put the "Ritz Revue" on your list when you next take a trip to Lil ole N'Yawk. You'll thank us for the tip.

* * *

The Greenwich Village Follies opened this week, too. It isn't possible to give it as high praise as the "Ritz." Something was wrong with the first and second night performances, which probably will be ironed out later.

There is too much dancing, and not quite enough humor. The dancing is of a high order, and what humor there is is worth laughing at. But the two are not properly mixed.

You can't very well go wrong at this revue either, though. For with the Dolly Sisters, Vincent Lopez's band and that inimitable pair of black-faced comedians, Moran and Mack, in the cast—there could hardly be room for criticism. So put that on your list, too.

* * *

Others to open this week were:—"Schemers," by Dr. William Irving Sirovich; "My Son," a drama by Martha Stanley; and "Izzy," a play based on the movie adventures of Izzy Iskovitch, central character in the stories of George Randolph and Lilliam Chester.

* * *

Everybody is looking forward to Billie Burke's re-appearance on the New York stage in "Annabelle," a musical comedy which her husband, Flo Ziegfeld, will open in Baltimore on Oct. 6. It has a long cast, including such names as Ernest Truex, May Vokes and Bobby Watson.

* * *

Next week "Abie's Irish Rose," will have passed its 1000th performance in New York City. Only one other play —"Lightnin'")has a better record.

"Abie" became a success without the help of New York dramatic critics. They panned it with vim and vigor when it opened, which proves nothing at all.

GROUND SWITCH IS PROTECTOR

Doubtful Whether Strong Lightning Would Bother Following Wire.

HAS REAL VALUE.

The ground switch, like the lightning arrester, is a safety device usually installed on outdoor antennas.

It is merely a heavy electric switch of some sort ground at one pole and so arranged that it can be closed when the set is not in use. This short-circuited the antenna directly to the ground, leaving the receiver itself and all indoor apparatus out of the circuit.

In case an antenna with its ground switch closed (grounded) is struck by lightning the theory is that the electricity will pass off harmlessly to the earth, through the ground switch and the grounded wire to which it is connected.

It may be doubted whether a really strong bolt of lightning would bother much about following the ground switch and its wire. Lightning usually jumps about very erratically whenever its hits anything.

Nevertheless the ground switch has real value, not so much as a protection against actual lightning as because it keeps the electricity of the atmosphere out of the receiver when it is not in use.

If you have been operating a receiver for several years you probably have seen, once in a while, some small sparks jumping about inside the set; for example, between the plates of the condensers. This is electrically collected by the antenna from the air. If it is too strong, as when a thunderstorm is close at hand, it may do some damage.

A closed ground switch will carry this atmospheric electricity off into the earth.

ATTRACTIVE SPORT COAT

There's something very youthful and attractive about this sport coat of rust color with inserts of beige cloth on the front of the coat, the sleeves and the pockets. The throw collar with its long fringe is most decorative and makes a fur piece quite superfluous.

HALL-QUEST DISMISSED

Resignation Demanded After He Divorced His Wife.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. — Professor Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest resigned from the Faculty of the University of Pittsburgh yesterday, according to word received here from Pittsburgh.

The objections of the trustees because of his recent divorce by which he set his wife free to marry Frederick William Hart, were put before Mr. Hall-Quest by the Chancellor privately two days ago, with the suggestion that the professor resign.

The resignation was sent in to-day and accepted without comment.

The resignation leaves Professor Hall-Quest without a position, at a time when openings for teachers are few.

He has no income, it is said, beyond the meagre royalties from a few books.

Miss Marjorie Lindsey, formerly a student in the University of Manchester, England, recently arrived in this country to study in the University of Michigan. Miss Lindsey's expenses will be paid from a fund established by Miss Frances E. Riggs, of Detroit, in co-operation with the English-speaking unions of England and America.

GROVE SCHOOL HAD FIELD DAY

Ideal Weather For the Occasion—News Of Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, Oct., 17.—The annual Field Day of "The Grove" Athletic Association was held on Monday under weather conditions which were ideal. A number of parents of the boys and friends were present and added to the occasion. The sports were under the direction of the masters who were in their zealous interest in every event. Some of the events were run off in the morning but the greater number were in the afternoon. In the high jump Rainnie made a record of 4 feet, 9 inches, last year his record was one inch less. In the pole vaulting Rainnie also won lausels in his performance, his record being 8 feet, 11 inches which was seven inches more than the second man.

Most of the events were run off in sections owing to large number of entries. "The Grove" has sent many famous athletes and the record at R.M.C. has been beaten this year by B. Smith an ex-Grove boy and last year Jack Langley also an ex-Grove boy won high honors and beat a record in sports.

The following are the events:

Morning Events.

Long jump (Int.)—1 McMullen, 13 feet, 3 inches; 2 Griffith, 13 feet, 1 inch; 3 Wilgress 12 feet, 8 inches.

Gave A Tea.

The W.A. of St. John's Church gave a pleasant little tea on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. T. B. Marling on Regent street in honor of Mrs. White who levase next week for Scotland, Ontario. Mrs. C. H. White has been a member of the W.A. for the past two years and her departure leaves a gap in the ranks which it will be difficult to fill and in the time she has been in Lakefield she has made many warm friends who regret her departure.

A Presentation.

On Monday evening at the congregational dinner held in the school room of the Baptist Church a very pleasant time was spent after which, during a social hour, Mr. D. A. MacDonald read an address and Mrs. James Hendren presented Mr. White with a handsome mahogany mantel cloak suitably inscribed and Miss Beulah Northey presented a pair of candlesticks to Mrs. White. Mr. and Mrs.. White were taken by surprise at this token of appreciation from their friends but each made a graceful reply. This has been Mr. White's first charge and he has been a great success in his relations with his church and people and with the village at large.

The following is a copy of the address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. White,—

It is with deepest regrets that we have accepted your resignation and we feel that we cannot let you go without showing in a slight way our appreciation of your faithful services among us during the past four years.

As the hands of this clock point to the hours we trust that a Divine Hand will point you onward through life and as the flickering of these candles guide in the dark so may your lives be lights to guide souls onward and upward.

We know that you have been lead by the Lord to take up your work in another field and that our loss will be their gain. During your sojourn amongst us you have been true friends in sharing our joys and sorrows in spiritual as well as in social life — your influence has been an uplift to the community.

It is with reluctance that we bid you adieu and the good wishes and prayers of the congregation will follow you wherever you go.

Signed on behalf of the church.

BRUCE KIDD, Clerk.

A Euchre Party.

The A.Y.P.A. held a progressive euchre in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday night. The attendance was fairly good but was affected by several other festivities in the village and in the vicinity. The prizes were won by Mrs. Stenner and Mr. W. G. Morrison and the consolation prizes by Mrs. Chappell and Mr. M. C. Hampton. The evening was spent pleasantly and it was suggested by visitors that another party be run of in the near future.

Corn cutting is in full swing and the farmers are taking advantage of the beautiful weather to get it in; the crop this year is exceptionally large and there will be no difficulty in filling the silo.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H.. Chant have returned from a month's visit to their son, Dr. R. H Chant of Foam Lake, Sask., and other western points.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Cox left on Thursday to attend the conference of the Dominion Council of the A.Y.P.A. held this week at Kingston.

Mrs. T. D. Darcy and family left on Wednesday for Peterboro where they will visit for a few days before leaving for Detroit where they will make their home.

Mr. G. D. Scully of Toronto was in the village on business on Thursday.

ITALY PREPARING WAR SERVICE BILL

Prepare In Time Of Peace For Mobilizing the Whole Nation.

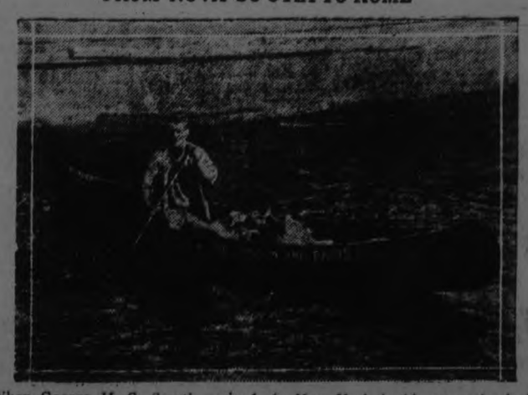
SHIELD NO ONE.

ROME, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—The Council of Ministers, after a lengthy discussion, Thursday approved a bill for the organization of the nation in time of war. This project, which has already been examined and approved by the supreme commission of national defence, establishes the fundamental principle that the Government's task is to prepare in time of peace a national mobilization in addition to a military one.

The civil mobilization, as contemplated, establishes regulations whereby the peace organization must be transferred to a war basis comprising all national activities, namely, agriculture, industry, finance, labor, etc., also a repartition of the prime necessities of food manufacturers between the army and the civil population.

The project establishes regulations whereby all citizens employed in public and private offices, who are called to army service, must be substituted with others freed from such duties. Rules are also given concerning the requisitioning of products already manufactured and the Government's requirements from the manufacturers. According to the stipulated schedule the bill will be presented to Parliament for discussion and ratification.

FROM NOVA SCOTIA TO ROME



When George H. G. Smyth arrived in New York in his canoe he had paddled 1350 miles in 43 days on the water from Sydney, Nova Scotia. He intends to go to London and then paddle his canoe to Rome.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moncrief, Bensfort, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Falls of Bailieboro visited at the home of F. M. Staples on Sunday.

Mrs. H. Keegan held a sale on Tuesday afternoon. Two Jersey cows, a car, sleighs, harness and other miscellaneous articles were sold. There was a good attendance and everything sold well.

A pure-bred Jersey cow sold for $74 and a part Jersey cow sold for $68. The car was purchased by Mr. Williard Skuce, Mount Horeb, for $415. Mr. J. Roddy was the auctioneer.

Dr. and Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Jewison, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Staples on Tuesday.

A temperance meeting was held in Cavanville on Monday evening. The speakers were Rev. R. T. Richards and Mr. A. Barton. The temperance forces are organized for the campaign.

The W. A. of St. John's Church, Ida, held their October meeting in the vestry of the church on Wednesday afternoon, October 8th.

The many friends of Mr. Jamie Taylor will be sorry to know that he is in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro, suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Wm. Davison had a horse killed on Tuesday night on the C.P.R. track, west of Cavan Station.

How Fat Actress Became Slender

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells us that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription. Now, by taking Tablets several times a year, she keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box or if you prefer can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are pleasant to take and effective.

300 YEAR OLD HOUSE IN PARIS ISN'T UNUSUAL

Man With a Bath Tub Is In Luck—Candle Illumination.

RENT IS CHEAP.

First Bathroom Recently Installed In Most Famous Hotel.

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 17.—(United Press). —This city is remarkable for its old houses. It is not unusual to see or live in a house 100 years old.

For instance, the former home of the mistres of Kinfi Henri the IV of France, situated in the Latin Quarter, now is used as an apartment house despite its 300 years, and more, of age.

When one enters this house and mounts the stone stairway that a King once trod, there is no electric light or even gas to guide him; the tenant or visitor must find his way by candle light..

But if inconveniences such as the above and more important drawbacks like the lack of a bathroom—bathrooms as recgnized in the United States—are overlooked—charming apartments can be fixed up in a few rooms of old houses like these, with some effort and some money. An advantage is that the rent is cheap and such houses, often not more than 100 francs a month for a couple of unfurnished rooms.

Smewhat strange to say old houses are often more attractive to Americans living in Paris than to the French themselves; the French prefer the modern apartment houses, while the Americans, charmed by the novelty of the old houses of Paris, often seek out the latter for their homes.

An advertisement to this effect recently appeared on the front page of an English language newspaper of Paris: "Old Timer—Where can one get a bath in Paris (signed) New Comer."

The story of the difficulty of securing a bath in Paris is fairly well known in the "States," but evidences of this failing of European life are continually coming up here. The man who has an apartmen with a bath of running water is looked upon in Paris as indeed in favor with the Gods.

The main reason for such lack of bathing facilities in France is of course, the existence here of so many ancient houses, which, outside of their lack of modern plumbing, are still good for long service.

It is much harder to install modern plumbing in a house already built that put a bathtub, etc, in a new house you are building. In this connection new houses put up in the regions of France devastated by the war often have modern bathrooms, which were lacking in the houses ruined in the conflict.

Not long ago the first bathtub was installed in one of the most famous hotels f Paris—the Hotel Palais d'Orsay— where distinguished visitors to Paris have been traditionally received.

"It looks as if it will not be long ebfore France is a colony of America of England," remarked a Frenchman the other day, to illustrate the number of Americans and English in this country.

There are literally hores of Americans in Paris, for one reason or another. To the observer it appears that English si heard along some of the principal streets of Paris almost as frequently as French.

English is spoke much more than French in the big hotels; a question asked in French in one of these hotels is almost invariably replied to in English if the inquirer has any resemblance to an American or Englishman.

All the big stores of Paris and many of the smaller ones, proudly proclaim, "English spoken." The French are more and more going in for learning English.

Many Americans have come to Paris to live here permanently. A man being shaved in one of the barber shops where "English is spoken" asked his barber in French where he had learned English. The barber replied that he was an American citizen. "I went home to America after the war, but some one had my job. I got sore and came back to France to live.. Now I'm married and settled down here."

The French have not yet acquired the habit of Americans in claiming that this or that thing which they possess is the "biggest" or "greatest" in the world. They do claim this distinction, however, for one thing. It is said that Paris has the "biggest moving picture theater in the world."

But one sees principally American films.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lancing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sirs:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Krumbled Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening.

Your sincerely,
Frank Lancing,
(Address on Request.)

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary brans, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Toronto, Canada. Sold by all grocers.

SULPHUR CLEARS SKIN RIGHT UP

Apply Sulphur As Told When Your Skin Breaks Out.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Your Roof Should Beautify As well as Protect Your Home

6 Daring Tests you should make before you buy any roofing

1. HEAT TEST: Lay sample of Vulcanite on hot radiator for 12 hours. See if it will melt or dry out.
2. ICE TEST: Lay sample on ice for 12 hours. Then pour boiling water on it. See if extremes of temperature affect it.
3. WATER TEST: Soak sample in water for 12 hours. See if, by weight, it absorbs any water.
4. ACID TEST: Immerse sample in hydrochloric acid. See if it is affected in any way.
5. FIRE TEST: Lay white-hot coal of fire on sample. See if it sets the roofing on fire.
6. "SCUFF" TEST: Lay sample on floor; scuff it hard with your shoe. See if any of the slate-surfacing will come off.

Produced in Canada

THE modern type of home demands a roof that has a definite part in the general decorative scheme—not merely as a protection for the building. That is why thousands of homes are roofed with Vulcanite Hexagon Slabs. Finished in Soft Green, Blue-Black or Indian Red, a deep-tile effect is produced, adding much to the value and distinctiveness of your home.

Distinctive beauty, however, is but one feature of Vulcanite Hexagon Slabs. Exclusive design makes them double thick everywhere. Read the six daring tests listed here—more severe than any roof is called upon to face. Figure the value of such a roofing material on your home—in protection and freedom from worry.

Learn all about these sturdy, modern shingles which cost less in the end. Write for free sample and our free book on roofing.

Vulcanite Roofing is also made in Doubletite Slabs, Four-in-One Slabs, Self-Spacing Shingles, Jumbo Hexagon Slabs for re-roofing and in rolls. Approved by National Board of Fire Underwriters.

TWO SIDES OF THE QUESTION

(Saturday Night)

We are given to wondering if the gentleman whom the Toronto "Star" has employed in writing up the fearful and awful condition of affairs in Manitoba since prohibition gave place to Government control is the same gentleman who with the aid of a rubber pocket or some such device was able to collect "heel taps" being later presented to the Provincial analyst in order to determine whether the beer was just the customary "slop" or the real article.

According to the "Star's" special writer, Winnipeg must be a terrible city in which to reside. If there is anybody sober throughout the twenty-four hours in Manitoba's fair capital we have yet to hear of them in the columns of the "Star." The entire population, according to this writer with the rubber pocket, or is it a rubber conscience, spends its days bootlegging. The mere fact that any citizen may obtain all the liquor that he requires at a Government store does not appear to deter the wayward population of Winnipeg. They have, apparently, become so accustomed to bootlegging under the old prohibition laws that they simply cannot give up the habit. And those who are not spending all their time bootlegging or buying from bootleggers are sending their children, aged anywhere from five to ten (the younger the better), to the Government stores with their little hands filled with bills with which to purchase "booze" for the family. It is a terrible tale, worse if anything, than the Montreal "oceans of beer" story published in the "Ladies' Home Journal" of Philadelphia some time ago.

It is not to be expected that the "Star's" rubber-pocket-rubber-conscience correspondent will cease his efforts when Manitoba's villainy is thoroughly exposed, unless he runs out of invectives, and that is unlikely. He will probably proceed into Saskatchewan, then into Alberta and finally into British Columbia, telling us in each case how the whole bally west is going to the dogs owing to Government control. This should fill up the time nicely between now and the 23rd of October, when Ontario votes.

So far the "Star's" rubber conscience gentleman appears to have missed some telling points. However, it is not too late; he has still time before polling day in Ontario. For instance, he might work up a story blaming the rust and the cold weather and the lack of rain and too much rain and the sagging price of wheat, if it does sag, on to Government control.

He could tell us a circumstantial story of how "booze" got into the wheat and into the mowers and how the horses came in each evening with a "bun" on. There are great possibilities in that care-free west for a writer such as "The Star" has employed.

In respect to Manitoba there appears to be just one fly in the ointment. Somebody should have bound and gagged the good old Archbishop of Rupert's Land until after the date for the Ontario vote. Right in the midst of "The Star's" uplift programme along came the Primate of All Canada and gave the following interview concerning his home town of Winnipeg and his Province of Manitoba:

"The Government is experiencing difficulty with hotelkeepers at the present time, who are inclined to exceed the restrictions of control, but I would say that the system of Government control in general has worked out very satisfactorily in the Province of Manitoba."

(The Globe)

As the day of decision approaches it is well to clear the ground of trifling and irrelevant matters, and bring into view the great elemental truths, even when they seem to be obvious. First, if the Ontario Temperance Act is repealed, the effect will be freer sale and greatly increased consumption of intoxicants. This ought to be obvious, but may be obscured by the use of such "weasel words" as "control" and "moderation." The more freely intoxicants are sold the less control there will be; and no Government on earth can enforce moderation. It is surely clear that if liquor is sold freely many will indulge in it who now refrain; many who drink little now will drink more, and nobody will drink less. All will not drink to excess, it is true, but there is no road to excess except through "moderate" drinking. Nobody ever became a dipsomaniac all at once. "Moderation," as the word is abused in this campaign, always means drinking more and never drinking less.

Second, it is admitted by all, no matter what their views on prohibition, that the evils and dangers incident to the use of intoxicating beverages far outweigh the advantages. As food they are practically without value. As stimulants to thought and action they are worse than useless, because they create foolish delusions of power, while they derange the mental machinery and weaken the springs of power. Even the transient cheerfulness which they induce is succeeded by depression, and the transient generosity of sentiment by ill-temper and the "grouch" and peevishness of the "morning after." Nobody can point to any substantial good result that will weigh as a grain of sand in the balance against the enormous and admitted evils of intemperance.

These evils, as we have said, have been so lessened by the restrictive measures culminating in the Ontario Temperance Act that there is some danger that they may be forgotten. The poverty, misery and cruelty of the drunkard's home, the neglect and ill-usage of wives and children, the crime, the wreck of brilliant intellects, the evil temper, the weakening of the will, the inflaming of the passions due to alcohol, were not fictions invented by temperance orators. They were ugly facts, coming under the observation of all. If it is more difficult now to find such examples, it is largely because of the restrictive legislation which is under attack. But if we restore the old conditions there is no assurance that these evils will not return.

It seems extraordinary that serious men and women should be in any doubt as to the side they will take in a war which threatens the home, the welfare of the rising generation, the strength of the human fibre of Ontario, and the maintenance of its high standard of civilization. For what is offered on the other side? An increase of Government revenue, to be obtained by the waste of far larger sums of money, to say nothing of the waste of human material. A promise of increase of business, to be obtained, strange to say, by taking custom away from the merchants who deal in food, clothing, furniture and other necessities of life, and spending the money on beer and whiskey. The glorious prospect of keeping saloon and tending bar for visitors from the United States.

GENESIS OF THE METHODIST CEMETERY

How a Municipal Proposition Led to the Establishment of the Burying Ground.

A Story of Peterborough's First Proposed Town Utility.

(By F. H. Dobbin)

During the six weeks of the construction of the pavement on Water street, north, all vehicular traffic was diverted, or detoured to the "back road", the city end of which is known as Hilliard street. Vehicles regained the river road by way of the north boundary of the city, the road passing east alongside the grounds of the Isolation Hospital, and over the hills. The detour brought thousands of cars to climb the hill along the frontage of the spot known so long as the Methodist Cemetery, and always was the remark, "why isn't this place cleaned up and disposed of or put to some practical use, now that its function as a burying place has so long passed away."

The answer to the question is found in the fact that it is exceedingly difficult to dispose of a piece of property owned by so many different people. The holdings are not large, many single graves and others of plots of four or five, and though repeated attempts have been made to close the titles to the ground, never has an effort been successful. The Methodist congregations, as voiced by the Trustee Boards, has been willing to do anything that would end the situation, but determined opposition on the part of a few, who hold rights as enjoyed by all who participated in the occupancy of lots, have steadily refused to allow anything to be done. Even a proposition to pass over to the Nicholls Hospital Trust, the use of the ground for the next twenty-five years on condition that the area be set in order and form practically a park as attached to the hospital grounds, was defeated. Everything was ready, a lease drawn and engagements entered into, and then withheld.

Two generations at least have come and gone since the cemetery was opened for interments, but today the circumstances are little understood, even by those interested. So we may tell the story, the facts of which grew out of Peterboro's attempt to establish what would indeed have been a rarity, a municipal graveyard. Practically a proposition to bring into being the first public utility for use of the people. And resulted in the town at the time (1850) being, as one expressed it, "all torn up" over the idea and as bitter and acrôminous a community squabble resulted as might be found in the annals of any municipality in the province.

During the years 1846 to 1849 the people of the town sites wanted certain things in the way of municipal improvements and betterments and which it was not likely to be had from the township of North Monaghan, with which the ratepayers were allied for municipal purposes. Peterborough never had the status of a village, same as Lakefield or Keene, but took what it got from the parent township. So the resolve grew and was firmly advocated that incorporation should be sought, and when effected things would come along in just and due order, and that money could be borrowed and the newly authorized burg do just as it pleased. One thing badly needed was to make provision for a new burying ground.

For many years previous burying grounds had been, and were as a matter of fact, attached to churches and forming a part of such properties. But while this sufficed in the rural sections, in larger communities it ceased to be practical. Besides there seemed to be a fairly large number of those to be interred who did not belong or adhere to any specified church, and consequently not eligible, if the expression may be used, to be so buried. Peterborough would have a new cemetery.

The First Local and General Cemetery.

At the time of the survey of the town plot, in 1826, an area was appropriated for a public burying ground, in and on the grounds now covered by Central Park. The block bounded as we find it today. By consent, or direction, the block of land had been divided into two parts, that to the east for interment of those of the Protestant faith and to the west for those of the Roman Catholic Church. Interments were made during the twenty-two years after the survey and practical settlement. It was soon apparent that the ground as set apart would be not nearly adequate for future demands. Whether it was the climate, the rigors of pioneer life or other causes very many of the older residents passed away in considerable number. In the latter years of the forties steps were taken looking to providing a large and more retired burying ground. And this commendable effort brings us to the opening relation of the story of a municipal venture to supply a public need.

To appreciate the situation it may be remarked that the time was only thirteen years removed from those of the public effort made to do away with the Clerg Reserves, dismantle the Family Compact and other elements leading to demand for reforms, and which contributed to the bringing on of the Mackenzie rebellion of 1837-38. Denominational feeling had been aroused to a marked degree, and there was yet to come the day of friendly and mutual arrangement that offered to all denominations a fair field and no favor in church matters and apart from anything leaning to State control. And this feeling accounted for the establishment of the Methodist cemetery.

No sooner was the incorporation of the town effected and the new municipality started on its way in law and order, than the question of the new public cemetery came before the town council to officially pronounce upon. The town included four wards, north, south, centre and east, the latter not the east ward as we now have it but its area confined to the west side of the river. There was only a sprinkling of built-on property west of Rubidge street so a west ward had not been thought of at that time. Twelve members, three from each of the four wards constituted the council. The Mayor, during the first seven years of the life of the town was not selected by public vote but from among his confers in council. The names of those of the first council were: W. S. Conger, Jas. Harvey, D. McDonald, R. Ridley, W. Eastland, James Hall, Thos. Harper, Thos. Benson, C. Hudson, E. Chamberlen (or Chamberlain) and P. Ryan, a fairly representative body of citizens and each with a considerable stake in the fortunes of the town. As several of the council became mixed in the concussion that presently followed over the cemetery matter, the names are given above.

A Public Meeting Of Interest.

New brooms are averred to sweep clean, so the council got busy at once. On March 20th, 1850, a public meeting was called and held in the Commercial Hotel, the building having under its roof the largest room the town afforded. The object of the meeting was to consider the expediency of the council procuring a plot of land for a public cemetery and the taking over and management of the same in the interest of the people of the town. During the month previous enquiry had been reached unofficially, by the council, as to the most available site. The meeting, it is on record, was very numerously attended, and there was much discussion, as one stated, 'by a formidable array of talent, pro and con", and it decided that the corporation should go ahead and make arrangements. This decision to action was set out in a resolution moved by Mr. Hudson and seconded by Mr. Eastland, as follows:

"That whereas, a certain plot of ground at the foot of the Little Lake on the bend of the river Otonabee, east of the park lots, but better known as Moe's Point, is in the opinion of this meeting the most suitable for a public cemetery. And whereas, it is necessary to secure the same with as little delay as possible, and this meeting is of decided opinion that such public cemetery should be invested in and controlled by the Corporation of the Town, and be it resolved, that the Mayor be authorized to make application to the Hon. the Commissioner of Crown Lands, for a Public Cemetery at a reasonable price as possible or as the Government, in its wisdom may grant."

It may be explained that the land in question (now the site of the Little Lake Cemetery) had been squatted on by the brothers Moe some years before, and they decided to dispute the appropriation of the property, basing their contention on what was termed "squatter's rights." The claim was not seriously entertained, and eventually the legislature conveyed to the town the portion asked for, subject to use for purposes as above outlined.

Our town fathers acted with commendable celerity, for at a meeting of the council held on March 25th, Councillors John Hall, James Hall, P. Ryan and Mr. William Eastland were appointed a special committee to prepare a by-law to regulate interments in all burying places within the limits of the Town of Peterborough. It will be observed, not only to regulate the proposed municipal cemetery, but any and all others that might be established. And in this provision may have lain some inkling as to what might follow.

A Sprout of Opposition Develops.

But there was serious and solid opposition. A number of plain and general-purpose citizens came forward at this same meeting, and put before it another suggestion, to form a Company to hold said lands and to make suitable rules and regulations that all interested should have a fair show, and everything be done decenty and in order.

Councillor Conger, not being of a mind with his fellow members in the council, fathered this latter proposition, and being ready to act, submitted a draft of a Bill to the Legislature, giving in more detail the procedure to be set in order, how the interests of the public would be safeguarded, and that once enough money would be subscribed to place the cemetery in operation and open for interments, that all moneys accruing from sale of lots, etc., over and above expenses should be used to retire the stock as subscribed, eventually freeing the cemetery from any financial obligations so far as its purchase and institution would be concerned. All under legislative control.

Public feeling was beginning to show itself, and there was a large attendance of spectators, many with a will to act. The matter was one that vitally concerned the larger part of the town. The idea had gotten about that the Council, with its idea of a cemetery municipally conducted was about to plunge the newly-fledged municipality into debt, invest a lot of money, borrow the same and so greatly augument the taxes. Besides a lot of men would have to be employed, and councillors would favor their friends. Other dire consequences were talked of. So from the back benches came very violent opposition. Sanguine souls said that they foresaw that a man might have to run all over the town to find the Mayor and get his consent to the interment of a friend or relative. They were in favor of building bridges and making streets, under the auspices of the council, but as to burying and regulating burials, not any for them.

Those promoting the idea of a Company came in for a strong opposition. It was pronounced a money-making scheme, and that, even in those days, men who went into it had a purely personal motive behind. No amount of argument could dispel this notion. The upshot of the evening's debate was that the council there and then changed its mind, and within a day or two held another meeting and decided that it would not buy, fix up, run or manage any cemetery, and passed a resolution stating that in deference to a changed public opinion, why the council would change too, and that lands should be procured and that a deed should be issued to the following citizens, to be in force until such time as a proper charter could be obtained and a proper company formed to manage the cemetery, and the following be the provisional trustees:

A Love Board Named.

George Barker Hall (judge of the County Court), James Hall, M.P.P., Rev. J. C. Taylor, Rev. John Butler, Rev. John Gilmour, Rev. J. A. Roger, James Wallis, Patrick Ryan, Thomas Benson, Robert Nicholls, William Cluxton and James Harvey. It was clear that those as selected were of the very best and most responsible of the town's citizens and in every way likely to do what was fair and reasonable. Not only that but it was further provided in the deed to be taken, tentatively, and verified by resolution, that the above named trustees should execute a written guarantee, pledging themselves to convey to the Roman Catholic Church authorities a portion of the cemetery grounds, when acquired, not exceeding five acres, and which portion of land that Church was to have at first cost.

On publication of the particulars, and propositions as noted above the row started. Some one had looked over the list of those proposed to organize and carry on the public cemetery, and presently took his criticism to the local paper. It was claimed that in the personnel, as laid out, those representing the Anglican (or Church of England), the Church of Scotland and the Catholic Church had been selected, three of each, and in one case four, but that no representative of the Methodist body had even been suggested. While it is true that Mr. Hudson attended the Methodist Church, he was not a member. So a lot of people, having time on their hands, fell to writing letters to the local paper, the Weekly Despatch, to such extent that the editor was fairly swamped, and as he said, unable to make a selection. He averred that while nearly all contributions were bitter expressions of partyism, many were positively virulent. In desperation he selected a few, of course the longest, for when a man had a whole week in which to pour out on paper he thought and heard, and was told, he wrote a good and plenty. Mr. Conger, and others of the proposed Board, wrote and said that nothing intentional had been thought of, it was just a case of out of sight out of mind. That brought along what Lawyer Elias Burnham called a rejoinder, from the Methodist pastor, Rev. I. B. Howard, who pointed out that if the large and important Methodist body was so little in the public eye, as a local institution, that it had been forgotten entirely, why things were in a bad way. So then those of the Methodist body who felt aggrieved got into the fray.

The Methodists Take Action.

A meeting was held at the Chapel on evening of March 17th, and a series of resolutions placed before the meeting and passed, one advocating the municipal cemetery idea, in charge of the town council. That an affront had been offered to the Methodists, in that being one of the largest bodies of all denominations in the town, it had been deliberately overlooked. That if the Government should see proper to make a grant of lands to any Company, why, then the Methodist body would have no other resources than to secure lands for a burial place for members of the congregation. Also expressing warm disapproval of a measure, calculated to place the local boon intended by the Government for the inhabitants of the town generally, in the hands of a Company, whom "we can regard in no other light than that as self-constituted guardians of a public trust.

At a meeting of council, held on Tuesday evening following, Mr. Conger undertook to make explanations and to pour oil on the troubled waters. Said that it was his intention that all Protestant bodies should be placed on an equal footing, so far as the use of an entry to and care for the cemetery was concerned.

A week or so afterwards, and while the contention was at its height, a canvass of the town was made under direction of the town clerk, Mr. Jas Edwards. The date was that of April 10th, 1850. It may be of interest to quote the figures as collected and published.

Roman Catholic, 465; Methodists, 451; Church of England, 416; Church of Scotland, 415; Baptists, 40; Episcopal, 8; Lutherians, 3; Scattering, 14.

Total of all denominations, 1812. Taxpayers, 294. Householders, 327. Merchant's stores, 27.

The Now Old Cemetery Organized.

After public feeling had died down steps were take to make ample provision for burying grounds. The Catholic Church secured grounds outside the town, bordering on Monaghan Road, and which is in use today, (1924). Eventually the Little Lake Cemetery Company was incorporated, secured the area referred to previously, had it improved, and carried on as an organization, presenting to all Protestants every opportunity to make use of the cemetery for burial purposes, and open to all in the town and county. But the breach between the Methodist body and the others, so far as burial places was never healed so far as to permit of mutual use of the provisions made, and ground was secured from Henry Benson, of Kingston, early in the summer of 1850, put in order, fenced and graded and was at the use of all Methodists and adherents who wished. The plot, at corner of Hilliard street, covered four acres and cost sixty-five pounds sterling. Quite a large number of removals were made from the first burying ground, and re-interred in the Methodist cemetery. It continued in use up to 1875, but no burials are recorded afterwards.

As stated, attempts have been made to have the cemetery dismantled, levelled and placed in grass, but so far, even in spite of legislative enactments, permitting forced closing of cemeteries, nothing has been done in the matter. Many removals were made to the Little Lake Cemetery, and the headstones removed also. And in cases where the remains were of such small amount as to almost defy identification, the headstones at the grave plot were taken to the Little Lake cemetery and laid flat on the turf, thus in a way preserving record of those who had passed away.

ADMISSION ALIENS.

Immigration Inspector Is Charged With Aiding Aliens.

BUFFALO, October 17. — Admission of aliens into teh United States at Niagara Falls in a plot in which he received $15 a head, was charged by District Immigration Inspector Shirley D. Smith yesterday against Alois Vogt, an immigration inspector on a Toronto-Lewiston boat since 1918.

Inspector Smith said that two books of identification blanks for immigrants had been sent to Toronto, and sold to aliens for $135 apiece.

POISONED WIFE.

Planned To Be Married When Others Were Out of the Way.

By HERBERT B. LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspontent)

MT. VERNON, Ill., Oct. 17 (United Press).—The story of Elsie Sweetin and Rev. Lawrence M. Hight is a story of love and monotony, God and the devil, small-town gossip and sex repression, death and children.

One evening last April Hight, Methodist Episcopal pastor at Ina, a Jefferson county village of 400, south of here, met Elsie Sweetin, in the aisle of his church. He felt an immediate attraction for her. She and her cousin took him home.

Three months later the pastor gave Elsie Sweetin a small quantity of powdered arsenic, which she put in chocolate-drops which her coal-miner husband, Wilford Sweetin, ate. He became ill, but later grew better. Hight gave the woman more arsenic, which she gave her husband in oatmeal. He was ill again, and the wfie, at Hight's suggestion, gave him a third dose of arsenic, in tomato soup. The first dose of poison was given on July 17, and the third on July 25.

Rev. Hight visited the husband frequently in his official capacity as the representative of God. After the third dose of poison, he converted Sweetin "to religion" and baptized him into the church.

Sweetin died Sept. 28, and Rev. Hight preached the funeral sermon. Taking as his text the verse from St. John: "Let not your heart be troubled; yea, believe in God; believe ye also in me; in my Father's house are many mansions . . . ." Rev. Hight preached what he himself told a member of his congregation was "the best funeral I ever preached."

"I didn't want to come to this pulpit to preach," he said. "But now I see that the Lord had a reason for sending me here. It was to convert this good man, who is now resting under His beneficent smile."

Poisoned His Wife

Hight had told Elsie Sweetin he would poison his wife, Anna, in similar fashion, following the meeting of the southern Illinois conference of his church, which, he expected, would transfer him to a new pastorate. The conference was to meet Sept. 24. But on Sept. 6, Mrs. Hight became ill. The pastor administered a dose of arsenic, which caused her death Sept. 12. The pastor ascribed the death to ptomaine poisoning, and the physician who attended the woman agreed.

But the little village of Ina had not been asleep. Secret meetings between the pastor and Elsie Sweetin had been watched. Before his death Sweetin had been warned that his wife was "pretty thick" with the pastor, but he brushed the suggestion aside. The pastor was his friend, and Sweetin liked him.

Ina had noticed, too, that Rev. Hight getting milk for his family from the Sweetins, invariably went for it personally, instead of sending his 16-year-old daughter or 14-year-old son.

Ina had noticed, too, that Rev. Hight walked down the street almost daily to a pile of lumber in view of the Sweetin house, mopping his brow and waving his handkerchief, as in signalling. Some of the town boys had followed Rev. Hight and Elsie Sweetin in walks they managed to take.

Ina noticed that Rev. Hight came to the house in the evenings when Sweetin went to the nearby town of Benton to do night-work in a coal-mine.

Ina noticed that Rev. Hight was cold to his wife. She lived with him 26 years.

So Ina talked. At the inquest over the body of Mrs. Hight, the rumors came to Coroner Jesse Reece, who ordered an autopsy and had the viscera of the dead woman sent to Chicago chemist for analysis.

Word came that arsenic in deadly quantities had been found, and Rev. Hight was arrested by Sheriff Grant Holcomb the same day, just a week after the death of his wife. Coroner Reece ordered the body of Sweetin exhumed and the viscera was sent to Chicago for analysis. Hight was questioned at length by State's Attorney Frank Thompson, but he persisted in a stout declaration of innocence.

Two days later—Sunday, Sept. 21—a telegram came announcing that arsenic had been found in the viscera of Sweetin. Hight, who had been praying and singing hymns in the grimy county jail here, was told. He persisted that he knew nothing of the poisoning. The Jefferson county officials cross-questioned him mercilessly all night and at dawn, on the suggestion of State's Attorney Thompson that he might have done it to put his wife out of her pain, he said: "That's it. That's why I did it." He signed a confession. Thirty minutes later he acknowledged he had poisoned Wilferd Sweetin, giving the same reason.

Elsie Sweetin was arrested at her home in Ina a few hours later and brought to the jail here. She asserted she was innocent, and supported the pastor's statement that the couple had not been intimate.

That afternoon—Monday, Sept. 22—Rev. Hight, under the exhortation of Rev. C. C. Hall, superintendent of the Mt. Carmel district of the Medodist Episcopal Church, confessed again, this time telling the true story of the crime.

Elsie Sweetin denied all night that she had poisoned her husband. She denied she loved Rev. Hight. At 3 a.m. the authorities placed the two together in a room, listening at the door. The pastor urged the woman to make a clean breast, as he had. She was obdurate. She said she didn't know what he was talking about.

An hour later the woman, completely exhausted from nervous strain and lack of sleep, admitted the truth of Hight's confession, and gave complete details of the crime. She dictated a long statement, signed it, and immediately fell into a deep sleep.

A few hours later she and Hight were rushed out to adjoining country-seats for safe-keeping during the county fair, when large crowds gather here. Mrs. Sweetin was kept at Salem, where physicians reported her condition was serious from the nervous excitement. Hight was brought back later.

The two slayers have talked at length since their confessions, explaining their drop from righteousness into deepest sins of the Ten Commandments. They wanted to be free to love. This 49-year-old minister was tired of his wife. This 34-year-old wife was tired of her husband.

Hight was born at Metropolis, Ill. He had lived and worked in the stock-raising and horse-raising business of his father, until about 1909, when, following a "protracted meeting" revival, he "got religion." His education was only a grammar-school one, but he studied and was ordained in the ministry within a year. He held "circuit-rider" pastorates through southern Illinois—that is, he was the pastor for five or six small towns, making one his home and preaching at each in rotation.

He was a good husband, and Anna Hight was a good wife. They have three children, Mrs. Marie Eaton, 24, Tamoroa, Ill., and Mildren, 16, and Robert, 14.

A collection of photographs of pretty girls of his former congregations, found in his personal effects after his confessions, however, indicates a long-repressed desire for feminine beauty. Investigation of the relations of Hight with the originals of the pictures has failed to show any irregularities.

Blames The Devil

Hight believes firmly in the apostolic creed. There is God, a devil, heaven and hell, sin and repentance. He believes the devil caused him to commit his heinous crimes, and thinks and hopes to atone for his crime by a virtuous life in prison, if lucky enough to escape the hangman's noose.

But—

"Anna never seemed satisfied with anything I did or bought for her. She was always nagging," he tells interviewers.

Mrs. Sweetin, comely brunette, also was tired of a long married life. Born 34 years ago near Ina, she married Sweetin 16 years ago, and had lived there ever since. She has three sons—Byford, 14, Staunton, 11, and Henry Lee, 8, all of whom are being cared for by the father of Willford Sweetin.

When Rev. Hight paid marked at tention to her, she reciprocated his affection. The preacher is a thick-set well-preserved man, whose years sat lightly upon him. His strong blue eyes under bushy brows were convincing.

Elsie Sweetin was horrified, according to her story, when the preacher outlined his poisoning plan.

"He talked so plausibly, and I had such confidence in him, that I was convinced. He seemed to have some sort of influence over me," she said.

After the confessions, the southern Illinois conference of his church expelled Hight. A church committee obtained from him a statement that his crime was "deliberate and premeditated," and an executive committee, branding him as "seduced by the devil into this crime," which, it was stated, showed "an abandoned and malignant heart," formally ousted him from the ministry and the membership in the church.

LARGE CROWDS HEAR TALK BY MRS. G. WRIGHT

Temperance Mass Meeting Held In Grand Last Night Well Attended.

DISCUSSES O.T.A.

Speaker Said, "If the Home Crumbles the Nation Will Fall."

Mrs. Gordon Wright, of London, Ontario, Dominion President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, delivered a striking address last evening on the condition and results under government control of liquor in the Provinces of Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Mrs. Wright said: "If we win on October 23rd, and in my heart I believe we are going to win by a large majority, we will be keeping out one of the worst evils that ever crept into the world. Belleville is almost certain of an O. T. A. win with a large majority, although it is situated among breweries and other places where beverages are manufactured, why should Peterborough not win by a much greater majority than the city of Belleville, and without a doubt the people of Peterborough will open the eyes of a great many wets after the vote is polled."

She explained the O.T.A. as nothing more than the home and church fighting against the Liquor Traffic of Ontario. It is unthinkable to me that any decent man or woman in the Province of Ontario should vote for the Liquor, the height of all evil. I have heard that there was more drinking when the O.T.A. was in force than before. Ontario spent $36,000,000 on liquor the last year of license, while last year under the O.T.A. only $5,000,000 was spent, or practically wasted. This shows that the O. T. A. is the best and will always be the best. If there was more drinking under the O.T.A., why are the wets not satisfied with the O.T.A.?

The speaker described the Moderation League, which is for Government control, as a bunch of wets. They want to put in Ontario a law which will allow the bringing of more liquor into the province.

There is no such thing as Government control, said the speaker as in other provinces where this has been enforced, it is found that the Governments are being controlled by the Liquor Traffic instead of the Liquor Traffic being controlled by the Government.

It wasn't the women's vote that lost prohibition for British Columbia and Alberta. We don't need the wets's vote and the bootlegger's vote which some people say we will get. We can win without them.

Government control has never been a success wherever it was tried. It was first introduced in South Carolina in 1874, but it was a failure, and not long after it was inforced, prohibition swept in to take its place. The countries of the Scandinavian Peninsula threw off the yoke of Government control soon after it was inforced because it was a failure and proved very harmful to both young and old. In the north of England a new system, called the Kerlisle system, was tried, but it was something similar to Government control and it also was a failure. The Kerlisle system had not been in force long before the women became digusted with the way they were treated at the bar, by the men patrons who elbowed them out of the way and made them wait for their turn the same as the rest. Private places for women only were then opened and in these the women drank until they couldn't stand up. Women would be seen in these places with their young children. I went to one of these taverns, said Mrs. Wright. It was the worst sight I ever saw. The place was filled with women sitting around smoking cigarettes and drinking. "This was the crowning shame of Jesus Christ.

In British Columbia, under Government control, there has been an increase of 200 per cent. of sentences to prison. According to the Premier of the province there is as much, or more, liquor sold illicitly by bootleggers as before. Premier Taschereau of Quebec said that they had one of the finest temperance laws in the world in Quebec, yet last year there were 12,048 dead drunk men arrested for being about the streets and public buildings of the city of Montreal. In this province you have to be dead drunk, which is so drunk you can barely stand on your feet, before you are arrested. The howling drunk, crazy drunk, fighting drunk are passed unnoticed by the police in this province. Sixty-five million dollars was spent in liquor in that province last year. The Government is supposed to be building new roads and highways with this money, but they are kept too busy building and repairing prisons to think about roads. Mrs. Wright emphatically said, "I would sooner go back to the old corduroy road, than to have the best of macadamized roads, that were made at the cost of tears from the mother's eye."

Montreal, the city which is classed as having the worst Red Light district in North America, is growing worse. "Take away the liquor and the Red Light district will soon pass out. This district of Montreal is the bootleggers' paradise."

Government control increases taxes instead of decreasing them. In the city of Vancouver, under Government control, taxes have been increased 45 per cent. Taxation will never get lower, because of a larger development of the liquor traffic. Last year Quebec applied a 2 per cent. tax on gasoline, and a 3 per cent. tax was added in British Columbia.

In the city of Winnipeg, where I was a short time ago, six were injured in an auto accident, caused by an intoxicated driver. While I was walking down one of the streets I saw a young woman lying drunk on the street. "Dear people, if we had all the plagues of the world in our province, I would sooner have them than Government control."

Premier Ferguson says that if Government control is enforced in this province he will see that all bootlegging is wiped out, and I am sure that he will do the same when we win our fight on the 23rd of this month.

The man who votes for Government control will be voting wet. What we want is the Federal War-Time Prohibition Act which was first put into force in 1916. The speaker said, "If the home crumbles the nation will fall." Ottawa will tremble when we win on the 23rd. The provinces will all swing back into line and take Ontario as their example and the way will come when there won't be a finer place in the world than Canada."

Mayor J. J. Turner presided over the meeting, and said that he was glad to see that Mrs. Wright had great faith in winning on October 23rd.

Solos were rendered by Miss Greta Lebarr and Mr. Maurice Park.

Listening Together To Heart and Lungs

For a whole class of medical students to listen to heart murmurs and lung sounds at the same moment as their physician-instructor, would seem to be the ideal method of studying the ills of these vital organs of the human body. The significance of each variation is explained at the moment it is heard by the entire class.

The stethophone, a recent invention of Bell telephone engineers, makes this possible. The apparatus was recently demonstrated before a large body of medical men. Where a patient is too ill to be disturbed, the stethophone can be wheeled to the bedside and the action of heart and lungs heard not only by the attending physician, but by a class of students in a distant room. When the instructor wishes to address the class, he keeps the chest-piece in position against the patient's body and talks in a quiet voice. The vibrations are picked up by the patient's body and communicated to the chest-piece; then amplified and transmitted to the students' receivers.

PRINCE RESTING TO-DAY.

He Will Attend Large Dance In Government House To-night.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17. — No engagement have been announced for the Prince of Wales to-day, and it is likely that the royal visitor will rest during the day, although he may play a round of golf.

This evening there will be a dance at the Government House, many of the city's younger set having been invited.

The most notable event connected with the Prince's visit was the reception given by the Governor-General and Lady Byng, when upwards of 300 guests extended their respects to the heir to the throne. The reception was held in the ball room, each guest being presented to the Prince.

Baron Renfrew was also entertained at a state dinner the Government House.

ELMER BROWN WILL HELP LAFOLLETTE

Coolidge Entertained About 40 Actors and Actresses At Breakfast.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. — Canadian Press. — Public interest in the United States election campaign to-day was directed to the matter of the party funds, as a result of the Chicago sittings of the Senate camapign fund investigating committee.

Up to the present details of the party subscriptions have brought forth nothing of a sensational nature. The charges have been vague but have served to enliven a rather dull period in the campaign. Whether they will result in important disclosures is a matter of much speculation.

Active campaigning was continued by Senator LaFollette, the third party candidate in the NorthWest to-day. John W. Davis, the Democratic aspirant, devoted most of the day to conferences with party leaders in Chicago, while President and Mrs. Coolidge entertained about forty actors and actresses, members of the Coolidge-Dawes Theatrical League at breakfast.

George Elmer Brown, a former Republican leader of Washington, has announced that he will support LaFollette.

EVENING FROCK.

One dainty evening frock for a young girl is made entirely of finely pleated ruffles of petal pink chiffon.

EXCEEDED $12,000,000.

Loan Was Subscribed Thirteen Times Over 12 Million.

LONDON, October 17. — Canadian Press.—Subscriptions to Great Britains 12 million pounds portion of the Dawes plan loan to Germany, exceeded a hundred and fifty million pounds, it was announced semi-officially to-day. The loan was therefore subscribed thirteen times over.

FUR BANDS.

One of the smartest French coats has wide fur bands on the cuff and about the hem, but none on the collar which is a plain turndown affair such as is usual on tailored blouses.

21ST BATTALION MASCOT GOAT IS GONE FOR GOOD

Nan Went With Fighting Unit All Through the World War.

REGIMENTAL PET.

With First Battalion To Cross the Rhine on December 13, 1918

There is mourning among the ex-members of the 21st Battalion, Canadian Infantry, for "Nan," their mascot, has "gone west." Only a goat, but who shall say her gallant spirit has not gone to join her comrades who sleep "Between the crosses, row on row" that mark their place in France and Flanders? "Nan" was a war veteran in every sense of the word and was on the strength of the unit for more than four years, and was with the men she loved, as they loved her, during every battle in which the Second Canadian Division was engaged. She was known to thousands of men from the Atlantic to the Pacific who served in the Canadian Corps, but to those who wore the battle patches of the Second Division she was friend and comrade. But old age overtook "Nan," who had attained the age of twelve years. Life became a burden, so, following the advice of the veterinary officer of Military District No. 3, she was given the blessing of a painless death on September 22nd, 1924. She was buried by men of the battalion, who have marked the place. Her head will be mounted and hung in the sergeants' mess of the Princess of Wales' Own Regiment (the non-permanent militia unit in which the traditions of the 21st have been perpetuated), which is the headquarters of the battalion club.

"Nan" was identified with the life of the unit from its earliest days, and the citizens of Kingston remember her as a familiar figure during the winter of 1914-15, when the battalion was in training here. When the men entrained in May of 1915 on their way to the seaboard "Nan" was much in evidence, and in spite of her gay decorations of blue and green ribbons (the battalion colors) seemed most reluctant to face the voyage. It was only the pipes she loved that encouraged her, for always "Nan" was with the pipers. Pipe-Major McKenzie (killed in action in 1918 after receiving his commission) and Pipe-Major J. MacDougall were good friends to her. The latter risked his life to cut her loose from a wagon limber to which she was tied during a period of shelling. Piper Nelson, who had charge of her both in France and since she came home, Sergeant W. G. McMurray, who always saw that "Nan" had a shelter built for her, Pte. Oliver Roberts, Corporal J. R. Coghill and Piper H. McKenzie all vied with each other in their devotion to the pet of the battalion.

"Nan's" friends were not only the men; she loved the horses, especially two fine greys, who, with many another splendid horse, were killed by shell fire. She was loyal to her old friends, and did not extend a cordial welcome to the new horses, who were much astonished by being attacked by the regimental goat.

The mascot hated shell fire, but was especially afraid of aerial bombs. She sought shelter with skill, and it was known that to follow "Nan" was to find a way to safety. Piper Nelson declares that she had shell-shock and says that she would tremble at the sound of the guns. But she enjoyed life. Officers and men alike regarded "Nan" as a comrade. Brigadier-General W. S. Hughes, the first commander of the 21st, took special pride in the goat. Lieut.-Colonel Elmer W. Jones, who fell at Amiens, was her fast friend, and Lieut.-Col. H. E. Pense, who succeeded him in command, had always been an admirer. "Nan" may have had a certain respect for a red tab, but she was without conscience in the matter of rations. If it was eatable "Nan" ate it. Shirts and officers' silk handkerchiefs were special dainties, and, as for drinks, she could take a ration of rum like an old campaigner, loved a glass of beer or the vin blanc of France.

Always Ready for Move.

"Nan" knew the minute preparation for a move was being made by the battalion, and was always ready. She was not going to be left behind if she knew it. She marched with the men (despising a life in the transport wagons) from the Ypres salient to the Somme in the summer of 1916. The 21st's treasure was stolen several times and lost more than once, so she was finally marked with "21" on her horns. On one occasion the mascot and her escort found it impossible to keep up with the unit on a long route march over hard surfaced roads. At dusk a village was reached and application was made to the town major for accommodation for the night. The officer was greatly interested in the recital of the travels of the regimental pet. He had given shelter to thousands of men and horses, but this was the first request for a billet for a goat. The village was crowded, but finally shelter was found for "Nan" and her fond escort in the cellar of a house which was already occupied by a dozen Canadian "Tommies." No objection was raised until the mascot decided to greet daylight and another day of soldiering by insistent bleating.

The story is told that when the battalion came up for the Somme, the transport officer, who apparently did not realize what their mascot meant to the men of the 21st, sold the goat for twenty francs. Horror and rage was felt by all ranks, and not until the mascot was bought back from the Frenchman was quiet restored. "Nan" was received with open arms and treated right royally by her comrades.

Stories without number are told by the men of the 21st of their mascot; her picture has been in the London Daily Mail and the London Daily Mirror. She knew well the "stamping ground" of the Canadian Corps from Ypres to Amiens and westward to the Rhine, and had the proud record of being the mascot with the first battalion to cross the Rhine at Bonn on the morning of Friday, December the 13th, 1918.

Difficulty Getting Back.

Getting "Nan" into France was comparatively easy, but getting her back to Canada presented many difficulties. Embarking at Le Havre for England in April of 1919 her pals hastened her on board and she disembarked next morning at Southampton without any unpleasant questions being asked. However, within fifteen minutes the C.O. was requested to report at the office of the officer in charge of the port and was informed that it was contrary to the regulations of the Board of Agriculture, that a goat should be landed, in case she should bring an infectious disease in England. However, she had already been landed and the unit was entraining for Witley camp. The C. O. was bound that nothing would induce him to part with the mascot that had shared the joys and sorrows of the battalion and marched with the army of occupation into Germany. "We'll take her back at all costs," he said, and a great shout went up from the men; "Hurrah, we'll take 'Nan' home." So "Nan" proceeded to Witley under guard in the baggage van. But at this camp the attentions of the Board of Agriculture did not cease. The headquarters of the battalion was visited by a courteous inspector the following day. To his inquiry it was admitted that the goat had been brought to Witley from the port of disembarkation. The inspector, who had been an officer in the army, appreciated the feeling of the men respecting "Nan," but regretted that no exception could be made in her case. The regulations must be carried out. The animal must be slaughtered or re-exported, and exported she was—to Canada—after having been kept in strict quarantine for three weeks.

On board the Cunarder "Caronia" the mascot, as usual, attracted attention, but the captain ordered that she be kept in the place provided for animals. A rumor spread that she was to be banished to the "butcher's pen." This was quite true, but the butcher's slaughtering implements had no designs upon the life of the regimental pet. Before going below decks she determined to have a little fun, selecting a well-known Canadian general for a playful butt. "Just one of the 21st," remarked the general, who was also an admirer of "Nan's."

When the mascot disembarked at Halifax, it was with a clean sheet. She had been wounded once, but it was not a "blighty." She had been sick for two weeks with bad feet, but, thanks to a piper from the Orkney Islands, who had been a shepherd before coming to Canada, she recovered. She came back supposedly A-1, but like thousands of the men of the Canadian Corps, the results of her war service were yet to develop. "Nan" was the only member of the unit who never had a day's leave. She was so popular with others, as well as her own battalion, that an English regiment offered a hundred francs for her, and the mascot of the 21st was the envy of all comers.

Was Lonely for Friends.

"Nan" was lonely for her friends when the battalion disbanded, but her comrades did not desert her. For a time she was cared for by the C.O. Then Piper Nelson looked after her welfare. Later she spent a summer on the grounds at Mowat Sanatorium. Two years ago the commandant of the Royal Military College interested in all who served with the Canadians overseas, men or animals, provided a home for her at the stables of the riding establishment, where she was well cared for, and exhibited proudly to hosts of visitors. The late Capt. H. F. Bray and Capt. W. J. Finney, who succeeded him as riding master, with their n.c.o.'s and men, saw that her last days were happy. She was back in the army she loved.

The Prince of Wales had seen "Nan" in France, and on his visit to Kingston in 1919, decorated her with the 1914-15 Star, the General Service medal and the Victory medal. It was a great day for "Nan." She had been made ready to receive her honors by the wife of one of the officers and Piper Nelson. A bath of moist cornmeal had turned her coat snow-white, and she paraded on the Cricket Field, with the other members of the battalion who were to be decorated by His Royal Highness. Piper Nelson was her escort and led her proudly to the Prince, who recognized her and smilingly tied the ribbons to the horns of one of the most valiant of the Empire's soldiers.

"Nan" was Frontenac County-born. Peter McCoy numbered her among the goat family at his farm on the Barriefield-Kingston Mills road. But it was "Buster," the young son of P. C. Lawson, florist, of Centre street of this city, who presented her to the "21st," and it has been recalled that the small goat, which later became so famous, was taken in a taxi in the arms of William Matthews, Beverley street, to the battalion when it was training here. "Buster" Lawson, though anxious that "Nan" should become identified with Colonel Hughes' unit, was reluctant to part with her, as he had become greatly attached to the animal. It was agreed at the time that, if "Nan" should be spared to return to Canada, that she should again be placed in the care of the lad who had presented her to the "21st." However, in 1919 when the goat again made her appearance in the streets of Kingston and attracted so much attention on May the twenty-fourth on parade, it was found impossible for "Buster" to accept responsibility for the animal, as it was known that she would be particularly partial to the bark on the trees of Mr. Lawson's orchard.

THE GREAT UNPREPAREDNESS

In a little community of the middle west the prettiest woman, wife of an honorable working man and mother of four, and the town's meekest and most pretentious man, the village clergyman, plotted and executed a double murder, freeing themselves of marriage bonds so they might wed. The minister procured poison and the woman put it in her husband's soup. The murderous lovers conducted the funeral. The monstrous hypocrite, in the cloth, preached a sermon full of groans and hallelujah, while the depraved widow sniffed behind her handkerchief. Then they murdered the preacher's wife, and planned to take up Christian duties in another community.

Why do newspapers publish such stuff? It is one of the commonest questions asked of newspaper men by more or less sincere and more or less intelligent citizens.

The answer is: To prepare you for life by making you acquainted with its realities and its dangers. It is well for you, particularly if you are a trusting and sheltered soul, to know that such a thing is possible as fiendish murder of one who assumes the highest virtues. This need not make you cynical. All virtuous pretention is not a mere blind for depravity. But you should know of the exceptions and act accordingly. The publication of every-day human experience, whether the news be foul or fair, charts a safe course of conduct for sensible people. The realities are what serve us, not fairy stories, theories or opinions. Publicity is, of course, a crime deterrent. The printed word to many guilty minds is much more to be feared than prison bars. On that ground alone crime news is justified. But the greater fact is that people want to know, have a right to know, are only safe and able to act when they do know the facts of life as they actually exist.

Among squeamish people, or those who have not analized the social psychology of newspapers, a determined effort continues to curb the publication of crime. Many such objections are, in our opinion, insincere. For instance, a type of citizen wants to know all about crime himself, confident of his mental and moral ability to withstand the shocks, but would take it away from women and children. It is the unsophisticated woman and child who most need to read the truth of the world.

Fake crime news, underworld characters dressed up as respectable people, crime made alluring and heroic, images that lure the weak and unsuspecting, are vicious elements of some newspapers and should be wiped out. But the naked truth, whatever it may be, must be told by all honest newspapers if society is to progress and individuals be prepared to walk in safety. Ignorance is the great unpreparedness.—Editor and Publisher.

BOYS REMANDED.

Five Boys Charged With Stealing Will Come Up To-morrow.

The five boys of ages 16 and 17 who are charged with breaking into the Canadian Woollens Office on McDonnel street and stealing $100 and breaking into several other places and stealing money, appeared in Police Court this morning for trial and were remanded until to-morrow.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

The truth of God, concerning what some call a second chance is very much misunderstood by a great many. The Scriptures make the fact of the matter plain. The first chance for everlasting life was lost by Father Adam and all his posterity, by his disobedience. Under that original trial, "condemnation passed upon all men." Adam and his posterity, who lost life through his failure shall be given opportunity to turn unto God. This chance comes to all on account of the full ransom price paid by Jesus for all. "As in Adam all died (lost their chance of life) so in Christ shall all be made alive," (have their chance of life). After man is resurrected or made alive again, comes the first individual opportunity of gaining eternal life. Man will not then go down into death (the second death) on account of Adam's failure. Whether he gains eternal life or goes down into eternal death will depend entirely upon himself. Call this the first or second chance the facts are the same. Man, not God, has limited to the Gospel age the chance or opportunity of gaining eternal life. The Gospel age is for the selecting of the church, the royal priesthood, through whom the offer of eternal life in the age to come will be given freely to all under most favorable terms. As each becomes fully aware of the ransom price given by our Lord Jesus, and his subsequent privileges, he is on trial as Adam was and obedience brings lasting life and disobedience lasting death — the second death. Perfect obedience without perfect ability to render it, is not required of any.—M. T. Butcher. 1d-89-6478

UNIQUE MEETING EDUCATION BOARD

Toronto Board Was Split Last Night On Rocks of a Resolution Favoring O.T.A.

TORONTO, October 17. — Following what was perhaps the most unique meeting in its history, the Toronto Board of Education was split last night on the rocks of a resolution favoring the O.T.A., and broke up without reaching a vote on the resolution, and without reaching their evening's business.

The resolution putting the board on record in favor of the O.T.A., was moved by Trustee J. E. Forfar.

Chairman Trustee Rev. P. E. Powell, declared he ruled the motion out of order and read a letter from the Board's solicitor advising such action. Nearly two hours of seesaw debate and points of law and procedure was precipitated, the debate petering down to a point where the board sat for some 10 to 15 minutes without a word being said, when the chairman and several of the members left the room, and the meeting then found itself unable to proceed for lack of a quorum.

FINAL GAME AT RIVERSIDE PARK

Lakeviews and C.G.E. Clash To-morrow Afternoon at 3 O'clock.

Much interest among baseball fans has been caused by the announcement that the Lakeviews and C.G.E. teams are to clash to-morrow and there promises to be a big crowd at Riverside Park when the Junior and intermediate teams hook into each other at 3 o'clock. The batteries will be Hardill and Ross for C.G.E. and Whitehouse and Halliday for Lakeviews and both teams are expected o be at uftrInslehttg to be at full strength. The game will be umpired by Shiner Johnston and Frank Collins of the Central Ontario League team and should be a fitting finish to a long baseball season. Not a few fans are calling upon Lakeviews to win against their older and more experienced opponents. In any event they should make a good showing.

A BIG MEETING KIWANIS CLUB AT NOON TO-DAY

Ontario District Association of the C.P.R. Present.

A NEW MEMBER.

An Interesting Address On Transportation By Head Of Association.

HOW TO REACH THE GOAL.

Start to work young.
Always live within your means.
Always have a little in reserve.
Keep regular hours,
Live a plain, sober life.

This recipe for a long, useful life was given by Kiwanian Walter Stocker at to-day's combined luncheon of the Ontario District Transportation Association of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Peterborough Kiwanis Club.

Ald. Stocker was booster for the day, and the prize-winners were Kiwanians T. Mark, E. Taylor, and C. McLean. "I have worked for fifty years steady," said Kiwanian Stocker in support of his recipe for a successful citizenship.

Percy Bond was introduced by Kiwanian Joseph Wearing as a new member. The latter delivered the charge and club symbol.

President John R. Marshall, who presided at to-day's meeting, introduced the speaker of the day as H. C. Grout, general superintendent of the Ontario District Association of the C.P.R.

Mr. Grout explained that the association was made up of officers, members of the staff representing all branches of the railway service from Smith's Falls to Windsor. The Association acted as a clearing-house for the exchange of ideas and other useful purposes that had for its ultimate object the betterment of the railway service to its patrons. Mr. Grout referred to some of the transportation problems of the railway due to the seasonal character of the traffic. In the fall and early winter the grain movement is at its peak. The automobile movement follows in the early spring, and the movement of construction materials reaches its height in the early summer. Last year the Canadian Pacific Railway moved enough wheat to supply each inhabitant of the world with ten loaves of bread.

The speaker used astronomical mileage to picture other statistical phases of the great grain movement from the West each year.

In conclusion, Mr. Grout thanked the members of the Kiwanis Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Motor League, the Civic Administration and all others who helped to make their stay in the city a pleasant one.

This morning sixteen cars, representing the Peterborough Motor League, and including several representatives of the city, took the members of the Association for a trip around the principal points of interest.

Mr. J. D. Altimas, assistant general superintendent of car service in Montreal, in a few brief remarks reminded those present that th Caadia Pacific Railway is at all the Canadian Pacific Railway is at all times ready and willing to do whatever lies in its power to advance the interests of Peterborough.

Miss Agnes Logan played two very delightful pianoforte solos, the first "Triana," by Albeniz, and its encore, "Fairy Tale," by Meetner. She received a large bouquet of carnations.

TWO AIRMEN KILLED.

Two Airplanes Collided 13 Hundred Feet Above Coronada.

SANDIAGO, Calif., Oct. 17. — (United Press.)—Naval authorities to-day were investigating the collision of two naval airplanes, 13 hundred feet above Coronada in which two airmen were killed yesterday.

A third, William Cole, a gunner, escaped by walking out on the wing of his airplane and jumping off with a parachute.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Aged New York Woman Jumped Into Rapids Of Niagara.

BUFFALO, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Hundreds of tourists were horrified late yesterday afternoon when an elderly woman jumped into the rapids from Luna Island bridge and went over Niagara Falls. The woman left a note and some money in a purse on the bridge. She is believed to be a Mrs. Hart of New York City. Persons who saw the tragedy said she was about 70 years old. The woman came to Niagara Falls with several other New York tourists.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Last year, there were over 20,000 people killed by automobiles in the United States. Every city, however, has the speed fiend. Last night at 11.30, in the city of Peterboro, a car near George and McDonnel Streets was going at the rate of forty miles an hour. If no one was killed, it was not the fault of the driver. Before it is too late, drivers of such cars should be arrested for attempted manslaughter.

WEDDING BELLS

FANNING—PAQUETTE

The marriage was quietly solemnized at the church of the Sacred Heart, on Thursday morning, at six o'clock, of Clarilda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. B. Paquette of this city, to Mr. Leo J. Fanning of Detroit, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fanning of Burnley, Ont., the Rev. J. J. O'Brien officiating.

The bride was given away by her father and was unattended. A particularly pleasing coincidence in connection with the ceremony, was that Mr. and Mrs J. E. B. Paquette were celebrating the Twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

A sumptuous wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, to immediate relatives, after which the young couple left on the 7.35 train for Detroit where they will reside.

SHARP—GRAHAM.

The marriage took place quietly at one o'clock yesterday, in the Parsonage of Trinity Methodist Church, of Olive Elizabeth, third daughter of Mrs. Mary Graham, 512 Bolivar Street, and the late Charles Graham, and Charles Sharp, of Detroit, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharp, of Port Hope. Rev. A. J. Langford performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a lovely gown of beaded poudre blue georgette, with black feather hat and brown fox fur, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. Her attendant, Miss Ruby Sharp, was attired in black georgette, trimmed with monkey fur, a black hat and fox fur, and carried columbia roses. Mr. Charles Veenman acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp left on the afternoon train for Detroit, where they will reside after a brief honeymoon. The bride travelled in a suit of navy tricotine, with black hat and fur neckpiece.

CURTIS—BURFORD.

A wedding of local interest was solemnized in Toronto on Wednesday evening of this week, when Miss Pearl Burford, visiting member of the staff of the local Conservatory of Music, was married in Toronto to Mr. Wilfred A. Curtis. The following is the account from the Toronto Globe:

"The Cathedral of St. Alban the Martyr was the scene last night of a very pretty wedding, when Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Burford, was married to Mr. Wilfred A. Curtis. Rev. Canon MacNab was the officiating clergyman. The cathedral was decorated with palms, yellow chrysanthemums and autumn foliage, the autumn colorings also being carried out in the costumes of the attending bridesmaids and matron of honor. The bride entered the cathedral on the arm of her father and was charmingly gowned in simple but lovely dress of ivory crepe and Chantilly lace. Her court train of ivory charmeuse, lined with shell pink crepe de chine and edged with silk cord, was caught at the shoulders with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids, roses and lily of the valley. The veil was drooped from a coronet of orange blossoms and pearls. The groom's gift was a diamond and platinum bar pin. Mrs. Robert Jackson was her sister's matron of honor, while her two younger sisters Misses Emma and Helen Burford, acted a bridesmaids. Mrs. Jackson wore a pretty gown of toast georgette trimmed with gold leaves; gold shoes and stockings and black panne velvet hat trimmed with tulle and faced with gold metallic cloth. She carried russet chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids' dresses were of a delicate shade of peach and apricot, trimmed with ostrich and petals of the same shade; black hats, with tulle faced with silver, and they carried roses to match their frocks. Miss Betty Jackson, niece of the bride, made a dainty flower girl in a frock of peach satin with frills of white lace, and she carried a basket of roses and brown-eyed susans. The groom was supported by Mr. A. Roy Brown, and the ushers were: Mr. Ronald Kierstead, Mr. Howard Leaming, Mr. Harry Carnegie and Mr. William Burford. During the signing of the register, Miss Nelly Gill sang, accompanied by Miss Eva Goodman, who also played the wedding music. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was artistically decorated with autumn flowers. Mrs. Burford wore blue cut velvet and georgette with black hat, sable fur and corsage bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Colin Curtis, mother of the groom, wore a French dress of penny brown crepe with hat to match and yellow roses. Shortly after the reception the bridal couple left for Kirkfield Inn, the bride wearing a beaver brown silk velvet dress trimmed with beaver and small hat of the same shade and brown French wrap."

ST. JOHN'S W. A. MET.

Large Number of Members Were Present on Tuesday Afternoon.

On Tuesday afternoon, a meeting of the W. A. of St. John's Church took place in the Parish Hall, with thirty members present. Devotional exercises were taken by Miss A. Halliday.

Mrs. G. Evans gave an interesting report of the recent deanery meeting in Havelock, Mrs. A. Cridland read the Diocesan Board notes, which were very instructive, and the literature report and study were given by Miss Halliday. The society's portion of the proceeds of the recent rummage sale was reported as being $60.30.

It was decided to have a visiting campaign for membership.

Following the business session was a social half-hour, when refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Amys Mrs. J. Bacon and Mrs. B. H. Poole.

CLARENCE F. SMITH HAD AN OVERDRAFT

Smith Had Loans From the Bank at One Time Totalling $135,500.

TORONTO, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Evidence to the effect that Clarence F. Smith, Home Bank director, now on trial before Judge Coatsworth on the charge of making false statements of the bank, had paid off all his debt to the bank after its failure, was given yesterday by Victor W. Scott, manager of the Montreal branch of the bank, where the accused had his accounts.

At one time in February, 1921, Smith had loans totalling $132,500 on what the bank regarded as an excellent security. This loan was steadily paid off until the debt was cleaned up after the bank had closed its doors.

Mr. Scott also told of C. A. Bard's accounts in the Montreal branch, and of their final transfer to the head office at Toronto.

At the morning session it was stated by the manager of the Montreal branch that when the bank closed, Smith had a large overdraft. He was also interested in a couple of companies that had accounts in the bank.

I.O.O.F. ENTERTAINMENT.

Peterboro Lodge No. 111 Entertains Lodge From Napanee.

An enjoyable evening was spent by the members of Peterboro Lodge No. 111, I.O.O.F., when the officers and degree staff of Argyle Lodge No. 212 of Napanee paid a fraternal visit to Peterboro Oddfellows and conferred the first degree. The Lodge was also favored by a visit from the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, Bro. J. E. Anderson, of Lindsay, and Bro. Wilson of Napanee, Past Grand Patriach of the Grand Encampment of Ontario. The Lodge paraded, headed by the Kiltie Band, and met the visiting brethren at the Canadian National depot on the arrival of the special train at 8.30 p.m. Returning to the Lodge rooms, where a merry time was spent at the banquet provided by the members of the Rebecca Lodge. Bro. J. E. Anderson, Grand Master, acted as chairman, and delivered an eloquent address in response to the toast to the Grand Lodge. The gathering broke up in the early hours of the morning. The visitors left on their special train at 1.30 a.m., taking with them the memory of a pleasant evening spent in Peterboro.

POSTMEN MEET HERE.

A special convention of the letter-carriers of the Dominion is being held here. Business sessions commenced yesterday in Victoria Hall, where they will continue until to-morrow night. Sixty-one delegates are present, from as far west as Moose Jaw and Edmonton, from Quebec and Nova Scotia. President E. V. Browning of Toronto, is acting as chairman.

Short addresses of welcome were tendered the delegates by Mayor Turner, Alderman Crowe, chairmen of the Reception Committee, and Postmaster John Corkery.

On with the hunt!

THE world is full of hunters running down facts, capturing facts, taming facts, making facts work for them—and for you. Eddison setting traps for voices . . . Marconi stabbing at the sky . . .

You too are hunting facts. Theories won't light your home, burn in your furnace, tick off time for you, clothe you, feed you, grow in your garden, carry you to work.

Facts will. You are hunting facts when you read the advertisements. Facts about products, what they are and, their worth, how long, how willingly they will slave for you.

When you buy, you want to buy facts — certainties of satisfaction.

Advertisements contain no vague theories or dreams. In their frankness is nothing to confuse. They give you facts. They give you your best ammunition for getting hold of more facts.

ENGINEERS ARE HONORED GUESTS LINDSAY DINNER

Fifty Members Descended on Scugog Town for Right Royal Time.

INTERESTING LECTURE

R. O. Wynne-Roberts Told of Progress in Science of Sewage Disposal.

(By a Staff Reporter).

LINDSAY, Oct. 17. — Fifty members of the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada motored to Lindsay last night to pay a fraternal visit to the members of the branch resident there, partake of their hospitality, and drink what Chairman F. R. Wilford called "chlorinated Scugog sludge."

Dinner was served in the Rotary and Kiwanis headquarters, and formalities were forgotten as the members got together for a friendly visit. Mayor W. G. Graham and members of Lindsay Council were present, and paid high tribute to the engineering profession and the members of Peterboro Branch E.I.C.

F. R. Wilford, M.E.I.C., of Lindsay, welcomed the Peterboro visitors in a happy speech, and told in humorous strain of the early days of engineering in Canada.

E. R. Shirley, president of the Peterboro branch, replied to the address of welcome, and extolled the work of the E. I. C. The object of the Institute is to further research and stimulate interest in engineering problems and progress, he said.

The Peterboro Branch was organized five years ago, and the birthday will be celebrated on November 18, when Lindsay should be fully represented.

Mr. Shirley congratulated Victoria County engineers on the excellence of their roads, and hoped that soon Lindsay and Peterboro would be linked by a Provincial highway.

Sewage Disposal.

R. O. Wynne-Roberts, M.E.I.C., of Toronto, widely known as an expert in sanitary engineering specializing in biological treatment of sewage, addressed the gathering on "the history of sewage disposal."

In introducing his subject, the speaker extolled the high standard of ethics maintained by engineers, and urged the virtue of maintaining this standard. Conveying the greetings of the Toronto Branch, he said engineers are banded together to advance the interests of the profession, but there should be a link between engineer and engineer that will unite them in elevating it.

It isn't right that a junior engineer to-day should be paid a lower salary than the men who carry out his plans, he said. The bricklayer is paid more in some cases than the engineer who designed the plant in which he is laying the brick, because the bricklayer is one of a united body.

The need for sanitation systems came when men began banding themselves into communities, and there is evidence in the Mosaic law that the problem received attention at that time. Ages later the Greeks and Romans built huge conduits to convey the sewage from the cities. A relapse in the dark ages when people were too busy fighting for existence to trouble with questions of sanitation brought about a condition that was ripe for the black plague. Three hundred years ago it was found that purification was due to micro organisms, and in 1762 the decomposition of organic substances was brought about by germs. The real discovery of the fact that sewage disposal depends upon biology only dates back fifty years. At that time outbreaks of cholera and typhus in Europe compelled thinking people to turn attention to sewage disposal in populous centres, and sanitary authorities were called upon to adopt methods to protect the citizens. Between 1865 and 1875 there were 400 patents issued for matters connected with sewage disposal, and great expenditures were made, with inadequate results.

In 1896 the speaker was sent to inspect the several classes of sewage disposal plants in the British Isles, and reported in a book that was widely read. At that time land irrigation, chemical clarification and electrical treatment were all in vogue. Perseverance of engineers, chemists and bacteriologists resulted in many improvements in the biologic redemption of tank affluents.

Mr. Wynn-Roberts told of the men who worked at the problem in the early part of the twentieth century, and showed step by step how the modern processes developed. The problem of to-day, he said, is the sewage, and sanitarians are working to separate the one gallon of solids from the 999 gallons of liquid that together make up every 1,000 gallons of sewage. Sewage carries the bacteria for its own destruction if given the proper conditions to develop. The method of disposal depends upon the volume of the material, its character, the condition of the land, the fall, and the standard of purification desired. There is no one method suitable to all localities and all conditions.

Illustrated By Slides.

The lecture was rendered more interesting by the showing of many lantern slides, illustrating the different methods of sewage disposal, and was followed by three reels of motion pictures.

Community singing was a feature of the evening, Ian McKenzie accompanying at the piano.

Mayor W. G. Graham moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker and to the Peterboro engineers for coming to Lindsay.

Dr. F. Blanchard, medical officer of health, seconded the motion, and told of the mistake Lindsay makes by cheaply dumping its sewage into the Scugog, to the detriment of farmers in the Township of Ops.

Those Present.

There were present from Peterboro Ross L. Dobbin, honorary chairman; E. R. Shirley, chairman; A. A. Killaly, vice-chairman; Paul Manning, secretary; A. B. Gates, treasurer; R. C. Flitton, W. M. Cruthers, B. L. Barns, A. H. Munroe, H. O. Fisk of the Executive Committee, and Messrs. Coutts, R. H. Parsons, G. Henderson, Pretty, Dickinson, MacRae, R. A. Barbour, Gillett, McLennan, Coburn, M. MacIntosh, Burgess, F. H. Dobbin and Stephenson.

Of Lindsay, there were Mayor W. G. Graham, E. A. Miles, O. Smith, F. C. T. Webster, J. T. Hornsby, and Dr. Blanchard.

Changed ways of living—progress—work strange revolutions in industry. Dr. Luis Levine writes a book, "The Garment Workers," reviewing the history of garment making. He dwells on the year 1860, when the steel industry was greatly stimulated by the popularity of the hoop skirt.

All that is gone. So, also, is the big steel business based on corset stays. To-day the auto industry is one of the leading consumers of steel. In a half-century or less, little steel may be used for motor cars, demand shifted to airplanes. Progress is change.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

REEL STAR IN REAL DANGER WHEN DIRECTOR GETS REALISM.

Superb horsemanship alone made possible one of the most beautiful scenes in Thomas Meighan's latest picture "The Alaskan."

Under the direction of Herbert Brenon, who produced this James Oliver Curwood story for Paramount, Meighan posed on a narrow point of cliff. Horse and man were silhouetted against the sky. Below the crumbling ledge on which they stood was a sheer declivity of more than one thousand feet. In the background was the finest range of snow-clad peaks to be found in the entire Alaskan peninsula.

Following the 'shot,' Meighan turned slowly, mounted his horse and rode off the ledge. The dangerous moment followed the instant he swung off his feet into the saddle. The horse, already nervous from gazing into the void, reared, sending a shower of stones over the edge. Urged by hand and voice, the animal dropped and then sprang away from the brink of the cliff.

While this scene, so beautitful in its effect, but so dangerous in reality, was being filmed, Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, Charles Ogle,. Frank Campeau and Anna May Wong, who head the supporting cast, watched Meighan from an adjoining ledge on the cliff where the cameras were perched.

"The Alaskan," will be the feature film at the Capitol Theatre for next Monday and Tuesday.

There is a good bill at the Capitol Theatre for the last half of this week. The popular Tom Mix appears in one of his daredevil pictures with his wonder horse, in "Oh, You Tony!" and there is a double comedy offering, in a Cameo laughmaker and a Larry Semon picture, with the ridiculous comedian funnier than ever, in "Her Boy Friend." Aesop's Funny Fables, Topics of the Day, and the usual excellent music by the Capitol orchestra, complete a fine programme.

Tom Mix is the owner of a western ranch. He becomes interested in the Lazy Bow irrigation project and goes to Washington to push the affair to completion. There he falls foul of several lobbyists who have designs on his ranch and money and meets a social hanger-on, Jim Overton, who has been delegated by Tom's enemies to get a line on him for them. Tom breaks into society life with a bang, incidentally breaking a few conventions in the process. He meets an energetic little "gold-digger," Geraldine Richmond, and immediately forgets all about his partner back on the ranch, Betty Faine.

After a party in which Tom ostracizes himself socially by his awkward demeanor, he decides to take a few lessons in deportment and has a hectic time, learning to bow gracefully and how to dress in the sporties manner. Geraldine takes him to a fashion show and "allows" him to present her with a five-thousand dollar wrap. Then he departs once more for his ranch, which is mortgaged to the limit by reason of his engaging in the Coffee Pot Oil Company gamble. His Indian attendant, Chief Blue Nose, has also become inoculated with society manners, and the two amaze the ranchers by their elegance. Geraldine arrives on a visit, accompanied by the gentlemen who have their eyes on Tom's ranch, and the group conspire to "fix" a race in which Tom has entered his horse Tony.

The race is the big scene in the picture, and it is a real thriller. Discarding the usual straight away difficulties that surround the staging of a cross-country, obstacle race, show all the almost insurmountable methods of horse racing, the directors have pulled a new stunt, and in which Tony's going is hampered by the designs of two hired men of the chief villain, Joel Blakeley. The characterization in which Tom Mix shines, that of a daredevil, hard-riding cowboy, comes to life in the last few scenes of the production, which is a likeable, fast-moving affair, showing cross-sections of Washington society life and of existance on a western ranch. Tom Mix and his splendid horse make the picture interesting.

The dramatic art of Mary Philbin is established. The quaint little organ-grinder of "Merry-Go-Round" has scored again in "Fools Highway" her newest feature, an epic of New York's old-time Bowery.

Her characterization the Bowery waif, whose body is so tiny, but whose beauty and purity of thought illumines the drab atmosphere of the colorless little world in which she dwells, sets her art apart from those thousands of players who merely act a part. There is that about her work which makes one forget that she is but a character in a play, Mary Philbin doesn't exist in the picture. She is lost in her marvelous portray al of the little mender, Mamie Rose.

She works and plays, she cries and laughs and hates and loves. And all the while she's living the life of the little girl whose only world goes round beneath the rumble of 'steam elevated trains, and whose pulse quickens at the sight and voice of a Bowery tough.

Those who have seen "Fools Highway" must know now the secret of the characterization which "revealed" Mary Philbin. It is the power to visualize a soul and to live the "body" of the character in which that soul dwells.

"Fools Highway" is an epic of life in one of the nation's most historic quarters, graphically presented with a background as colorful as the old-time Bowery itself. It is the simple love theme of an innocent little girl and one of the Bowery's most accomplished scholars in its fistic school, carried to a tough's regeneration through the love and purity of this girl.

This picture should go far toward establishing Irving Cummings as one of the screen's finest directors a man who knows life and knows how to present the drama of it without being too dramatic or theatrical about it.

Pat O'Malley's characterization as Mike Kildare, Mamie's lover, is immense. The part might have been afforded such an opportunity for the display of his splendid ability. The characters live in the play and the story moves with the smoothness of life walking by on the screen. Other outstanding players in the cast are Max Davidson, Kate Price, Edwin J. Brady, Charles Murray and William Collier.

The picture is a graphic picturization of Owen Kildare's life story as adapted from his famous novel, "My Mamie Rose".

AT THE REGENT.

SHERRY SELECTED FROM MORE THAN 100 PERFORMERS TO PLAY ROLE OF GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE.

Eminent Actor Believes Work Is Greatest of His Career Before the Public.

Selected from more than 100 noted thespians for the role of Robert E. Lee, J. Barney Sherry, who is playing the part of the celebrated Confederate leader in "The Warrens of Virginia," filmed by William Fox, has taken over the delineation with the serious consideration it deserves. The pictures is now playing at the Regent Theatre.

Sherry was in Rome, Italy, with the company headed by Lillian Gish which made "The White Sister," when the news was cabled him that the part of General Lee awaited him in "The Warrens of Virginia."

Immediately Sherry started studying the character of the famous Southern leader. He read every book he could procure on Lee in Rome, and ransacked the ship's library on the way across. Once in New York, the public library found him a daily visitor in their reference rooms, and he made a trip to the Washington and Lee university in Virginia to learn further about the man who after the war was president of that institution of learning.

"Since my boyhood days I have always fairly worshipped the character of Lee, and while I never visualized myself playing him, now that I have been selected for the part I feel that it is the most important role of my life and I am endeavoring to give it everything that I possess," Mr. Sherry said.

The resemblance between the actor and the southern leader is remarkable and photographs of the two when placed side by side are so similar that it is well nigh impossible to tell which is which.

Sherry appeared in person at the Empire Theatre in San Antonio, where the picture was made, in his character. Elmer Clifton was the director of "Warrens of Virginia." Clifton produced "Down to the Sea in Ships," last season's biggest hit.

The portrayal of Lee is the high spot in his career in the opinion of Sherry. He is one of the best known players on the screen. He was costarred with Gloria Swanson in the old Triangle days and has been head-lined over both the Orpheum and Keith vaudeville circuits and starred in legitimate attractions. He has appeared in nearly a hundred film productions.

Four rain machines were used throughout Chadwick Pictures Corporation's production of "The Fire Patrol," which has a background of continual storm, with a splendid effectiveness. "The Fire Patrol" is now being shown at the Grand.

A whole crew of electricians and intricate lighting equipment were transported to the Laguna Beach for scenes in Chadwick Pictures Corporation's production of "The Fire Patrol" now at the Grand. A great portion of the filming was done at this location.

An immense explosion in the hold of a ship was staged for Chadwick Pictures Corporation's production of "The Fire Patrol" now at the Grand. Not only was the filming of the scene extremely dangerous but it necessitated expensive and intricate technical effects.

One of the biggest items in the production of Chadwick Pictures Corporation's latest picture, "The Fire Patrol," now being shown at the Grand, was the use of the Cost Fire Patrol for the first time in the history of motion pictures.

Three generator sets were used for the production of Chadwick Pictures Corporation's latest picture "The Fire Patrol," now at the Grand. Its background of storm necessitated such unusual lighting effects.

A regular forest of trees was wired for lighting effects in Chadwick Pictures Corporation's Production of "The Fire Patrol" now at the Grand. The trees weer two hundred feet in height, and the task accomplished by Fred McBan, the best technical expert in the business, was an exhaustive one.

Six wind machines were used in filming the terrific storm scene in Chadwick Pictures Corporation's production of "The Fire Patrol," now at the Grand. The result is one of the biggest punches in the picture.

To perfect the lighting effects in Chadwick Pictures Corporation's production of "The Fire Patrol," four sun arcs were used almost continuously throughout the filming. Beautiful photographic composition has resulted. "The Fire Patrol" is now being shown at the Grand.

Actual scenes of a freighter burning at sea were produced at great expense for Chadwicks Pictures Corporations, Hunt Strombergs production of "The Fire Patrol," now at the Grand.

LANDIS INVITES MORE EVIDENCE

Anxious To Clear Up Every Phase Of O'Connell-Dolan Scandal.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—"I am anxious to receive any information from any source which will develop whether the O'Connell-Dolan affair has been cleared up by their expulsion from baseball, or whether there are trails which lead elsewhere," said Landis. "But I have no information so far such as Yde is quoted as giving, that Sand was not the only Philadelphia player to be approached, or that anyone else was involved."

"There are several probabilities in this case and I am working on them," said the Commissioner, who returned to his office Thursday after winding up world's series details. "I welcome any such information as is attributed to Yde, or any facts that anyone else can bring out to help clear this up.

"The baseball public can feel sure that I am not concealing anything I have discovered in relation to this attempt to throw a game. I am not trying to cover up anything and I am not trying to shield anyone. But I still lack evidence that the scheme involved others than O'Connell and 'Cozy' Dolan."

DENIAL BY YDE.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press)—Emil Yde, Pirate pitcher, has communicated with Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals, denying that he made any statements with reference to the baseball scandal, Sam. Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh Club, declared last night when informed that Yde had been summoned to appear before Commissioner Landis. Yde is at his home in Freeport, Illinois.

The statements attributed to Yde were contained in an interview given by an unnamed fan to a Rockford, Illinois, newspaper. In the interview the fan repeated what was purported to have been a conversation he had with Yde during one of the world series games between the New York Nationals and the Washington Americans. The account was republished in a Pittsburgh newspaper.

M'GRAW REGARDS GOWDY AS ONE OF BEST IN THE GAME

Was Discovered by the Giants' Manager, But Traded to Boston for Herzog.

Whenever John J.McGraw talks he opens the eyes and ears of those who are listening. The subject of catchers came up the other day when the Giants' manager said:

"I consider Hank Gowdy one of the best catchers in the National League to-day."

And Gowdy having recently celebrated his thirty-fourth birthday, is serving his fourteenth season in the National League. Ancient? A trifle but not too old to be called one of the game's best by McGraw.

It will be recalled that Gowdy originally was discovered by McGraw. He was a first baseman with Dallas in the Texas League in 1910 and had never yanked a mask around his big ears.

As Fred Merkle was doing considerable first basing for the Giants that fall when the lean Hankerino arrived, there was no room for the kid from Texas.

Shoved to Braves

But McGraw could use a shortstop and the Boston Braves could experiment with the young material. Therefore Gowdy was shoved along to the Braves in company with Al Bridwell, and Buck Herzog once more joined the Giants' troupe.

When Gowdy reported to the Braves the Braves' catchers were Johnny Kling, once the daddy of them all, and Bill Rariden. But Kling was fading out and Rariden was only a mediocre performer.

Ball players frequently have changed their original position. Gowdy did. He was given a trial as a catcher but in 1912 ranked at the extreme bottom in fielding in a list of 24 catchers. His average was .926.

Out of the 24 catchers who were in the National League that season with Gowdy only two remain big leaguers. They are Ivey Wingo and Hank Severeid. Wingo was with St. Louis and Severeid with Cincinnati, both youngsters like Hank.

Batting Featured Series

Gowdy became a star and everybody knows about his batting record in the 1914 world series against the Athletics when he averaged .545.

McGraw is anything but a bullhead. He is always willing to admit his mistakes. Because he has traded a player that does not necessarily mean that the athlete is bound for the junk-pile.

Two years ago McGraw decided he had fiddled with Earl Smith long enough and the eccentric catcher was traded with Jesse Barnes to the Braves for John Watson and Gowdy.

And don't forget that today McGraw remarks: "Gowdy is one of the best catchers in the National League."

By now Epinard must realize the necessity of wearing shin-guards, shoulder-pads and a breast protector in trying to win a race on an American track.

MARBERRY GREAT FINISHER BUT POOR STARTER

Big Boy Not Lacking in Courage, But Hasn't Mastered Art of Pitching Nine Innings.

STRONG IN PINCH

Proved it in Second Game of World Series When He Relieved Zachary.

BY BILLY EVANS

How strongly does the mental attitude enter into the work of a big league pitcher?

During the season just closed Fred Marberry was the greatest relief pitcher in the American League.

Incidentally, this same Marberry was one of the poorest starters. Rushed into the fray late in the game he was invariably invincible. Starting a game he usually got away poorly.

The work of Marberry in his first two world series games was typical of his season's form.

Sent into the second game in the ninth inning after Zachary had faltered and the score was tied, he found the winning run on second with two out.

In a most workman-like manner, that made him look like a great pitcher, he fanned Jackson on three pitched balls. In doing it he showed great speed and on the final pitch a wide breaking curve.

Faltered Next Time

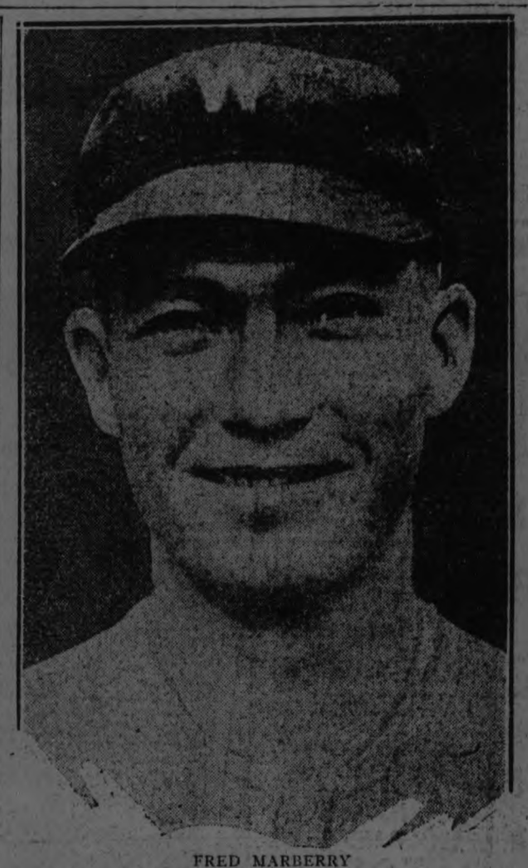
The Nats won the game in the final half of the inning. No doubt that exhibition influenced Manager Harris to start Marberry in the third game of the series. He probably figured it set him for a good game.

True, it was an error by Manager Harris in the second inning that paved the way for two runs and upset Marberry, yet it is questionable if the result would have been different had the play been perfectly executed.

Marberry was erratic from the start. Instead of the confident player who had faced the Giants in the big crisis in the second game and triumphed, he appeared plainly worried over his task.

Plenty of Nerve.

Marberry is one of the most courageous pitchers I have ever umpired for. His manner in the third game was no different from what I have seen it during the season when he would start against some second division club in the American League.



FRED MARBERRY

Working in something like 50 games the past season, Marberry actually won himself only about one-fourth of the number of games he took part in, yet in nearly four-fifths of the games or something like 37. Washington was the victor.

That will give you some idea of Marberry's remarkable pinch-hitting. Starting games it has been just the opposite. Unquestionably the mental attitude of Marberry is directly concerned in his pitching.

What the mind thinks is often reflected in the pitching of a big league star.

HARRIS OF SENATORS BECOMES A BANKER

Joins Investment Firm to Keep Busy Until Next Baseball Season Opens.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Manager Harris of the world's champion Washington Senators joined the ranks of business men to-day. He signed a contract with Redmond & Co., an investment banking house of this city, beginning his new work after a short hunting trip and continuing until he takes his major league titleholders to Tampa, Fla., next spring to begin training for the 1925 campaign. His headquarters will be in Washington.

"Barring accidents, I probably will have a long baseball career ahead of me," said Harris. "But the baseball season, including spring training, runs only from March to October. I'm certainly not going to idle away five months every year, no matter how successful I may be in baseball.

"I have had several flattering business offers, but picked the banking profession because it holds such great opportunities for the future. In any event, I am going to work just as hard as a banker as I did to land Washington on top in the American League and to beat the Giants in the world's series."

THISTLES' NOTICE.

EPINARD TO RACE AGAIN SATURDAY

Owner Cancels Sailing — Kummer Will Ride the French Colt.

LAUREL, Md., October 17. — Only some accident between now and post time will prevent Epinard, the famous French thoroughbred, from starting in the $10,000 Laurel stakes on Saturday, Eugene Leigh, the trainer of the colt said to-day.

Word was received at the track that M. Wertheimer, who had intended sailing for France on Saturday, had cancelled his passage, and will see his horse run here.

Epinard was in splendid condition on his arrival, according to his trainer, and when taken out on the track for a ten minute jog after the fifth race was greeted with a burst of applause from the fans.

Contrary to some reports Epinard and Saraxen, his conquerer in the third international special, will not meet in the Laurel stakes.

The Vanderbilt gelding, not having been nominated for the race, is ineligible.

Both Ladkin and Wise Counsellor, however, are considered almost certain starters.

It was reported from New York that Clarence Kummer, one of America's best jockeys, will have the leg up on Epinard on Saturday.

J J SOLOMON ATTENDING O.B.A.A. MEETING TODAY

CUP TIES PROBLEM

Scottish Schedule Mixed Because of Glasgow Games.

A problem that must be definitely solved before another season comes round is that of the interference with the Association Football League fixtures in Scotland caused by the Glasgow Cup ties. When the first round of the ties was played recently Cowdenbeath, in the First Division, and Clydebank, in the Second Division, had to suffer an idle day because there were no clubs for them to meet. This was considered an injustice, and an emphatic protest was made on behalf of these clubs.

"The Glasgow clubs may as well prepare themselves for a solid attack by the other League members against conditions being perpetuated that leave any possibility of a club being stranded," says the Athletic News. It is absurd for people to talk of a threat to break up the League if the clubs outside Glasgow do not carry their point. Nevertheless, I can see trouble arising if the matter is not approached by the city clubs in a spirit of reasonableness.

"It is a big thing to ask them to stop playing the ties on Saturdays, because frequently the revenue from these matches is sufficient to put them right, financially, for the season. That, however, is a purely selfish argument, which is only tenable if others are not being made to suffer. The issue is simple. If the ties must be allotted Saturdays, then they must be arranged so that no club is left without a League fixture."

One wonders what would happen to romance in Illinois if the arsenic crop ever failed.

AFFIDAVIT FALSE IN FIRPO CHARGE

Rev. Canon Chase Swore To It Believing It To Be True.

NEW YORK, October 17. — Canon William S. Chase yesterday admitted that he had made an erroneous affidavit regarding Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine heavyweight.

The Canon's admission was made before Federal Commissioner Hitchcock at a hearing on the Canon's complaint that Firpo committed perjury in telling the immigration authorities that he did not know Miss Bianca Lourdes Picart, who came to this country on the same steamship from Buenos Aires.

Canon Chase said affidavit to the effect that Firpo and Miss Picart came to this country as man and wife, was made on information and belief, and that at the time he swore to the affidavit he believed it to be true. Later, he said, it was discovered to be false.

The warrant for Firpo's arrest on deportation charges was based on Canon Chase's affidavit. Henry H. Curran, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, recommended to the department of Labor at Washington, that the deportation proceedings be dismissed.

Bowling

ROYAL BANK WON TWO FROM BANK OF COMMERCE

Last night at Solomon's Alleys the Royal Bank took two out of three from the Bank of Commerce in the Bank League. Fairly good scores marked the evening's rolling.

WINNERS FOR 1925 PICKING BASEBALL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(United Press.)—Winning pennants in strings has become such a custom in the major leagues that the thought naturally arises after the world's series: "Will the Senators and the Giants repeat?"

It is no more possibe to answer the question now than it was after the series last year, because form doesn't last over a protracted period. The fickleness of dope was well illustrated during the past season when the surprising Senators came through as the pennant winner in the American League over the New York Yankees.

When the entries in the two leagues drew up to the wire last April it was almost the unasimous opinion that the Yankees should have no great difficulty in winning their fourth straight championship and that only a McGraw could steer the Giants around the competition that was threatened from Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

As the Boston Red Sox caused a temporary surprise and the Senators came through with a permanent shock in the American League, the older circuit had the baffling Brooklyn Robins as evidence that it is impossible to figure a team's form over a season.

The best tumble that the Senators got from the experts was that they were an experiment with a kid manager and that they might have to fight hard for a place in the first division. All the recognition that the Robins got was that it was the worst looking team in the major leagues and would be fortunate to keep out of the cellar or the ground floor.

The prospects of the Giants and the Senators in the 1925 pennant races quite naturally depend upon the opposition that will face them. From all appearances at this early date they will have plenty of competition.

The opinion has been expressed in the past two years that when the Yankees finally cracked that they would do it with a compelte explosion that would toss them into the second division. The former world's champions are not a young ball club. They needed patching last year, and they need more patching for another pennant fight. Unless the scouts are able to find something for Colonel Jake Ruppert to spend his good money on, the Yanks hardly figure as the outstanding challenger next year.

To rebuild the team, the Yanks have one young outfielder, Earl Combs, and a young first baseman, Lou Gehrig. They need a young catcher better than Hoffman or Bengough, and they need about four young pitchers to be ready to step in for Bush, Shawkey and Jones. Hoyt has given promise each spring of developing into a great pitcher; but he has always stopped on the way. Pennock had a great season, but he may fall off next season, as star pitchers usually do.

The Detroit Tigers are the big treat of 1925. Ty Cobb has a young ball club that gave great promise this year, and might have done better if they didn't have some very bad breaks. The Philadelphia Athletics are also a threat, even if one, from past experiences, has to cross fingers in making the predictions.

The Cleveland Indians are in the same position as the New York Yankees, although they have no mighty Babe Ruth to lose and the Yanks must face the sour prospect of figuring what will happen to them when the Babe starts slipping. He is about due.

It was generally believed at the close of the past season that the Pittsburgh Pirates had the best team in the National League. It was a fine ball club and it is a finer club in prospect for 1925. Several of the players on the team caused dissatisfaction to the management last season and it is possible that two players may be replaced with one who may be willing to show a little more fight. The Pirates are young, and new spirit shoud grow into the team. It is impossible, it would seem, to get anything into some of the veterans on the club, who have thrown away and wasted three fine chances to win the pennant.

Brooklyn did about as well this year as the same club can do next year. Certainly the Robins could have done no better this year with what they had in the way of playing strength and with the handicap of a late start.

It is only reasonable to assume, after what happened to Adolph Luque this season, that Dazzy Vance may not win 28 games next season; that Bill Doak may not win 12 or 15, and that Burly Grimes may not be good for 20 or 25. Star pitchers, in recent years, almost invariably have had a bad relapse after one fine season.

The Cincinnati Reds were ruined by injuries this season and by the failure of some of their pitchers to deliver. The club should be as strong next spring as when it started this season, and it was considered highly enough to be picked as a pennant possibility by several experts.

McGraw has done so much with a rather inferior team in the last four years that there seems to be nothing that genius of a manager can't get out of a player or a team.

McGraw has been preparing to rebuild his team and he has a flock of most promising youngsters ready to step in shoes of some of the veterans who will have to be replaced. Looking over McGraw's record, it will seen that he periodically rebuilt his team and he is ready to do it again. He acts upon the theory that a player works out his usefulness after long service with one club, even though he may be a capable performer.

The Giants always seem, in late years to need pitching, and they could get along better next season with a couple of more reliable hurlers, but even if he doesn't get them, McGraw will worry along and out think and out-game his rivals.

NOTED CRICKETER DIES.

A. C. Bannerman, Australian Player, Made Batting Records.

Alexander C. Bannerman, the famous Australian cricketer, died recently at Melbourne. He was a member of D. W. Gregory's noted Australian team of 1878, which was the first combination from the Antipodes to visit England. He made further trips to England in 1880, 1882 and 1884, under W. L. Murdoch; in 1888 under P. S. McDonnell, and in 1893 under J. M. Blackham.

In the last of these visits he scored 1,229 runs, and had a highest innings of 133. His best score in a test match was at Melbourne in 1877, when he scored 165, not out. In the test match at Lord's in 1888 he "bagged a pair."

Bannerman was born March 21, 1859, and was a New South Wales man. On the cricket field his defense was of the stone-wall type. At all times he showed inexhaustible patience. So patient was he that on one occasion he stayed at bat two hours for two runs. For all that, however, he was most valuable to his side at the bat and could punish loose bowling very severely. He was an excellent player at mid-off and his returns to the wicket were always models of accuracy and smartness.

GRIFF BUYS GREGG

President of World Champions Strengthening Pitching Staff.

To fortify his 1925 pitching staff, Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Nats, has purchased Vean Gregg, veteran left-hander, from the Pacific Coast League club. Gregg will report to the Nationals next spring in Tampa, Fla. He will be used in relief roles.

Ten years ago Gregg was a star with the Cleveland club. He lost his cunning and drifted to the Philadelphia Athletics and was then sold to the Boston Red Sox, to whom he refused to report because of the chilly climate.

This season the veteran has led all the southpaws in his circuit, with 23 wins, and is tied with Penner of San Francisco, a righthander, for the league's pitching honors.

Gregg is thought to be around 40 years of age. He admits 37. Griffith is not saying how much he cost the Washington club.

DOUBLE PLAYS WON

Washington's Chief Defensive Asset in Pennant Fight.

Washington has literally doubleplayed itself into a pennant.

The great Walter Johnson, with a fine brand of pitching, has done his part.

The remarkable mite of a catcher, Muddy Ruel, has been a big factor in the Senators' success.

The wizardy of Manager Stanley Harris, whose clever direction got the most out of his team, was a great help.

In fact, every player on the club to the lowly substitute gave his best.

However, old Mr. Double Play proved to be the deciding factor in 1924's hectic struggle for the American League championship.

Harris to Peckinpaugh to Judge.
Peckinpaugh to Harris to Judge.
Bluege to Harris to Judge.
Judge to Peckinpaugh.

Many Double-Play Combinations

There you have just a few of the double-play combinations that made a championship club out of a team that looked just ordinary at the start of the season.

"Peckinpaugh and Harris form the greatest keystone combination that has ever played in the major leagues. Their work around second base is simply uncanny."

So spoke Johnny Evers of the Chicago White Sox after Washington had taken three straight games in the final series in that city. Some compliment coming from Evers of the Tinker to Evers to Chance trio.

In winning that series of three games Washington made a dozen double plays, five of them in one game, equaling the major league record.

Harris Wonder at Pivoting

In every game one or more remarkable double plays shut off Chicago runs that would have changed the result of the game.

Most of the pivoting on double plays is done by the second baseman. Manager Harris of Washington is a wonder at it.

Harris can pivot quickly after taking a fast throw and get more on the ball than any second sacker I have ever seen in action, with the possible exception of Eddie Collins.

Yes, sir! In passing out the glory for Washington's great showing don't overlook Mr. Double Play. son, of Madoc.

PERUVIANS WIN.

MONTREAL, October 17. — In the first international match between the National Revolver Club of Lima, Peru, and the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association revolver club, the South Americans won by a margin of 25 points, according to a communication reaching here yesterday from Adolfo Pezet, the president of the Peruvian organization.

WASHINGTON'S SURGING HOUR OF TRIUMPH

Baseball has had its day. The season is over. The scoreboards will be covered until next spring. This crowd, happy as it is, seems to realise that as it drifts out of Griffith Stadium in Washington as the shadows of evening fall over the park. The game is over. So is the World Series. For capital fans it was "The End of a Perfect Day," and the greatest game of the year. "Bucky" Harris and his boys have brought them their first baseball championship. The World Series flag is flying from the staff in left field. The Nats are champions.

TWO SOCCER GAMES SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Thistles and Vets at Oval and Quakers and Woollens King Edward Park.

Saturday's local soccer bill includes two game of very importance. The replay Gordon Cup semi-final between the Thistle and the G.W.V.A. will take place at Nicholls Oval. Kick off at 3 o'clock. Mr. A. Mitchell will referee the semi-final game.

A few weeks these two teams met in the same competition but to the surprise of all both teams finished as a draw—one goal each, so they will have to settle the argument finally with extra time because the season is drawing to a close.

Down on King Edward Park, the Quaker Oats and Canadian Woollens will play in a league game. Kick off at 3 o'clock. Referee Jack Clark. The Woolly boys have an excellent chance to win the league championship which comes with it the White Challenge Cup for the season. The fans can reckon to witness a good game in spite of the fact that the Quakers have nothing to gain, except two more league points to their standing.

BRITISH TEAM WON FINAL

Ended South African Tour With 8-6 Victory at Rugby.

In the last game of its South African trip the British rugby football team gained an unexpected victory over Western Province by the score of 8 points to 6. The British forwards played a sterling game; Macphersn and McVicker being specially prominent, while the backs, whose tacking was sure, also rose to the occasion, turning the mistakes of the South African eleven to their advantage.

At the beginning of the game the play was so even that it was not until after twenty-six minutes that Weeper got over with a good try for the home side. Following this the visitors attacked with great determination and seven minutes later Harding scored an unconverted try. At the interval the score stood three points all.

Fred Bonomo, Aged 16, Gets Six Months In Central Prison.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—"You struck him when he was down," Chief Justice R. M. Meredith, in passing sentence in criminal assize court at City Hall yesterday afternoon said this to Fred Bonomo, sixteen year old youth of Italian parentage, charged with manslaughter following the death of Nicholas Murphy, the messenger boy, who was struck three times by the prisoner in a dispute at the Canadian National Exhibition over the size of a bag of peanuts. The verdict of the jury yesterday was guilty of "intent to do grievous bodily harm but with no intent to cause death."

In view of the plea of the youth put forward on prisoners behalf by defence counsel, R. H. Greer, K.C. the sentence of the court was made six months to two years less one day in Central Prison.

VETERAN CRICKETER DEAD.

J. A. Bush Was Gloucestershire's Wicket Keeper in 70s.

J. A. Bush, whose death in his seventy-fifth year was recently announced in England, was Gloucestershire's wicket-keeper in the days when county cricket stood ahead of all other kinds of play. His greatest seasons were those of 1876 and 1877. He was associated with the eleven from the foundation of the country club in 1871, and went on playing for twenty seasons, dropping out after 1890.

In 1873 he went to Australia with Dr. Grace's team. A man of great height and very powerful physique, he was one of the best amateur wicket-keepers of his day. Never severely tested against fast bowling, he was a star when keeping to W. G. Grace. Bush also was a noted Rugby player.

DAINTY UNCERTAIN.

Denies Story He Is Leaving. "Al" Tyson Makes No Promises.

Interviewed yesterday as to whether they were leaving Oshawa, both Dainty and Tyson, this year's battery of the Central Ontario League baseball nine, stated they had not yet made up thir minds. 'Duke' Dainty said he was not thinking of leaving the city and denied the rumor around the city that he was going to Galt. It looks as though 'Duke' will remain here for another season.

Al Tyson, the team's good catcher, was more non-committal than Dainty. He said he had been approached to go to Galt to play next year, but had not made up his mind. Asked if he and Dainty would go together, he sid, "Not necessarily."

Both Dainty and Tyson are working here and it is hoped that they will definitely make up their minds to remain in this city for another year. Doubtless they will both be out to Friday night's baseball meeting, and sport followers should be there in big numbers too.

'Mick' Murray seems to be doing very well in Galt, but we will likely hear more about him when the hockey season opens. It is likely that Mickey will be on the infield of the Galt Terriers next year, although it is said they have now a pretty neat third-sacker.

RITOLA RETURNING.

NEW YORK, October 16. — Willie Ritola, the Finnish-American distance running star, who scored several notabel triumphs for his native land in the Paris Olympics, is returning soon to the land of his adoption, it was learned to-day.

He intends to resume the residence he held here for ten years prior to last January.

RADIO TESTS POWER BUILDING MATERIAL

Apparatus Tells Reaction Of Materials To Various Kinds Of Loads.

What promises to be an extremely valuable new use for radio—that of testing the strength of building materials — is being developed through the invention of an ingenious instrument by V. L. Chrisler. By amplifying noises made by materials under strain and stresses, his apparatus detects and measures the re-actions of the materials to various kinds of loads. This is just another demonstration of the commercial value of radio.

It is the commercial importance of radio that is being stressed in the first Radio World's Fair which has just opened in New York City.

In connection with the opening of the Fair, a prominent New York banker was quoted as expressing his conviction that "radio will soon furnish cheaper light, heat and power, and will be the means of instantaneous transcontinental and transoceanic communication at a cost even lower than our present rate of postage.

"I fully expect," he said, "to see several of our biggest railroad, steamship, electric, coal and oil magnates take an active interest in the development of radio in all its branches during the coming year."

Every fan wants to know at times which is the positive and which the negative terminal of a battery, a house lighting circuit, or some other electrical apparatus. A small bottle filled with a solution of the chemical called phenolphthalein, which can be obtained at any good drug store, will serve this purpose well.

Get a small glass bottle with a wide mouth, and a good cork to fit it. Thrust two wires through this cork, one at each side. Fill the bottle about two-thirds full of the phenolphthalein solution, so that both wires dip into it. Add a grain or two of common salt to the solution.

Now if you connect the terminals of the circuit to be tested with the two wires projecting from the bottle, a red color will appear in the phenolphthalein solution around the wire that is connected with the negative pole. When you shake the bottle this color will disappear.

If you have a potentiometer connected across your dry A battery, don't forget to disconnect the battery when you have finished listening in. Otherwise there will be a considerable drain through the potentiometer winding. This is especially important if the potentiometer is of comparatively low resistance.

Shot is made by melting lead in a cauldron and passing it through a "shot sleeve." As the molten lead passes through the sleeve it separates into small drops or pellets, which fall to the water tank 154 feet below. After being cooled, the shot is taken to the dryers by means of the conveyors. Then it goes to the polishers and from there passes to a series of revolving drums and screens, which assort the shot into various sizes. Finally, conveyors carry the finished shot to the shipping or storage rooms.

TWO WOMEN KILLED

Shooting Affray Took Place In Lawyer's Office In Buffalo.

BUFFALO, October 17. — Two women were killed and a man was perhaps fatally wounded in a shooting affray in an attorney's office in the Western Savings Bank building yesterday afternoon. The shooting took place during the settlement of an estate.

Martin Warren, said by the police to have been released from the state hospital recently was arrested immediately after the shooting, charged with the double slaying.

The Year's Best Mystery Story--"The Affair at Flower Acres"

One ringing shot in the wavering green dusk—then they found wealthy Douglas Raynor, dead, in the sun room of beautiful Flower Acres. No clew except the print of an overshoe on the sun room floor—evidence against no one except Raynor's beautiful wife. Then there came upon the scene the astute Pennington Wise, master detective . . . .

Carolyn Wells has written the story—fascinating Carolyn Wells, who could make a mystery out of a goldfish bowl, or an apple salad, or a broken wheelbarrow—and probaby has done so! Do not fail to read her newest serial—

THE ANNUAL SHOWER.

The annual linen and jam shower for the Peterborough Protestant Home was held at the Home on Wednesday afternoon, when a quantity of linen and preserves were donated for the winter supply of the house. Tea was served during the afternoon by a committee of ladies convened by Mrs. N. D. Seaton, assisted by Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon and Miss M. Denne. Many comments were made on the gorgeous display of beautiful flowers adorning the rooms. With its upland situation and the care given the flowers by Miss Lancaster, the Home rejoices in beautiful blooms long after the frost has touched the lower levels.

PROSPECTS OF COALITION LOOM IN BRITAIN AS POLLING RESULT

Conservative Party Is Expected To Emerge Again With Largest Following—Liberals Might Claim Price For Avoiding Triangular Fights — Nominations To-day.

MACDONALD WEARIED BY CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, October 18 (Canadian Press). — With the Parliamentary elections only eleven days away and the campaign at its hottest, nobody would venture yesterday to predict the result, for it is generally acknowledged that anything may happen.

The Government Party still professes complete confidence in the outcome of the balloting, but it was asserted that the hearts of the most of the Labour candidates are less buoyant than when the campaign opened.

Outside the ranks of labour few persons are to be found who believe that Labour will come back with a majority in the lower House.

In fact, the impression is growing that, as in the last Parliament, the Conservatives again will have the strongest personnel. Should that happen, the Government of Ramsay MacDonald should it again come in power, would be quickly defeated by a combined vote of the Conservatives and Liberals, and a Conservative ministry would be formed.

But is considered inconceivable that the Liberal Party will not claim a price for its electoral sacrifices in withdrawing candidates for the benefit of Conservative constituents in the triangular fights, and that this price will be the inclusion of some Liberal ministers in a Government which would thereby become a Coalition ministry.

Nominations To-day.

Until the nominations are completed to-day the exact situation will not be known, but up to the present this dissipation of triangular contests has been effected almost entirely at the expense of the Labour Party, while the withdrawal of candidates has consisted very largely of Liberals. A sthe lists stood last night, there will be about 210 triangular contests, as against 263 last year.

In nearly fifty constituencies where the Labourites last year won out on a minority vote owing to triangular fights, there will in the coming elections be straight fights between Labour and Anti-Labour candidates, and it seems almost sure that in many of these contests Labour will be defeated, assuming that there will not be a fremendous landslide in favour of Labour.

Premier MacDonald's absolute defiance of the Liberal Party naturally cuts off any possible chance of accommodation between the Labour and the Liberal Parties, such as happened between the Conservatives and the Liberals, and the outcome is that it is the Conservative Party almost alone will benefit by such avoidances of triangular contests as have been arranged.

Many Years.

Much will depend in the districts where Liberal candidates are withdrawn upon whether the Liberal electors throw their votes to the Conservativ or the Labour side. There is some reason to believe that the policy of Premier MacDonald and his adherents to "smash" the Liberal Party is not approved by all the Labour leaders, notably J. H. Thomas and Philip Snowden, their view being that if Labour is to wait to come into its own until the Liberal Party is destroyed, it will require waiting many years.

The campaign speech-making is raging daily, but the absence of any outstanding party cry to excite the man in the street is noteworthy; the ordinary elector understands to little about Russ to be greatly disturbed about the Anglo-Russian Treaty, hence the campaign has become a mere Lavour versus Anti-Labour matter.

At Barry yesterday, Premier MacDonald complained bitterly that the press and the Opposition parties were persistently misrepresenting the Labour Party's policy and he appealed to his opponents to make a "decent intellectual fight of it." The Premier asked why they should "slander the Labour Party and go sniffling for tittle-tattle, like many dogs round a dung heap."

Mr. MacDonald received a tremendous ovation when he reached Averavon, his home constituency.

Vast crowds blocked the road to the town along several miles.

Premier Exhausted.

The Premier told the newspapermen that never in his life had he been so tired out. He looked the part. The crush of the crowd was so great that several times his car was in danger of being overturned.

He made several brief speeches, but in a voice that was scarcely audible, and he retired to his bed immediately he reached his hotel.

Mr. MacDonald had been expected to deliver a long speech in Aberavon, but he excused himself to the crowd, pleading fatigue.

"I am going to bed," he told those who had gathered to hear him, "but I will be as fresh as a daisy to meet and address you to-morrow afternoon."

The Premier has made a great effort thus far in the campaign in his daily motor tours throughout the country. He has delivered innumerable speeches, but he clearly lacks the physical stamina and the nervous energy of some of his great predecessors like Gladstone and Lloyd-George.

Yesterday his voice almost failed him on the trip he took from Birmingham to Manchester, Malvern, and Monmouth to Aberavon, where he is likely to remain until election day, for it is admitted he will have a hard fight to retain his own seat, as also will his colleagues, John R. Clynes, Lord Privy Seal, in the Platting Division of Manchester, and Arthur Henderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer, at Burnley.

The Labour election organisers had contemplated another motor tour for the Premier between now and election day, but unless his voice improves this must be abandoned.

BANDITS EMPTY VAULT OF $11,000, LOCK SEVEN PERSONS IN IT, AND FLEE

JACKSON, Mich., October 18 (Canadian Press). — Currency and securities that may aggregate $110,000 in value, were obtained by five bandits who yesterday held up and robbed the Springport State Savings Bank near here, bank officials said after a check-up.

The bandits, with drawn revolvers, entered the bank shortly after the opening hour, held three bank officers, four patrons and a small boy under cover while they rifled the vault, and then locked their prisoners in the vault.

They fled in an automobile.

News of the robbery was given when the boy was squeezed out through the bars and spread the alarm.

State police and county officers immediately took up the chase.

Two of the bank patrons were slightly injured when they attempted to resist the bandits.

CHEQUE FORGED BY BANK CLERK

Charge Against Oshawa Man Based on Bank Manager's Warrant.

CHEQUE FOR $200.

OSHAWA, Oct. 18. — Herbert Oliver Meyers, alias J. H. Wilder, Verdun Road, and a former ledger keeper in the Standard Bank at Oshawa, recently transferred to a branch of the Standard Bank at Caledonia, was arrested here on Thursday night and charged with forgery, and appeared in Police Court yesterday. He was remanded until next Friday without bail.

Meyers, on October 8, is alleged to have forged a cheque for a face value of $200, drawn on the Bank of Montreal, Oshawa branch, payable to J. H. Wilder, the maker of the cheque appearing as Mary E. Willis. This cheque was deposited to the credit of J. H. Wilder by a man, said to be Meyers, in the Dominion Bank at Whitby, and only ten dollars in cash received. In the routine of affairs the cheque came through the clearing house in Oshawa and the Dominion Bank in Oshawa, and was presented to the Bank of Montreal for acceptance.

The signature, which is said to be a forgery, was almost perfect, and the bank marked the cheque and paid the amount, later discovering that Mrs. Willis had not made the cheque. J. C. Anderson, manager of the local Bank of Montreal, swore out a warrant for the arrest of J. H. Wilder.

Police investigate the circumstances, and Meyers was arrested here by Sergt. Paxton and Constable McGee near the Standard Bank at the corner of King and Simcoe Streets.

SITUATION INTOLERABLE.

First Step In Rate Situation Will Be Appeal To Higher Court.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— At a conference between Premier W. L. Mackenzie King and the British Columbia cabinet to-day, it was the general consensus of opinion that the railway rate situation in Canada is intolerable following abandonment of the Crow's Nest Pass, said a statement given out by Premier John Oliver after the conference.

It was agreed also, Mr. Oliver said, that steps must be taken to remedy the situation. The first step will be an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

THE WEATHER

After a little shower this morning, a beautiful rainbow appeared in the western sky. While a rainbow always appears opposite the sun, one is rarely seen in the west, and the circumstance was remarked by many this morning. Speaking of rainbows, you are doubtless aware that the first one appeared to Noah after the flood, and was a promise from God that the earth would never again be overwhelmed by a flood, but do you know why this rainbow was the first one? Are you aware that previous to the flood rain did not fall, therefore there could be no rainbow, and that before that time the earth was watered by a mist that went up from the earth?—W. P.

BUFFALO RENT BY ANTI-KLAN WAR LED BY MAYOR MEMBERS' NAMES STOLEN BY SPIES MADE PUBLIC

Some Merchants Boycotted, Others Welcomed Publication As Help In Business.

MINISTER "FRAMED ?"

Bloodshed In Bitter Feud Store Windows Plastered With K.K.K. Over Night.

(By Donn. T. Sutton).

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 18.—Mayor Frank X. Schwab was called out to the suburb of Black Rock three months ago to address a gathering of taxpayers.

Arriving at the hall, he found the taxpayers wore white hoods and robes.

It was a meeting of the Ku Klux Klan.

They severely criticized Schwab's administration. He heard himself denounced as "Buffalo's worst Mayor."

That night he declared war on the Klan.

First of all the Mayor obtained the organization's secret records and files and made them public property. He admits he used spies to get these records.

Forty thousand pamphlets containing the names of 4,025 alleged members were sold on the streets for 75 cents each.

Almost over night scores of merchants whose names appeared on the tell-tale list found themselves boycotted by persons opposed to the Klan.

Others claimed publication of the names helped their business.

Two Killed In Duel.

There has been bloodshed, too. In a midnight pistol duel, Thomas Austin, a Klan officer, and Edward C. Obertean, whom the Klansmen say Mayor Schwab had employed as a spy, both fell mortally wounded.

And the dying Obertean, as he fell, kept on firing until his revolver was empty, wounding two of Austin's companions, District Kleagle George C. Bryant and Carl Sterm.

Henry H. Lyon, financial secretary of the Klan, is believed by friends to have become unbalanced mentally over the thought that his name appeared on the printed lists.

At any rate, he arose in the night, shot and wounded his wife and two sons and then turned the gun upon himself.

CITY DIVIDED BY K.K.K.

Windows Painted.

One morning A. C. Beeman, florist, found the letters "K.K.K." smeared in yellow paint on one of his show windows. On another was the warning, "Enemies of the Klan Stay Out."

Ed. Henning, proprietor of an automobile service station, came down one morning to see the three K's whitewashed on his front window in letters three feet high.

Other stores were labeled at night.

The Rev. Charles C. Penfold, vice crusading pastor, was arrested in a parked automobile with a woman. When Justice of the Peace Jerome Rozan gave him a 30-day jail sentence and fined him $50, six Klansmen protested against what they termed as 'frame-up,' by burning fiery crosses around Rozan's house at night.

Appeal to Courts.

Now the anti-Klansmen have instituted action in Judge Peter Maul's court, charging violation of the recently enacted Walker law. This state law forbids any fraternal organization from operating in New York unless the membership roster has been filed with the secretary of state.

"We welcome the case," says Julius Grass, attorney for the Klan. "The Walker Act is unconstitutional and un-American. It will meet its death in this suit."

ABOVE—E. H. HENNINGS' GAS STATION AFTER THREE KS HAD BEEN WHITEWASHED ON ONE OF THE SHOW WINDOWS. BELOW — MAYOR FRANK X. SCHWAB, NEMESIS OF BUFFALO KLANSMEN.

But Mayor Schwab declares, "We will lick them to a frazzle. The Ku Klux Klan is un-American and unconstitutional."

"The Klan has been the victim of unfair persecution throughout New York State. The Walker Act was designed to exterminate the Klan. But if we fall before its provisions, we shall drag down hundreds of other 'orthodox' secret societies — like college fraternities and some lodges—with us."

FRENCH FEAR TO REDUCE ARMY TRAINING PERIOD TO ONE YEAR

Uncertainties Of European Political Situation Causes Retention Of Longer Term.

CUT IS FAVORED.

Events In Morocco Require Present Force Of 64,000 War Budget Discussed.

PARIS, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—The term of French military service cannot now be reduced from eighteen months to one year, General Nollet, the French War Minister, told the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies last evening in answer to questions regarding the war budget.

Gen. Nollet said he favored the idea of a one-year term of service, but declared that the European political situation did not permit France to make such a cut in her army at present.

The War Minister reaffirmed, however, the fact that the Government was willing to abolish the old system of having Frenchmen, who had completed their military service, return later for a few weeks' special training. This system was intended to keep the former soldiers fit and well trained in order to have a large number of reserve troops thoroughly up-to-date and ready to march on short notice.

General Nollet told the commission that it was impossible to reduce the number of French troops in Morocco because recent events showed that troublesome incidents might arise unexpectedly. The French force there now is 64,500 men.

Answering criticisms of the expense of maintaining an army in Syria, the Minister said that the Government would renew its efforts to have the Syrian Government bear part of the costs.

Summer time is hard on long distance reception.

Wire should be kept as far apart as possible.

PEBBLES CHOKE BABE TO DEATH

Children Heaped Sand On Infant Sleeping In Carraige.

IN FRONT OF HOME.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 18. —Mrs. Merrill D. Coy, bride of a year, lies prostrated in her home at Vermont and Pacific Avenues, recognizing no one about her, and calling piteously for her three months' old baby, Dorothy, who was smothered by vicious children as she lay in her carriage on the sidewalk in front of the home.

The child was covered with pebbles and sand by children whose identity is unknown. Two little boys, about 4-years-old were seen by neighbors peering into the coach and it is thought they were the ones who caused the infant's death.

County Physician Lewis R. Souder gave a verdict of death by suffocation. Before collapsing, the mother declared she did not desire any child prosecuted and following a police conference, owing to the extreme youth of the guilty ones, it was decided not to pursue the matter further.

The baby had been placed in the carriage on the sidewalk by the mother, as had been her daily custom, and she then returned to her household duties. Half an hour later, she went out to see if the baby was still sleeping. She was horrified to find the infant covered with pebbles and sand and choking to death.

Mrs. Coy's screams aroused the neighborhood and a physician was called, but the baby died within a few minutes. Examination showed that pebbles and sand had been dropped into the child's mouth.

MINES SHATTER CHINESE BANKS

Heavy Casualties When Land Mines Were Fired In Mukden Arena.

TWO DAY BATTLE.

MUKDEN, October 18. — Tremendous casualties have been caused in the fighting around Shanhaikwan through the use of subterranean mines by the Central Chinese Government, it was declared on Friday.

No estimate of the casualties of the past two days' fighting has yet been made available. It was officially stated that the Manchurians had entered Shanhaikwan and completely occupied the city.

The subterranean mines, which dot the entire district, reports said, played an important part in the desperate fight which preceded the taking of the city.

DISARMING FAILS.

SHANGHAI, October 18. — Plans for disarming and dispersing the more than 15,000 soldiers of the defeated Chekiang Province army now encamped in and about Shanghai, were discussed at an all-night conference between leading Chinese merchants of the city and Chekiang army representatives, without any agreement having been reached.

CIVIL WAR'S DAMAGE.

WASHINGTON, October 18.—The damage caused in Canton by the recent fighting between labor troops and merchant volunteers troops, and by the fires, which are still raging throughout the town, was estimated at $15,000,000, in messages received yesterday by the State department.

FIRECRACKER POWDER IN CARDBOARD SHELLS CHINESE AMMUNITION

SHANGHAI, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Cardboard bullets, their shells loaded with commonplace Chinese red firecracker powder, intended to produce no effect more serious than a loud noise, made up a quarter of a million rounds of "ammunition' 'seized by foreign settlement authorities on Friday.

Attention of the British Marines stationed in the Jess Field district, west of the international settlement was attracted to two Chinese junks proceeding down a waterway toward the main part of the city.

The Marines stopped and searched the junks, and found the rifle "ammunition," which was at once turned over to the settlement authorities.

A LINDSAY WOMAN WAS FOUND DEAD

Mrs. William Jobe Found Hanging From a Tree In Front Of Her House.

LINDSAY, Oct. 18.—(Special).—Mrs. William Jobe, an old resident of this town, was found hanging from a tree in front of her home on Russell Street this morning about 7 o'clock by the driver of a milk wagon. A light had been left burning in her home all night, and on the table was found a note written by the unfortunate woman, in which she blamed parties for the deed. There was also an article from a religious paper on death. She had placed a chair in a position beneath the tree, in which the body was found in a reclining position. A heavy rope, badly frayed, had been used to commit the deed. The deceased lost her husband two months ago, and she is survived by one son, who resides in Toronto. An inquest will be held.

Trotsky Offers Excuse For Keeping Immense Force In Arms—Burden and Pride.

MORE PROPAGANDA.

Red Army Protects "Our Economic and Cultural Work," War Lord Says.

MOSCOW, Oct., 18. — (Canadian Press).—Minister of War Trotzky, who has been at the watering resort of Kislovodsk in the Caucasus for two months, broke a long silence yesterday with a significant speech concerning Russia's need of a Red Army. Addressing a large assemblage in Kabardin-Balkar, the autonomous Republic in Northern Caucasia, he said:

"We are compelled to have a Red army because we do not want to be enslaved and torn to pieces by our enemies, the Imperialist robbers who are now tearing China to pieces. The Soviet union must remain an invulnerable fortress. That is why we are forced to set aside part of our revenue for the maintenance of a Red army. The International Imperialists compel us to do so. If there was a chance to dissolve the army, we would do it gladly. The Red army is not only our great pride, but also our great burden."

"We are taking 600,000 men from the country and obliging them to learn military science instead of laboring in factories and fields. From our scanty means we are forced to apportion 400,000,000 rubles every year for maintenance of the army. It is a colossal sacrifice. If we spent this money upon industry, agriculture and education, we would make greater progress.

"When the reins of power in the United States, France and Great Britain are vested in the workmen, when the bourgeoisie are expelled and Imperialists disarmed, we shall be able to come to terms with the great powers without great effort, but this time has not yet arrived. In every country around us capitalism is still ruling and threatens our very existence. We must have a Red army in order to safeguard the independence of our laboring masses and the state. Under its protection we shall carry on our economic, industrial and cultural work."

MANY LIVES LOST.

Fires Destroy Property In Wealthiest Section Of Canton.

PEKIN, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press.)—Fires which continue to rage throughout the wealthiest section of Canton, China, have destroyed many lives and have done damage estimated at $15,000,000 to property, American Consul General at Canton, Douglas Jenkins, notified State Department.

Firing has practically ceased, but the fires continued to rage when the Consul General's message was sent. The government has now issued orders prohibiting looting under the death penalty.

Plebiscite Bulletin

Liquor Stores in Peterboro

SHOULD the O. T. A. be defeated on October 23 the Ontario Government will open one or more liquor stores in Peterborough. From these liquor will be sold in sealed packages.

Have you any idea what such a condition would mean to the citizens of Peterborough?

HEAVY DRINKING IN PETERBOROUGH

Some ten years ago there were about 15 "bars" in Peterborough and three "liquor stores." It was proposed to have a vote to abolish these liquor stores.

The Temperance Committee, in order to obtain information, set a watch on a certain Saturday on the three liquor stores to find how many people patronized them. This is what they found:

Location of Store:	Customers
East City store	145
Simcoe street store	408
George street store	410
Total	963

DRINKING BY WOMEN

Among those who entered the stores were numerous women. Some of them had babies with them. In numerous cases they put their bottles of liquor in the baby carriages under the babies and wheeled them off home. What about drinking in the homes under such conditions?

HIP BOTTLE FLASKS

Young men entered, bought their "hip bottle flasks" and went off primed for a "high old time." What about "hip bottle flasks" under such conditions?

"BOOTLEGGERS" LOADED UP

What were undoubtedly "bootleggers" entered, got their supplies and motored off to outlying parts of the county where there were no bars or shops, and where they could sell their supplies at a profit at any old hour of the day or night. How can you control bootlegging under such conditions?

DRINKING IN THE HOMES

But that was only a small part of what went on. A large number of people did not like to be seen entering these stores, so they ordered their supplies over the telephone and had them delivered at their homes. Far more bought in this way than entered and bought in the stores. Summing up all the facts and information they had before them at that time, and placing the number of homes in the city at 5,000, the Temperance Committee estimated that nearly half the homes of Peterborough must have had liquor in them that night and the following Sunday. Again, what about drinking in the homes under such conditions?

MERCHANTS' PROSPERITY AFFECTED

When tens of thousands of dollars are spent for liquor, the people have just that much less money to spend for groceries, boots, clothing and other supplies. Should Government liquor stores be opened in Peterborough the money spent in them will be diverted from the other legitimate business interests of the city. Can we stand such an economic waste at this time? NO!

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE MATTER OF the Estate of Margaret Eastwood, late of the Township of Smith, in the County of Peterborough, Hotel Keeper, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the Trustee Act that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of the said Margaret Eastwood, who died on or about the twentieth day of July A.D. 1924, are required on or before the eighth day of November, 1924, to send by post prepaid or to deliver to Messrs Peck, Kerr & McElderry, 415 Water St., Peterborough, solicitors for the executors of the said deceased, their christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims, the statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And further take notice that after such last mentioned date the said executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice, and that the said executors will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by them at the time of such distribution.

Dated the seventh day of October, 1924.

WHAT THE WOMEN WEAR THIS AUTUMN

Fur is Worn on Collars and Cuffs of Street Clothes.

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(United Press).—Women are wearing practical suits with coats of three-quarter length which are bordered about the hem with bands of fur. Fur is also carried out on collar and cuffs of the street suit. Jacquettes of three-quarter length are straight-lined affairs, which wrap about in front, being held about the body rather than buttoning. Kasha cloth is one of the most popular suit materials. Fur trims are beaver, nutria, badger, chipmonk, fox, racoon, etc.

* * *

Small hats of cloth types continue their popularity. This year they are trimmed with huge bows of ribbon at the sides. Felts are still popular, but are considered more important for sports wear than for street wear.

* * *

One-strap shoes or plain pumps lead the fall fashions parade. A few buckles are seen on street shoes and these are of dull gunmetal effects or of bronze.

* * *

Gloves match the shade of one's hosiery this fall.

* * *

Leopard skin trims many sports coats, forming collars and cuffs or hem borders. Badger is also used as a sports fur.

* * *

Three-quarter length capes are slipped on over sports suits and costumes. Many of them are designed for the rainy season and are made of heavy plaid material, or of rubberized material.

* * *

Younger misses are favoring wide leather belts for sports wear. Some of these are of brilliant red leather and are six inches in width. They are worn at a low waistline and are very attractive with the navy frock or suit.

* * *

One sees few separate scarfs this fall. The scarf has become a part of the garment rather than a separate neckpiece, and it is usually attached to the frock or wrap, being either made of the same material as the main garment or lined in that material.

* * *

Knitted sports suits trimmed with cut-out leather collars and cuffs and belts are being worn at nearby country clubs. The tendency is for leather trims this season and for brilliant colors. Many of the golf suits this fall combine bright colors with dull wood shades.

* * *

Large envelopes purses made of woollen plaid material and trimmed with suede leather are carried for sports wear. Lizzard-skin purses in envelope type are also popular.

* * *

For evening wear one sees necklaces composed of several layers of pearl beads, joined here and there by medallions emeralds. Pearls are more popular than ever for evening wear, but the single necklace is seldom seen unless it is combined with stones of bright color.

* * *

Bracelets are the most important items in the jewelry line this fall. One can't have too many of them and they may be as varied in type as one wishes. Many rings are also being worn. Costume rings and inexpensive types are being preferred to costly ones for day wear.

INFIDELITY OF PIRIE IS BARED

Ottawa Murderer Deserted Family In England—Brought Woman To Canada.

SYMPATHY VEERS.

OTTAWA, October 18. — In view of the revelations contained in the past life of John B. Pirie, charged with the murder of his wife Caroline, and her two children, those interested in the Great War Veterans' Association, will shortly hold a conference to decide if there will be any change of attitude on account of the disclosures.

The revelation of the fact that Pirie was married and had a wife and son in England, and brought with him to Canada a woman, whom he presented as his lawful wife, caused many who had previously felt there were some redeeming features in the man, to suddenly change their opinions and condemn the actions of the accused in the bitterest of tones.

R. A. Olmstead, who had been appointed counsel for the accused by the G.W.V.A. said that he could not make any statement for publication in regard to his client's past history until he had conferred with the heads of the Ottawa and Dominion Commands of Association. He stated that he expected a conference to take place during the week-end or the early part of next week, and until he had received proper instructions he had nothing to say for publication.

J. A. Ritchie, K.C., Crown Attorney, when shown the story of Pirie's life, as told by the sister of the dead woman, said that the Crown had known of some of the circumstances and others it was attempting to corroborate.

As Mr. Ritchie some time ago was requested to make a full report of the case to the Provincial Attorney-General, he also forwarded details of Pirie's past life.

WOULD APPLY PROCEEDS

PARIS, October 18. — The Ministry of Finance would apply the proceeds of a United States loan, if one is arranged, to the deficit in the budget of 1924, with the determination to balance next year's budget for actual receipts from taxation. The government's largest single obligation is the legal requirement to repay 2,000,000,000 francs to the Bank of France, for the reduction of the banks's advances to the government.

Conversations which Finance Minister Clementel and J. P. Morgan of the United States banking firm will have during the next two or three days are designed to be of a preliminary nature. Nothing likely will be decided for a fortnight. Mr. Morgan in the meantime is taking an automobile trip through southern France.

"BUCK" WEAVER KILLED.

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 18.—Norman "Buck" Weaver, 42, first manager of Jack Dempsey, was accidentally shot and fatally wounded nineteen miles south-east of here early Friday, while hunting ducks. He died several hours later after being brought here for medical aid.

EAT AND LOSE WEIGHT OR EAT AND GAIN

LOSE WEIGHT.

Three large unsweetened stewed prunes, 6 baked mushrooms, 6 ounces broiled mackerel, 1 cup chopped spinach with lemon, 1 cup diet cabbage salad, 6 radishes, 1 cup strawberries (about 4 ounces), 2 thin pieces crisp unbuttered glutten toast, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1078. Protein, 298; fat, 205; carbohydrate, 575. Iron, .023 gram.

Diet Cabbage Salad.

One half cup shredded cabbage, ¾ cup diced apples, ¾ cup diced celery, salt and paprika, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Put cabbage in a bowl and crush with a wooden potato masher. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill and serve. If the cabbage is not crisp, when shredded, let stand in very cold salt water, to more than cover, for an hour. Drain well before bruising and combining.

Total calories, 64. Protein, 7; fat, 3; carbohydrate, 54. Iron, .0013 gram.

The strawberries should be enjoyed without sugar and cream.

TO GAIN WEIGHT.

Six large sweetened stewed prunes, 2 half-inch slices fried rice,, 4 tablespoons maple sirup, 1 soft boiled egg, 1 cup cream of potato soup, 6 mushrooms baked in cream, 6 ounces broiled mackerel with 2 tablespoons lemon butter, 1 twice baked potato, 2 halves sandled sweet potato, 1 cup chopped spinach with cream sauce, 1 cup cabbage salad, 6 radishes, ½ cup strawberries with sugar and ¾ cup cream, 1 large piece sunshine cake, 2 pieces whole wheat toast, 2 raisin and nut gems, 2 dinner rolls, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 4234. Protein, 518; fat, 1694; carbohydrate, 2022. Iron, .0208 gram.

Cabbage Salad.

One-half cup shredded cabbage, ½ cup diced apple, ¾ cup diced celery, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, paprika, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup sour cream.

Prepare cabbage as in the diet salad, sprinkling it with sugar before bruising. Whip cream until it begins to thicken; then beat in the lemon juice, a few drops at a time. Add cream to other combined ingredients, sprinkle with paprika and serve. The cream and cabbage should be very cold.

Total calories, 164. Protein, 12; fat, 89; carbohydrate, 63. Iron, .0013 gram.

HEALTH FABLES

Expensive foods do not, of any necessity, mean healthful foods.

Mrs. Mann had long since learned this and made application of the moral in her household.

Thus, tomatoes may cost 10 cents each in winter but they do nothing to build up body tissues nor do they furnish fuel for the body so necessary in the cold months. As a summer food they furnish vitamines and minerals, but when their cost rises their food value is negligible.

So it is with many other costly things as well.

Thus the responsibility that descends upon a housewife is great when it comes to planning meals. Much expense may be spared and general health of all diners improved by arrangement of a carefully balanced meal.

The appetite is not always a safe guide. Don't let it rule your menu.

WIDE SASH

A very wide sash of white moire silk, tied in a large bow in front is worn with a black velvet sleeveless frock.

WINTER FABRICS

Fabrics for winter are thick and soft and corded effects are to be very prominent. Reversible materials in silks are very good.

LARGE HATS

The very large black hat with a white water lily or cala lily dropping off one side is the fad of the moment.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Funeral of Frank Linton on Tuesday Afternoon—Choir Had Social Evening.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 18. — The funeral of the late Frank Linton will be held on Tuesday afternoon at half past two at Christ church. A brother, Mr. Ad. Linton of Calgary is expected on Monday night.

The late Mr. F. Linton was born in the house on Front street, where the family have always lived about forty-nine years ago. He lived in Campbellford, till about twenty years ago when he went to Peterboro and held the position of Secretary Treasurer of the Peterboro Lumber Company. He has spent most of his week ends since leaving Campbellford, at his home here. He was an active worker in Christ church and will be missed there.

The kitchen shower planned for next Monday in the Parish Hall, by the Willing Workers of Christ Church, has been postponed for one week and will be held on Monday night, October 27th. This is on account of the death of Mr. Frank Linton. Mrs. Fred Linton is the President of the Willing Workers.

Women's Institute

The regular meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Flem ming on Thursday afternoon at half past two. First vice president, Mrs. Robert McCullough presided. After the opening exercises were over the matter of packing a box of fruit to be sent hto the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto was brought up.

A motion of Mrs. Geo. Vanvolkenburg and Mrs. Geo. Longmuir that the box be packed at the home of Mrs. Marshall Longmuir was carried.

A discussion was led by Mrs. Vanvolkenburg about the special prize that was given by the Institute to the Agricultural Fair held in Campbellford. The appointment of delegates to the Institute Convention held in Toronto on November 18th 19th and 20th was the next item of business. Moved by Mrs. West and seconded by Mrs. George Longmuir that Mrs. Howard Clarke and the Secretary, Miss May McArthur, be the delegates to this convention.—Carried.

This was followed by a program Song, "When the roses bloom again" Miss Reta Longmuir. A very interesting Temperance Reading—"Facts concerning so-called Government control" by Mrs. Chas. Longmuir. A song by six girls, "We are'nt going to booze no more". A demonstration on "Correct table setting and serving by Mrs. Geo. Vanvolkenburg and Mrs. Robt McCullough. The number of ladies present was twenty-five. Lunch was then served by the hostess and the meeting was closed.

A Lodge Meeting

Mr. C. W. Palliser, Mr. E. C. Dolman and Mr. W. Russel motored to Stirling on Thursday night to attend a large banquet given by the Stirling Lodge to all the lodges in Prince Edward District.

Mr. W. W. Fitzgerald of Wellington, district deputy of the Prince Edward District made his official visit on that night and gave the address of the evening. There were about one hundred and fifty present from all parts of the district. Part of the evening was spent in Community singing.

A sumptuous banquet was served to the visiting brethren and local lodge.

A Social Hour.

After the usual choir practice on Friday night the members of the choir had a social hour in honour of Mrs. I. T. Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. L. Parish, and Dr. Lillian Young, members who are leaving the choir. Mrs. Frederick leaves soon to join her son Douglas to live with him in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Parish leave in a few weeks to reside in England, and Miss Young will be away all winter.

The Social Committee of the choir planned the evening. Mrs. F. J. Smith, the president, spoke a few words as follows: "You all know we are losing some of the members of our choir, and we have asked them to come and spend a social hour with us before they leave. I have been asked to read the following address to Mrs. Frederick, a very faithful member whom we are all very sorry to lose from our choir and our town. To Miss Young who is leaving to spend the winter with friends, but whom we expect to see back; and to Mr. and Mrs. Parish, who are leaving town and are returning to England to reside.

Address:

To Mrs. Frederick, Miss Young, and Mr. and Mrs. Parish,

We, the members of the choir, have met to say to you farewell. The time has come when friends must part—when past associations, so cherished and dear, must give way to new associations that lie before you. May they bring as much happiness and goodwill to others as they have given to us. The ties of friendship that have linked you with us here must soon be broken, but broken into innumerable good wishes for happiness and success in your new homes. The spirit of true friendship ever remains—a friendship that has been made lasting by the loyal support that you have always given to the choir.

To you, Mr. Frederick, we would extend our kindliest wishes as you leave for your new home. One of the most faithful members of the choir—one who has been ever ready to lend a helping hand, you have by your devotion to the choir, won for greatest admiration. We appreciate deeply your whole-hearted interest in the choir, and your enthusiasm and support have been an inspiration to us. As you form new associations and interests, we ask you to accept our kindest regards and best wishes. We shall miss you, and yet we hope that you will find new fields for service in the choir.

To you, Miss Young, as you leave us for a time, we extend our best wishes. We have appreciated the faithful service you have given to the choir. We feel that the success of the choir is due largely to the effort of those who have placed choir work as one of their first interests.

And to you, Mr. and Mrs. Parish, as you leave for your new home, we wish success. We remember your interest and enthusiasm in choir work and we hope that your new associations will be as pleasant as they have been here.

To you all, we extend our kindliest regards and best wishes.

Campbellford, Ontario.

October 17th, 1924.

To this Mrs. Frederick and Mr. Parish made very suitable replies and Miss Young who was unable to be present on account of illness, sent her regrets to the choir, through Mrs. Malcolm, expressing her appreciation for their thoughtfulness to her and conveyed her best wishes.

When away her thoughts will ever turn back to Campbellford and the choir will be the first among them.

Refreshments were then served and all enjoyed a social hour.

Mrs. Levi Redden is having one of the houses on Queen street, which her late husband had begun, done. Mr. John Nicholas, brother of Mrs. Redden, is superintending the work.

At the Lido—Venice, Sherry's and other smart luncheon places women are wearing simple tailored frocks, short and close in the skirt and long and close in the sleeve.

Fashionable New York is drifting back to the city, and the smart restaurants are full of smart women in their new Autumn frocks—frocks that are notably shorter and narrower than last season and quite as beautifully simple. Ten inches from the floor is a conservative length, many dresses are eleven or twelve and quite a few go as far as fourteen. Sleeves are long and close and tailored frocks have tier bands, wrap-around or center-front closing, tailored coat effects, etc. Covert is a smart color and cashmere and ribbed silks are among the newest materials.

HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOT.

Although the chances of any one spoiling his ballot when the plebiscite is taken next Thursday would seem to promote, it may be just as well for the Examiner to emphasize what must be done by the elector to make sure that his ballot is valid.

There is nothing complicated about the matter. There are only two questions on the ballot, the first asking whether the voter favours the retention of the Ontario Temperance Act, and the second asking whether or not the voter favours the sale of liquor in sealed packages in Government agencies.

The citizen who wants the Ontario Temperance Act to remain in force has merely to mark a cross opposite the first question.

The citizen who wants to have a system of Government control established in Ontario has only to place a cross opposite the second question.

If any one should be foolish enough to mark a cross opposite each question or to write the words "yes" or "no" or anything else on the ballot paper except one cross his vote will be of no value, for the ballot will be declared spoiled.

The main thing to remember is that only one question must be answered, and it must be answered in only one way, by placing a cross opposite it.

There should be no spoiled ballots in view of the simplicity of the form adopted for the taking of this vote.

ONTARIO'S ROADS.

Whether or not all the recommendations in regard to a revision of Ontario's road system as made by the Wardens of most of Ontario's counties to the Government will be approved of, there is no doubt that the majority of people who have paid any attention to this matter will agree that there is room for improvement.

The changes asked for by the representatives of the municipal governments are in the direction of greater simplicity, inasmuch as it is suggested that only three types of roads be recognized, the township road, the county road and the Provincial highway.

That there is need of a considerable overhauling of the present system is evident.

Ontario is spending vast sums of money, and it is by no means certain that value is being received for the expenditure.

Delegates claimed that some Provincial highways had not as much traffic as township roads, and there were some of the latter that might be elevated to the status of Provincial highways.

Figures in support of this contention were produced, and the Wardens succeeded in making out a strong case.

The present system is more or less of a patchwork affair and could with profit to the Province generally, be modernized, simplified and possibly rendered less cumbersome and less expensive.

At all events the conference will leave the Government in no doubt as to the views of rural Ontario on the question of roads.

LONG OVERDUE.

It is gratifying to note that at the conference between the Ontario Government's Advisory Committee and the Wardens of the counties of Ontario the opinion of the majority of the representatives of the counties was that the time has arrived for the institution of legislation compelling all vehicles to be illuminated at night.

The suggestion was made that this legislation should first apply to Provincial highways, and afterwards be extended to cover all roads.

While the unilluminated horse-driven vehicle is more often found on roadways other than Provincial highways, the bringing down of legislation to make the presence of such vehicles illegal on the Provincial roads would be a long step toward safer conditions.

The Government should follow up the suggestion of the county representatives, and if it is not considered feasible to cover the whole question at once, should at least see that every vehicle that travels on a Provincial highway at night carries a light.

There has been great difficulty in convincing many rural residents of the necessity of such a regulation, but now that the idea has at last been sold to the county Wardens, the Government should not let the next session go by without bringing down the much-to-be-desired legislation.

The bill is long overdue.

THE MARITIMES.

The great majority of Canadians have never visited the Maritime Provinces. Even many of the well-to-do who have travelled extensively through the United States and in Europe have yet to see New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. It is unfortunate that this is the case and we would respectfully suggest to Sir Henry Thornton and Mr. E. W. Beatty that they make special efforts, through their respective transportation systems, to show the rest of Canada just what Canada has "down by the sea."

The isolation of the Maritimes from the rest of the Dominion has often been referred to. The situation in this respect is not all that might be desired, but it should really make very little difference. Winnipeg is a long way from Montreal, and Vancouver is a long way from Winnipeg. Canada is a country of tremendous distances. Down in the Maritimes, however, some of the people think that the rest of the country is rather indifferent toward them. At first glance there might appear to be something in the charge, but it isn't really accurate. The rest of Canada is interested in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, but it doesn't see much of them and usually it doesn't hear as much from that part of the Dominion as it should. Perhaps with the idea of correcting this situation, Mr. W. H. Dennis, the energetic publisher of the Halifax Herald and the Halifax Evening Mail, is sending out pictures of a Nova Scotia apple orchard showing the luscious fruit being picked and put into barrels for transportation to England. It is noted that this year's crop is estimated at 1,500,000 barrels, to net the farmer about $3 per barrel.

Still another advertising statement sent out by the energetic Mr. Dennis provides the interesting information that the products of Nova Scotia during the year 1923 brought in the handsome sum of $168,000,000. Principal items that go to make this total include: Coal, $36,410,000; coke and by-products, $3,286,000; gold and other minerals, $225,000; gypsum, limestone, etc., $3,195,200; building materials and clay products, $1,940,500; iron and steel, $12,620,000; fisheries, $11,779,300; manufacturers, ships and freights, $53,185,000; farm products, $26,045,100; forest products, $12,350,600; game and furs, $780,000; tourist travel, $6,000,000.

"Are you getting your share of the prosperous Nova Scotia market?" Mr. Dennis asks.

The Maritime Provinces need more men like the publisher of the Halifax Herald, men who will spend money and effort in bringing the advantages of the section to the attention of the rest of Canada. Nova Scotia's production figures as given by Mr. Dennis speak for themselves. No doubt New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island can produce equally satisfactory statements. The big thing is to get them "over" to the rest of the country, so that the rest of the country—indifferent, perhaps, but entirely through lack of knowledge and observation—may really appreciate the riches of the Maritimes and what that section of the country means to Canada as a whole.—Border Cities Star.

THE ZR-3 CROSSES.

A giant Zeppelin has completed a record-breaking journey across the Atlantic. The voyage without threat of mishap bears testimony to German ingenuity, to her capacity for organization and her skill in craftsmanship. The trip seems to have captured the imagination of the world, so that this achievement of Germany is given exaggerated credit, says the Montreal Star.

It is the fourth time that men have piloted different types of aircraft through space across the Atlantic. The voyage with which comparison will naturally be offered was that made by the British vessel of the Zeppelin type, known as the R-34, which made the trip from Scotland to New York in 108 hours. The German Zeppelin has knocked 27 hours off this time and made a longer journey. Nevertheless it is worthy of record that the English craft did not set itself to do anything spectacular, was not racing against any speed record, and on arrival did not remain in a specially constructed hangar and deflate her balloon, but quietly refitted for the return voyage and after a few days turned her nose homeward again.

This voyage of the British airship did not attract one-hundredth part of the attention of the latest exploit, nor did the people of Britain display their emotion as reports from Berlin indicate the Germans did, news of the arrival "bringing sudden sobs from millions of men and women, sudden bursts of crying and sudden deep exclamations of 'Thank God.'"

Perhaps the people of England are less emotional, although a certain stolidity has generally been regarded as one of the characteristic attributes of the Teuton, or perhaps there was not so much need for whole pages of newspaper comment, because no British loan was being placed on the American market at the very hour when the vessel was approaching these shores. Perhaps even the Presidential election, with several millions of German and near German votes in the balance exercising their influence, upsets the analogy of the two voyages.

Britain pioneered the way in her usual fashion, said little or nothing about her feat, but quietly went about her business. To the German the very name Zeppelin is linked up with some of the most thrilling accomplishments of the late war. So hats are thrown up in the air in the streets of many big German cities and hochs are shouted with all the old fervor and the word that is heard above the din and shouting is "Zeppelin."

That word is the epitome of a spirit in Germany that the war has not destroyed.

ARE YOUR EYES DEFECTIVE?

A Boston reporter finds that a fourth of the people who pass him on the streets wear spectacles. Disregarding the myth that the average of intelligence and culture is higher in Boston than in other cities, it's reasonable to assume that Bostonians don't use their eyes any more than other metropolitans. And, accordingly, that the Boston statistics hold good approximately generally.

One person in every four wears glasses.

Probably half the people who really need glasses wear them.

Net result: One in every two has defective eyesight.

Are we becoming a people with bad eyes? No other conclusion is plausible when you contemplate the increasing number who have to wear spectacles.

There are three causes for this:

First: Our generation uses its eyes while working much more than the old-timers who worked largely with their hands. The army of clerical employes has become a bewildering multitude, straining their optics. Manufacturing has shifted from the crude to the delicate and skilled, with further strain on sight.

Second: The average person reads more in a day than his great-grandfather in a month.

Third: Flickering movies strain and injure eyesight.

The growing army of people with defective vision is creating serious problems. One of these is the driving of an auto by eyesight weak and treacherous.

The day is coming when applicants for driving licenses will have to pass examinations for vision as well as sanity and good judgment.

Another form of sand in the gears is the clerical error caused by "poor eyes."

There's a scientific theory that nature gives us what we need and takes it away when no longer necessary. This theory seems to have slipped a cog in the matter of eyesight to fit modern needs. The more we need it, the worse it gets.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A London dispatch says that the people of that city live on an average twenty years longer than their grandparents. Or does it only seem longer?

"Canadian dollar is soaring," says a newspaper heading. Probably that is why it is so difficult to get hold of one.

Canada is likely to be represented at the Wembley Exhibition next year. The Canadian pavilion has been a good advertisement for the Dominion.

October seems to be trying to make up for the bad behaviour of the summer months.

Progressive Euchre Party and Social Held in the Village.

DOWNEYVILLE, Oct. 18.—A progressive euchre party and social was held in the hall Friday evening and was a decided success. About 20 tables were played at cards until 11.30 when lunch was served by the ladies afterwards dancing began which was enjoyed by all. The music was furnished by Messrs. Jos. Piggott, T. J. Morrissey and Francis Costello for violins and Regina Costello at the piano.

The prizes for cards was won by Miss Marie O'Niell for ladies and Fergus O'Neill the gentleman.

The Misses Mary O'Connell and Marie Murphy, teachers in the village, spent the week-end at their homes in Lindsay.

Miss Adrienne Pigott left Monday to attend St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay where she will take a business course.

Mrs. Teresa Hoolihan of Peterboro is at present the guest of her sister, Mrs. Jas. Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. M. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Shine and Miss Reda Clancy motored to Douro Sunday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Garvey.

Miss Mary Costello, B.A. left on Monday for Toronto where she will attend the University.

Miss Hazel Meehan of Toronto is at present the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meehan.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley O'Neill have returned from their honeymoon and have taken up residence south of the village.

Miss Loretto Hoolihan of Lindsay spent the week-end in the village the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hoolihan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Murray spent Sunday the guests of friends in Ennismore.

Mrs. D. Scully of Lindsay spent a few days last week the guest of her mother, Mrs. Hoolihan.

Mr. Vincent Crowley of Peterboro spent the week-end at his home here and attended the social.

Mr. Neil Powers has rented Miss Mary O'Connell's farm, west of the village and has started to plow. We understand Miss Mary and her mother, Mrs. Ellen O'Connell intend going to town to reside.

Mr. Patrick N. Winn has leased his farm to Mr. Reed of Reaboro and intends holding a sale next Tuesday. Mr. Winn intends going to Toronto to reside. The people are still leaving the farms here and going to the city. Friends here regret losing Mr. and Mrs. Winn who have been life long residents of this place.

The road north of the village to Fox's Corner which has been repaired for the past nine weeks is finished and is a splendid road and a wonderful improvement.

Mr. Austin Scully is at present attending St. Michael's College, Toronto.

Miss Pearl Herlihey has returned from Peterboro where she spent a few days the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Perdue of Peterboro spent a few days last week the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Lillie Lucas.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, October 18. — For the choicest load of heavy steers, $7.80 a cwt. was paid by a packer and the best load for export cost $7.40 a cwt. Good loads of steers were had at $6.80 to $7.75, and on Wednesday a load was sold at $6.30. Heavy heifers were lower with many below $6.00 and down to $5.50, and steers sold about the same price. The British market is now steady after a prolonged decline and this should help the market.

The number of good to choice butchers on offer during the week were not too many and more could have been used. Choice heavyweights touched $6.50 in one case, but most of the sales in round lots were made from $6.00 to $6.25 a cwt. Good medium quality steers and heifers sold from $5.00 to $5.50, and the poorest quality of butchers for cut rate stores realised from $3.00 a cwt. up.

Butchers' cows and bologna bulls were in stronger demand and prices firmed slightly. Extra choice cows $4.00 to $4.25 and fair butchers' cows 4.00 to $4.25, and fair butcres' cows $3.00 to $3.50 a cwt. Export bulls are selling at $4.00 to $4.25 and good bologna bulls up to $3.00 a cwt. High grain prices and low prices for beef cattle are against farmers taking on much stock for the winter, and the stockers and feeders are not selling too well. More demand for springers has developed and prices are firm with choice Holsteins up to $100.00 each. No one seems confident of any early increase in the price of butchers, but a steady market is expected if supplies are not too heavy.

The West has seen very little change in the calf market. Good to choice calves are selling from 10 to 12 cents a ound, mediums 8 to 9 cents, and common calves 5 to 7 cents. Heavy calves 250 pounds and up, have a limited market, and are harder to sell than any other kind.

Lambs have been steady all week, except on Tuesday's late run, when prices eased 25 cents a cwt. Top ewes are selling at 12 cents, and heavy lambs at 11 to 11 1-4 cents.

Choice sheep are firm at 7 to 8 cents and breeding ewes hold from 8 to 8 1-2 cents.

The price of hogs has further strengthened despite the concerted opposition of local packers. Sales were made during the week as high as $10.40 a cwt. f.o.b., and the market was quoted quite steady at Thursday's close.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, October 18 (Canadian Press). — The trade in cash coarse grains on the local market yesterday was quiet, and prices unchanged, with car lots of Ontario No. 3 extra malting barley quoted at $1.08, No. 3 grade at $1.07; Ontario No. 2 grade oats at 67 and 68 cents, and No. 3 grade at 63 cents per bushel ex-track.

In sympathy with the renewed strength in the cash wheat situation in Winnipeg yesterday, and the advance in prices, a very firm feeling prevailed in spring wheat grades of flour here although no actual change occurred in prices. On the other hand price for winter wheat flour were marked up 10 cents per bushel, owing to the continued light offerings from Ontario millers and the higher prices demanded by them.

A fair business continues to be done in all lines of millfeed, and the tone is firm. There was no change in the condition of the market for rolled oats.

The baled hay situation was without any special feature to note.

An active business was done in eggs, although no further change occurred in prices.

The feature of the butter trade was the stronger feeling that developed, and prices were marked up 3-8 cent per pound.

No change of any importance occurred in the cheese market.

Price for old crop beans still quoted at $2.45 to $2.65 per bushel for three pound pickers.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand $4.48 1-2

Cables $4.48 7-8

QUEBEC BUTTER.

MONTREAL, October 18 (Canadian Press). — At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society auction sale held here yesterday, the offerings were 925 packages creamery butter, of which 75 packages special pasteurised creamery sold at 36 1-2 cents per pound, and 350 packages No. 1 creamery at 35 1-4 cents per pound, while 36 1-4 cents per pound was asked for 500 packages of No. 1 pasteurised creamery.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, October 18 (Canadian Press). — The feature of the market at the present time is the general upward tendency of prices on all grades of eggs at most receiving centres. This is accounted as being the result of an increased demand from all sources.

Toronto higher. Jobbing specials 56 to 57, fresh extras 52 to 53, storage extras 44 to 45, firsts 40 to 41, seconds 34 to 35.

Montreal firm, demand good. Jobbing extras 47, firsts 40, seconds 30 to 32 f.o.b.

Ottawa, quality good, paying country points extras 44, firsts 34, and seconds 27.

CHEESE AUCTION.

MONTREAL, October 18 (Canadian Press). — At the United Dairymen Co-operative auction sale of Western cheese held here yesterday, ther were 2,232 boxes offered, of which 557 boxes of No. 1 white sold at 17 1-16 cents per pound, 14 boxes No. 2 white at 16 3-8 cents per pound, 794 boxes No. 1 coloured at 17 1-16 cents per pound, and 741 boxes No. 2 coloured at 16 1-2 cents per pound, while 17 cents per pound was bid for 793 boxes No. 1A coloured with 17 1-16 cents per pound asked.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Liberal foreign buying led to higher prices yesterday in the wheat market here. It was estimated that 2,000,000 bushels was purchased yesterday for shipment to Europe.

Closing quotations for wheat were unchanged to 1-4 cent lower; oats unchanged to 1-4 cent down; and provisions from 10 cents decline to 32 cents gain.

No Better Material In Any Car at Any Price

The sturdy qualities that make the good Maxwell so durable and dependable are the natural results of materials and methods of manufacture usually associated with cars of far higher price.

There are approximately 38 fast wearing parts in all automobiles. Irrespective of price there is nothing superior to the good Maxwell at those 38 points.

More expensive alloy steels are used in the good Maxwell than in many cars selling for twice or thrice as much.

Furthermore, the group of engineers who share credit for the advancement and perfection of the good Maxwell—the same group that designed the Chrysler Six—has practically eliminated all vibration. This is a refinement of operation hitherto assumed to be impossible with a four-cylinder car.

Every penny you invest in the good Maxwell will work for you overtime. It is apparent from the testimony of its owners that it is actually a better car than anything at anywhere near its price.

Maxwell dealers are in a position to extend the convenience of time-payments, on a plan that is attractive to the buyer.

FALL MONTHS SEE RUSSIANS PLAYING FOOTBALL

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 18.—"All Russia is playing football," said Dr. John L. Nuelsen, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, on arrival here from a tour of Russia, on his way to the United States. "Not only in the large cities are they kicking the pigskin, but I saw them playing football with ardor in some of the smallest villages through which I passed on my tour.

"What is true of football is true also of others forms of outdoor sport in the Soviet republic. In one little village I saw a fine gymnasium, equipped with improved appliances. Young Russia is developing physically."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Temperance Meeting Held On Thursday Evening— —Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 17.—Quite a large crowd gathered on Thursday night at the Methodist Church for the meeting announced on Sunday. The first part was devotional led by Rev. C. F. McIntosh of St. Andrew's church. Mr. McIntosh G. A. Kingston and W. J. Armstrong each said a few words of the encouraging part of the temperance work.

Mr. W. J. Armstrong, chairman for this Riding then presided and several important matters were attended to. Reports dwere given by the convenors of the different wards as to their plans of work.

On motion of G. A. Kingston, Secretary of the Committee and W. H. Ashton each Superintendent of the wards is asked to look at the scrutineers.

Moved by Rev. C. F. McIntosh and Mrs. Turner that the preparing of several Voters' Lists be left in the hands of the Executive.

It was also left with this Executive to find if possible a central place on the day and night of voting.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Merrills of Seymour township, who have been away in the West for seven weeks, returned home on Thursday. They visited the following places: Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Banff, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Vaughan, Yelm, Tacoma, Girvan.

NEWS FROM DOURO.

Progressive Euchre Party Held in Town's Hall— Personal Mention.

DOURO, Oct. 18.—The progressive euchre party held in Towns' Hall on Tuesday evening was a very successful affair. Through a misunderstanding about the date the crowd was not as large as usual. The new hall is a great improvement on the building where the social evenings were spent last year as now there is plenty of room. The prizewinners were as follows: Married men, Mr. Martin Coughlin; married ladies, Mrs. D. F. Garvey; young men, Mr. Vincent Cranley; young ladies, Miss Kathleen Towns.

Consolation prizes went to: Married men, Mr. Geo. Towns; married ladies, Mrs. T. Burns; young men, Mr. John Moher; young ladies, Miss Loretto McCarthy.

An hour's dancing wound up a very pleasant evening.

The concert which was given by local talent in Douro two weeks ago was presented last night in Warsaw.

Mr. P. G. Towns has had a second crop of red raspberries in his garden.

Mrs. Joseph Breen and children of Toronto are guests of Mrs. Breen's father, Mr. Michael Sullivan.

Messrs. Maurice O'Leary, Martin McManus and Chas. Morrisson who went West on the harvest excursion are home again.

MEIGHEN ENDORSED BY MONTREAL TORIES

Association of the City Takes Occasion at Opening Meeting To Approve Leader.

HON. C. C. BALLANTYNE

Pays Tribute to His Leader and Asks Continuance of Support.

Confidence in the leadership of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was expressed at the meeting of the Liberal Conservative Associaton held at the Mount Royal Hotel last night. The resoluton to that effect was but one of a series of incidents showing the same spirit, notably a speech by Hon. C. C. Ballantyne in which the latter spoke of the pride with which the Conservatives regard Mr. Meighen.

The gathering, the first since the troublous days brought about by St. Antoine affairs, resulted in the restoration of happy feelings in the ranks of the association, and the temporary board of directors chosen under "war" stress was approved of and will remain in office until the regular annual meeting in March. This carried with it approval of the attitude taken by F. W. Stewart, president of the association.

The resolution regarding Mr. Meighen dealt also with Mr. Ballantyne. It was moved by H. S. Lunham, and seconded by G. A. Luke, and reads as follows:

"That the board of management and members of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Montreal at their opening meeting of the 1924-25 season held in the Mount Royal Hotel on Thursday, October 9, 1924, desire to express their unbounded confidence in the leadership of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, and their appreciation of the services which he continues to render to our country and the Liberal-Conservative party with such marked distinction.

"Furthermore, to the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne they desire to extend their appreciation and absolute confidence in him as the worthy lieutenant of the Right Hon. Arthur Meigen and ther local English speaking leader."

The necessity of organization work was urged by Mr. Ballantyne, Hon. Rodolphe Monty and Hon. Andre Fauteux.

As regards Mr. Meighen, Mr. Ballantyne said that if there was one thing more than another of which the Conservatives should be proud it was the fact that they had such a distinguished leader as Mr. Meighen.

Proud of Mr. Meighen.

"There is no man in public life today that has the capacity that Mr. Meighen possesses," said Hon. Mr. Ballantyne. "He is a man of remarkable ability. There is no man in or out of parliament that has so fully and ably grasped public matters as Mr. Meighen. He is a man of remarkable courage and insight. He is a man who expounds the policies of the Conservative party with eloquence and truthfulness, from one end of Canada to the other. He does not preach one policy in one part of Canada and another policy in another part of Canada. There have been certain criticisms made in this city against our leader by a few, not by the rank and file, but we rejoice to think that from one end of Canada to the other the rank and file of the party have expressed their loyalty in him and are behind him. The Conservative party will not change their leader. Those who criticize him admit his unusual ability and force of character, but what is their criticism? They say he lacks magnetism, that he is not a leader of men. If these critics are wanting a King's jester or a man who can tell funny stories to make people laugh, I agree with them. He is not a bluffer. He is not a man to provoke mirth, but when it comes to the serious work of a leader of a great party, he is the man. He has a remarkable record and instead of anyone criticizing him they should be thankful to have such a wonderful leader. Instead of criticizing I would ask these men to get in line behind him and fight the battle that he and the party have fought.

NEWS OF JANETVILLE.

JANETVILLE, Oct. 18.—The anniversary services held at Mount Horeb last Sunday and Monday were an unqualified success from every point of view. Rev. Dr. J. E. Moore of Uxbridge preached sermons of a high order on Sabbath afternoon and evening, and lectured on Monday night. While Dr. Moore has given forty-two successful years to the Methodist ministry has received hundred of people into the church and is now resting for a time, he is yet a most earnest, vigorous, eloquent and forceful preacher of a gospel for which the people hunger.

Many thought as they listened to his words of burning eloquence and power, what a pity that such men should be set aside, shouldered to the wall and relegated to the ranks of the worn-outs, while so many pulpits are withering up and congregations starving for the very message which Dr. Moore so ably sets before the people. The style of this splendid preacher is clear, logical, forceful, convincing and, like that of the Master Himself, rich in illustration. The congregations both afternoon and evening were highly pleased and greatly profited.

The Lecture.

On Monday evening Dr. Moore lectured on "Fact, Fun and Fiction" and again the people were delighted. For an hour and a quarter he held the audience in the grip of the orator, and all would have willingly yielded themselves longer to the spell.

Rev.. and Mrs. G. E. Ross were requested to sing at the close of the lecture. Refresments were then served and the most succesful anniversary held at Mount Horeb in years came to a close. The chair on Monday evening was ably filled by Mr. W. G. Grandy, recording steward of the circuit.

Prohibition Meeting.

On a recent Sunday evening the Methodist church of Janetville was lined up in battle array for the Ontario Temperance Act. The choir rendered excellent temperance music, and two very able addresses were delivered by the Tuxis Boys. Mr. Archie Stinson gave a splendid address on "Rivers of Beer in Quebec," while Harry Thornton spoke splendidly on the subject "Prohibition versus Moderation." The meeting was a success.

Meeting At Mount Horeb.

A prohibition meeting will be held in Mount Horeb Methodist church Sunday afternoon. Six ten minute addresses will be delivered by young men, while these will be interspersed by temperance music.

Enterprise with Prudence

SINCE 1871, when The Dominion Bank was founded, the sound policies which marked its inception have been carefully followed.

A historian of the banking system in Canada has recorded that "From the first the management of The Dominion Bank was recognized as representing an exceptional combination of prudence and enterprise and its stock soon stood in the first rank of Canadian banks, a position which it has always maintained".

These two great principles—prudence and enterprise—have nurtured a steady growth and have developed a solid structure.

SWEDISH RAILROADS GIVE UP FIRST CLASS CARS

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 18.—Railway companies in Sweden have decided to abolish first class travelling accomodations and offer only second and third class to the public. The government owns most of the railroads in Sweden, and as early as 1900 began to eliminate the first class accomodations, as there was very little difference between first and second class arrangements.

Several years ago second and third class sleepers were provided on government lines, and now the few operating private companies have offered similar facilities with the announcement they are also abandoning first class.

ONE RINGING SHOT IN THE WAVERING GREEN DUSK THEN THEY FIND WEALTHY DOUGLAS RAYNOR DEAD IN THE SUN ROOM OF BEAUTIFUL "FLOWER ACRES"

There Was No Clue Except the Print Of An Overshoe on the Sun Room Floor—This Year's Best Mystery Story Starts in the Examiner To-day—Do Not Fail To Read It.

CHAPTER I

Finley's Return

Dusk is in itself sinister. Bright noonday or black midnight are definite, positive, even tangible, but dusk is uncertain, mysterious, eerie. And once it begins its creeping, insidious progress, it comes faster and more inexorably with every moment, until its first gray, wavering shadows turn to dense and menacing shapes.

At Flower Acres, the beautiful Long Island home of the Raynors, a September dusk was stretching shadow across the terraces and massed flower beds.

Through the falling darkness rang out a single shot.

In the wide doorway between the house and sun parlor the glimmer of a white-clad figure pierced the gloom, and a door facing east and a door facing west, both swung on their hinges.

And on the floor, crumpled into an ungainly heap, lay the inert form of Douglas Raynor, its outline indistinguishable in the sudden complete darkness, till a click of a switch button sounded and the bright lights flashed out.

* * *

Three days before Malcolm Finley had returned from Japan.

The quickly successive sensations incident to landing and reaching a hotel all pleased him, and in sheer delight he noted or missed old landmarks until alone in his room at the Waldorf, he began to feel a longing for human companionship.

Accordingly he reached for the telephone and confided his wishes to Ezra Goddard.

During dinner, Finlay learned all that he wanted to know about business, politics and friends. Goddard was a storehouse of information on these points, and guided by an occasional question, he placidly poured forth his torrents of news.

"All right, Goddard, I'm fed up with Wall Street details. So now—what about—Nancy?"

Ezra Goddard looked at his host thoughtfully.

"You went away when she married, didn't you?"

"Yes—when she married that unspeakable man!"

"Because she married him?"

"Partly. What about the girl? Do you ever see her?"

"Oh, often. They live out on Long Island—fine, big estate, magnificent, really."

"Then he has done her well?"

"As to setting—yes."

"Is she—is she happy? Is he good to her?"

"Can't answer either question. You know Nancy—if she weren't happy she'd never let anybody know it. to his being good to her—he he isn't."

"How—isn't?"

"Ho isn't?"

"Hard to put it into words. But, he's—oh, he's impossible!"

"A bounder?"

"No—not that. But he's a tyrant, a despot—an overseer!"

"My God! Does he tyrannize over Nan?"

"Does he? It makes my blood boil—but what can one do when she resents the slightest comment on his actions, or even allusions to them?"

"Then she loves him?"

"She can't. No woman could. But—oh, there are so many sides to it all—so many complications——"

"Tell me all about it. If that man is unkind to little Nan——"

"You can't do anything. The best thing you can do, Mal, is to keep away. Raynor's always been a bit jealous of you——"

"Of me? What nonsense! Why, Nan and I were the merest friends—so far as any one knew——"

"Including Nan herself?"

"Why, yes—I should say so. There was nothing between us——"

"But you loved her?"

"And do still. But I'm man enough to realize she's the wife of another—only—if that other——"

"Why did she marry him? Why, Malcolm?"

"I don't know, Goddard. But never mind conjecture—give me facts. What does that brute do to her?"

"Nothing tangible—nothing you could lay your hand on. But he teases her, irritates her, criticizes her unjustly, and in a mean way—until sometimes I should think she would kill him!"

"Not Nancy—she's the gentlest of girls——"

"Was. But of late she seems to be getting to the end of her rope, the limit of her patience. If it weren't for Orry—I almost think she might rebel openly——"

"Why Orry?"

"His influence is good over her. They adore each other—I never knew a more devoted brother and sister—and when Raynor stirs Nan up beyond endurance, Orry is the one who pours oil on the troubled waters."

"He never seemed to me to have much go——"

"No he hasn't. Orville Kent is a dreamer, an artist. But he has a fine nature, and he also has a good sense of proportion—a real knowledge of relative values. And so he quiets Nan now and then—but truly it's seldom necessary, for the girl is so well poised herself. If she ever regrets her marriage, no one is allowed to guess it from her words or actions."

"Bless her heart! Perhaps it isn't so very bad. Raynor had big qualities——"

"Yes, but also some mighty small ones! He can jab the iron into his wife's soul, and then twist it around in the wound with a diabolical cleverness."

"Is she alone with him, except for Orville?"

"Lord, no. There's quite a household. Raynor's sister, Miss Mattie, is there—also a nurse."

"A nurse?"

"Not exactly—that is, she's what they call a dietitian—you see, Raynor has developed a hippy concern as to his health, and he lives on calories or carbohydrates or something—anyway, they have to be weighed and counted by a trained dietary person, hence the nurse."

"H'm—an old man, apprehensive about his health, is a fine mate for lovely Nancy Kent!"

"Exactly. Why did she marry him?"

"I'd like to go down there, Goddard. Would it be taking my life in my hands?"

"Unless Raynor invites you—yes."

"Won't he? Can't you make him?... You seem to be on an intimate footing down there."

"I'll ask him, gladly."

"Do it now."

Goddard stared at the determined face before him.

Tall, strong and thirty. Malcolm Finley was the sort of man who gives instructions in the full expectation of their being carried out.

His rather fair hair was thick, and showed a suspicion of waviness as it tossed back from his wide brow. His eyes were gray and deep set and his mouth showed sweetness as well as firmness in its sensitive curves.

A most casual glance at him gave the impression of capability and efficiency with indomitable determination and persistence. Moreover, he usually spoke with a decision that cut off possible objections.

Wherefore Goddard obediently went to a telephone and returned not much later with a mystified expression on his face.

"I don't quite understand it," he said, resuming his seat at the table and lighting a fresh cigar, "but old Raynor says he will be charmed to see you. Suffering you to come, I could have understood—but charmed. Looks tricky to me."

"Meaning?"

"That he expects to get some fun out of your visit, somehow. I told him you were home, and that I was dining with you, and that you wanted to run down to his place with me and renew old acquaintance, and he fell for it so quickly and so cordially that I can't see through it. I thought he'd have conscientious objections of some sort. But he was positively urgent. Said for you to come with me on Friday for the week-end, and as much longer as you could content yourself there. It's an enormous place, you know—big as a hotel, full of servants and guests and neighbors——"

"Neighbors? Thought it was country."

"Oh, big adjoining estates—almost like an English countryside. Now, look here, Mal, you must be careful. I'm sure the old brute has something up his sleeve, and it's most likely to be a wicked hope of catching you making love to his wife, which will give him a chance for deviltry of some sort. So carry yourself with great circumspection!!"

"Circumspection be hanged! I'll adopt whatever attitude toward Nancy I see fit! Old friend, for choice—but if he gets funny——"

"He won't get funny—but—he'll take it out of her."

"Oh, will he! If he does, he'll have to settle with me. Look here, Goddard, that's why I want to go there—to see that that girl is up against. I'm not going to please myself—Lord knows, it's a dangerous matter, anyway. For when I see Nan—dear little Nan, again—I shall have all I can do to hold myself in leash. But—if that man is bothering her——"

"I'm not sure I'll take you, Mal, if you talk like that. Don't stir up trouble, will you?"

"I promise nothing. But I go."

* * *

And he did go.

The two friends went down to Flower Acres in Goddard's beautiful little roadster, preceded by a motor load of luggage and Goddard's man.

As they neared the place and the full meaning of its name burst upon him, Finley stared in delight at the scene. Literally acres of flowers, late blossoms now, spread over the earth, and among and between box or yew hedges, rows of poplars and clumps of evergreens, were great beds of asters, cosmos, goldenglow, chrysanthemums, salvia and late roses, while formal gardens showed more rare and choice blossoms.

"Who does it?" asked Finley, almost in a voice of awe, as one vista after another met his eyes.

"Nan," said Goddard briefly. "It's her hobby."

"Well, if the brute gives her full swing like this, he can't be all bad."

"Never said he was. Now, Malcolm, remember my warning! Don't be fool enough to disregard it. Do not flirt with Nancy Raynor, nor even seem to do so. I'm positive there's something behind this willingness of Raynor to have you here, and you must not let him have even an imaginary cause for jealousy."

"Oh, shut up, Goddard, what do you take me for? If you think I'm a disturber of families or a trouble-maker of any sort, you're greatly mistaken."

"I don't think you are—on purpose. But——"

"Well, shut up, anyway. If, when and as you see me going wrong it will be time enough to read me lectures—as if I were a callow schoolboy!"

Pausing before entering, Finley turned to look at the picture. From the terrace, one first glanced over more flower acres, then some woodland of low growths, then a great stretch of uneven beach, and finally a horizon of sea and sky.

It was so beautiful that Finley hoped in his heart his bedroom might face this way.

Yet when, a short time later, he presented himself to the family, already at tea on the western terrace, he found the outlook even more picturesque.

As he stepped to the western terrace, Finley saw first the face of Nancy Raynor. She looked at him over the cup of tea she was pouring, and if the cup shivered a little on its saucer, she instantly stilled it, and continued her occupation.

For that one startled glance of her dark eyes, that one little rattle of the cup on its saucer, had told volumes to the man seeking information.

"How do you do, Malcolm?" she said, holding out her hand with a cordial yet detached air. "It is pleasant to meet again."

"Indeed it is," he said, warmly, then catching Goddard's significant glance, he checked his enthusiasm, and turned to greet the master of the house.

"Mr. Raynor?" he said with a slightly interrogative inflection.

"You know it's Mr. Raynor," and his host touched his hand for a moment, "why the question mark? Have you forgotten me?"

"No, indeed"; and for once Malcolm Finley was almost disconcerted. "But the beauty and charm of your place has gone to my head, and I'm not quite sure of anything."

"Oh—that is what has gone to your head, is it? The beauty of the place?"

Not only was the emphasis unmistakable, but a brief glance in the direction of his wife added meaning to the man's words.

"Yes, indeed," Finley went on lightly. "I've just come from Japan, but even there I saw no profusion of flowers that so charmed my senses as your gardens here."

"Nor no such beautiful women as we have here?" Again the slight glance at Nancy, which was accomplished by merely moving his eyes and not his head.

Finley felt himself clinching his hands, and with all his power of control in force, he returned, "Japan is the land of beautiful women, if one cares for that type. Ah, Orville, old chap, how are you?"

He left Raynor and crossed the terrace to shake hands with Orville Kent, Nancy's brother, who greeted him with a smile.

"It's good to see you again, Malcolm. You've been away a long time."

"Two years. You look just the same, Orry. In fact, I find little changed, except the traffic laws."

"Prohibition?"

"Oh, well, that's liquor traffic law—and, too—is it very much changed?"

"Miss Raynor," Orville said, as he turned to an alert-eyed lady, who was quite evidently impatient for an introduction, "I want you to know Malcolm Finley—an old friend of ours, just back from Japan."

"How wonderful!" she exclaimed; "you must tell me all about it. Will you, Mr. Finley? All about the kick-shaws, or whatever they are—and the cherry-blossom carnivals and everything."

"Surely I will, if you want to hear it."

"But not now," Orville interrupted, seeing that the good-natured Finley was willing to begin at once. "Let's go for a stroll, Malcolm. I'll show you the swans on the lake."

Feeling that the whole situation was fraught with an undercurrent of danger, Finley, after an instant's hesitation, agreed, and the two went off.

"I'm glad you came down here," Kent began, soon after they left the house; "you may be able to cheer things up a bit. We're in doleful dumps, somehow."

"What about? Servants leaving?" Finlay asked, uncertain what line to pursue.

"No. But Douglas is getting so queer."

"Mentally, morally or physically?"

"Oh, every way. He's fiendish to Nan——"

"What?" and Finley's sharp tone made Orville turn and stare at him.

"Oh," he said, and then fell into a silence.

After a moment he resumed, "I say, perhaps it wasn't a good thing for you to come, either. I see you still care for her."

"Look here, Orville, cut that out. It's nobody's business whether I care for anybody or not. When you see anything in my conduct toward your sister that calls for criticism, come and tell me so. Until then, I must ask you to refrain from even thinking about it."

"All right, old fellow, I understand. And so I'll tell you how I see it. Douglas is hateful to Nan, but it's partly her own fault."

"I don't believe it!" This burst involuntarily from Finley, and quickly, in order to cover it, he said, "I mean, I can't think Nan would do anything deserving of Raynor's censure."

"Censure? Oh, no. That isn't it. But she's never of the same mind with him—never sees things as he does—never really agrees with him. Yet she pretends to. And that, to a man like Raynor, who can't be deceived by anybody, is unbearable."

"And just what can I do about it?"

"Oh, nothing definite. Of course not. But I thought maybe your being here for a time would divert the current, shift the cards about, and give us all a new angle on things."

"You expect an unusual effect from a mere casual guest."

"Don't take it so seriously. I don't expect anything. But if you could just influence Nan a little to be more lenient to Douglas' ways, or rather to his opinions and convictions that differ from her own. That's the trouble—they never see things alike."

"But, my dear boy—I can't——"

"I tell you, don't take it like that. I don't want you to do anything definite—only—oh, pshaw, I thought you'd understand.

"Same little old Orry! Petulant, impatient and unreasonable. Well, son, I'll do this; I'll look about a bit, and if I can act the part of guide, philosopher and friend to your sister, you can just bet I'll do it!"

CHAPTER II

Why Did She Marry Him-

The house at Flower Acres faced north. On the western side a terrace and on the eastern side a veranda ran the full length of the house, and from each opened a door into the sun parlor that spread across the southern front. This sun parlor was an ideal room. Three sides and a roof of glass, with convenient curtains and lattices, it was always available for occupation or for idleness.

On the fourth side, against the house, was a wide stone fireplace and a door opening into a rear hall. The appointments included reading tables, writing desks, card tables and tempting swings and lounges of ease and comfort.

Out here the family often had their coffee and smoked after dinner, and Malcolm Finley following the others was fighting a strong temptation to seat himself near his hostess. He had sat at her right hand at dinner, and their conversation, though of the lightest, had been intently listened to—Finley couldn't help noticing—by Douglas Raynor, and also by his sister, Miss Mattie.

Deeming it wise, therefore, he took a seat beside the maiden lady, a proceeding entirely to her satisfaction.

"You're one of Nancy's old beaus, aren't you?" she asked.

"Now, Miss Raynor," Finley said, gayly, "I object to that term 'old beau.' It makes me feel like a somewhat decrepit but well-preserved man of sixty or so."

"Nousense, you know I didn't mean anything like that. But weren't you one of her admirers?"

"Oh, yes—surely none but a blind man could plead not guilty to that charge. You're one yourself, aren't you? You admire her yourself, don't you?"

"Yes—except that I think she's overly slim for a matron."

Finley gave a brief glance at the slender, lissome form of his hostess, but looked away quickly, lest his eyes linger too long.

She sat in a swing, amid a cluster of cushions. Her small, dark head leaned back with a slight abandon, and her wistful little face was upturned to Goddard, who stood above and behind her. One black slippered foot kept the swing swaying a trifle, and her outspread hands rested on the sides of the swing.

"Do stop that teetering, Nan," her husband said, pettishly.

"I will, Douglas," and the accompanying smile showed no trace of annoyance. She steadied the swing, and sat motionless, crossing her hands on her lap. Her gown was of plain black velvet, a trailing garniture of fine French flowers its only ornament. She wore no jewels, save a string of pearls, and her small, delicate face, though pale, was bright and animated.

"Why have you so few decorations to-night, my dear?" Raynor went on, looking over her critically. "In honor of our returned traveller, you should have donned your bravest war paint."

"Beauty unadorned," Nan said, smiling, but Finley saw her hands clasp tightly, as if there were a disturbing undercurrent to her husband's remarks.

"Not your beauty," Raynor said. "You're too pale, my dear, to claim that your face is your fortune."

"Then tell me so when we're alone, Douglas. Personalities——"

"There she goes again! Always lecturing me on my manners! What would you do, Finley, if you had a wife that never stopped pestering you?"

"I'd let her pester," Malcolm said, and his cool voice gave no sign of the anger in his breast. This, then, was the way Raynor was a brute.

"Yes—one has to," and Raynor sighed, over-emphatically. "I've given up trying to mend her ways—but it is tiresome to be caught up continually."

"Oh, I don't, Douglas. Don't believe him, Malcolm, he's teasing me. And, by the way, Douglas, how do you like the new rhododendron beds?'

"A fine question—considering you placed them exactly where I asked you not to! Why did you do that? To prove your independence of my wishes, or merely to be contrary."

"But, Douglas, dear, they're just where you said you wanted them!"

"Nothing of the sort. You misunderstood entirely. You would, of course. Oh, well, I can't expect to have anything as I want it around this place. With your knowledge of gardens and landscapes, Nan, I should think you could see for yourself that they should be fifty feet, at least, farther from the arbor."

"I'll have them changed." Nan spoke dully, listlessly, as if she would rather change the whole garden plan than have any further discussion.

"Yes, and spend a fortnight more of the gardeners' time! You've no conception of the value of time—or of money. I should think your early days of forced economy would have taught you not to be quite so extravagant. Where you going, Orville?"

"Out," said Orry, shortly. "Star gazing," he added, with a smile at Finley. "Want to go?"

Finley went, and Miss Raynor at once began to discuss him.

"What a nice man he is," she said; "but not much of a talker. I couldn't draw him out at all."

FRUIT TREATMENT HEALS KIDNEYS

Concentrated Fruit Juices Give Astonishing Results

Anyone who has suffered with Weak or Irritated Kidneys—with the accompanying miseries of pain in the back, splitting headaches, swollen hands and feet, rheumatism and constipation—ought to try the Fruit Treatment for their trouble.

To those who use intensified fruit juices—"Fruit-a-tives"—for the first time, it seems almost impossible that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes combined with tonics, could relieve Kidney Trouble.

But a short treatment of "Fruit-a-tives" gives quick relief and the regular use of these intensified fruit juices or "Fruit Liver Tablets" prove their marvellous virtues.

Get "Fruit-a-tives" today and begin the Fruit Treatment. At all dealers; 25c. and 50c. a box; or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

IN CHINATOWN'S TONG WAR

Denizens of New York's Chinatown glance over the pronouncements of Chinese merchants who disclaim membership in either of the tongs, now at war after a ten year truce. The merchants do this to protect their lives.

Police learned of a sixth Tong war fatality in the greater New York district Friday when they discovered in a tea garden at Corona, Long Island, the body of an aged Chinese whose throat had been slashed and whose body had been so mutilated as to prevent immediate identification.

Evidence of a terrific struggle between the Chinese and his slayers was found by the police. The body is believed to have lain on the spot since last Monday, for since that day the tea garden had been closed to customers

FARM LIFE AND ITS PROBLEMS

U. S. LOAN ACT SAVES FARMERS' INTEREST MONEY

Control Of Rural Banking Puts 6 Per Cent. Maximum On Interest.

ABOLISHES BONUS.

Federal and Joint Stock Land Banks Force Rates Lower.

By CHARLES P. STEWART.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Up to 14 per cent was what the American farmer used to pay on his mortgage—if he had one, as about 400,000 do.

The farmer did well if he kept his interest paid up. It was seldom he made any impression on the debt itself. Once mortgaged, generally he stayed mortgaged for the rest of his life.

To-day 6 per cent is the maximum interest rate. By adding another 1 per cent, in 33 years the farmer clears off his mortgage.

In well-developed regions, like Iowa, the old interest rate was about 7 per cent. In newer territory, like Montana, Texas and the Pacific states, it ran as high as 12 per cent. Beside, the farmer usually had to pay a bonus or commission to get a loan. This was 1, 2, sometimes 5 and even 10 per cent.

Every time the farmer renewed, which ordinarily was every 5 years, he had to pay a fresh bonus. It was adding the interest and bonus together that brought the total rate up, in some places, to 14 per cent—occasionally higher.

Naturally the difference between the old and new rates is not as great in the older regions—where it always was relatively low—as in the newer ones. Nevertheless the average difference for the whole country is at least 1 per cent.

One per cent on 8 billions of dollars, which is the census bureau's estimate of America's farm mortgage total, is 80 millions. The bonus is abolished, too. That means about 20 millions more.

Who Gets Credit-

One hundred millions annually is a snug sum.

ROBERT A. COOPER, EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF THE FEDERAL FARM LOAN BUREAU.

The author of the Federal farm loan act claim credit for this saving to the American farmer.

Before the act was passed, the farmer borrowed wherever he could—generally either from some individual money-lender or from his local bank, which, in turn, obtained the bulk of such funds from one of the big insurance companies or some other institution with lots of cash to invest.

The act gave the farmer two new kinds of banks to borrow from—federal land banks and joint stock land banks.

Federal land banks are co-operative. Joint stock land banks make loans direct.

How It Is Done

Say a farmer wants to borrow $1,000. He wants to wipe out the debt in 33 years. He applies to a federal or joint stock land bank.

The bank rate may be under 6 per cent if money is low. It cannot be above 6 per cent anyway, under the law. The actual average is 5½ per cent.

But call it 6 per cent—$60 yearly for the farmer to pay.

To this add 1 per cent—$10—to cancel the debt gradually. The $70 total is divided into semi-annual sums of $35. With each such payment the debt is reduced $5. The bank pays the farmer interest on each $5—applies the interest, together with the $5 on the debt, that is to say.

Between the piling up of this interest and the gradual reduction of the debt, with the sixty-sixth payment the obligation is cancelled—the farmer is debt free.

Who Holds Loans

To be sure, the federal and joint stock land banks have no monopoly of the business of financing the American farmer. Loans to America's farm borrowers are held in round figures, as follows:

Insurance companies, $1,600,000,000.
Savings, state and commercial banks and trust companies, $1,500,000,000.
Federal and joint stock land banks, $1,500,000,000.
Charitable institutions, $750,000,000.
Local individuals, $2,500,000,000.
Miscellaneous, $150,000,000.

But here is what the federal and joint stock land banks have done:

They have forced private concerns and individuals, who formerly demanded higher rates from the farmers, to come to their terms.

The joint stock land banks in particular have competed vigorously with those who formerly financed the farmer. In order to place their money at all, these individuals and concerns have had to loan on as favorable terms as the federal and joint stock land banks' funds allow.

The federal farm loan system was adopted belatedly in the United States. Europe has had it for a century and a half. Chile has had it for years. Even the Phillippines have had it since 1900.

Here the law was passed in 1916, but it is only in the last six years that the banks have been operating effectively.

Crop News From Norwood

NORWOOD, Oct. 17.—The fall wheat is looking very well. Even the later sown wheat presents a fine green appearance, and may winter better than the fields earlier sown, that have grown almost too high.

The corn is cut. Those who have silos have completed the filling of them, while other farmers, without silos, have the corn stooked in the fields. It is a better crop than was expected.

Numerous fields of buckwheat are noticed. Most of this crop is yet in the field.

Potatoes Good

Potatoes are being raised, a great many having completed the harvesting of them. The crop is good. The price for them varies very much with the locality. In Manvers, where some farmers have each several acres, the price just now seems to be small, purchases in large lots from there have been reported at fifty cents a bag. There are only in isolated cases where farmers cannot or do not care to store their crop, but rather prefer to take a smaller price direct from the field. In Port Hope, Peterboro, and other places, they bring one dollar a bag.

A big shortage in the potato crop of Ireland and Europe is reported, and doubtless in the spring the price wil be high, when export starts.

Apple picking is in progress. There seems to be more fall apples than winter varieties.

Millet is a good crop. Mr. James Keegan had eleven loads off five acres.

Mr. R. Matchett and Mr. H. Lang harvested their second crop of alfalfa this week.

Pears are an average crop, but many of them are blemished.

Not so many peaches are being purchased this year. The price for them has been high and this combined with high-priced sugar, makes them an expensive fruit.

S. S. Staples shipped a car of hogs on Monday. The price paid was ten and a quarter.

A carload of horses, brought from Alberta, were brought to Cavan by Stanley Staples and sold by auction at S. S. Staples' place on Friday. The horses brought a rather low price, and all were not sold. In the district where Mr. Staples bought the horses, the farmers, on account of a series of poor crops, are leaving their farms. Many are seeking homesteads in sections where there is more moisture.

DURHAM COUNTY STOCK JUDGING

Junior Competition For Judging Of Horses Was Won By Hilton Tink.

NUMBER ENTRIES.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 17.—The Durham County Junior Farmers' Association held its annual stock judging competition at Bowmanville on Tuesday, Oct. 15. As usual, this annual event brought out a goodly number of competitors, considerable enthusiasm prevailed, and a very satisfactory day was spent.

The judges for the day were: A. A. Knight, Lindsay; W. M. Croskerry, Uxbridge; W. H. Smith, Brighton; F. C. McRae, Norwood; and D. McKinnon, Peterborough.

There were two separate competitions, that for juniors being open to boys twenty years and under, and the senior competition for older boys. In all about $150 in cash prizes was awarded, this prize money being donated by township councils of Darlington and Cavan, Live Stock Breeders' Clubs, a number of individual breeders in the the county, each of the members of Parliament, various private subscriptions, including a generous contribution from a firm outside of the County, viz., the Canadian Packing Company, Peterborough, which donated $25.00.

One of the interesting features of the day was the fact that Harry Seymour, of Cavan, who won the championship prize of a trip to the Chicago International Exhibition last year, was again high man this year. As winners of last year were not eligible to receive prizes again this season, the trip will go to the second high man, Lawrence Cryderman, of Bowmanville.

Prize-winners were as follows:—

Junior competition.—Horses—1, Hilton Tink, 164 points; 2, Clarence Allin, 160 points. Beef cattle—1, Lloyd Crago, 167 points; 2, Jim Brown, 148. Dairy cattle—1, Jim Brown, 173; 2, Norman Hogg, 169. Sheep—1, Harry McLaughlin, 162; 2, Hilton Tink, 158. Swine—1, Harry McLaughlin, 167; 2, Jim Brown, 155. Total of all classes—1, Jim Brown, 778; 2, Hilton Tink, 745; 3, Lloyd Crago, 742; 4, Clarence Allin, 739; 5, Norman Hogg, 735.

Senior competition.—Horses—1, Lawrence Cryderman, 176; 2, W. G. Waterman, 175. Beef cattle—1, Harry Seymour, 190; 2, Lawrence Cryderman, 179. Dairy cattle—1, Lawrence Cryderman, 179; 2, Harry Jose, 178. Sheep—1, Howard Gibson, 181; 2, Ewart Clemence, 175. Swine—1, Stanley Chapman, 152; 2, Harry Seymour, 147. Totals for all classes—1, Harry Seymour, 834; 2, Lawrence Cryderman, 831; 3, Stanley Chapman, 802; 4, Harry Jose, 776; Ewart Clemence, 776.

Messrs. L. H. Winslow and David Sharpe left on Tuesday morning for Brampton to attend the International Ploughing Match, which lasts for three days, and was formally opened by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt on Thursday.

Mr. Winslow is one of the directors and will not enter the competition this year. David Sharpe is one of the younger and most efficient of the junior ploughmen of this district, who has more than once won local honors. He will enter in the junior competitions at Brampton.

All sorts of farm implements, tractors, Hydro and other forms of lighting and power supply are shown at the international ,half-a-mile of tents being required for the housing of these displays. The attendance is expected to run into the thousands.

FEEDING BEES THROUGH COLD

Honey Or Sugar Maple Necessary For Winter Supply.

NOW IS TIME.

Two of the essentials for good wintering of bees are young bees and ample stores. To secure the first, young bees, a natural fall flow or an artificial flow produced by feeding is required to stimulate brood production If ample stores are lacking, they must be provided by feeding.

The feed supplied may be either a honey or a sugar syrup, and in making the latter none but the best of white granulated sugar should be used.

For stimulative feeding, a light syrup of approximately one part honey or sugar to one part water is best. This syrup may be given to the bees in various ways, but the one most generally used is the honey pail method, which consists in inverting a 5 or 10 pound honey pail of syrup over the frames, the cover of which pail has three or four holes in it, pierced by a fine nail.

Colonies wintered in cellar should weigh 60 to 65 pounds, without hive cover, and those wintered outside, 70 to 75 pounds. Any deficiencies should be made up by feeding one pound sugar for every pound lacking in stores. The syrup given in this case should consist of two parts sugar to one part water, or five parts honey to one part water, and should be fed from 10-pound honey pails, as above described, each pail having 40 to 50 small nail holes in the cover. Feed may be given either hot or cold. When fed hot, however, there is a greater danger of granulation, but the syrup is more readily taken down by the bees.

Feeding should be done in October, as rapidly as possible, and in the evening to avoid disturbance.

BUSINESS SLOWLY EXPANDING

Although there is still a tendency toward caution in buying, retailers especially in the towns and rural districts, report a definite increase in the volume of sales. Strictly hand-to-mouth buying is giving way somewhat. Car loadings, an important index of trade, increased by nearly 3,000 cars last week over the week before. Livestock sales for the year to date are 10 per cent. above the total for the same part of 1923. The wholesale price index, compiled by the Bureau of Statistics, and including 236 commodities, fell 4.5 degrees during September, from 158.1 to 153.6. The leading factors in the decline were vegetables and their products, hay, lumber and wood products. Bank clearings continue ahead of last year, and the figure for the movement of grain exceeds that of last year by about 50 per cent.

The annual per capita consumption of rice in United States is about 6.8 pounds.

A clean, disinfected stall is the surest preventive of joint ill in colts.

Wool production in the United States last eyar was about 266,000,000 pounds.

"At the head of all the sciences and arts, at the head of civilization and progress, stands—not militarism, the science that kills, not commerce, the art that accumulates wealth—but agriculture, the mother of all industry, and the maintainer of human life."—Garfield.

GOOD FOR THE SOIL

Not only does farm manure supply plant food but the vegetable or organic matter it contains also helps to increase the productivity of the soil. As this vegetable matter gradually breaks down the acid products formed help dissolve and make available to plants some of the otherwise insoluble plant food in the soil. Furthermore, the humus helps retain moisture and improves the soil texture.

INSTALLATION OF WATER IN FARM HOUSES

Hints About Installing Pipes In The Rural Household.

RAISING DUCKS.

The Agricultural College Will Help You If You Want Water.

There are two main sources of farm water supply, namely, well and spring (both hard water) and rain water (soft). Anyone thinking of installing a modern water system and plumbing in his home should make sure that his water supply is both plentiful and safely protected from all possible sources of contamination. Much more water will be used daily under modern than under old conditions of service, about 30 gallons per person per day.

The College Will Help You

Ask the O. A. College to assist you in solving the following problems in this matter of water supply:—

1. How to increase the well and spring supplies of water.
2. How to safeguard these supplies from surface contamination.
3. How to make more use of the rain water supply.
4. How to get that fine spring water running through your house and stables by installing the hydraulic ram near the spring.

Pumping and carrying water by hand is too expensive at modern rates of wages, is very inconvenient, and is wasteful of time and energy. No one likes the job. It is rapidly going out of date wherever people are getting acquainted with the more modern pumping and supply systems.

The Compression System

The compression system is the most popular one to-day. The idea is this: The hard or soft water, as the case may be, is pumped into a large strong air-tight metal tank to about two-thirds full. The water compresses the original air in the tank and thereby produces sufficient pressure to force the water out of the tank through a pipe line that connects to the sinks, closet, bathtub, etc., in the house. The pump may be driven by hand, gasoline engine, windmill or electric motor or any available power. The last-named means is the preferable one because the pumping is carried on automatically, is quiet in operation, economical of space, and a fresh water line that supplies water direct from the well for drinking purposes may be installed. The style and size of the pump required depends on whether the well is shallow or deep. The size of the tank depends on the amount of water required about the place. An outfit large enough for the ordinary-sized family or household costs about $175.00, piping, connecting system to well, and to the various fixtures in the house being extra.

What You May Enjoy With This System

1. Have complete plumbing system in your home. That means hard and soft water on tap in the kitchen, bath (tub or shower, or both), and an indoor sanitary water closet, which will dispense with the outside privy. These conveniences stand for comfort, convenience, saving of labor and time, better health and greater efficiency or fitness for work and enjoyment.
2. Lawn and garden water service to keep home surroundings attractive.
3. Water under pressure is very useful and convenient for washing the automobile, washing outside of windows, cleaning floors in cellar or stables, putting out fires if reached in time.
4. No longer any need to pump and carry water. Another burden is rolled away.

Different makes of this system are on exhibition in the Physics Building, O. A. College, Guelph. They are properly set up and in good working order.

GETTING TOGETHER.

Farmers of World Are to Take Census in 1930.

An interesting census of agriculture in 1930 is now being promoted by the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, according to Asher Hobson, American delegate to the Institue. The purpose of the census is to place the agricultural statistics of all countries on a comparable basis for the intelligent interpretatio nof world food and fibre production and neads.

Many nations do not now take an agricultural census and the enumerations of others are not comparable because uniform tests are not used. Specialists have been employed to work out data on which a uniform schedule can be devised for submission to each member country.

The statistics of individual countries are dispatched to the Institue at Rome by telegraph, cable and radio, where they are tabulated and relayed to all countries interested. The reports to the United States are received by the Federal Department of Agriculture at Washington, wehre they are analyzed and the results broadcast over the country by radio and press dispatches. The service has been important in keeping American farmers and agricultural agencies informed on world conditions.

This year's wheat crop in China is only about 60 per cent normal.

MILK TAINTED BY SOME FOOD FED TO STOCK

Undesirable Flavors Given By Some Plants In The Fall of the Year.

RAGWEED OFFENDER.

Rank Clover Will Give a Bad Taint to the Milk.

One of the worst weeds for producing bad flavors in milk during the autumn season is ragweed. So says Prof. H. H. Dean of the Ontario Agricultural College. This gives a peculiar pungent odour to milk, which is very objectionable for both cheese and butter-making. For condensing, powdering, and for city milk and cream trade, such milk would be rejected and returned to the farmer.

A Bad Case of Ragweed Taint

A case is known where a cheesemaker was obliged to leave the factory because the cheese was rejected by the cheese buyers on account of bad flavor. On investigation it was found that ragweed grew on many patrons' farms nearly as high as the fences. When pastures are short, as they frequently are in September and October, the cattle eat the weed. This taints the milk and causes no end of trouble for both cheese and buttermakers. The remedy, of course, is to rid the farms of this noxious weed, or else prevent the cows from pasturing in fields where the ragweed grows.

Rank Clover Will Give Taint

Sometimes very rank clover will give a taint to the milk. The remedy is to turn the cows into a fresh clover field for only a short time each day until they grow accustomed to the clover, and the persons buying or using the milk become adjusted to the change in flavor.

Turnip Tops Give Offensive Flavor

Among crops grown for feeding purposes, one of the worst flavored is turnip tons. As soon as the turnip crop is harvested, some farmers turn their cattle into the field to clean up the tops, small turnips, etc. This practice is sure to result in bad-flavored milk and cream. Most creamery men warn their patrons against this, as it has been found impossible to prevent turnip-tainted butter where much cream comes from farms where "cows break into the turnip field unknown to the owner."

Rape Nearly as Bad as Turnips

Rape is nearly as bad as turnip tops. In beef-raising sections, where rape is largely grown for fattening cattle and sheep, the cows, if allowed into the rape field, are almost sure to give tainted milk. If the farmer is using the milk and cream at home and likes the turnip or rape flavor, all right; but to sell this raw material for manufacturing purposes will spoil the cheese and butter. We cannot be too careful with the autumn foods for dairy cows. Prices are usually good, and we must produce milk of good flavor.

Omemee Man Shot a Duck Tagged From Washington

OMEMEE, Oct. 17.—One of the local sportsmen had the pleasure of shooting a duck last week which had travelled from Washington, D.C.

Evidently it is the custom of the Biological Department to mark their birds before starting them on their flight, as the silver band around the foot bore the inscription, "Biol. Dept.", and upon opening the band it was found to contain the name of the city from whence it flew.

COUNTY ROADS MAY BE GIVEN NUMBERS

Wardens Of All Counties Met In Parliament Buildings Yesterday.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Recommendations for a complete revision of the existing system of designating and assisting provincial, county and township roads, for numbering instead of naming of roads, with the view to facilitating travel, for the adoption of uniform accounting in road matters and for the appointment of provincial assessment referee to equalize the road cost burdens between counties, were placed before the Ontario's highways advisory board by Warden of all Counties, meeting in the Parliament Buildings yesterday.

In their recommendation for redesignatioin of roads of the province the wardens included the suggestion that there be recognized three types of roads instead of four as at present, types to be township road, county road and provincial highway, and that one type of county road, instead of receiving 40 and 60 per cent for the two types as at present, be given 50 per cent or more of govern ment assistance.

The meeting was primarily one of wardens of counties, they being senior municipal representatives. Thirty eight counties or groups of counties were represented.

VINCENT POGUE OVERFED COLT

Three Year Old Horse Died From Overfeed Of Buckwheat.

JUMPED FENCE.

OMEMEE, Oct. 17.—Thomas Douke, of East Emily, has purchased a farm near St. Mary's and is shipping by train his implements to that place.

Vincent Pogue last a valuable three year-old colt last week as a result of an overfeed of buckwheat which he obtained by jumping into the field without the knowledge of the owner.

With the harvesting nearly all finished and the grain in the barn, the farmers are finding no spare time between silo filling, threshing and ploughing. A few fields of buckwheat and flax still remain to be gathered in.

Potatoes and other vegetables are an excellent crop, and many residents of the village have large quantities to dispose of, but have stored them in their cellars hoping there will be a better market for them later on.

Sold Implements

Mr. Reuben Reeds held a sale of farm stock and implements at his home, west of Omemee, on Friday afternoon. Bidding was slow and prices were only fair. The farm was also offered for sale, but no bid was received.

Dancey Bros., also Mr. S. D. Vaughan, the U.F.O. shipper, recently shipped a carload of sheep, the price being 10c and 12c per pound.

Barley exceeds oats in feeding value.

Flax straw is being used for making high-grade paper and floor covering.

There might be an excuse for using an inferior sow if you already have her on the place, but we can not think of one single excuse for ever using an inferior sire.

Johns-Manville Canadian factory now makes it possible to buy Asbestos Roofing at the same price as ordinary roofing!

Re-roof for the last time

Lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right over the old roof

CANADIAN ASBESTOS is now mined, manufactured, and sold in Canada by Johns-Manville. This means the elimination of expensive haulage costs on raw materials. We are passing this saving on to home owners all over Canada. So that you can now get Asbestos Roofing at the same price as ordinary roofing materials. And you know that there is no roofing material with all the advantages of asbestos. It is fire-safe. It is weather-tight. It is permanent. It is the most economical you can buy because it is not only low in price but it seldom, if ever, requires any maintenance expense.

Right over the old roof

Lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right over the old wooden shingles. You save the cost and time of ripping off the old roof. No litter. No dirt. No confusion.

The job is quickly finished and you have a fire-safe housetop, a permanent shelter, and one of the best looking roofs you will find anywhere.

Double roof protection

By leaving the old roof on you actually have a better shelter. The old roof underneath the new becomes a protecting, insulating blanket. This double-thickness roof helps to keep outside temperatures outside.

Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles are made in several artistic shapes, and you have your choice of several soft, rich colorings.

Fire-safe

Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles have all the traditional fire-safety of asbestos. This means that your home is always protected from the danger of flying embers from a nearby fire.

Asbestos for every building

Besides Asbestos Shingles our line include Asbestos Built-Up Roofings for flat roofed buildings; Asbestos Ready Roll Roofings, both slate surfaced and plain, for all types of sloping roofs, industrial buildings, sheds, garages, farm buildings, etc.

* * *

Other Johns-Manville products include: Asbesto-Sponge Felted Insulation for high pressure steam lines in industrial plants, a material which is less liable to breakage, has longer life and higher efficiency than any other insulation: also Asbestos Wood, Corrugated Roofing and Siding, Industrial Flooring, Architectural Acoustics, Asbestos Textiles, Asbestos Brake Lining and other Automotive Equipment, Improved Asbestocel Pipe Covering, Boiler Insulation, Refractory Cements, Packings, Housline, etc.

CHURCHILL WILL HAVE HARD FIGHT

Granville Sharp, Liberal, Refuses To Retire In Churchill's Favor.

LONDON, Oct. 17. Canadian Press —The nucleus of a new party in Great Britian may be provided by eight "ant-Socailst and constitutional" candidates, who are followers of Winston Churchill, all of whom have been accepted by the Conservative associations.

Churchill, who in this election campaign is fighting Epping division of Essex, is none too happy. He is opposed by Liberal and Labor candidates, Granville Sharpe, Liberal, refuses to retire in Churchill's favor, to allow a straight fight with Labor.

So far approximately 350 Liberal candidates are in the running, the drop being explained by the chief Liberl whip that the party is not disposed to waste effort and money on forlorn hopes

The importance of the women's vote in the coming election is indcated by the large increase of number of women electors shown on the new lists.

Cautious London candidate has insured at Lloyd's his 150 pound deposit with the returning officer which if forfeitable if he fails to secure the minimum proportion of one-eighth of the total number of votes polled. Insurance cost him three pounds.

While giving every indication that he is enjoying himself Lloyd George is having some opposition in Carnarvon. Labor is contesting the riding for the first time, the party's nominee being Professor Zimmern, a former professor of International law at Aberystwith University.

It will be a straight fight, the Conservative in the last election having withdrawn, so the former premier will probably secure a substantial share of the Tory vote.

George's recent speeches have been mainly wholesale condemnation of the Russian loan proposals.

He maintains that MacDonald is dominated by the extremists in the party.

SOVIET RECOGNITION.

Recognition Of Soviet Government Not Announced To-day.

PARIS, Oct. 17—Canadian Press —Cabinet did not announce de jure recognition of Soviet government of Russia after to-days' meeting. There is much speculation but Government circles insist that recognition was a foregone conclusion and any delay was due only to some detail of form of step to be taken.

LONDON TURNS TO PET PARROTS NOW

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Parrots are replacing pet Pekingese dogs in the affections of some society people. In Hyde Park recently several women had green parrots with them in their motor cars. Many people have been seen walking with parrots or their shoulders, or with the birds sitting beside them on public seats. West End stores report an increasing demand for parrots as pets.

"Eczema All Over Arms Suffered for 12 Years"

Mrs. Murray Hough, Wiarton, Ont., writes:

"I had eczema for twelve years. Every once in a while it would break out and spread all over my arms. I tried all kinds of treatments to relieve it, but without success. One Spring it broke out and nothing gave me relief, even the salve I got from the doctor did no good. At last I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment and it healed the eczema in a short time. That is over a year ago, and I have had no return of the trouble."

VICENTE IBANEZ ENTERED A PLEA

Declares King Alfonso Must Be Driven From the Throne.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—(United Press). —Vicente Blazco Ibanez, famous Spanish author, announced here today that he would publish millions of copies of his manifesto against King Alphonso of Spain, in which he declared Alphonso must be driven from the Throne to save Spain from tyranny and to which purpose had dedicated his life.

Ibanez said he would distribute his manifesto all over the world at his own expense, and, if necessary, would hire airplanes to scatter them over Spain to escape censorship.

Premier Herriot of France will preside at a dinner at the French library the societies are giving in honor of France.

SMITH'S LETTERS USED AS EVIDENCE

Letters Were Written To J. C. Mason, Manager Of Bank During 1920-21 and 22.

TORONTO, Oct. 17. (Canadian Press).—Several letters written by Clarence F. Smith, Home Director, now on trial on charges of making false statements of the banks' affairs were put in as evidence this morning. These letters were written to J. C. Mason, general manager of the bank during the years 1920-1921 and 1922, in December 1921. Mr. Smith wrote, protesting the bank had asked him to reduce his credit by $50,000. He wrote that he wouldnt' mind it all the directors were put on the same basis and contended that security he had put up large block of Hollinger stock was more liquid than that held by the bank for other loans. He said he would explain at the next board meeting.

Other letters stated that Smith was endeavoring to have C. A. Barnard put up great security for the loans he had made from the bank.

BATTLE CONTINUED.

Shenhaikwan Suffered Considerable Damage To-day.

TIEN TSIN, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Battle of Shenhaikwan continued unceasingly to-day. Shenhaikwan itself suffered considerable damage from bombardment of Manchurian troops seeking to make permanent capture of that key border town. The Central Government soldiers were being massed in an attempt to retake "Shihimenkai" another great wall point.

Mr. Geo. Legge, Editor of the "Granby Leader-Mail" proves it.
"Your Zutoo Tablets deserve to be widely known as a remedy that will stop headache."

A. C. Hanson, B. A., K. C., Colonel of the Hussars, proves it.
"I use Zutoo Tablets and find them a very satisfactory remedy for Headache."

RUM LADEN AUTOS ARE FORFEIT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 18. —If intoxicating liquors are seized in a motor car, that car is liable to confiscation whether the owner occupies it at the time of the seizure or not, the Alabama supreme court has ruled. It matters not whether the owner of the car is aware of the illicit trade in which the vehicle is engaged, if liquor is found in it, the state law enforcement bodies have the right to confiscate the vehicle, and the owner has no recourse under the law.

To Make Rich Red Blood

Revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves and increase your strength and endurance

Take Organic Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Nuxated Iron is partially predigested and ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood, while metallic iron is iron just as it come from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron filings.

Millions of people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results.

Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N.I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

LIBERALS WON'T OPPOSE BALDWIN

It Is Probable That 42 Candidates Will Be Returned By Acclamation.

LONDON, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Premier MacDonald's strenuous election campaign has affected his voice. He was entertained to luncheon to-day at Cardiff but was unable to address the gathering as his voice has practically failed. The Liberals have decided not to oppose former Premier Baldwin in Bewdly, division of Worcestershire, thus giving him unopposed return.

It is probable that at nominations to-morrow, forty-two candidates will be returned by acclamation, 26 Conservatives, eight Liberals and eight Labor candidates.

It is likely there will be 203 straight fights between Labor and Conservative candidates, compared with ninety-nine last year. There will be forty straight fights between Labor and Liberal candidates, compared with fifty-five in 1923, and eighty-four straight fights between Conservatives and Liberals, compared with 106 last time.

GEORGE ELIOT LETTERS DESTROYED

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Hundreds of interesting letters from George Eliot to her neice, Miss Emily Susannah Clarke, of Thanet, have been destroyed as requested in the will of Miss Clarke, who died recently. A relative who burned the letters said that if given to the world they might have formed a remarkable contribution to literature, in addition to furnishing an intimate autobiography of the authoress.

SHIP KARLUK FOUND.

Bodies Of Crew Of Boat Which Sank In 1914 Have Been Recovered.

VLADIVOSTOK, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press.)— The Russian armored cruiser, Red October, which was recently sent to Wrangell Island to claim it for Soviet Russia, is expected to arrive here shortly with the bodies of members of Stefanson's Karluk expedition, which were found on Herald Island, east of Wrangell. The Karluk, an exploration ship, went down in the ice sixty miles north of Herald Island in 1914.

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—The colony that intended to establish a British title to Wrangel Island in the Arctic ocean, north of Siberia, was carried off by the Russian armed transport, 'Red October,' which raised the Russian flag there on August 20, it was learned here to-day.

Wrangell Island colony consisted of one white man and a number of Eskimos left by Harold Noice and his party that went to the rescue of the ill-fated expedition of 1921, commanded by Alan Crawford, of Toronto, but of which only an Eskimo woman remained alive. The colony was a personal venture of Vilhjalmus Stefansson to maintain the British claim to ownership of the island. The claim was never pressed.

TO VISIT FRANCE.

Ex-Premier Caillaux Will Attend Funeral Of Anatole France.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—(United Press). —The Quotidien announces that ex-Premier Caillaux, who was a close friend of Anatole France, has been authorized to come to Paris to attend the funeral.

Caillaux will be permitted to visit Paris for the first time since his exile, although the Senate has not ratified the Amnesty Bill passed by the Chamber of Deputies. His presence in Paris is very significant at the present moment, and his political friends are campaigning strongly for his return to power.

MACDONALD HAS LOST HIS VOICE

Leaders Expect Conservatives To Name 540 Candidates, Labor 515 and Liberals 350.

By Lloyd Allen.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 18. — Fourteen hundred candidates will be placed in nomination by the three political parties to-day, with twelve days of stormy campaigning before the final election. The leaders expect the Conservatives to name 540 candidates, Labor 510 and the Liberals 350. With the House of Commons consisting of less than seven hundred members, now that part of Ireland's representation has been withdrawn, the predictions are that the result of the election will be in an approximate proportion to the nomination. Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Ex-Premiers Stanley Baldwin and H. H. Asquith were to make the principal speeches for their parties to-night, but MacDonald lost his voice last night and may have to take a rest.

There is much talk these days of party war chests and it is apparent that the Conservatives are by far the wealthiest in this respect. The Liberals are poor, while the Labor party is depending largely upon volunteer speakers.

Lloyd George to-day stumped his own constituency in Carnarvon, speaking mainly in Welsh.

MOVIE STAR IN BERLIN.

Jackie Coogan Arrived In Berlin After Tour Of Most of Europe.

BERLIN, Oct. 17—(United Press) Jackie Coogan, child star of movies, after a triumphal tour of most of Europe, arrived here to-day and received scant attention from the German public.

But he was received as royalty at his hotel, where a small army of bell-hops lined up, greeting him with a snappy military salute and scrapping with each other for the honor of carrying his baggage.

HIGHER WAGES IN HAWAII DRAWS NATIVES OF LUZON

MANILA, Oct. 18. — Women have replaced men in many kinds of work in the two Ilocos provinces in northwestern Luzon, according to Director Cruz of the bureau of labor, who has received reports that a large pecentage of the laborers in the fields and in the construction of public works are women. Many of the men are leaving those provinces for Hawaii where higher wages are obtainable in the sugar-cane fields, the prevailing wage for farm labor in the Ilocos provinces being only 20 cents a day.

Director Cruz, however, is not in favor of the bill now before the legislature permitting the importation of foreign laborers because he says there are thousand sf Filipinos without work in various parts of the archipelago.

KEEP MILK ON THE MENU

When the health of our children is the big stake we are playing for, most of us can make quite an effort to better conditions.

As children grow older and have a more varied diet, milk is often crowded out of their meals. This is a great mistake, because it is really the most perfect food for little folks that we know anyhing about.

Your child—every child—deserves the very best chance in life. The best asset you can give them is a strong body and robust health.

We are trying to do our full duty in helping to give each child in this community this kind of chance.

Keep our Pasteurized Milk on the menu every day.

NEWS COBOURG AND DISTRICT

Judgment Reserved in Rice Lake Fur Company Case.

COBOURG, Oct. 18.— Judgement was reserved in the appeal of the Rice Lake Fur Company case, which came up at Osgoode Hall before Chief Justice Mulock and Justices Magee Hodgins, Ferguson and Smith of the Appelate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, on Monday, in which Mr. McAllister appealed against the decision made here in March. At that time judgment was given by Judge Ward in County Court of Northumberland and Durham in favor of the plaintiff company for $5.00 and costs against Mr. McAlliste rfor trespassing and trapping on grounds alleged to be owned by the plaintiff company. The ground was taken by the defence that said grounds were public property, but Judge Ward favored the contention that the Company had established their right to the lands in question and gave judgment accordingly. R. S. Robertson, K.C., Toronto and F. D. Boggs, Cobourg, were counsel for Mr. McAllister and W. F. Kerr, K.C., Cobourg, for the Company.

Trolley—Menifie.

The marriage took place at the Presbyterian Manse here on Wednesday at 10.30 o'clock of Mabel Gladys, fourth daughter of Mr. Stephen B. Menifie, Provincial Highway, West, to Mr. Arthur Roland Trolley, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Trolley, Cobourg. Rev. W. A. Bremner officiated. The wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents after which Mr. and Mrs. Trolley left on the 1.10 train for western points and will spend a part of their honeymoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Malloy at St. Catharines.

Radcliffe—Dart.

At St. Paul Anglican Church, Kingston, Ontario recently, Daisy Lennie Dart, R.N., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dart, was married to Mr. Fred Simpson Radcliffe of Rochester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Radcliffe, late of Port Hope and formerly of Haldimand township. The groom is a grandson of Mrs. William Webster, Grafton. The young couple have been spending a part of their honeymoon at Grafton, before leaving to take up residence in Rochester.

Bisset—McAllister.

On Saturday, Oct. 11th, Rhoda Genevieve, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. McAllister, Port Hope was married to Mr. Wm. Bissett, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Bissett, Toronto. After a visit to Montreal and Quebec the young couple will take up residence in Port Hope. Rev. F. W. Anderson officiated.

Staff Tour of Military District.

The dates set for the annual staff tour of Military District No. 3 at Kingston are Oct. 24 and 25. A number of local officers of the Northumberland Regiment are expecting to go down to the Limestone City for the event. The proceedings there take different forms of military manoeuvres including a miniature war.

The Soldiers' Memorial.

Work started this week in laying the cement foundation for the Cobourg Soldiers' Memorial at Victoria Park. The site selected is where the large round geranium bed had been for several years. An octogon shape foundation is being laid, measuring eleven feet, two inches by eight feet, eight inches. A representative of the McIntosh Granite Co., Toronto, who have built the memorial, from a plan decided upon by the Cobourg Memorial Committee, is here this week in connection with the Cobourg Memorial Committee, is here this week in connection with the work. The memorial is all cut and ready and may be brought to Cobourg next week. In fact it is possible that the work of erection may be completed next week. The design is the cross originally designed by Sir Reginald Bloomfield for the War Graves Commission, and is considered by those who have seen it in Toronto, to be very beautiful.

The unveiling will take place with suitable ceremony on Armistice Day.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE . . . CAN NOW FIND RELIEF

By Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System.

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood is thin and watery, or charged with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Cold, wet weather or sharp winds may start the pains, but the cause is rooted in the blood and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. As a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic sufferers when given a fair trial. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have proved th great value of this medicine is Mrs. Simeon J. Tatton, Indian Head, Sask., who says: "For over two years I was an intense sufferer from rheumatism and until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills no treatment that I took helped me any . The trouble grew so bad that I could not move around the house without help, and finally I had to give up and go to bed. Words cannot tell how much I suffered, and I could not hear to have anyone come near me. Finally one of my neighbours strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. In the course of a few weeks I could feel an improvement, and I was able to get up. I kept on taking the pills until all traces of the trouble were gone, and I could again do my housework, feeling like a new person. Three years have passed since that, and there has never been the slightest return of the trouble, so that I feel safe in saying that the relief brought by this medicine is permanent."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Drl. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

President—Mr. R. Stone, Millbrook.

1st Vice-President — Mr. H. J. Devey, St. Luke's, Peterboro.

2nd Vice-President—Mr. Hope, All Saints', Peterboro.

Secretary — Miss M. B. Turner, B.A., Millbrook.

Publicity Secretary—Miss G. M. Gray, Millbrook.

Treasurer—Miss H. D. Crow, St. John's, Peterboro.

Chaplain—Rev. M. G. B. Williams of Millbrook.

A new office, that of Past President, was created at this meeting, Miss Blanche Graham, of Lakefield, receiving the honor in recognition of the faithful service which she rendered when in office for the two previous year.

Canon Gale, of Calgary, closed the gathering with the benediction. The next meeting will be held in Omemee the first Friday in November.

The officers and members of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' Church, who were hosts for the occasion, entertained their guest with a pleasant social hour at the conclusion of the regular business session, and served refreshments before a very enjoyable gathering was brought to a close.

"Golden Sheaf" Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, held its regular session on Tuesday evening, over one hundred being in attendance, including several car-loads from Lindsay and Peterboro.

The special feature of the evening was the "Lodge of Instruction" which conducted a Model Lodge session at the conclusion of the regular business meeting. The officers filling the various chairs were drawn from the entire district, and included:

Noble Grand—Sister B. Matt, Peterboro, Past President of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario.

Vice Grand—Sister Z. Bentley, Millbrook, Past District Deputy President.

R.S.N.G.—Sister M. Baldwin, of Lindsay, District Deputy President.

L.S.N.G.—Sister B. Hamilton, of Millbrook, Past District Deputy President.

R.S.V.G. — Sister M. Fallis, P.N.G., Millbrook.

L.S.N.G. — Sister Sexsmith, P.N.G., Havelock.

Warden—Sister Williams P.N.G., Lindsay.

Conductor — Sister M. Bradley, J.P.G., Millbrook.

Chaplain—Sister Crumb, P.N.G., Lindsay.

Recording Secretary—Sister Davidson, P.N.G., Peterboro.

Financial Secretary—Sister West, P.N.G., Beaverton.

Treasurer—Sister Reid, P.N.G., Peterboro.

Inside Guard — Sister Barlow, P.N.G., Havelock.

Outside Guard—Sister Morrison, P.N.G., Peterboro.

Pianist—Sister Thomas, P.N.G., Lindsay.

Brief addresses were made by several of the visiting and local members, when the interesting and instructive special session was concluded, and vocal solos by Brothers Baldwin and Bryson, of Lindsay, added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

The banquet served in the appropriately decorated dining-hall was most satisfying, and gave opportunity for an hour or more of pleasant social intercourse before the guests of the evening left for their respective homes.

Mrs. Russell Howe and daughter, Peggy, of Toronto, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nattrass. Mr. Howe is on his usual fall trip in the northern part of the province, and will be away for some weeks.

Mrs. Murray, of Lindsay, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Nattrass.

Messrs. C. Thorndyke, A. A. Smith, G. E. Burnham and Dr. A. Jemison motored to Peterboro on Tuesday and attended the meeting of the Masonic Past Masters' Association that evening.

Mrs. White, of New York, is visiting her sister-in-law, Miss Margaret White, and Mrs. G. Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Cameron, of Ottawa, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Clarry, coming here to attend the funeral of their nephew, the late Trevor Clarry, which took place on Tuesday of this week.

A public meeting in the interests of temperance will be held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Monday, October 20th, at 8 p.m., to be addressed by Messrs. Joseph Wearing, Peterboro, and C. E. Weeks, Lindsay. Ladies are specially invited. No admission charge.

The Women's Institute raised over fifty dollars with their tags on Fair Day, the proceeds going towards the fund to provide a public restroom for the village. Some generous donations were made and the majority of those approached contributed willingly because of sympathy for the worthy project which the Institute has under way.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McGill have moved into their new home recently purchased from Mr. C. Cullum who, with his family, has gone to Rochester to reside. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles and family are moving into the apartments in the Waverley building vacated by Mr. McGill.

EAST EMILY NEWS.

Annual Fowl Supper in Bethel Methodist Church.

EAST EMILY, Oct. 18.—The annual fowl supper held in the basement of Bethel Methodist church on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid turned out a huge success.

The tables were laden down with chicken, salads, jellies, cakes and pies. The basement was artisically decorated in green and old rose.

The programme consisted of an orchestra from Peterboro which furnished very appropriate music for the cocasion and other solos, readings and recitations were given nicely.

The proceeds amounted to nearly $200.

ALL-NIGHT FLYING LINE.

BERLIN, October 18 (United Press). — Germany, pushing aviation development insofar as that is permitted by the Versailles Treaty, has now opened a night line running from Berlin over Stettin to Copenhagen.

The first trips prove that this night route is feasible. The Dornier all-metal plane is being used.

Incidentally American officers who have been in Germany intend to recommend to the United States Government the purchase of such planes as being the safest machines now in existence.

Thanks Gin Pills for excellent health

An ex-alderman of the city of Hamilton tells an interesting story.

"I have been unable to rest at night with pains around my kidneys and through the small of my back, at times so bad that I was unable to rise from bed without assistance. The trouble so affected my kidneys that urination was at times difficult, and at other times so frequent as to cause me great inconvenience. I started on a course of Gin Pills and before I had taken half a box I felt relief. Before I had completed the second box the pains had left my back and I felt quite restored and well again. I attribute my present excellent health entirely to Gin Pills."—J. S. Lillis, Hamilton, Ont.

This letter surely offers conclusive proof of the efficacy of Gin Pills.

Gin Pills never fail to bring relief to sufferers from weakened, disordered kidneys. If you have any symptom of kidney trouble—if you are bothered by headaches, pain in the back, bladder weakness, or rheumatism, do not delay. Order Gin Pills to-day and say goodbye to suffering.

ILLINOIS ELECTS THE FIRST WOMAN

First Woman To Sit in the State of Illinois Senate.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 18 (United Press).—With the nomination practically equivalent to election, Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, Republican candidate for state sentaor from the 26th senatorial district, will be the first woman to enter the upper house of the Illinois legislature.

She will succeed Senator Frank Hanson, who was a candidate for re-election but who was defeated by Mrs. Bohrer in the primaries.

Mrs. Bohrer steps into the political arena naturally. She campaigned for her distinguished father, Joseph W. Fifer, when he was a candidate for governor and although a young girl at the time, she worked faithfully to place him in the gubernatorial office.

Governor Fife has long since retired from public life and is now the oldest ex-governor of Illinois, reaching the age of 82 on October 28, but is still active. When his daughter became a candidate for senator, ex-governor Fifer campaigned in her behalf, paying the debt he incurred when he aspired to the governorship.

Mrs. Bohrer is an effective public speaker, has been prominent in the woman's club and various welfare organizations and is a leader in society and civic affairs of all kinds. Her husband, Jacob Bohrer, was former postmaster and is prominent as a lawyer. The couple have two children in college.

Mrs. Bohrer owes her selection to the unanimity with which the women voters rallied to her support, and her candidacy brought out a very large vote among that sex. It is expected that Mrs. Bohrer will be the champion of legislation favored by the women's organizations of Illinois and, it is predicted, she will exert a powerful influence in procuring the adoption of the measures she advocates.

ZR-3 IS $2,200,000 GERMAN REPARATION CREDIT TO U.S.

Represents America's Share for Destruction of Six Teuton Zeppelins.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. — Approximately $2,200,000 will be credited as a German reparation payment to the United States when the ZR-3 formally is accepted by this government.

The air cruiser represents the American share of a special reparation against Germany, because of the destruction after the armistice in the Friedrichsrafen plant of 6 complete or partially complete war Zeppelins Germany had agreed to turn over to her late enemies.

Upon inquiry by the United States the Council of Ambassadors in Paris in 1921 agreed to permit Germany to replace one ship as the portion of the United States on condition it never should be used for military purposes.

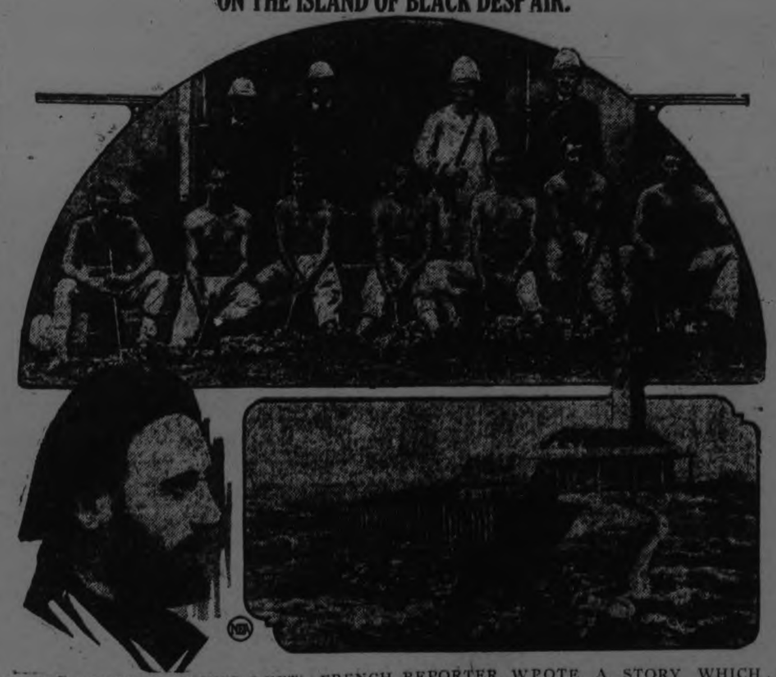
REPORTER'S STORY TO CLOSE THE WORLD'S WORST PRISON

ON THE ISLAND OF BLACK DESPAIR.



ALBERT LONDRES (LOWER LEFT), FRENCH REPORTER, WROTE A STORY WHICH IS LIKELY TO CLOSE THE FRENCH PENAL COLONY ON DEVIL'S ISLAND, SOUTH AMERICA. THE PRISONERS (ABOVE) ARE ALWAYS HEAVILY GUARDED. CAPT. DREYFUS WAS IMPRISONED ON THE ISLAND IN THE LITTLE HOUSE IN THE STOCKADE SHOWN IN THE LOWER RIGHT PICTURE.

(By Milton Bronner.)

PARIS, October 15. — Devil's Island is to be worthy of its name no more.

St. Joseph's Island is to cease to be a hell on earth.

The forest road from Cayenne in French Guiana into the interior is no longer to be the route of lost souls and tortured bodies.

The French colonial penal settlements in South America are to be wiped out by Premier Herriot and his Cabinet.

But this reform is not due to the speeches and campaigns of humanitarians and reformers. It is not due to statesmen. It is the work of an ordinary, hard-working French newspaper reporter—Albert Londres.

Visits Prison.

The French public had heard about the penal settlements and prisons in Guiana at the time of the Dreyfus affair when the French army captain was brought back from his cell on Devil's Island. But many people thought much of this was exaggerated — the exaggeration to be expected in any campaign. And then Guiana was forgotten again by all except those French families whose sons were deported there.

Londres gave himself the assignment to go to Guiana and see things for himself. What he saw and heard exceeded in terror and horror the picture Dante drew of Hades.

In 50 years nearly 50,000 prisoners have been sent to Guiana. Thousands have died there.

"Liberty" Is Not Liberty.

The ordinary French juror doesn't know what he is doing when he decrees for a convicted man imprisonment of from five to seven years. Such sentence means Guiana. And when the man has finished his punishment, it begins all over again, because he is compelled to remain in Guiana for a period equal to his prison term.

If his sentence has been for over seven years the prisoner is compelled to remain there for ever.

Theoretically the liberated prisoner is to become a colonist. Actually he is a hopeless outcast.

Now he almost starves. In prison, at least, he got some food.

Now he is almost naked. In prison he, at least, got some rags with which to clothe himself.

Now he sleeps on the sidewalks. In prison, he, at least, had a cell.

Londres saw convict after convict who had tattooed on his body sentences expressing utter despair. One had across his chest:

"The Past betrayed me.
"The Present torments me.
"The Future frightens me."

He visited the heart of the forest where presumably the convicts are building a road through a jungle and swamps where it rains almost all the year round. This road was started 50 years ago. Fifteen miles have been built!

The convicts come back from work on the road shaking and shivering with chills and fever, eaten by swarms of mosquitoes and other swamp insects. Quinine is a treat for which they beg. Londres summed up the verdict of decent men thus:

"The Dry Guillotine."

"Forced labour from criminals? Yes.
"But forced disease for them? No!"

Then he tells about the three small rocky islands off the coast of Guiana, mockingly named "Iles du Salut," These islands are St. Joseph's, Royal and Devil's. The convicts call them the "dry guillotine."

They are the ultimate punishment for the incorrigibles. Here men are caged like wild beasts, without the comforts given even to wild beasts. They spend 20 days in utter darkness, then 10 days in semi-darkness; then 20 darkness, and so on.

The prisoners can't stand the full light. It would blind them. They are alone with a plank to sleep on, fettered at night—and silence.

There are men who have had as high as 2,000 days of this.

All his experiences were gathered up in a book "Au Bagne," which has sold by thousands.

Herriot read it and was shocked. He has decreed the end of it. But even now there are politicians who say Parliament must act first and who favour the retention of this prison system.

But Herriot is confident he has the power to do away with this disgraceful settlement. No more prisoners will be sent to Guiana. They will be kept in prisons at home.

The only problem is what to do with the men already in Guiana. There are 4,500 convicts in prison there and 2,500 "liberated" ones, but still in exile. To bring them back to France would cost a big sum of money. The most favoured proposal is to mitigate the sufferings of those now there, but to keep them there.

By and by, when they die out, the prison settlement will itself die out, never to be renewed.

WHY THE LEAVES FALL

Why do leaves fall? Why do the maples turn to gold and scarlet? How can evergreens keep their leaves?"

The trees must prepare for winter just as people do. But how often do we realize the trees have been preparing since last summer? Leaves are the lungs of the trees, and through the leaves transpiration goes on, a process similar to perspiration in animals. In the winter the roots cannot gather as much moisture as in summer, according to the American Nature association of Washington. As the tree can ill afford any great loss through evaporation in the leaves it discards them, carrying on respiration through the bark alone. But the lessening of moisture in the soil is not the only factor. We often feel sorry for the snow-laden branches of the graceful birches and for the evergreen boughs weighted down by a load too great for their strength. If the leaves remained on the maples and elms about us, some snowy morning we would find the branches torn by the additional weight of the snow and ice adhering to the broad leaves.

"Trees do not cast away their leaves thoughtlessly, however, for they cannot well lose the living substance in each leaf," says Nature Magazine. "In early autumn this substance is slowly withdrawn into the branches and tree proper. A separation layer of tissue at the base of the leaf-sualk gradually forms, and as the time approaches when the leaf must fall this tissue becomes more and more of a mucilaginous nature. The leaf is then held only by the outer skin and woody strands which connect the wood of the twig to the veins of the leaf. Only the framework is left and the colors caused by the disintegration of the green chlorophyll. The leaf is now ready for some outside agency to step in and complete the task.

"A warm sunny day in October brings with it a literal shower of dancing, swirling leaves. A frosty morning quickly leaves a tree devoid of foliage, while during the days between scarcely a leaf detaches itself. On a warm fall day the dry air shrivels the leaf and shrinks the base, causing it to rupture and fall. The elms and the birches seem to divest themselves almost entirely on one of these days. Then some morning, when the forst has blanketed the grass in white, the leaves of the sugar maples and poplars fall steadily to the ground. Ice crystals had formed in the stick separation layer, and, when the warmth of the sun thawed and expanded them, the woody tissue was torn and the leaf pushed free. Again a wet, humid day may dissolve the tissues so that the first gust of wind sends it whirling earthward.

"Some trees, such as the oaks and the beeches, retain a great many of their leaves all winter and only discard them entirely in spring. The separation layer seems to be mature enough and needs the added soaking mature in late fall, but it may well be that the layer is not quite thick enough and needs the added soaking and decay of winter to complete the process, so that March winds and April rains may carry away the last of the withered leaves.

"The reds and golds and purples of autumn leaves are not brought about by Jack Frost as it is commonly supposed, although frost sometimes does kill the leaf so that it will fall before its time, thus depriving the tree of nourishment and weakening it. Autum coloring itself is entirely independent of the action of frost and may occur even in midsummer. As the nourishment of the leaf is withdrawn into the tree, various pigments and other products of decomposition, which have until now been hidden by the green chlorophyll, show themselves. Iron and minerals which the sap has collected from the soil help contribute to the pageant of autumn colors.

"Why are some autumns more glorious than others and why is the coloring less brilliant on our Pacific coast than in eastern Canada and the northwestern states? Why are our native trees more subdued in hue when grown in the more humid climate of Europe? Moisture is the color gauge. A long, dry autumn produces the finest color carnival, and a long, dry autumn in generally characteristic of our northeastern states. Long, cold rains wash the color and wilt the leaves, while a sharp freeze before the leaves expect it may catch them unawares and kill them before they have had a chance to display their beauaies.

PETERBORO COUNTY PLOWING CONTESTS

Annual Match on W. H. Allen's Farm, Douro, Oct. 22.

Preparations are well advanced to assure the annual plowing match and tractor demonstration of the County of Peterborough branch of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, being of greater attraction and interest this year than ever before. There are 10 class events for contest, including two tractor numbers, and in each case generous donations from firms and business men have enabled the association to offer prizes of cash and goods really worth while.

Meals will be served for 25 by the ladies of Douro; lunch will be served to plowmen free, and ladies who attend are assured of a pleasant time.

The event is to be held on the farm of Mr. W. H. Allen, adjoining the Village of Douro in Douro Township, on Wednesday, Oct. 22, commencing at 9 a.m. Entries must be made with Mr. Joseph J. Duffus, secretary, not later than 8.30 the day of the match. Plowmen must be on the ground by 8 o'clock.

20% MORE POWER—50% LESS UPKEEP—NO VALVE GRINDING—NO CARBON CLEANING

1,2,3,4,5 Years— Still a Young Car

THINK of the pleasure of owning a car whose engine literally is even quieter and smoother at 15,000 miles than when new!

While the majority of automobile owners keep changing from one car to another, Willys-Knight owners keep right on with their Willys-Knight.

The Knight-type engine is the only engine in the world that actually improves with use. Simply because it has silent sliding sleeve-valves instead of pounding, noisy tappets.

The Willys-Knight has the most powerful engine of its size ever built—and the quietest.

Here is a car with all the thrill of 42 horsepower—a car you can drive hour after hour—without overheating—without loss of power—without engine trouble—without carbon cleaning—without ever needing valve grinding.

It is common for Willys-Knight owners to report 50,000 miles and more without spending a cent for repairs on the engine. Think of the economy and satisfaction of that!

If you want a car of beauty and distinction—a car whose power is smooth as silk—a car that makes driving an everlasting pleasure—turn to the Knight!

AUTO SENSE — THE DIMMING QUESTION — By WILLIAMSON

Driving against glaring headlights is an art, but even an artist will have to keep his windshield free from moisture and dust if he wants to live long and die happy. Perhaps you have ridden behind drivers who never slackened their pace when pasing a car with blinding lights. It may be recklessness, but the chances are that they have mastered the art.

That art can be mastered if you [illegible] look at the road just over your right fender instead of the usual distance ahead. Before the car gets too close to you, estimate the width of the road and the distance you will have to travel before passing the other car. Then get over on your side of the road and stay there until you pass.

If you can not master this, then get a transparent eyeshade and use it as Doc directs. This is more satisfactory than a piece of celluloid attached to the windshield as the latter is likely to get in the line of your vision and cause an accident. Do not try to look through shade. Dock your head just enough to get the celluloid between the lights and your eyes, bat peep out from under it at the road.

The majority of states are seeking legislation which will kill the glare of headlights. The most of them make it compulsory to dim when meeting another car. If you have any influence with your legislators, you can be of service to the motorist and help increase the safety of the road by working for an adjustment law to replace the dimming regulation. Lights thrown down onto the road will not blind you, but if you are forced to dim your lights suddenly and get over near the edge of the road you may go into the ditch. Did you ever go into a movie from a sunny street and have to grope around to find a seat? The effect is the same when you are forced to dim. Think it over.

CONCERT AT THE CONSERVATORY

(By Jeannette).

Although the attendance last evening in the hall of the Conservatory of Music, for the concert given under the auspices of the orchestra of Trinity Methodist Church, assisted by Miss Pearl Newton, elocutionist, of Toronto, was not all that could be desired, the programme rendered was just as fine as if the performers had been greeted with a capacity audience, and applause was generous for the entertainment provided. Miss Newton proved herself to be an artist of high standard, excelling in her dramatic interpretations of various types of readings, and possessor of rare powers of mimicry. The orchestra, under Professor Gliddon's direction, played beautifully. Their selections were marked with that quality of free, bright rendition that Mr. Gliddon is able to impart to his musicians, and every number was heartily applauded. Encores also greeted Miss Newton's numbers, in every case.

The chairman of the evening was Mr. A. B. Gates, superintendent of Trinity Sunday School.

The programme opened with two orchestral numbers: the march, "Semper Fidelis," and the graceful strains of the always popular "Lustspiel" Overture. Other selections by the orchestra which interspersed the elocutionary programme were selections from Robin Hood, gay and rollicking, the haunting music of the lovely "In a Monastery Garden," and the descriptive fantasies of the humorous novelty, "In a Clock Shop." This last number eminently suited to the temperament of the young players in the orchestra, was very entertaining. The picked, staccato strings simulate the ticktock of the clocks, backed by the chime of the cymbals and varied by a whistling interlude by the male members of the orchestra. The final and closing selection was an orchestral rendition of the march, "Corcoran Cadets." Mrs. G. E. Porter acted as accompanist for the orchestra.

Miss Newton's programme of readings was varied and interesting from start to finish. "From Artisan to Artist," her opening selection, was the romance in verse of a pair of Walloon lovers, and its encore was the jaunty little "Text That Fitted the Case."

"The Proposals of Bridget O'Brien" was the account, in Irish dialect, of the amorous adventures of a jolly Celtic lady with a brogue, and was an excellent bit of mimicry. "As His Mother Used to Do," was its encore. Miss Newton gave, in aged accents, the recital of "Grandfather's Memory," her facial expressions contributing much to her work, also "The Doubts of a Doubter," which culminated in an imitation of a crying baby. Possibly her best piece of dramatic interpretation was "A Four to Six Reception in Bethany Village," as told by the village gossip, recounting the trials of a lady who foisted a "To Hum" from four to six, on a peaceful community. Six-year-old Mary's views on "Husbands" was a final encore to a programme of readings which were mainly of the humorous variety.

Two interludes in the programme which were much enjoyed by the audience were the musical selections by Miss Winifred Evans and Mr. Harry Wagner. Miss Evans, a youthful member of the orchestra, and a violinist of promise, played from memory, with clear, limpid tone and facile bow, two pretty numbers, "Martini Andantino," an arrangement by Fritz Kreisler, and a "Gigue," by Corelli. Miss Olga Fowler played Miss Evans' accompaniments.

Mr. Harry Wagner, a member of the staff of the Conservatory of Music, played an arrangement of various airs on the Hawaiian guitar, in a manner that brought him renewed applause. The effectiveness of this type of haunting music and the skill possessed by Mr. Wagner were demonstrated to the full in the selections, which ranged from an intriguing rendition of "What'll I Do?" that changed presently to the familiar sweetness of "Silver Threads Amongst the Gold," and ended with the unforgettable "Aloha Oe," from "The Bird of Paradise."

NOTED SPEAKER COMING.

I. R. Hanna Will Address the Chamber of Commerce.

Arrangements have just been concluded by the Chamber of Commerce to have Mr. I. R. A DOMESTIC TANGLE.

Claims Property Sold By Father-in-law and He Received Portion of Value.

Last night before the Honourable Mr. Justice Masten, in the Toronto Assizes Court, there was concluded a bitter, all day's fight between G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., of Peterboro, acting for Christopher Eaton and his wife, who formerly came from Peterboro, and Mr. Peter White, K.C., acting for the plaintiff, David Crawford.

Mr. Justice Masten, giving judgment dismissing Crawford's claim of $40,000 damages for conspiracy, complimented the lawyers in the case for their very thorough and careful conduct of their clients' interests.

The involved story of the troubles of a trusting husband, his wife, her relations and her former husband was unfolded before Mr. Justice Master, when David Crawford brought a charge of conspiracy against his wife, Violet, her parents, Christopher and Rowena Eaton, and her former husband, Alex. Thompson, declaring that they had induced him to deed all his property to his wife.

Crawford testified that he had first met his wife in Buffalo in 1918. At that time she was a divorcee, but her decree had not become absolute. The two returned to Toronto and married, after the decree came into force. Crawford says he presented his wife with a $46,000 house on Hallam Street, for the use of her parents. The newly-wedded couple themselves bought a $25,000 farm in Scarboro Township.

In January of 1922 Crawford further testified he received a writ from Alex. Thompson, former husband of his wife, claiming $25,000 for alleged alienation of affection. At the suggestion of his father-in-law Crawford transferred all his property to his wife, in return for one dollar.

Eight days later Crawford, returning home unexpectedly after a short absence, says he found his wife, her relatives and friends loading the furniture of the house into a moving van. In an ensuing scuffle Crawford was knocked unconscious by a poker, he states. Recovering, he found himself in an empty house.

Three weeks later he found his wife living with a sister on Prospect Street. Her father paid him the sum of $2,010 and the couple agreed to go to Winnipeg in an attempt at reconciliation. Shortly afterward, Crawford states, he learned that his father-in-law had sold the farm and stock, from the proceeds of which Crawford received only $8,400.

PLEAS AVAIL TO RELEASE YOUTHS

Four Boys Charged With Housebreaking Get Suspended Sentence.

The four young men who pleaded guilty to housebreaking and theft on five charges, were to-day released by Magistrate O. A. Langley on suspended sentence. The boys must put up bonds of $1,000 each, make restitution and report periodically to the Chief of Police. They are being taken under the wings of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. His Worship was accompanied on the bench by Harry Rush, J.P., J. F. Strickland, J. A. O'Brien and V. J. McElderry argued ably on behalf of the youths, and Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, Rev. J. W. Gordon and others were present. A petition fifteen feet long pleaded for leniency.

In allowing the prisoners to go Magistrate Langley remarked upon the unusual step he took in shouldering the responsibility for their future good behaviour. He did not want this case to be considered a precedent. "It doesn't matter in future cases if the court is stormed by all the lawyers in town and the petition is fifty feet long, this leniency will not be extended again," he declared.

Mr. Rush said the boys should feel grateful to their counsel for the manner in which their case was presented and remarked that by his decision the honor of the magistrate is at stage. "If you do not behave you cast discredit on his judgment."

Temperature and rainfall records in the United States have been kept for more than 100 years in only a few localities.

GLASGOW MAN LIKES CANADA

T. J. Irwin Sees Prosperity Steadily Advancing In Dominion.

CANADIAN CATTLE.

T. J. Irwin, of Glasgow, Scotland, a prominent meat merchant and live stock dealer, is in the city to-day in company with H. P. Kennedy, who is spending the week-end here.

Mr. Irwin is associated with Mr. Kennedy in the marketing of Canadian cattle in the Old Country, and has already handled 26,000 head for the H. P. Kennedy Company, Ltd.

Mr. Irwin is in Canada on one of his periodical business trips, which includes Western Canada.

Speaking of conditions in Canada at the present time, Mr. Irwin is inclined to think they are improving. He has been coming to Canada for over twenty years, and states that the development in Canada has been greater in the last three years than for many years previously.

"I like Canada and things Canadian," said Mr. Irwin.

The parents of Mr. Irwin are buried on the Prairie, having come to this country many years ago with the rest of the family. Mr. Irwin elected to remain at home, and since that time has built up a very successful business and become a factor in the public life of Glasgow.

DUSTLESS SWEEPER APPROVED BY CITY

Merchants Praise Action Of Council That Preserves Their Stocks.

Merchants on the main thoroughfares of the city seem united in praise of the efficiency of the Dustless Sweeper recently purchased by the city, and some are enthusiastic in commending the action of the Council in acquiring the clean, and in the end cheaper method of street cleaning.

Among those who expressed satisfaction were E. F. Mason, grocer, of George street; Roland Denne, seed and flour merchant, George street; and Joseph Maher, tailor of Charlotte street.

So pleased is Mr. E. F. Mason with the performance of the Dustless Sweeper that he has written to the company congratulating them upon the success of their machine from the merchants' standpoint. The residue of dust left by the small brushes of the sweepers is no longer seen on the street, he said. No matter how willing the men were or how hard they worked, their brooms were not equal to picking up every particle of dust. To-day, the finest dust that used to cause the merchants most bother is carried away in the Dustless Sweeper, and cannot rise in clouds to invade the stores and settle on merchandise and food. This has improved the conditions under which food stuffs especially are sold, patrons of the stores appreciating the cleanliness which was impossible under the out of date hand sweeping methods.

Another point emphasized by Mr. Mason is the comfort experienced by pedestrians on the street through not having to walk through clouds of dust. The advantages of the Dustless Sweeper are perfectly obvious to anyone; the streets being as clean and glossy as many of the store floors. In fact the roads are cleaner than the sidewalks, and merchants would be advised, Mr. Mason thinks to sweep the sidewalks in front of their stores at night so that the rubbish might be picked up by the sweeper on its early morning rounds.

Civic Improvement

Mr. Maher pointed out that where as the whirlwinds used to carry dust around corners into his cellar where it sprea ddeeply over the floor, under the present arrangement there is no dust to blow. He remarked too on the improved appearance of the streets.

The company making the machines had asked no assistance from the city, Mr. Maher said, and all connected with its management are straight hard working men, who have perfected an ideal. The city should be proud of the achievement after three months experience and practical demonstration of the efficiency of the machine.

Mr. Denne said dust is not blown over his produce in the way it formerly was, because there is now no dust to blow.

BRAMPTON PLOWMEN

J. J. Duffus Is Named As Prize Plowman Advancing the Art.

The Brampton, Ontario, Conservator, of the issue of the 16th instant, carries a lengthy account, illustrated by cuts, of the International Ploughing Match held at Brampton on Wednesday of this week. On the front page, with other officials, appears a cut of J. J. Duffus, second vice-president of the Association, with the paragraph:

"Mr. Duffus comes from Peterborough and is himself a prize ploughman. He is at present engaged as a manufacturer's agent. He votes Liberal, but as in ploughing there is no politics, he comes to the great match in Brampton with an outstanding desire to make the match of 1924 the best one of all."

PRINCE PLAYS GOLF.

Royal Ottawa Golf Club Honored By Prince Running Off Game.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Prince of Wales played 18 holes of golf yesterday at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club and danced last night at the Government House Ball which was attended by 450 of the younger set of Ottawa. After a closely contested struggle at golf the Governor General was winner by two up.' He was too strong for me", was the Princes' sportsmanlike appraisal of his opponent after the match. Both the prince and the Governor General played excellent golf.

The dance at Rideau Hall was perhaps the most brilliant ever held in the history of the famous old residence of Canada's Governor generals.

Peterborough Automobile Man Changes Policy

Mr. J. P. Pulkinghorn, popular local automobile dealer, has adopted a new business policy.

Until recently Mr. Pulkinghorn was sales representative for Willys-Knight and other automobiles. Owing to the steadily increasing popularity of Willys-Knight motor cars, however, he has decided to concentrate his entire sales effort on this high-grade line of cars.

The Knight-type engine is the only engine in the world that actually improves with use. Simply because it has silent sliding sleeve-valves instead of pounding, noisy tappets.

The Willys-Knight has the most powerful engine of its size ever built—and the quietest.

It is common for Willys-Knight owners to report 50,000 miles and more without spending a cent for repairs on the engine.

CHRISTMAS EGGS MAY BE 70 CENTS

This Morning's Market Price Was 45—Unusual Saturday Crowd.

Despite the inclement weather of this morning, the farmers' market was thronged with merchandise and with buyers. At a late hour, the carts were still packed with surplus stocks, and the basket section had its overplus also of fowl and dairy produce.

Prices here, however, were not any lower than usual. Housewives may be faced with a 70 or 80 cent touch when they wish to purchase eggs for Christmas baking, as prices this morning ranged from 45 to 50 cents a dozen.

Butter was generally priced at 40 cents a pound. Others were 23 and asking 37 and 38 cents.

Chickens, dry-plucked, were 30 cent sa pound. Others were 23 and 25 cents, and hens were 20 cents. Ducks were 30 cents a pound. Cream was 25 cents a pint.

Downstairs, pork made its initial appearance in a moribund condition this morning. The sprightly little The fish man had good supply on crates under the summer sun during Saturday market hours for weeks past have given way to senior members of their families, cut up nicely for the table and selling at 16 and 18 cents a pound, in front and hind sections.

The fish ma had a good supply on hand this morning, including a nice-looking lot of little fresh Georgian Bay herrings, at 10 cents a pound.

Rumours of an impending advance in the price of potatoes have not yet materialised : Per bag on the open market this morning they were priced at 90 cents, with slight reduction for the purchase of more than one bag.

Tomatoes were 35 cents a basket, cauliflowers, of which there were many of good quality, were 10, 15, and 20 cents, carrots and beets were 40 cents a peck, while one dealer had carrots at 20 cents a peck. Brussels sprouts were selling at 2 quarts for a quarter. Big white onions were three bunches for 10 cents.

Green tomatoes were 25 cents a basket.

Honey was selling various prices. In the basket section one could buy it in amber and buckwheat mixed quality at $1.15 for a 10-pound pail. Light amber in the open section was 16 cents a pound at one cart. The "Beekist" brand was 95, 85, and 70 cents in 5-pound pails of clover, basswood, and mixed.

The regular vendor of melons from Baltimore, near Cobourg, had his supply pretty well depleted. Sugar melons were $2.50 per selected crate, and $2.00 for the run. Watermelons were priced from 10 to 25 cents, the samples showing the little diamond-shaped cut that reveals a view of the interior to the inquiring eye. Another dealer had little watermelons at three and four for a quarter.

Red raspberries, late growth of the canes, that have a second fruitage within the year, were 30 cents a box. Green Pears were 60 cents a peck.

Apples were plentiful and good-looking. St. Lawrence were 60 cents a peck Snows 35 cents, Baxters 30 cents, and Alexanders 25 cents.

Grapes from the Niagara District, piled high on a motor truck that held 650 baskets at the outset of its journey, were 40 cents a basket for blue and green sweet varieties. The vendors had disposed of 200 of their baskets at Roseneath Fair yesterday and had made a sizeable hole in the stack during this morning's operations on the market. At other sections, prices on grapes ranged from 40 to 50 cents a basket.

Hardwood on the open market, cut in stove lengths, was $9.00 and $10.00 a load.

In the downstair entry, hawkers of celery and watercress had a rival in a new hand at the game, a vendor of tooth-paste at a dime a box.

Upstairs, there were flowers on sale. Fine red and yellow dahlias were 40 cents a large bunch, asters and marigolds 30 cents.

Children were selling the rustling everlastings at 25 cents bunch, part of their bouquets consisting of ingeniously flattened-out pods of the milk-weed. Several bright-faced children had a sale of "mother's" cooking.

ST. JAMES' MISSION.

An Ever Increasing Interest Shown In Special Mission.

A well-sustained and ever-increasing interest has marked the progress of the special mission being held in St. James' Methodist Church, and there are ingreasing numbers in attendance.

On Thursday evening, Rev. Mr. Brown spoke on "Gambling," illustrating its terrible evils from incidents in his own experience. Last evening, he spoke on "Abundant Pardon," the pardon which not only forgives, but also heals. Mr. Tom Best of the Y.M.C.A., a personal friend and former co-worker of Mr. Brown's, was present, nad spoke briefly. Miss McAlpine sang with appealing effect, "The Valley of Peace," and "Only a Veil."

Harry A. Franck, the indefatigable vagabond, now readventures into the Orient. His book, "Glimpses of Japan and Formosa" (Century), finds the Japanese far from clever and cunning; steeped in traditional habits and many centuries behind America and Europe. His Formosan scenes are particularly interesting.

HOW ONTARIO BECAME DRY

Although Ontario has been wet ever since the year of Confederation and before, until 1916, when the O.T.A. came into force (and even since then, according to some critics), the five previous occasions upon which its citizens have voted have shown they are in favor of a dry regime.

Governments of all political color appeared to fear taking the responsibility upon their own shoulders for devising liquor laws ever since this blessed Dominion came into being; for ever since 1894 they have been appealing to the electorate, amidst endless argument as to the validity of the votes, for their expressions upon the subject. The first two of these referenda were under Federal auspices. By this time a long standing argument as to whether or not prohibition was a Federal or provincial matter had been fairly well established in favor of provincial jurisdiction, so that the latter three votes have been under provincial auspices.

The Votes in Short

"Dry" majorities in a "wet" province are shown at a glance as follows:

Date of vote.	Dry majority.
1894	81,769
1898	39,214
1902	96,201
1919	423,08
1921	166,874

These majorities indicate, making allowance in general for the advances in population, that there has been a certain fluctuation in the intensity of "dry" sentiment. They indicate sharp up and down variations in the scale of aridity, and, as a whole, may be taken, therefore, as valueless in indicating the trend of thought, as conditions at the time of the vote, political and otherwise, probably affected the decision in each case. But the basic stability of prohibition sentiment is undoubted, for the questions specifically voted upon went all the way from straight prohibition to Government control, and back again with variations. Had there, up to 1921, been any possibility of getting a wet vote, the variety of questions certainly provided means of getting it. And so the "wets" had to be content with the "moral victory" of cutting majorities —when they were able.

The First Appeal

When Confederation emerged in 1867, the Dunkin Act was in force, and provided for a system of local option. After Confederation this measure was superseded by the Scott Act, which, under Federal auspices, provided for local option votes in municipalities. There was a dispute as to whether under the B.N.A. the legislative features of prohibition were of Federal or provincial jurisdiction, and the issue was referred to the Privy Council, and while there the first vote was taken. This vote, in 1894, under the Scott Act's Local Option system, resulted in Ontario as follows:

For	192,4899
Against	110,720
Dry majority	81,769

Shortly afterwards, the Privy Council decision reached these beer-washed shores, and allocated the spheres of jurisdiction as between Federal and provincial parliaments as we have it to-day, and, although the Provincial Government tightened up the license system and made local liquor laws more stringent, no prohibitory legislation was offered.

The Second Appeal

It was on September 29th, 1898, therefore, that the first plebiscite in Ontario was held under the approximate powers now held by the local legislature to deal with the matter of temperance. This plebiscite was nation wide, under the august but empty promises of Laurier. Ontario again voted dry, the single question asked having suggested that if followed by competent legislation there wouldn't have been enough liquor to be found in the province to revive a fainting flea. The question was:

"Are you in favor of passing an act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirits, wine, ale, cider and all other alcoholic liquors for use as a beverage?"

To that highly inclusive question the electors of the day answered "Yes" to the tune of over 39,000, the figures being:

Dry	154,498
Wet	115,284
Dry majority	39,214

Federal figures of the Dominion-wide vote were, however, less decisive. The total vote was 1,233,627. The total vote polled was only 543,029, indicating that about half the people were not interested. The vote over the Dominion showed:

Dry	278,380
Wet	264,693
Dry majority	13,687

The Third Appeal

Now we come to the purely provincial votes, the first of which occurred under the Ross Government in 1902. Nothing had been done as a result of the ballot in '98 because Laurier held that the majority was too small and that a more emphatic pronouncement was desired. Premier Ross passed a bill, thereupon making machinery for prohibition in case over half the number of people voting in the last preceding general election voted in a referendum in favor of such prohibition. The majority obtained on this occasion was substantial—but again not sufficiently substantial. The figures showed:

Dry	199,749
Wet	103,548
Dry majority	96,201

Provincial Local Option

Up to this time, therefore, a licensing system had prevailed in Ontario, and the only prohibition possible had been under a system of local option under the Scott Act, a Federal law. After the demise and later defeat of the Ross Administration in Ontario, Sir James Whitney brought in a purely provincial measure providing for municipal local option, and later this law was amended by the introduction of the still-remembered three-fifths clause providing that a majority of that proportion was necessary to make a wet municipality dry or a dry one wet.

Local Option Records

Under the provisions of the Scott Act there had been out of a total 794 municipalities in Ontario, 187 dry ones. But after 1906, when Whitney changed the local option law, and after the introduction of the three-fifths clause, there were 572 municipalities out of an increased total of 851. In addition to that, there were 89 municipalities which gave a straight majority for local option, but were prevented from carrying the day by reason of the much berated three-fifths clause.

Under this local option legislation there were only seventy contests looking to the repeal of the dry measure, out of a total possible of 1,330. This was in a period of six years, and only one of the 79 was successful.

"Abolish the Bar"

This narrative now reaches the modern theatre of provincial politics. In the 1914 general elections, N. W. Rowell, then Liberal leader, sought to fight the election upon a straight prohibition issue, his slogan being "Abolish the Bar." He was defeated, and Whitney remained in power with his three-fifths clause. The Great War came. Sir James died. Hearst succeeded. As a war measure he brought in the O.T.A., which became effective upon September 16, 1916, with the provision that it would be voted upon after the war to ascertain its popularity. That sustaining vote was taken Oct. 20, 1919, the same day as the general election. The O.T.A. was sustained and the Hearst Government was disdained. In other words, the Drury Government came into power, although a majority of almost half a million people favored the continuance of the O.T.A.

The Fourth Appeal

Four questions were asked upon historic occasion, and the following abbreviated form of questions and corresponding figures show what the people wanted:

1. Are you in favor of the repeal of the O.T.A.?—Yes, 369,434; No, 792,942; dry majority, 423,508.
2. Are you in favor of Government sale of 2.51 p.c. beer by weight?—Yes, 401,893; No, 741,007; dry majority, 339,114.
3. Are you in favor of hotels selling 2.51 p.c. beer by weight, in municipalities favoring such sale?—Yes, 386,680; No, 755,933; Dry majority, 369,253.
4. Are you in favor of Government sale of all liquors?—Yes, 450,370; No, 693,524; Dry majority, 243,154.

The Fifth Appeal

During the Drury regime it was not considered necessary to consult the public further as to whether or not it was satisfied with such temperance legislation as we had. The only question submitted was as to whether more was wanted. More proved by the vote to be wanted, and more the province got. On April 18, 1921, the electors voted on a question to determine if prohibition of importation of liquors would also be placed in the forbidden list, the Dominion Government having amended the Canada Temperance Act to permit of such prohibition. The vote on that occasion showed:

Against importation	540,773
For importation	373,938
Dry majority	166,835

ENGLAND OBJECTS TO LENDING NAVY

Favors Peace, But Will Not Consent To Be the Goat.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(United Press).—Shall the British Navy be used to police the seas for the League of Nations and to make war on or blockade quarrelsome nations which the league adjudges the aggressor in an international row?

This is a question which is worrying the majority of Britishers, and the answer is invariably a most emphatic "No."

The question has arisen from the recent Geneva debates on the disarmament and mutual guarantee pact and there is a very strong idea prevailing in England that Britain is going to be asked to hold the sack in any league disputes requiring naval action.

Despite denials issued by the British delegation at Geneva, a very strong idea exists on the Continent, chiefly in France, that Lord Parmoor promised the use of the British navy in any international measures the league might consider necessary to enforce world peace and to punish aggressors in unnecessary wars.

Lord Parmoor says that no such promise was made, and that the British navy must always remain under the control of the British Government—and the House of Commons—but that it might be Britain's duty as a member of the league to accept certain responsibilities in the event of wars which the majority of the nations of the world considered unnecessary and unjustified.

According to the schemes discussed at Geneva in the event of war between two members, (and presumably in the event of war between a member and a non-member) the League Council or Hague Court would decide which was the aggressor, and the whole weight of the league membership would have to be thrown against that troublemaker.

If it merely happened to be a case of Russia scrapping with Poland, Britain would not worry much, because her army not being very big, would not be expected to take part, but there is a very general feeling that any naval measures would always be passed to the well-known British navy for liquidation.

If it were merely a question of thumping countries like Greece, Holland, Denmark, Norway, etc., into submission nobody would lose any sleep because it would be regarded as just gentle exercise for the British fleet, and save the monotony of annual manoeuvres. But there are other and larger countries, and as regards warring against, or imposing blockades or "sanctions" on them, because the lawyers at Geneva or the Hague regard them as aggressors, the British nation most emphatically say "Nix"—or certainly not until Britain herself has made up her own mind on the dispute.

How About the U. S.?

There is the possibility of a war between the United States and Japan. The former is not a member of the league and the latter is. If the jurists should decide that the United States was the aggressor and proceeded to order blockades and sanctions, nobody doubts that the British navy would be expected to do the job.

And the British nation says "Nix."

If the jurists decided that Japan was the aggressor, the British nation would probably also say "Nix"—not so emphatically, of course, because there would be the natural desire for the white folks to win, but Britain has been very friendly with Japan, and the national verdict would doubtless be "It's no business of ours. Let them fight it out on their own."

Then, perhaps might come the question of two belligerent South or Central American states at war. The league decides that one is the aggressor, and J. Bull's navy is called upon to bump the wrongdoer into submission. How about the Monroe Doctrine?

Most emphatically the British navy will not be used to fight the United States over the Monroe Doctrine, in a squabble affecting two Latin-American states. So says anybody you might ask in the street.

And so one might run through the list of possible quarrellers. Britain could not afford to act as the league's arbiter in, say, a conflict between France and Italy. Yet she would be the only nation the league could turn to for naval action in such a dispute.

According to considered British viewpoint the British navy would become the most unpopular unit in the world within a very few months, and the league jurists would make things worse by threatening everybody with the might of Britain.

The Italian Situation.

Opponents of this international "force" idea point to a situation a year or so ago which would have been most embarrassing to Britain. When Premier Mussolini sent an Italian fleet to seize Corfu, there was only one possible nation that could have been ordered to turn the Italians out—Britain. As it happened at that time Britain was bringing home her army from Constantinople and there was a fine British fleet and transports conveying some thirty thousand trained soldiers within virtually a day's steaming of Corfu.

Viscount Cecil, who was the British delegate at Geneva, was known to be bitterly opposed to Mussolini's high-handed action, and the impression grew that he had urged the league to make use of this convenient British armada to put the Italians out of Corfu. The then Premier Bonar Law made a hurried visit to Switzerland from a German health resort, and apparently calmed his idealistic colleague, and the matter dropped. But it left a very bad impression in Italy.

A host of similar situations are visualized by the average citizen, and however strong he may be for international arbitration, and perhaps the "punishment" of small aggressoms, the Britisher is not going to stand for continual naval war at the bidding of Geneva.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE MOOSE.

Have you followed the trail of the lordly moose through the flaming forests of the north and heard him call from the barrens or tracked the fleet-footed deer over newly-fallen snow, with the keen wind in your face while the trees cracked in the frost and the whole forest seemed vibrant with life? If you have you know the real joy of the Canadian autumn, which is never found on the city's streets nor in pulsing marts of commerce, but only in the clean open spaces and the fragrant silent woods.

Now that the leaves are turning crimson and gold you will begin to dream of the little hunting camp in the far north woods, of sparkling dewy dawns, tramps through the fallen leaves, blasting camp fires, wonderous autumn nights and the bed of balsam boughs, for there is no tonic in all the world for a tired brain and a weary soul like a hunting trip in the northern wilds.

Canadian National Railways tap the choicest of the solitary hunting districts of Northern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces and if you are going off on a hunt this year go to the nearest ticket office and procure a copy of "Hunting in Canada," which contains full information as to the various districts, accommodation and guides. Then pack up your old rifle, sweater and togs and be off. 11,14,16,18

SLAUGHTERING GAME.

Moose In Northern Woods Shot For Sake of Killing.

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 18.—Hunters returning from the far northern parts of Ontario report there are already signs of uncalled-for slaughter of big game, particularly moose. These hunters, who have been north of Sioux Lookout, are returning to their homes in Chicago after spending two weeks in the woods. One of the party reported the finding of moose carcasses lying in the woods apparently killed for the sake of killing.

12 SIGN PROTOCOL.

Brazil and Chile Join Nations In Peace Plan.

GENEVA, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Brazil and Chile have signed the protocol for the Pacific settlement of international disputes elaborated at the recent session of the assembly of the League of Nations. Afranio Mello Franco, Brazilian representative at Geneva, signed for his country, and Enrique Villegas, Chilean Ambassador at Rome, signed for Chile. This brings the number of signatories to twelve.

ROSENEATH EN FETE FOR FAIR FAVORED BY THE WEATHER MAN

All Classes But One Were Well Filled With Excellent Exhibits.

BABIES TRIUMPHED.

All the Fun of the Big Fair Enjoyed By Friendly, Jostling Crowds.

(By a Staff Reporter)

ROSENEATH, Oct. 18.—The renowned hospitality of Roseneath was extended yesterday to hundreds of visitors on the second day of the Agricultural Society's Exhibition, the best Fair in the history of the village. The excellency of the day was indicated by the drift of a toy balloon that broke from its moorings and floated lazily on a mild breeze until it disappeared in the eye of a brilliant fall sunshine that bathed the fair grounds in its benevolent glow. The air, which had been crisply frost-laden in the early morning, warmed at noon, and ideal weather favored the big show.

The Exhibition Grounds, situated in a beautiful location on a hill top, overlooking on three sides the broad acres of fertile lands from which the exhibits came, and on the other the prosperous village of Roseneath, presented a picture of activitiy and enjoyment. Inside the racing track were gathered a half-hundred tents and marquees where sports and games drew big patronage and where hot dogs and hot toffee threatened to melt the ice cream and heat the ice cold drinks in adjoining stalls.

The popular sport of trying to raise bumps on the bald spot on a nigger's unprotected head had a big audience, and farmers whose efforts all the rest of the year are devoted to keeping bossie from kicking over the milk pail yesterday took a delight in knocking down the milk bottles piled pyramid fashion in many stalls. One negro showed a permanent reminder of a time when he didn't duck quickly enough and a well-aimed ball removed two of his teeth while a pseudo black man showed an honest-to-goodness black eye as the result of yesterday's business.

The band stand in the midst of the mid-way was brilliant with the familiar red uniforms of the Alderville Indian bandsmen, who entertained the crowds all day. On a temporary platform constructed on a sleigh were the members of the Arlie Marks Concert Party, who added to the good spirits of the occasion with their bag pipe music and concert numbers.

School Parade

One of the best items in a long line of outstanding features was the drill and parade put on in creditable fashion by the children from Roseneath village school and Harwood school (S.S. 18), for prizes of $10 and $6. With only a low-voiced command from the teacher, Mr. Davey, the Roseneath girls marched in perfect step and snappy pace to the centre of a ring formed by hundreds of interested spectators, and proceeded to carry out an intricate programme. With white middies blue skirts, variecolored neckerchiefs and paper caps, and carrying gaily be-decked hoops the girls presented a very striking appearance as they performed their pretty drills. Marching in mazes, wheeling and forming attractive figures, they moved without audible instruction from the leader, showing careful and long training.

Harwood pupils, boys and girls, had a more varied programme that was excellently rendered under the direction of Miss Rosevear acting in the absence of the teacher and instructor, Miss Taggart. The Harwood girls wore white middies and blue skirts, with red neckerchiefs, and girls and boys alike had caps with the letter "H" lettered in gold. Standing at attention, they sang an original school song, "We are pupils of Alnwick township," and woke the echoes with their school yell. An excellent series of dumbell exercises followed, the pupils keeping perfect count and good time. The closing item was a series of tableaux, including "Indians at a pow-wow, Passing the medicine pipe, Worshipping the sun", and the last, "Indians run", when the serried ranks of spectators were broken by the scampering children. So close were the schools in efficiency that the judges decided to divide the prizes equally.

Mothers Good—Babies Better.

Scores of bustling mothers and excellently behaved babies, with a few fathers, crowded the baby show tent. Much as Alnwick township and Roseneath village pride themselves upon the superiority of their field crops and vegetables, the judges were compelled to admit that in the beauty and sturdiness of the babies in yesterday's competition lay the just pride of the district.

Dr. W. R. W. Haight of Warkworth, performed his difficult task of judging with fairness and diplomacy, his ready smile coaxing a reciprocal upturning of many a baby's lips. The smilingest baby, to whom a special prize of a high chair was given, snuggled in the arms of Mrs. Pringle and cooed at Dr. Haight in an intriguing manner that could not be denied.

Other prize winning babies, in the class under nine months, were entered by Mrs. Stillman, Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Preston, and Mrs. Cobbledick; in the class between nine months and fifteen months, by Mrs. Davey, Mrs. Brisbane and Mrs. McNeely.

A special prize for the best twin babies under fifteen months was won by Mrs. A. Fleming's baby girls.

There were no entries in the triplets class.

Fruit and Vegetables.

The fruit and vegetable building was crowded to overflowing with splendid samples of the produce of Alnwick soil. Monster turnips jostled bigger pumpkins; big Alexander apples perched beside delicious crabapples, and seeds of all kinds provided the judges with many problems requiring close decisions. Asters, dahlias, gladioli, pansies, petunias, stocks and sweet peas brightened one side of the building, flanked by foliage plants and blooming fuschia plants, and an end of the building scarcely provided room for the display of grains that did not require their pretty decorations to display their excellence.

Live Stock.

T. A. Poole of Lanark county, judging the cattle, was delighted with the showing of Holsteins, but remarked on the noted absence of Ayrshires and Jerseys. A monster bull, owned by A. F. Ward of Dartford, that was the cynosure of all eyes, could be taken anywhere and shown with honor, the judge said. Mr. Poole was also engaged in judging the heavy class horses, and pointed out that a mistake in classification is often made that should be rectified. Horses, really in the agriculture class, are entered in the general purpose class, and vice versa. This leads to confusion.

G. H. Mark of Little Britain, a judge of sheep, said that those on exhibition at Roseneath were of as good grade as any he had seen in the twenty-one fairs he had attended. Lincolns were especially good.

A slim showing of hogs failed to please Mr. Poole, who turned his attention to the lowly porker after completing his work with the lordly horse, and no opinion of the class of hogs raised in the district could be given on the half dozen entered at the fair. Another criticism Mr. Poole offered was the showing of hogs in wagons, where the judge has not a fair opportunity to view them.

The driving and carriage classes attracted hundreds of spectators and created more evident interest than any other class in livestock. One of the most attractive turn-outs was in the pony class, with Marvyn Preston of Hastings as driver and his sister Rata as passenger.

Poultry Excelled.

Judging poultry for his fiftieth season, L. G. Jarvis of Brighton, handed many bouquets to the exhibits in the crowded poultry building. Mr. Jarvis has travelled from coast to coast judging all classes of poultry, and he is president of the Ontario Judges' Association. When, therefore, he says that the Buff Orpingtons and Silver Spangled Hamburgs on exhibition at Roseneath were outstanding it is a compliment worth noticing and cherishing.

More unarranged amusement was provided in the poultry building probably than anywhere else on the grounds. On one occasion a particularly spry member of some feathered family made its escape from the attendants, and led a merry chase over crates and pens until it was captured just as it made a bold break for the wide out-of-doors. Later in the day a little girl opened a cage door to fondle the reluctant chick within, and was greatly surprised when the bird rushed past her to a short lived freedom.

Features.

One of the amusing features provided by the Exhibition Board was the automobile obstacle race, in which cars were driven between close lines of whitened stones, upstanding barrels with only a meagre few inches leeway, and over rails taken from a nearby fence. Points were deducted from the maximum of 100 for every stone touched, and points were allowed for speed. Two ladies were entered, and among others who drove their cars in the skilfully contrived maze were: Clifford Hess, Clarke Sandercock, G. Jewell, Mrs. D. A. Henry, Albert Halstead, A. Barton, D. Fisher and R. Swadding. The winners were: C. Guymer (1), Rev. Mr. Harwood (2) and A. Braithwaite (3).

A diversion was caused when one of the cars ran over a spectator's toe, and an argument arose as to whether the car or the toe was on the wrong side of the line.

A five-pound box of chocolates was divided between Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Henry, who displayed their ability in a special ladies' driving contest.

The drawing contest, tug-of-war, potato polo and other special contests were well patronized, and attracted generally favorable comment on the work of the Exhibition Board in organizing so extensive an entertainment programme. If the motto was "Something for everybody," the Board succeeded admirably in carrying it out.

Horse Races.

Many close finishes under the wire marked the horse races, and the fans who crowded the side lines were kept in a ferment of excitement in race after race. Maek R romped home a winner in the first three heats of the 2.22 class, and Major Hal put a sudden end to the free-for-all in the same way. The named race ended in a tie and an argument; Donald F and Lucky Lou tying with a first and a second each and their owners arguing as to the winner. The race was left undecided because of the approach of darkness. In the 2.40 class Sylvia Todd came from behind to win the fourth heat, cinching the lead she took by winning the first two heats.

Starter G. Kingsley of Cobourg settled the few disputes that are inevitable in the best regulated races in his usual diplomatic manner. The judges were J. P. Richards and E. Brisbane, and the timer, Charles Moyse, Port Hope.

The results of heats were:

2.22 Class—Purses of $40, $25 and $15:

Mr. Healy	4	4	4
Doris Patch	2	2	2
Laura the Great	3	3	3

Judges Paid Compliments At Roseneath Exhibition

Dr. W. R. W. Haight: "Roseneath and the county should be proud of the babies entered in the competition. They are healthy and pretty."

T. A. Poole: "The showing of cattle is very creditable; on the whole, it is an excellent exhibit of Holsteins, and some individual animals are outstanding."

G. H. Mark: "In my experience of 21 fairs I have never seen better sheep at any country exhibition."

L. G. Jarvis: "The quantity and quality is very good indeed. Probably buff orpingtons are the best variety here, but all are excellent."

Starter G. Kingsley: "It has been a good series of races, with close finishes and interesting throughout."

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

Copper, brick and rust are among the new colors for the ensemble costume, though black for broadcloth is still the first and last choice of many smart women.

The ensemble costume has but one beginning, its narrow, wrap-around coat—but it may have any one of a number of happy endings, a tube frock of the coat material, a soft silk dress to match the coat lining, or a long tunic blouse costume, the lower part matching the coat. These new coats should be wrapped around the figure as closely as possible and held, but it isn't always practical to do so and in shopping it is often more comfortable to button them. Cashmere coatings, soft pile fabric, broadcloth, plush and velvet can be used for either a separate coat or the ensemble coat. Fur fabric is essentially a separate coat material.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—It is customary to point with loathing to the underworld, to the bootlegger and all those who make use of them or associate with them. With that view I agree. Why, then, are Messrs. Drury and Raney raised up to be the chief pushes of the O.T.A. party? Day after day it is either Mr. Raney or Mr. Drury or both who are appealed to as authorities and teachers of good morals by Prohibitionists. And yet it was they and members of their Government and party in the Legislature who protected that awful debauch in the Parliament Buildings from exposure, known to history as "That Last Awful Night."

When that party was at its height and the wild women were dancing the can-can and the whisky was rolling rapidly, Mr. Drury sent word to these temperance advocates to make less noise, which they answered by telling him good-naturedly to go to ——.

This I personally know to be a fact. Yet Mr. Drury and Mr. Raney succeeded in suppressing all punishment of the desecration of the people's property and violation of the law. How may, I ask can such people as they teach any other lesson than hypocrisy and violation of the laws of the land and of common decency? This action of these advocates of the O.T.A. has done more harm than all the whisky ever drunk in Ontario.

I just want to ask which should be suppressed first—Messrs. Drury and Raney & Co., or the bootleggers and their female pals?

FASHION COMPELS SLENDER "UNDIES"

(By Hedda Hoyt.)

NEW YORK, October 18 (United Press).—

Mary is a slender Miss—
Defies all Madam Grundies:
Her figure's almost like an eel's,
'Cause she wears slender undies!

To attain a slender appearance, these days, one must wear "slender" undergarments. Ten years ago almost all women looked plump—because of the heavy undergarments, which added inches and inches to their circumferences.

The directoire version of the chemise which has recently arrived from Paris will undoubtedly be taken up by Americans who like the idea of lingerie conforming to the lines of the figure. Women are tiring of the ungainly step-ins which have no waistline and also tiring of the separate garments, drawers and brassiere bodice. Hence the advisability of the one-piece garment which adheres to the figure and conforms with the lines of the present-day gown.

Directoire undies are very simple affairs with the bodice and drawers connected by a narrow belt at the normal waistline and the garment buttoning down the back, or the side-front. The bodice is more or less tight-fitting and has straps over the shoulders. The narrow belt is made to fit easily about the waistline and the fullness of the drawers is concentrated at the sides, thus leaving a flat front and back effect. The drawers are left open at the sides and are usually outlined with a border of silk of a contrasting colour and the same border effect extends about the top of the bodice. Many models use inverted darts over the hips which add even more slenderness. Almost all underwear is being built along the lines of the frocks of to-day. Some women go as far as to wear only the thinnest and most clinging jersey silks under their evening frocks.

Styles on Fifth Avenue.

As the days grow longer, skirts and waistlines grow higher. Recently one sees many frocks on Fifth Avenue with the belt placed at the normal waistline and skirts all appear both scant and short. Where inverted pleats and circular panels are set into the skirts they are skilfully manoeuvred so that scantness is achieved in spite of the actual fullness of the hemline.

Cloth coats of conspicuously new fall variety are being worn by most of the smartly dressed women of New York.

One sees few suits and these few are of the "ensemble" variety — dressy types with the three-quarter length coat matching the one-piece frock beneath it and the whole lavishly fur-trimmed. Black coats of slender lines with fur collars and borders are those most evident. Hats remain small and rather tailored and one sees more velvets than felts. Black velvet seems to have the preference in spite of the fact that windows are displaying purples, jentas, and greens. Several large black velvet hats are seen and these are either large variations of the cloche or their brims are turned abruptly upwards in back with the mushroom effect in front. Even the larger shapes are but slightly trimmed and many of them are entirely untrimmed.

There is a complete absence of pink toned hosiery. No well dressed women are wearing them on the street and even for evening wear they are being replaced by silver tones. Brown shoes are much in evidence and hosiery of matching or somewhat lighter shade is worn with them.

Young misses are appearing in sports clothes which prove that the plaids are an important factor this season. Huge plaids and plaids of vivid shades are being worn in topcoats and dresses and suit scarfs. Even the felt hat follows the vogue with plaid ribbon trimming.

PARTRIDGE SEASON OPEN.

Order In Council Declares Dates For Hunting.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., informed The Examiner this morning that a special order in council proclaims the season for hunting partridge open from October 15 to 25 inclusive. A great many people were unaware that the partridge season opened on Wednesday and that only a week remains.

By reason of the annual variation of the magnetic needle, it is believed that the magnetic poles are not stationary, but have a slow motion around the geographical poles.

THE CHOICE 70 YEARS AGO THE CHOICE TODAY

The Moderation League of Ontario

President, I. F. Hellmuth, K.C

It's Time For a Change

In an advertisement dated January, 1916, the Committee of One Hundred (where is that Committee now!) stated that Ontario "wasted" $33,000,000 annually on liquor and that if Prohibition were adopted this would be saved. In glowing terms it was told to us how many Rifles, Machine Guns, Men, Supplies, and Separation Allowances this money would pay for, if only Prohibition were made law.

It was made law. We have had eight years of so-called Prohibition.

If the law had been enforced—if Prohibition had been a fact—we should since then have saved $264,000,000—call it two hundred and fifty million dollars.

It is quite pertinent to ask. Where has this gone?

Has the Government had it?

Have you had it?

Has the farmer had it? Has the business man had it?

Do you know anybody who has had even a share of it—excepting, of course, the Bootlegger?

In the meantime other Provinces under Government Control have had definite—not visionary—sums which were applied in reduction of taxation.

It is not proposed to go back to the days prior to 1916. There is no proposal to restore the drinking bar. All that the Moderation League ask for is the adoption by the Government of a system of control whereby the excesses arising from over-indulgence will be dealt with, whereby the revenues from the sale of liquor will go to the Province and reduce the general taxation, whereby lawlessness will cease to be profitable, whereby our young will not be tempted, and whereby decent and law-abiding men and women will be treated as such. THAT IS GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

We have had so-called Prohibition long enough. It is now time for a change.

Mark your Ballot for Government Control as follows:

1	Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act?
2	Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquor in sealed packages under Government control?	X

C.N.R. DEFEATED BY ENGINEERS

Railway Team Held C.G.E. Close to the Seventh—Bowlers Lose to K. of C.

SOFTBALL GAMES.

The C.N.R. ran the C.G.E. a close race, but lost in the seventh when the Engineers collected six runs and won by 15 to 9. Until the seventh it had been a heel-to-toe affair, with not much choice.

The Delahaye battery for the train crew worked well and held the C.G.E. sluggers well until the final break. Their support was, however, anything but airtight.

The C.G.E. were poor on the defensive, and errors came thick and often, and were lost count of in the barrage. Bill Jackson came through with three hits in four appearances. The line-ups:

C.N.R.—Delahaye, p; McClaren, 2b; Morden, rf; H. Delahaye, c; Clancy, 1b; Ward, 3b; B. Rundell, ss; Rich, lf; Armstrong, ss.

C.G.E.—McCarney, lf; McPherson c; Burgess, ss; Patterson, rf; W. Jackson, 3b; Munro, 1b; Metheral, 2b; B. Jackson, ss; Langley, p.

Score by innings:

BOWLERS "BOWLED OUT."

"Tim" McArthur's bouncing boys fell a victim to the Knights of Columbus by a 13 to 7 count. Some home run hitting featured the game and the ball ricketed off the far palings of the end wall frequently.

The Knights show some new faces in their line-up in Foley and Collins but in the main the Bowlers retain their old roster of flingers. Line-ups:

Bowlers—Ross, 2b; Martin, 3b; Freeman, ss; Gimblett, c; Fox, p; McArthur, 1b; Sedgwick, lf; Niven, ss; Fallon, rf; sub., Jeffries.

K. of C.—Collins, 2b; Foley, ss; Sheehy, 3b; J. Rutherford, rf; O'Hern, c; G. Rutherford, ss; F. Cronin, lf; C. Wolf, 1b; Murphy, p.

TEACHERS OUTCLASS BROTHERHOOD.

The Teachers trimmed the Triple Link 15 to 8 in the smartest played game of the evening. The pedigogues were brilliant both a-field and at bat, pulling off two snappy double plays, one by Dearborn single handed.

The Triple Link had many chances, but the fielding of the opposition squelched their every opportunity to gather the necessary runs. Line-ups:

Teachers—Langford, c; Dunkerly p; Park, ss; Bolton, 3b; Perks, ss; Dearborn, 2b; Devell, 1b; Frost, rf; Stacye, rf; Steer, lf.

Triple Link—Barrie, 2b; Butcher, 3b; Crowe, c; Lang, ss; Ackford, ss; Webb, 1b; Price, p; McIntyre, lf; Frost, rf.

GROVE SCHOOL WON.

Lakefield Team Defeated T. C. S. Thirds 30-6.

Lakefield Preparatory School defeated Trinity College School third team at Lakefield. The score at half-time was 6 all, but in the second half Lakefield ran away with the game, winning by 30-6.

Griffiths, the local flying wing, made four tries by clean dodging runs, and every one was converted by Christmas, who also contributed two goals from the field. The game was a see-saw struggle and keenly contested till the Port Hope boys weakened in the last quarter.

TWO WOMEN INJURED.

Injuries Caused By Bombs Alleged To Have Been Dropped From Planes.

PARIS, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—According to an unverified report from Angora, received by Havas News Agency, British airplanes, patrolling the frontier between Iraka and Turkey, flew over Cherani on October 14 and dropped a number of bombs, injuring two women.

McKECHNIE SIGNS.

Pirates' Manager Is Re-engaged For Another Year.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—William B. McKechnie, manager of the Pittsburgh National League National Club, signed a contract Friday to manage the Pirates for another year. The contract was for 1925 only, and its terms were not disclosed by Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the club, who made the announcement.

VARSITY STUDENTS HIKE TO KINGSTON

Three Collegians, Helped By Lifts, Made Trip In Ten Hours.

KINGSTON, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Starting Thursday morning to walk from Toronto to Kingston, to be on hand for the Queen's-Varsity game here to-day, three Varsity students had better luck than they expected, and the result was that with several lifts, they were able to make the distance in ten and a half hours.

The three young men, W. A. Browne, G. M. G. Smith and G. M. Fletcher, left Toronto yesterday morning at eight o'clock. For many miles they plodded their weary way along the King's Highway, but kind fortune in the form of automobiles came along, and the result was that they had a few lifts which covered many miles for them. From Belleville they were driven fifteen miles by Miss Gwen Lazier, the well-known Courier, who rode on horseback from Belleville to Washington a few months ago, and they reached the city about 6.30 Thursday evening.

EPINARD IS GIVEN WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

French Colt Carries Less Than Most Dangerous Opponent.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Epinard, Pierre Wertheimer's famous four-year-old, is expected to be installed a heavy favorite in the $10,000 Laurel stakes, to be run over the mile route as the feature of to-day's card here.

The French thoroughbred is considered to have been given much the best of weight arrangements with only 116 pounds, and will have Clarence Kummer, one of the country's best riders, in the saddle. Wise Counsellor, Frederick Burton's star, and in the eyes of turf followers, Epinard's most dangerous opponent, has been assigned 120 pounds.

Nine horses have been named to meet Epinard, including such bright lights as My Play, brother of Man o' War; H. Morris' Rustic; Donaghee, owned by J. W. Bean, and J. E. Griffith's Single Foot.

Ladkin, August Belmont's crack, who has scored one victory over Epinard, and was expected to run, was withdrawn after developing a sore foot.

TIGERS LOSE GOALIE.

Dr. Charlie Stewart Has Signed With Boston Hockey Team.

HAMILTON, October 17 (Canadian Press). — It was announced yesterday that Dr. Charles Stewart, Tigers' goalkeeper, had signed a contract for the new Boston professional hockey team.

The figures of the contract, which was drawn by Art Ross, have not been made public.

Dr. Stewart was regarded as the best goaler in the O.H.A., and his departure will be a serious loss to the Yellow and Black.

He will leave for Boston at the end of this month, and will enter business there.

Carson Cooper has also been approached, but as yet he has not signed.

It was learned that George Redding, all-round amateur star, had accepted the offer of the Boston representative.

NET LEAGUE AT Y.M.C.A. OPENING

C. G. E. and C. P. C First Teams To Clash In Basketball Series.

FIVE TEAMS ENTER.

All evidences point to a banner year for the local Y.M.C.A. for the coming season. The classes are getting under way and each group has a larger number enrolled than ever before. The juniors have a mammoth class of pigmies, who are not going to get smaller with the exercise. A large number of business men are seeking the "gym" as a rendezvous for reducing the waistline ensemble. The young men have a peppy crowd.

Basketball will soon come out in its place and already the schedule of games has been drawn up.

The leagues consist of teams from the C.G.E., Quaker Oats, Westclox, C.P.C., and a Central team.

The team that will represent Peterboro in the O.A.B.A. will likely be chosen from the best of the teams.

Schedule.

Wednesday, Oct. 22, 8 o'clock, C. G.E. vs. C.P.C., 2nd section; 9 o'clock De Laval vs. Woollens, 1st section.

Saturday, October 25, 9 o'clock, Quakers vs. Centrals, 2nd section; 9 o'clock, C.G.E. vs. Westclox, 1st section.

Wednesday, October 29, 8 o'clock, C.G.E. vs. Quakers, 1st section; 9 o'clock, Woollens vs. C. G. E., 2nd section.

Saturday, November 1, 8 o'clock, Westclox vs. Centrals, 1st section; 9 o'clock, C.G.E. vs. De Laval, 2nd section.

Wednesday, November 5, 8 o'clock, C.G.E. vs. Woollens, 2nd section; 9 o'clock, Quakers vs. Westclox, 1st section.

Saturday, November 8, 8 o'clock, C. P.C. vs. DeLaval, 2nd section; 9 o'clock, C. G. E. vs. Centrals, 1st section.

BLACKMAIL IS DIVA'S DEFENSE

Berlin Hotel Manager Backs Mme. Roeder, Accused Of Beating Girls.

By O. D. TOLISCHUS

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—"Blackmail" is the countercharge which Charlotte Roeder, noted European prima donna, makes against her accusers, who charge her with flogging and mistreating pretty girls whom she engaged as maids—charges which are the sensation of Budapest, Vienna and Berlin.

The opera singer, a well known figure in society of Budapest, made her counter charges at a cross-examination to which she was subjected for several hours by the Budapest police.

She again emphatically denied all accusations and charged Mathilde Messler, the young dressmaker on whose testimony the whole case rests, telling friends that he knew how to get a dowry and money to get married; that she would report the prima donna to the police and get thirty million crowns for it.

Singer Has Backing

The singer's denials are supported by Director Marencio of the Ritz Hotel Budapest where Mme Roeder lived, but Miss Messler sticks to her charged of floggings and mistreatments, which she says were often inflicted in the presence of the prima donna's friends.

The prima donna announces that she will produce a large number of witnesses, including artists, high officials, bankers and business men who attended entertainments in her suite, to disprove the charges.

Meanwhile the police are delving into the past of the opera star.

Fables on Health

The need for disinfectants or fumigations was sounded in one of the notices brought home from the hygiene class by little Mollie Mann.

The list was compiled something like this:

1—Standard solutions for washing, cleaning and disinfecting closets, cuspidors, washbowls, etc, are—boiling water, soap and water, soda and water, lime, carbolic acid, creolinlysol and tricresol.

2—Standard killers of disease germs are—alchol, iodine, carbolic acid, lysol, formalin and bichloride of mercury.

3—Standard fumigants are — sulphur, hydrocyanic acid gas and formaldehyde gas.

Most every home finds need at one time or another for fumigation, either after an illness or due to the inroads of some sort of vermin. Sulphur is good for pests and formaldehyde for disinfectant.

At any rate, nobody up to date has stepped forward to challenge Ruth's claim for supremacy.

KANSAS EDITOR FIGHTING KLAN

William Allen White Knocks Off From Work to Run for Governor.

NOVEL CAMPAIGN

EMPORIA, Kas., Oct. 17.—No special trains nor private cars for William Allen White!

His 'Campaign special' is just an antiquated, second-hand, five-year-old touring car.

But it is carrying "Bill" and his message to every corner of the stage.

The "sage of Emporia," in his campaign for governor on an anti-Ku Klux Klan platform, is violating all the commonly accepted rules of the political game.

He has no campaign manager or advisory committee. He has no party backing.

Neither has he a campaign fund. He is not spending a cent for gas and oil for his dilapidated old "hack."

Yet politicians are conceding him at least an even chance of election. Thousands are flocking to his standards.

Heretofore "Bill" always has been on the sidelines of politics. He admits now that in entering the race he broke an old vow that he would never run for office.

"I don't want to be governor," he says. "I don't need the salary. And I don't care a rap for the political prestige it can bring me.

"I am in the fight only because neither the Democratic nor Republican nominees denounced the klan as definitely as I believe they should have."

When his petitions were circulated, White would not permit them to be passed around here in his home town.

"If I am not well enough known in other parts of the state to get 10,000 signatures, I don't want to run," he told his friends.

But he got the 10,000 and more, too.

A woman telegraphed "Bill asking him when he was "going to grow up." She quoted Paul: "When I was a child, I spake as a child; but when I was a man, I put away childish things."

White's answer read:

"One greater than Paul has said: 'Whosoever shall not receive the Kingdom as a little child, shall not enter therein.'

"But so long as Paul is your favorite, try First Corinthians, verses 34 and 35. Not that I believe it, but you might play it on your phonograph and washing machine."

The verses tell women to remain silent on public matters.

But to get back to the candidate, himself—

"The two major parties in Kansas," he is telling the voters, "are the toys and playthings of the willipus-wallipuses of Georgia, also the wizards of one sort and another of Wall Street, wh are trying to run this country.

"We must make the state worthy of the old days when they didn't take a microscope and examine a man's skin, look at his birth certificate and give him a theological examination before determining whether he should be an American citizen."

Bands have had little part in the White campaign except on those occasions when they contribute their services free.

At one meeting when one appeared, White said.

"This is the first band I've had for a week. I want to use it all I can. A band opening a political meeting is like saying grace at the beginning of a meal."

White stopped the musicians when they were playing America.

"I want to sing," he shouted. And he did.

"This running for governor is like drumming for business," White declares. "I take the good and bad hotels just like other drummers. It is part of the punishment for running for office.

"But the campaign's going along bully. I am having the time of my young life.

"I am my own press agent, do my own ballyhooing, set up the tent, pull the stakes, drive the ten-horse team and play the calliope in this show. Maybe, I shall be my own elephant before I get through."

His campaigning is restricted to certain day of the week. The other days he spends in his office helping get out his paper, the Emporia Gazette, a small-town daily he has made nationally famous.

AFFINITY TURNS ON YOUNG SLAYER

Mrs. Willow Puts Full Blame On Shadel For Murder Of Husband.

By JOHN A. MOROSO.

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—Annie Willow, on trial here for plotting to kill her husband, Harvey Willow, that the path to her love for Ralph Shadel, seventeen-year-old farm boy, might be cleared, today took the witness stand in her own defense.

This move by the woman's counsel was a surprise to the prosecutor. She flatly denied that she had urged Ralph to shoot her husband. She was asked by her attorney:

"Did you at any time urge Shadel to kill your husband?"

"No."

"What did Ralph say about killing him?"

"He wanted me to poison him, put rat poison in his food, but I would not. He loved me and I loved him.

Averse to Killing.

"I told him to leave him alone. I did not know they were going hunting together that day. I had told him that Willow had threatened to kill us both the night before. Ralph jumped up in the cow stable and cried, 'I'll shoot him. I'll get him some day and if I do, I will make a sure shot of it.' I was in the shanty washing when they went away.

"But before that Ralph asked me if I would help bury Willow in the cow stable if he killed him while hunting. I told him I would not.

"Ralph turned from the woods without Willow. I asked where he was and he said 'in the woods; I killed him.' Then I cried and he cried.

She Feared Boy.

"He gave me the money Harvey had with him, about $120, but I refused to take it. I told him to tell the neighbors and he said that he would do the same thing to me if I told on him. Then he said he would hang himself. I was afraid he would put me out of the way."

The woman was remarkably frank in her statements as to the relations with the farm boy and showed not the slightest embarrassment in her story, although her father, two brothers and her two little children sat in court with their eyes riveted on her. Occasionally a queer smile would play about the corners of her lips.

Mrs. Willow first testified as to her husband's brutality. She had been married to him sixteen years. She said:

"For the first two years we did not keep house. He worked in the car shops and visited me every two weeks. When we did get a place to live in he came home one night drunk.

Beaten by Husband.

"I unhitched his horses, dragged him from the rig and then into the barn and covered him. In the morning he came into the house and beat and kicked me so that I lost my first baby. I was covered with bruises."

She left him and went to her own people, while Willow served a year in jail. She told of another attack on her while Willow was in a frenzy of rage. She said:

"I was helping him put up fence rails and was again expecting to become a mother. The rail was too heavy for me and I dropped it. He threw his hatchet at my head.

"I had to leave him again, when one night he dragged me and the children from bed, threw us to the floor and then beat me. He was mad at me for not opening the door quick enough for him when he knocked.

"Soon after this he ordered me out to husk the corn. I was in bad shape and could not work fast. He kicked me, followed me into the house and threw me against the stove. This time the doctor came again and I was in bed for a week.

"The final beating came the night before he was killed. He reproached me about Ralph, pointed a shotgun at me and said that if it wasn't for little Iva, my daughter, he would kill me and Ralph, too.

"I pulled the bedclothes over my head and told him to shoot. He kept on telling me that if I didn't quit loving Ralph he would kill the two of us."

Before Mrs. Willow testified, Ralph Shadel, who is under sentence of ten to twenty years for shooting Willow, was called to the stand.

He testified that he shot and killed Willow. He was not cross-examined.

OSHAWA WOMAN POSTMISTRESS

Miss Wilma Gordon Succeeds J. F. Tamblyn on November 1st.

TAMBLYN RESIGNED.

OSHAWA, Oct. 18. — Announcement was received by L. O. Clifford, M.P., that Miss Wilma Gordon had been appointed postmistress of the Oshawa City Post Office, following the resignation of Postmaster Tamblyn. The appointment goes into effect on November 1st.

About three weeks ago, Postmaster J. F. Tamblyn sent in his resignation to the Department at Ottawa, and the appointment of his successor was expected at the local post office. Mr. Tamblyn has been a life-long resident of Oshawa, coming here in 1870, and so has been a continuous resident of Oshawa for 54 years. He was engaged in newspaper work with the Ontario Reformer for the first twenty years of that time, and after two years as a fire insurance inspector, became postmaster. For 16 years he was a member of the Town Council, serving four years as a county councillor.

Mr. Tamblyn, who is president of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, yesterday received a letter from the Association Executive. They had heard of him tendering his resignation as the city postmaster and immediately wrote, hoping that he would not resign from the presidency of the Association. It is very likely that Mr. Tamblyn will retain his office until the annual meeting next June.

THOMAS MEIGHAN

IN "The Alaskan"

From the Story by JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

With ESTELLE TAYLOR

Mon. Tues.

HIS first great story of the out-doors! A vivid romance of the Northland.

NOTE: The out-door scenes in this picture were made in Alberta and British Columbia.

WEDNESDAY-THURSDAY Barbara LaMarr and Conway Tearle in "THE WHITE MOTH"

CHARLES OGLE

FRIDAY-SATURDAY A Mighty Melodrama "THE SIGNAL TOWER"

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

TOM MEIGHAN'S FIRST OUT-DOOR DRAMA COMES TO THE CAPITOL ,MONDAY, TUESDAY.

Wantonly violating the sanctity of a mother's grave, John Graham laid the foundation of a mighty hatred. Upon this incident is based the story of Thomas Meighan's latest starring vehicle, "The Alaskan," which Willis Goldbeck adapted from James Oliver Curwood's famous novel of the same name. Local movicites will soon have the opportunity of seeing America's favourite male star in the greatest picture of his screen career, as the photoplay comes to the Capitol next Monday and Tuesday.

Produced for Paramount by Herbert Brenon, "The Alaskan" is said to be the year's outstanding success as an outdoor picture. The entire company was transported to the wilds of Alberta and British Columbia, where all of the exterior scenes were filmed.

Featured in the cast chosen to support Thomas Meighan are Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, Charles Ogle, Frank Campeau, and Anna May Wong.

"The Alaskan" is founded upon a conflict between native-born Alaskans, sons of the gold-rush pioneers, and the powerful financial interests which strove to gain control of the Alaskan industries.

The feud between Graham and young Alan Holt, played by Mr. Meighan, begins when the former, engaged in blasting operations, carelessly destroys the grave of Holt's mother. Begun at first simply as a physical conflict, the struggle continues before a senatorial investigation committee in Seattle. Meighan's testimony exposes the designs of the Graham interests in the far north.

On his way back to Alaska after this investigation Meighan falls in love with a young girl, Mary Standish, played by Estelle Taylor. Later, her actions lead him to believe that she is in league with his enemies, and to his horror, he learns that she is the wife of Graham. The subsequent battle between Holt and Graham in the far north where there is no law, and the surprising part that Mary Standish plays in it, furnish some of the most thrilling action ever flashed on the silver sheet.

If you are looking for film entertainment de luxe, then don't miss seeing "The Alaskan."

AT THE ROYAL.

"THE MARRIAGE CIRCLE" AT ROYAL MONDAY.

Special Production Will Be Shown At Usual Admission Prices.

New husbands for old!

Is that the modern cry, or is it only the habit of a few extreme women of to-day, tired of staying at home, and having too much money, time and nervous energy to be contented.

Especially when the husband himself has lost interest in the woman!

This is the idea woven around "The Marriage Circle," that marvelous production of the famed Ernst Lubitsch, which we have been fortunate to procure for a showing here. Set in the glamorous Vienna of to-day—the modern Vienna brimming with gayety, adventure and rich pulsing life, you have a fascinating intime circle of persons, whose orderly lives are suddenly thrown off gear by Mizzi, the flirtatious and coquettish wife of Professor Josef Stock. Mizzi's fancy—heart and all—goes out to Dr. Franz Braun, the husband of her best friend.

There you have an amazing situation! For Mizzi has to pretend hypocritically that she is still friendly to her old girlhood chum, and she has to try tooth and nail to get the doctor, who is too domestic and who loves his own wife to desert for another woman.

And here the wiles of Eve, mother of all women, enters. Mizzi has the cunning of a serpent, she can pile up compromising situation on situation that involves the poor victim in nets of steel, and almost ruins his home.

Look at the cast: Marie Prevost, Florence Vidor, Monte Blue, Harry Myers, Adolphe Menjou and Creighton Hale. Need more be said? Keep the date open: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

LARRY SEMON COMEDY FOR ROYAL MONDAY, ALSO "LEATHER PUSHERS."

One of Larry Semon's best half-hour comedies and Billy Sullivan in the popular "Leather Pushers" are both on the programme at the Royal Monday.

MARY PHILBIN IN "FOOLS HIGHWAY" MAKES HIT AT ROYAL

Everyone who has seen "Fools Highway," now playing at the Royal, is advertising the fact to their friends. It is seldom a film so true to life and with so many points of appeal comes along. It will be shown for the last time to-night.

AT THE GRAND.

THE FIRE PATROL

There are enough thrills in "The Fire Patrol" the big melodramatic film feature being shown at the Grand just now to make material for four or five pictures. Here is one of the most stirring film productions that has been shown here. No waiting through four or five reels to get the "punch" for "The Fire Patrol" opens in the midst of a most widely portrayed storm at sea and thrill follows thrill throughout the whole presentation.

The scenes are all or near the sea with the result that the camera artists have been able to produce some remarkable results that in themselves would stamp "The Fire Patrol" as a remarkable production. The story of the film is sheer melodrama. Some of it of course far drawn but it grips nevertheless. No one could possibly feel drowsy during any moment of this picture for there are half a dozen big episodes, each one of which could serve as the "climax" for a feature film in itself. A storm at sea is one, a fire on board a big steamer is another, the saving of the passengers by the fire patrol still another, while less spectacular but more intense is the scene where the blind old sea captain, left on the top of a cliff by his enemy, wanders almost over the edge and is rescued just as it seems that he must fall to his death.

There is a wonderful cast with Anna Q. Neilsson, Madge Bellamy, Jack Harran and other well known stars playing important roles while Bull Montana and Charlie Murray have minor comedy parts. It is an all star production and last night's audience pronounced it one of the most striking of the season.

It is preceded by a very funny two-part comedy.

ROSS HAMILTON, Of The Dumbells, in "ACE HIGH," at the Grand, commencing next Thurs day.

"ACE HIGH" HITS HIGH SPOTS.

"Ace High," the latest Dumbells' revue, certainly hits the high spots of musical entertainment. Starting off with the thrill of a crashing 'plane, speeding along again like a Sopwith Scout in full flight, darting from song hit to laughable skit and on to concerted number, snappy dialogue, and jazz-band; there isn't a dull moment in the two hours and more that the revue consumes.

Just imagine the brightest book and lyrics ever written, then note the stars, Al. Plunkett, Ross Hamilton, "Red" Newman, Stan. Bennett, Pat Rafferty, "Jock" Holland, Ben Allen, Morley Plunkett, and all the other favorites of former years with the smiling Captain and his orchestra and you have some idea of the splendid entertainment value of "Ace High."

The Dumbells will play their first and only engagement in "Ace High" in this city this season at the Grand three days, commencing Thursday, October 23rd.

Thomas Meighan and Estelle Taylor in James Oliver Curwood's romance of the Northlands, "The Alaskan." This is the first outdoor drama that Thomas Meighan has appeared in in many months, and marks the return of the star to virile dramatic roles — at the Capitol, next Monday and Tuesday.

THE DUMBELLS IN "ACE HIGH"

The seat plan for the Dumbells in "Ace High" will go on sale Tuesday morning at 10 a.m., October 21st. Be sure and order your seats in advance and avoid any mistakes.

Owing to the capacity houses for this attraction, telephone calls for reserved seats will be held only until, for the evening performances, 8 p.m., and Saturday matinee, 2 p.m., after this above mentioned time these seats will be sold.

We would appreciate it if the audience would be seated for the evening performances at 8.15 p.m., and for Saturday matinee, 2.30 p.m. As this is a long performance we would like to commence on time.

Popular English Performers Coming To The Grand

Under the Auspices of Peterborough Rotary Club.

The outstanding musical and comedy event of the current theatrical season, is about to be realized, for "London's Great 8," All-British musical and comedy players, whom local audiences will remember as appearing here last spring for one performance, are scheduled to play a return engagement at the Grand Opera House, on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 27th and 28th, offering entirely new programme of the best musical and comedy works. A separate and distinct new programme will be offered each night, and if these new programmes are anything to be compared (as we really believe they are) with the programme offered here last spring, then Peterboro is in luck for an evening of rare musical charm can be enjoyed, whilst "London's Great 8" is in this city.

Tom Copeland, the popular Scotch comedian and composer, who is dearly remembered by many local theatre goers, for his original Scotch comedy songs and stories, still leads the company, with a number of the old favorites, including Dorothy Alwynne, the famous Scotch violiniste, Joan Duff, the youthful pianist, and Walter Nunn, brilliant 'cellist, and Richard Alexander, Wilfred Virgo, baritone and tenor respectively.

Two new artists have been added also, and have just joined the company within the last few weeks: Miss Mary Mackie, a delightful Scotch comedienne, who made an instantaneous hit in South Africa, and who will be remembered for her war work in the camps and hospitals, in England during the war, by many local returned soldiers; also Miss Elsie Graves, a soprano of distinction, who from all reports is a delight to listen to.

Tickets for both performances are to be had from members of the Rotary Club, and as special popular prices have been arranged capacity houses are sure to be on hand to greet these talented Britishers.

IN MEMORIAM

LIDDELL — In loving memory of our loving daughter, Jean, who departed this life, Oct. 18, 1923.

There came to gladden our home one day,
A little child, so blithe and gay,
With a smile so merry and full of fun,
That she won the love of everyone.

We called her Jean that being the name
That suited her best, for we knew she came,
Right from our heavenly Father above,
An emblem of his Eternal love.

Four short years with us she stayed
And oh, how we loved our little maid,
Then God came and claimed his own
And took her to his Eternal home.

How we miss her, no words can tell
But we know Christ, "Doeth all things well,
And that he has taken our child away
To be a bud, in his great bouquet

Sadly missed by her Mother and Father.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our little grandson, wee Tommy Marks, who died Sept. 18, 1918, also our granddaughter, Jean Liddell, who died Oct. 1923.

—Inserted By Their Loving Grandparents.

When dearest friends from each must part
And sorrow steal into the heart,
What depth of love no tongue can tell,
Which lingers in the last farewell.

'Tis then we feel a Saviour's love
It lifts our souls to realms above,
It cheers the heart, slays the pain
And sooths us till we meet again.

When at dawn of Heaven's day
We see them all in bright array,
Our voice will join the glorious song
While angel harps the notes prolong

Sweet echoes of the golden shore
We live again those moments o'er,
When whispering soft we said good-bye
To meet beyond the sky.

—Sadly Missed By Her Grandmother and Grandfather.

ELECTION IS AT BITTEREST HEIGHT TO-DAY

MacDonald Charged With Stupidity and Alleged Affiliation With Moscow.

PREMIER'S IRE UP.

MacDonald Says Conservatives Are On Verge Of Disgrace and Defeat.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, October 18.— Britain's briefest political campaign became about its bitterest to-day. Leaders of all parties emulated the most extreme American stump speakers in hurling vitriolic charges and counter-charges. Public apathy was changed to red hot interest.

David Lloyd-George, with his fierce Welsh tongue leads in excoriating the Government's record, while the Conservative foeman, Winston Churchill, and Lord Birkenhead, are quite as bitter, charging Ramsay MacDonald with stupidity and humbing and alleging the Labour Government is affiliated with Moscow.

This charge aroused the ire of Premier MacDonald, who was not too much fatigued at the end of a long automobile tour, which left him almost speechless, to retort: "The Conservatives are on the verge of disgrace and defeat, and are lying constantly about Labour.

"Why can't they fight intellectually. It should be their principles against ours. Instead, they are sniffing and snarling like mangy dogs around the garbage."

If he is still Chancellor of the Exchequer after the general election, there will be no loan to Russia or to any other foreign state, except upon such substantial security as would make default practically impossible, declared Philip Snowden in a speech at Leeds last night.

The proposed Russian loan, he said, was only for productive purposes, and for the stimulation of depressed British industries.

NOMINATIONS TO-DAY.

LONDON, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Nominations of candidates for Parliamentary election on 29th October are being made to-day throughout Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

There will doubtless be the usual eleventh hour surprises affecting individual constituencies, but it is estimated that candidates will number about 1,400.

It is noteworthy that the Liberals are nominating about 100 fewer than in the last election, while the Labourites will have about 100 more than they had then, and according to the statement made last night, the Labour candidates will total over 500, the biggest effort they have yet made.

The number of women seeking to enter Parliament grows steadily with every general election.

As against 34 last December, there are now 41, with a possibility of a slight increase when the papers are handed in to-day.

Twenty-one women are on the Labour ticket, 12 Conservative, and 7 Liberal and 1 Independent.

All the Cabinet members, except perhaps Postmaster-General Vernon Hartshorn, will have to fight at the polls to retain their seats, and a few of the leaders of other parties will escape contests.

There are many instances of fathers and sons appealing for election, mostly on the same tickets. Noteworthy among the parents whose lead is thus followed are Prime Minister MacDonald, his fellow-Labourites John Robert Clynes and Arthur Henderson, and among the Liberals Lloyd-George and Sir Alfred Mond.

A striking exception to the family political agreement is that of the Baldwins, the Conservative leader's son being an ardent champion of Labour.

COMMUTE SENTENCE.

Murderer of New York Banker In Paris To Escape Death.

PARIS, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press). — The pardon commission yesterday recommended the commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence of Alphonse Gabriel Mourey, convicted recently of a number of crimes, including alleged participation in the robbery of the Washington Square home of Albert R. Shattuck, retired New York banker.

As the President of the Republic usually follows the recommendations of the pardon commission, and especially as the jurors who tried the condemned man requested that clemency be shown him, it is expected that the death sentence will be annulled. The jurors said that when they convicted Mourey it was not intended that their verdict would entail death. Mr. Shattuck also wrote President Doumergue an appeal for the life of Mourey.

Health Resolutions

QUESTION—I feel all out of sorts, not actually sick, but never full of energy or enthusiasm for my work. Can your spinal adjustments aid in building up my health?

ANSWER—You may be one of those individuals who resolve time after time to stop neglecting your health, but still continue to neglect it.

You realize that good health is the one thing above all earthly possessions that is worth sacrificing most to have. When you are sick this fact is doubly appreciated. Health is the basis of all real happiness and success. With health you have energy and strength with which to accomplish greater achievements and render better service. And with it comes the rewards of good service.

If you really want HEALTH don't make another resolution, but 'phone 431 and arrange an appointment. We will cheerfully give you an explanation of the Science of Chiropractic, and if you desire, an examination and spinal analysis. You can decide for yourself whether or not you believe Chiropractic will be effective in your case.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE DONE THIS VERY THING AND ARE NOW HEALTHY, HAPPY AND EFFICIENT BECAUSE OF THEIR FORESIGHT.

NOTICE

Getting rid of Leaves at this season of the year is a problem confronting Citizens generally as it is contrary to the Fire By-law to Burn Leaves Within the Fire Limits, and in places to endanger Pavements or Sidewalks.

We suggest Leaves be raked up into piles at one corner of the Garden to rot and use as fertilizer for flower beds, etc. Any surplus Leaves may be burned on earth roadways away from Walk or Pavement, providing some adult person is in charge of the fire, which should be thoroughly soaked with water when the operation is over.

FIRE ON WINDY DAYS SHOULD AT ALL TIMES BE AVOIDED.

Fire Permits to Burn Leaves must be obtained from Fire Chief Gimblett.

ELECTIONS IN BRITAIN BITTER; MUD-SLINGING MARKS CAMPAIGN

All Three Parties Raking the Gutters for Mud—Ministers Lose Tempers.

MacDONALD PEEVED

Conservatives Receive Encouraging Reports From Country.

LONDON, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press Cable). — The Conservatives who started the election campaign expecting that their party would gain from twenty to thirty seats are now placing their hopes, apparently quite sincerely considerably higher. The reports received from the country districts over the week-end are quite satisfactory to the Conservative organizers.

The appearance of Winston Churchill on the Conservative side and the candidacy of Sir Hamar Greenwood as an anti-socialist have had generally heartening effect.

It was predicted by the Canadian Press about ten days ago that the election would be one of the bitterest on record and events up till the present time have unfortunately only too amply fulfilled the prediction. The Sunday Observer speaks of all three parties raking the gutters to fling more mud although Stanley Baldwin sets the example in the other direction while H. H. Asquith is the same mirror of excellence he always has been. Premier MacDonald has been the target of gross abuse and being very human has given way to it.

Tempers Frazzled

"I have never seen an election where the ministers of the government so completely lost their tempers", declared Lloyd George Saturday night, "Members of other administrations have been defeated, but they took it like sportsmen while these men are bad losers. MacDonald calls his opponents silly idiots. I never before heard language like that used by a man in his position.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express discussing the revival of epithets and personalities amongst all the speakers in the campaign likens the present contest as coming near to the famous Pickwickian election in virulent vituperation and corrosive invective. MacDonald has set the pace says the Express, in corrosive superlatives which are "too hot for the ordinary politician. Not satisfied with telling his opponents that they are telling lies he compares them to many dogs sniffing around a dungheap."

Lord Birkenhead has nobly spurned such language in response to these efforts of MacDonald although his missles are more highly polished but Winston Churchill is not out of the running in the orgy of epithets.

227 Triangular Fights

Because of the large number of Liberal withdrawals there will be straight fights between Conservatives and Laborities in no less than 247 contests. Morever, owing to last hour party activitiy in nominating extra candidates chiefly by the Labor party there will be more triangular fights than was expected—227, distributed as follows:—

London 23, English boroughs 71; English Counties 104; With the remainder in Wales, Scotland and Ireland.

Thus three-cornered fights are distributed over the whole kingdom and make the outcome of the elections very difficult to predict.

Forty-One Women

There are 41 women candidates, Labor supplying a majority of them 22 to be exact, while the Conservatives have nominated 12, the Liberals six, and the Independents one. Lady Astor, the Duchess of Atholl, Lady Terrington and all the women members of the last parliament are seeking re-election. The other women candidates include many well known in the women's movement.

There was a lull in the campaign over Sunday, affording an opportunity of reviewing the situation, which is noteworthy, first, for the growing confidence of the Conservative party in their coming back as the largest party in the house, even if not with an absolute majority, and second, for the frankness with which a new coalition government is canvassed in the press.

When parliament was dissolved there was no hint given publicly by either the Liberal or Conservative press that such a move was contemplated. Even now the attitude of the Conservative and Liberal leaders is that the arrangement made to withdraw candidates where triangular contests would give a chance for a Labor victory, were more in the form of local agreements having no reference to any possible pact after the elections.

Liberal Works Fast

LONDON, Oct. 20. —(Canadian Press Cable).—An instance of the hustle in this election campaign was seen Saturday when General Spears was on his way by airplane to his constituency of Loughborough accompanied by his wife fifty minutes after he disembarked from a steamer at Southampton

General Spears, who is a Liberal, was in Chicago when he learned of the dissolution of parliament and immediately made plans for a quick return home. Before the steamer arrived at Southampton he was making plans for a flight to his constituency. When he arrived at Loughborough with his wife he was given a rousing reception.

1,416 Candidates Are Nominated in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Final figures made known Saturday night show that 1,416 candidates were nominated for Parliamentary honors in Great Britain on Saturday, including 32 unopposed, making with the previous nominations for the Cambridge and London Universities, a total of 1,422 candidates, comprising:

532 Conservatives,
501 Labor,
342 Liberals,
12 Independents,
9 Co-operatives,
8 Communists,
7 Constitutionalists,
7 Republicans,
1 Sinn Feiner,
1 Prohibitionist,
1 Nationalist,
1 Christian Pacifist.

Nominations for the combined Universities and the University of Wales have yet to be made.

ONLY 32 ACCLAMATIONS.

Stanley Baldwin Among the Elected Candidates in Britain

Canadian Press Cable.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Thirty-two elections by acclamation have been reported in connection with the official nominations Saturday, this being 18 fewer than the nominations which proceeded the 1923 election, the total then being 50. There are 16 Conservatives returned to Parliament without a contest, 9 labor and 5 liberals. In addition to these J. H. Whitley, Speaker of the House of Commons, Liberal, goes back without a fight, in accordance with precedence in connection with the Speakership, and T. P. O'Connor, Nationalist, the veteran commoner is again returned by acclamation for the Scotland division of Liverpool, as anticipated.

In the election of December 6, 1923, when 60 members were returned by acclamation, there were 35 Conservatives in the number, 11 Liberals, 3 Labor and 1 Nationalist.

The only member of the Labor Government who will not have to look for votes on October 29 for re-election is Vernon Hartshorn, postmaster-general. He was among the chosen few elected by acclamation today. Former Premier Stanley Baldwin's acclamation was anticipated, nevertheless the Conservative party takes is at a good omen.

The following were elected by acclamation:

Conservatives —Former Premier Stanley Baldwin, Bewdley division of Worcestershire; H. D. King, St. South Padington; J. M. Erskine St. George's division, Westminister; Hon. F. S. Jackson, East Riding of Howdenshire, Yorkshire; Lord Stanley, Fylde, Lancaster; Sir Leslie Scott, Exchange division of Liverpool; Captain H. Dixon, East Belfast, T. Moles, South Belfast; T. Sinclair, Queen's University, Belfast; T. Moles, South Belfast; T. Sin-

TROLLY CRASH KILLS TWO AND INJURES SCORES

Four Believed Fatally Hurt in Collision at Tonawanda, N. Y., on Sunday.

EXCURSION TRAINS

Motor Trouble Halted First Section—Rear-End Collision Resulted.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Two are dead, four more probably will die, 75 injured are in hospitals and private homes, and an undetermined number of passengers are suffering from slight bruises as the result of a rear end collision of two three-car International Railway electric trains on the Niagara Falls-Buffalo high speed line at Ellicott Creek in Tonawanda at 1:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon. As far as could be learned, no Canadians were among the injured.

The dead—Miss Florence Devery, 4416 North Third street, Philadelphia.

George McCullough, 716 South Second street, Philadelphia.

Probably fatally injured:

Elizabeth Foder, Penn, and Folkrot street, Philadelphia (fractured skull, broken arm and possible internal injuries, at General Hospital, Buffalo).

Mrs. Flora Fleischman, 49, Prospect Ave., Brooklyn, at DeGraff Memorial Hospital, North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Mary Rodgers, Negress, 17 North 57th Street, Philadelphia, fractured plevis and possible internal injuries, at Milard Fillmore Hospital, Buffalo.

An unidentified man, internal injuries, at Millard Fillmore Hospital.

From Philadelphia.

Excursionists from Pennsylvania and New Jersey Cities with the greater number from Philadelphia were being carried in five three-car trains from Niagara Falls to Buffalo, on the fist leg of the return trip to Phildelphia when the crash occurred. The first train had left Niagara Falls at 12:30 o'clock. The trains involved in the collision were th: first and second sections.

The first train had just rounded a curve several hundred feet from the Ellicott Street stop when motor trouble caused it to stop. It drew up in front of the station.. The second section, following immediately behind crashed into the rear of the standing train. Three cars were telescoped. The most seriously injured were riding in the first car of the second section. The car was telescoped at both ends, its sides were bulged out and it was thrown from the rails. Many passengers in the middle cars of each section were hurt. The rear of the second car of the first train was crushed. Persons standing on the platform were the most severely hurt. In the centre car of the second section most of the injured were taken from the smoking compartment of the first sections' rear car escaped serious injury by leaping.

RUSSIAN GRAND DUKE CYRIL, SELF-PROCLAIMED CZAR, HAILED ONLY BY A KINGDOM OF OUTCASTS

Cousin of the Murdered Nicholas Has Many Adherents Scattered in Exile.

ONCE BANISHED

Grand Duke Nicholas, Former Generalissimo of Russian Forces, Living in France.

By Milton Bronner

LONDON, Oct.20.—"I, Cyril Romanoff, by virtue of my cousinship with the late Czar Nicholas II, and spurred on by various kinsmen and advisers, hereby proclaim myself czar of all Russias — outside of Russia.

"I announce myself:

'Grand Duke of New York's phantom Russia.

'Grand Duke of London's little Russia.

"Grand Duke of Paris' make-believe Russia.

"Grand Duke of Berlin's transplanted Russia.

"I proclaim myself the titular ruler of all the charming Russian princesses who escaped with their lives and their ropes of pearls; of all the noblemen who saved their skins and their English bonds and stocks; of all the 'poor' Russians to be seen in Europe's great capitals eating expensive meals, drinking costly wines and dancing in the gay cabarets.

"Incidentally, I am also ruler of the real Russian patriots who lost their all in the revolution, and who are now to be seen peddling matches on Galata Bridge in Constantinople, acting as waiters in German restaurants; singing in Parisian cafes and otherwise eking out bare living."

The above is not the text of the Grand Duke Cyril's recent pronunciamento from Cobourg, Germany, calling himself czar of all the Russians, but it is nearer the truth at the present time than his own document. He is just czar of some Russians.

Recognized By Few

Many of the aristocratic butterflies, who escaped having their wings singed by the Bolshevjk flame and many real Russian patriots who willing to acknowledge Cyril as the rightful heir to the throne. In all the great capitals of Europe and in New York and Chicago he has his adherents.

But it isn't unanimous. Many thinking men and most fighting men among Russian exiles remember that dwelling in quiet retirement 40 miles from Paris is the ablest of living Romanoffs—the Grand Duke Nicholas.

He, too, is a cousin of the late czar and unlike any other living Romanoff, he is a real fighting man, who commanded great armies in the late war and won some great victories.

People who dream of a restored Russian monarchy, with much of the old gay life for the aristocracy, are rallying around Cyril at his little court in Cobourg, Germany.

People who visualize a Russia restored from Bolshevik ruin and famine and lawlessness by means of discipline, order, justice and hard work, are paying pilgrimage to Nicholas in his French home. Some prefer the handsome, romantic looking dreamer; others prefer the grim, hard-bitten soldier.

In Japanese War

Cyril was born in the palace of Tsarkoe Selo and, like so many young sprigs of royalty, played at taking up the profession of arms. In the Russo-Japanese war he was a young naval officer on board the Petroupavlovsk when that vessel was blown up at Port Arthur.

What the people thought of him may be judged by the cynical saying that went around Russia at the time: "The greatest calamity is not that the ship was lost, but that Cyril was saved."

The young grand duke came into the public eye again when he braved the czar's displeasure by marrying the divorced Grand Duchess of Hesse. For a period this earned him and his wife banishment from Russia. They were afterwards forgiven.

In 1917 Cyril flirted with the revolutionaries, but when revolution degenerated into Bolshivism, he escaped and reverted to his monarchistic principles.

Two years ago he proclaimed himself protector of the Russian throne His recent manifesto calling himself Czar is the natural sequence.

The most immediate effect of it may be that the Bolshies, who are on good terms with Germany, may demand that the self-anointed czar be expelled from the reich.

LIQUOR FINE $1,000

Stratford Bootlegger Also to Serve Three Months in Jail.

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—William Bannon of Logan was fined $1,000 and sentenced to three months in jail on Saturday on a charge of selling liquor. Failure to pay the fine will add three more months to the jail sentenced.

This case was an aftermath of the Hone suicide case in Elma. During the inquest two young farm lads, Cummings and Thibadeau, told of securing liquor from Bannon. On Saturday they repeated their story. The defence admitted having furnished liquor to the boys, but maintained it was a mixture of mustard, pepper, ginger and water. However, Cummings and Thibadeau swore in their evidence that it was real liquor. Conviction was given.

LOST WIFE AND JOB

DR. A. L. HALL-QUEST,

Dean of the University of Pittsburg, divorced his wife that she might marry the man she has been living with for a year in Chicago. The trustees of the University last week demanded and received the resignation of Prof. Hall-Quest, who has lost both his wife and his position, Mrs. Hall-Quest and her lover, Major F. W. Hart, were married in Chicago last Thursday. She wept during the ceremony and afterwards.

"It has been such a long ten days," she sobbed. "The suspense has been terrible. Just waiting, waiting." Hart took her in his arms as the guests moved away.

STORMY MEETINGS

Newfoundland Elections on October 27 Generating Heat.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Stormy scenes marked the opening of the campaign in the Bona Vista district, where Premier Munroe and Sir William Coaker, leader of the Opposition party, have been holding meetings in preparation for the election of October 27. A Munroe meeting was broken up Friday night, messages from Bona Vista, the chief town of the district, report.

Munroe refused to be discouraged by the hostility shown in Bona Vista which had been conceded to Coaker, and held without disturbance a meeting Saturday according to reports. The head of the Fishermen's Union, the strongest labor organization in the district, has been reported as an active campaigner for Coaker.

The majority party under the leadership of Premier Munroe has not as yet campaigned actively, but it is expected to assume an aggressive attitude this week in view of the nearness of polling day.

Any person that will act as scrutineer or supply a car for the Moderation League on October 23, please report to Committee Rooms, 444 George, 'Phone 550. MR. C. B. COONES.

BURIED ON BIRTHDAY

Ex-Mayor of Stratford Had Planned to Celebrate Anniversary.

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press)—Honored in death as he was loved and respected in life, the remains of John Brown, ex-Mayor and former M.L.A. for North Perth, were laid away at Avondale Cemetery Saturday.

By a strange turn of fate John Brown was buried just 75 years to the day of his birth, on which day had been planned a celebration of the event. From all walks of life came people to pay their respects to one so long identified with the progress of Stratford and Perth County. Rev. Mr. Martin, assisted by Canon Cluff, officiated. The bearers were: G. G. McPherson, K.C.; George Hamilton, Dr. D. B. Fraser, D. M. Ferguson, W. Lawrence and Dr. J. P. Rankin, M.P.

JUDGE REPRIMANDED TALKATIVE JURYMAN

Juror Persisted in Prompting Witness Giving Evidence.

WINDSOR, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Talkative jurymen will not be tolerated during the hearing of trials at Sandwich.

Justice Rose, presiding at the Supreme Court sessions last week, was obliged to momentarily halt a witness in the act of giving evidence, and reprimanded a juryman who insisted upon aiding the witness in his questions and answers.

Several times when witness paused as though unable to recall a particular incident, one of the jurymen would intervene and supply the necessary information.

After tolerating the interruption several times, Justice Rose stopped the case and warned against repetition of violation of the rules of procedure.

UNITED STATES AID NECESSARY TO PEACE PLAN

League of Nations Realizes Weakness of Any System of Sanctions Without U.S.A.

NEUTRAL AT LEAST

Otherwise Aggressor States Might Obtain Loans and War Supplies in America.

GENEVA, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—In their preliminary study of the protocal for the pacific settlement of international disputes which was recently adopted here, the experts of the League of Nations are said to be reaching the conclusion that without the beneficent neutrality of the United States it will be difficult to organize sanctions against any aggressor state.

The correspondent of a press agency learns that this preliminary study has demonstrated forcibly the nature of the problem of arranging any effective system of sanctions with the United States not adhering to the protocol. Among the many examples which might be cited, two are brought forward. They are those where the signatories to the protocol shall endeavor to bring pressure against an aggressor state by cutting off all loans and all supplies of war materials. It is pointed out that in such a contingency an aggressor state always could have the resort of applying to the United States for help.

League experts are seeking to work out an elastic series of sanctions which can be applied progressively.

Pressure By Degrees.

The first stage would be the cutting off of consular and diplomatic relations with a state which had been declared an aggressor. The ensuing steps would be unanimous stopping of the flotation of loans, thus preventing an aggressor to acquire funds with which to carry on any war; the severing of financial and economic relations, and the institution of a pacific blockade, including suppression of the provi-

Selling Liquor in Sealed Packages

THE Ontario Government has announced that should the O.T.A. be defeated on 23rd October it will open Government-operated liquor stores, and,

1st—Sell liquor in sealed packages.

2nd—Curtail its sale in every way possible for the purpose of reducing its admitted "evils."

3rd—Limit "the quantity of liquor that could be sold to any one purchaser."

GOVERNMENT SALE ADMITTED FAILURE.

Hon. Howard Ferguson has admitted that the Government control of liquor h- been a failure in British Columbia and in Quebec, because in those Provinces there is virtually no control about it. Yet they have attempted to make a success of the very systems of selling that the Ontario Government proposes trying to enforce should the O.T.A. be defeated.

GOVERNMENT RESTRICTIONS RESENTED.

The special representative of the Toronto Star who visited the four "wet" Provinces to study their systems of Government control sums up his conclusions on the sale of liquor in sealed packages as follows:

"It is the same with home drinking. The restriction of the sale of liquor in sealed packages and the prohibition of drinking in public places have the effect of giving people unlimited liquor to drink and making them drink it in the homes or in illegal quarters. These restrictions, once liquor is available, seem to give greater offence to a multitude of drinkers than total prohibition. With renewed energy they insist that no one has the right to dictate to them when, where, or how they shall drink, and be hanged to strict Government regulations. The Government control laws in the West create much more turmoil and make liquor more the topic of general conversation than the O.T.A. in Ontario.

"Drinking in unauthorized clubs became so bad in B.C. that the Control Board gave permission to 70 clubs to keep the liquor of members on the club premises.

THAT IS WHAT WILL HAPPEN IN ONTARIO IF THE O.T.A. IS DEFEATED.

LIMITING SALES IMPRACTICABLE.

In Quebec they have endeavoured to limit the liquor that can be sold to any one individual. But it does not work. People who do not want liquor for their own use go in and buy a supply and turn it over at a profit to those who do. Bootleggers buy large quantities in this way.

On this point Canon Flannigan, an Anglican minister of Montreal, says:

"The idea of Goverment control was to be the restriction of the traffic within normal limits—in practice it is working out as a business proposition. There is supposed to be a limt of one bottle of hard stuff for each person. But as many as seven men in costly touring cars can visit a series of stores and fill the car for rum-running or bootlegging purposes."

THE BEST ACT.

The best and most easily enforced Act is a prohibitory Act like the O.T.A.

FOOD WASTAGE IS JUSTIFIED DEALERS CLAIM

Food Destroyed At Incinerator Is Culled To Keep Up Quality.

LESS BURNED TO-DAY.

Widow of City Pioneer Slowly Dying Of Cold and Exposure.

A visit to the city incinerator this morning showed a falling-off in the usual quantity of fruit and vegetables sent there for destruction, but there was still a considerable amount. This entirely satisfies the men who are compelled to burn the damp material, and perhaps intimates that on Saturday night many needy people received help through being able to purchase the foodstuffs at lower prices than prevailed throughout the week.

Following the investigation opened last week by The Examiner into the destruction of food by the wagon load, several merchants were interviewed, and while some resented the disclosures as infringing their rights of trade, others were willing to make explanations of the huge wastage. Porter S. White, grocer and fruit dealer, of George Street, pointed out that in order to keep the fruit and produce up to the high standard on which the store prides itself, it is necessary to cull the poorer articles periodically. In picking over the potatoes and fruit much is thrown out that would lower the grade if mixed with the perfect bulk. This accounts for any fruit and vegetables destroyed by this store, which is not in any combine to maintain high prices of fruit.

Another George Street fruit dealer avoided the query as to what he did with his surplus stock by referring in heated voice to the dealer who brought a truck laden with grapes from Niagara on Saturday and undersold the local merchants. "We pay a tax," this man said, "and he comes in here and sells his grapes at 35 cents a basket, when we have to charge 45 cents. He loses money, because he can't make a profit at that price, but he makes us lose money too. The police should get after him." This dealer said that sometimes he sells fruit cheaper on Saturday night to get rid of it, but he has to throw a great deal into the garbage.

Other dealers refused to remark on the wasteful system, although all denied the existence of a ring or combine.

Some Sufferers.

Another case of hardship in which the wasted food might provide relief was uncovered to-day. A woman, of 86, widow of a pioneer, who was a veteran of the Indian Mutiny, is dying from cold and exposure. This woman's case is being looked after by the G.W.V.A., and the secretary, S. Whatley, would be glad to receive the surplus food stuffs that would be discarded by the dealers.

An especially pathetic case is that of a Great War veteran, who is suffering from a mental disability due to war service. The Government has cut him off the pension list as being recovered, and disclaims responsibility for his maintenance. He cannot obtain employment because employers say it is not safe to have him working in their plants. His eight children require clothing, and the whole family needs food.

It has been suggested that the surplus stocks of fruit and vegetables that now find their way to the incinerator every Monday morning might be distributed on Saturday evening at a low price to the charities that are actively engaged in alleviating distress, and re-distributed by them to the needy cases under their care.

This would not rob any merchant of a sale; would give the dealers some return for the food they now throw away; and would be a big factor in relieving distress among the unemployed and suffering people in the city.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor Celebrate 65th Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor, 279 Sherbrooke Street, celebrated the 65th anniversary of their wedding at their home on Friday, October 17.

They were married in Old Wensfield Anglican Church in Staffordshire, England, on October 17th, 1859.

The anniversary was observed by a reception in the home, which was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers.

The wedding breakfast was served on a table of which the centre piece was a generous wedding cake bearing the inscription, "65th Anniversary."

The bride and groom, who were almost 85 years of age, are in very good health. Mr. Taylor—"Daddy" as he is widely known—has resided in Peterboro for 43 years. Twenty-five years' service was given to the C. P. R. as stationary engineer without one black mark.

Mrs. Taylor, although perhaps not so widely known, because of her quiet, unassuming disposition, has yet proved herself one of the most loyal wives a man ever had.

Of their large family, only four children remain: Mrs. T. H. Byers, Mrs. S. H. Mitchell and Mrs. Stocker of this city, and Dr. H. Taylor, of Hugo, Colorado.

There are thirteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

NEW HOSPITAL SHIP

Volunteer Crew Of Four Will Sail Boat Across the Atlantic.

LONDON, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—A volunteer crew of four will sail a hundred-foot hospital ship across the Atlantic Ocean from Yarmouth to Labrador next summer. They will not receive a penny for their services. The ship, "Strathcona II.," is to be used in connection with missionary work among fisher folk along the Labrador coast. It is designed to replace the "Strathcona" wrecked off the Labrador coast some eighteen months ago.

HULL, Quebec, October 20 (Canadian Press). — Nick Life, single, a resident of Philipsburg, Pennsylvania, an employee of the Honey Chimney Company of Chicago, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon, when the top section of a reinforced concrete chimney he was engaged in erecting for the E. B. Eddy Company collapsed and he fell 180 feet to the ground.

HOLLAND BUYS MILITARY PLANES

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20 — The government of the Netherlands has ordered 12 high speed scout planes, and 16 two seater planes for artillery observation. This military equipment is to be delivered in 1925.

NEAR INSANE.

Experts claim 200,000 people in New York city are "on the border line between sanity and madness." If you know New York, you'll comment that the estimate is too low.

On a population basis, there must be at least a couple of millions of such borderline cases in the whole country. And the craziest ones are not locked up. Their votes count as much as the ballots of the intelligent. Democracy is not without its handicaps. Sensible mentality tests would be a wise safeguard at the polls.

MILLBROOK SIGN WAS TAKEN DOWN

Work of Those Opposed to the Ontario Temperance Act.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 20. — That Millbrook has itse share of those actively opposed to the Ontario Temperance Act, and that this element does not hesitate to express itself in acts of lawlessness, was evidenced on Saturday night when the large sign put up by the supporters of temperance near the big Moderation League poster on Tupper street was ruthlessly destroyed under cover of darkness the same evening.

What could not be torn off the boards was blackened over.

The matter has been placed in the hands of police authorities and steps will be taken to find out and punish the offenders

Rev. F. H. Howard was in Toronto, last week attending the meeting of the Church Union committee. There are seventy members on the Committee coming from all over the Dominion. The general committee of the United Churches meets in Toronto on the tenth of June 1925.

A series of very successful rallies in the interests of the Ontario Temperance Act have been held throughout the Riding of East Durham dur ing the past week or ten days, the arrangements being in the hands of the secretary of the temperance association, Rev. R. T. Richards, and the chief speaker at each gathering being Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa.

South Monaghan, Canton, Cavanville, Bensfort, Janetville, Mount Pleasant, and Bethany have each given large audiences, and an attentive hearing to the facts ably present ed for their consideration.

Campbellcroft, Elizabethville, and Port Hope, will be reached this week. No active opposition has so far been encountered through an opportunity for asking questions, or expressing opinions, is given each, night before the gathering is dismissed. More than once the opinion has been confidently expressed that the results of the organized effort being put forth will be seen on polling-day when it is expected that East Durham will return a substantial majority in favor of retaining the O.T.A., "the best piece of temperance legislation the world has ever seen."

The entertainment feature of the programme at each meeting has proved a popular drawing-card, Mr. Barton, who has had many years experience as a dramatic reader, giving a number of selections, humorous and otherwise, preceeding his ad dress, and by special request, closing with Bret Harte's, "The Vagabands", a most appropriate conclusion and one which never fails to win warm applause from his listeners.

EIGHT HUNDRED AT A.B.C. CONVENTION

Reconstruction Of Canadian Advisory Board Recommended.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.) — A two-day convention of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, familiarly known as the A. B.C., has been held here at which eight hundred of the leading newspaper publishers and advertisers of the United States and Canada were present. The Canadian division recommended a reconstruction of the Canadian Advisory Board so as to give proportionate representation to the various classes of Canadian membership. J. M. Gibson of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was recommended by the Canadian division for re-election as Canadian director and this recommendation was accepted at the general meeting. The Canadian representatives included Eugene Tarte, La Patrie, Montreal; Geo. E. Scroggie, Toronto Mail and Empire; W. E. R. Harris, Toronto Star; N. T. Bowman, Toronto Telegram; R. K. Stocks, Toronto Globe; F. W. Crabbe, Ottawa Citizen; A. B. Mitchell, London Farmers' Advocate; James Allen, Hamilton Spectator; Frank Burde, Vancouver Province; T. J. Brummie, St. John Telegraph; M. P. Geddes, Calgary Farm and Ranch Review; O. A. Cohagen, Winnipeg Northwest Farmer; W. A. Lydiatt, Toronto Marketing, and J. M. Gibbon, Montreal.

THREE WERE KILLED.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Three persons were killed instantly and a small boy was injured when an automobile was crushed by a Michigan Central passenger train at a crossing shortly before 7 o'clock Sunday evening. The dead are: Arthur Wilson, 30 years old, and Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Parrow.

William Ford, 4 years old, is in a serious condition in Providence Hospital with a fractured skull and fractured left leg. The automobile party attempted to cross the track following the passage of a westbound train, failing to notice a second section of the train, which carried their machine several hundred yards down the track.

HUSTLE GREEKS OFF TO PRISON

Turks At Old Habit Of Making Life Miserable For Others.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 20. — (Special).—At the point of the bayonet, routing the victims from bed, the Turkish police have taken matters of exchange of populations with Greece into their own hands and marched some 3,000 Greeks to imprisonment in the historic fortress of the Seven Towers.

The Greeks, who were hustled off without being permitted to bring along belongings, included many who were not to be exchanged, but their protests fell upon deaf ears.

A child suffering from smallpox was dragged off to the fortress. Old men and women were prodded along the road by armed envoys, and in one instance a baker's boy, his hands and apron still white with flour, was hurried off to the prison.

The Greek population of Constantinople is terror stricken as the result of the actions of the police. The latter claim the Greeks seized belong to a category slated for exchange and that they have delayed too long after obtaining passports. Many of the prisoners had no passports, however.

Strong protests have been made to the mixed Inter-Allied Commission, which charges of the transfer of the Greeks to Greece in return for Turks to Turkey, but the Commission has been unable to check the arrests.

SEARCH OF EVIDENCE.

Oil Operations in the United States Being Probed.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—The long arm of the United States Government has stretched again into Canada in search of evidence of the alleged passage of Liberty bonds between Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator, and Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior. In authorizing the commission of two persons to examine and take depositions from seven persons in Toronto who are said to have knowledge of the alleged transactions, Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy complied with the request of the Government counsel in the suit to annul the Teapot Dome lease made to the Mammoth Oil Company, Sinclair subsidiary, for assistance in gathering evidence in a case which comes to trial here in January. Persons whom the commission is authorized to examine are: Henry Smith Osler, Britton Osler, N. B. Strickland, Margaret Fordyce, Morley H. Bruels, Harold R. Boston and Louis Samuel.

Members of the commission who were appointed by Judge Kennedy to carry on the work are Harold Shautes, United States Consul at Toronto, and Gershom W. Mason, K.C., at Toronto. The showing made before Judge Kennedy in support of the application for the commission sets forth that it is expected the testimony of the witnesses named will disclose definitely the passage between Sinclair and the fall of certain Liberty bonds.

Previous action against Toronto men was taken under the Ontario statute, which their counsel maintained was ultra vires of the Ontario Legislature. Hon. N. W. Rowell, counsel for the U. S. Government, now takes action under the Dominion law.

TRUCK OVERTURNED.

Trying To Avoid a Kiss, the Driver Lost Control of Car and Went Into Ditch.

PRESCOTT, October 20 (Canadian Press). — Attempting to avoid a kiss which was being persistently offered him over his shoulder in the truck he was driving, just outside the village of Gouverneur, Ben Glazeroff stretched his body far out over the steering wheel, lost control, and he and his truck and its fatal female occupant went into the ditch, the machine turning completely over.

Glazeroff sustained a few bruises, but his affectionate companion, Jean, a fine Jersey cow, which was travelling in the rear of the truck, escaped without injury.

LEFT NEARLY MILLION.

James Parr Started Off as Office Boy and Later Became Owner of Firm.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—House renting at 13 shillings a week, was home of a man who has just died at Manchester, leaving 197,000 pounds, almost a million dollars. Neighbors regarded him, James Parr, merely as comfortably off. About 60,000 pounds was left to public institutions and more will revert to them on death of Parr's relatives.

Parr started life as office boy and ultimately became owner of Manchester calico printing firm.

PELLETIER IS DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly From a Stroke of Apoplexy.

QUEBEC, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Entering his daughter-in-law's residence shortly after 8 o'clock last night, Hon. Jean Marc Joseph Pantaleon Pelletier, Agent-General for the Province of Quebec in the United Kingdom, suffered a stroke of apoplexy and died instantly. Hon. Dr. Pelletier, who was home on vacation from his official duties, had just crossed the threshhold of the house when he fell to the floor. Medical assistance was at once summoned, but life was pronounced extinct when the doctors arrived. An inquest will be held.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

The good points of a full-skirted frock of peach-colored taffeta bind themselves with silver ribbon matching the three-tiered belt of the quaint basque.

"THERE are times in every young man's life" as Booth Tarkington's youthful heroes are always telling the world, when they want to see their adorable Lolas in something other than the straight, narrow string-bean frock. For dances and parties the picturesque bouffant dress with its Victorian shoulders and full skirt is perfectly charming and only the young girl can wear it. Bound with silver ribbons it is delightful in pale dawn-blue or rose-colored taffeta or leaf green gros de Londres. Cream Georgette with apple-green ribbons is delectable. These frocks in flowered silks make very lovely bridesmaids' dresses.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Frank Linton Funeral Tomorrow Morning—Fell Out of Apple Tree.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 20. — The funeral of the late Frank Linton will be held at ten o'clock Tuesday morning instead of the afternoon as announced before.

While Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, Havelock Road, was out picking apples at Mr. Wm. Atkinson's, near Dartford, on Friday, she fell out of a tree and sprained her right ankle badly.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw, Havelock Road, was knocked over by a car and was badly bruised and shaken up. The doctor was called but on examination found no bones broken. She and another little girl were playing and did not see the car coming. The man in the car did all in his power to save her, and no blame is attached to him.

The young ladies of St. Andrew's Mission Circle met on Friday night at the home of Miss Verna Hay, Front street, in honor of Miss Georgia Dickson, and gave her a miscellaneous shower in view of her approaching marriage. Miss Dickson received some pretty and useful presents. A social hour was spent and dainty refreshments were served.

Born—In Campbellford, on Saturday, October 18th, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Nicholson, Garry street, a daughter.

Joseph Poole's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mr. Joseph Poole, who died on Wednesday, was held at the home of his son, Mr. Nelson Poole, in Seymour, with whom he lived, on Thursday afternoon, at half past two. Rev. C. F. McIntosh, of St. Andrew's church, Campbellford, had the service. He was buried at Mount Pleasant cemetery at Campbellford. The pall-bearers were Messrs James Jones, Walter Scott, Albert Bertrand, John Jones, John Ibey and William Clarke.

The late Mr. Poole was born in Brighton 85 years ago. He married Miss Jane Wilson 60 years ago. She died four years ago last February He leaves two sons and one daughter, George at Warkworth; Nelson on the homestead, and Mrs. John Ivey at Campbellford. He came to reside on the farm where he died 55 years ago.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Christ church had a very successful cooking sale and tea on Saturday afternoon in the parish hall.

The ladies were very generous in sending home made cooking and those in the tea room were kept busy. The contributions at the cooking booth were all sold by half past five.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, members of the Campbellford True Blue Lodge, wish to express their thanks to their Sister and Brother members and friends for the very pleasant evening and the many appreciated gifts received at the shower given for them by the members of the Lodge on Tuesday evening.

BRITISH WON THEIR POLITICAL RIGHTS EIGHT CENTURIES BEFORE RUSSIANS

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Stanley Baldwin in his speech at Cardiff said it was intolerable insolence to look to Russia for a gospel suitable for a progressive people who had fought for their rights eight centuries ago while the Russians had been given their freedom only within the lifetime of many people now living. It was Great Britain's duty to lead the world and not to follow anyone.

Mr. Baldwin referred to the election manifesto issued by the leaders of the trades unions which mentioned "constitutional rebellion." Those two words together, he said, meant nothing. "You can no more speak of constitutional rebellion than you can speak of chilly hell," he added

PRINCE IN MONTREAL.

Royal Highness Had Dinner With Sir Henry Thornton.

MONTREAL, October 20. — His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, received both an official and popular welcome on his arrival in Montreal last night. Representatives of the province, the city and the local military extended official greetings at the Bonaventure station, but as soon as the Prince came in sight of the assembled crowds there were spontaneous shouts and cheers during his passage to the street.

As the train came to a stop His Royal Highness stepped to the platform, and exchanged greetings with Sir Henry Thornton, K.C.B. president of the Canadian National Railways, who at a later hour was host at a dinner to the prince in the Mount Royal Club.

Lieut.-Governor Perodeau offered greetings of the province, and Premier Taschereau and Mayor Duquette added their official welcome.

19 VESSELS IN BOSTON RUM ROW.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Nineteen liquor-laden vessels—three steamers and sixteen schooners—now form a rum row approximately eighteen miles east of Boston Light, according to officials. The fleet has grown to this size within the last week, and it is believed that most of the vessels have come from the Block Island and Montauk Point, L.I., rum rows as the result of recent Coast Guard activity.

ADMIRAL SCOTT DEAD.

Noted Naval Authority Died In His 72nd Year.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press3.—Admiral Sir Percy Scott, noted naval authority, is dead in his 72nd year. He had charge of the gunnery defences of London against German aircraft attacks in 1915-16.

He was the inventor of the night signalling apparatus now used in the navy and held numerous decorations for service in Congo, Egypt, South Africa and China.

TO DRAIN ZUYDER ZEE.

Dutch Prepare to Carry out Great Reclamation Project.

THE HAGUE, October 20. — Besides draining the Zuyder Zee, the Dutch are now preparing to undertake another great land reclamation project, conversion of the Biesbosch district into arable land.

The Biesbosch (Reed Forest) has remained in a semi-flooded condition since the great disaster of 1421, when a tidal wave swept over it. Thousands of people perished, 72 towns and villages were destroyed, and the city of Dordrecht was torn from mainland. The district now is a labyrinth of small water courses.

For the reclamation of the first section of 2500 acres the government has promised a subsidy. The scheme is expected to help in relieving the unemployment.

SIMILARITY IN THE ELECTIONS

British Result Will Effect the American Issue to Some Extent.

(By Percy M. Sarl—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Although the suddenness and bitterness of domestic elections have largely British interest in the United States campaign, nevertheless there is sufficient similarity in the issues to intensify the interest as soon as the domestic political fate is known on October 29th.

Business interests are watching the possibility of tariff reduction, although there is no reason to hope seriously that a Democrat or Independent victory would lead to early revision, but would doubtless pass a tariff bill designed to benefit the farming class which would raise the price of wheat for the British consumers. Thus there is little prospect of benefit seen on that score.

The growth of the Independent movement in the United States has surprised close followers of world politics, while casual readers express astonishment at the "sweep of Radicalism in America," which is regarded as the most prosperous country in the world. Economist contends that unemployment and high taxation in Great Britain justified radical outbursts here, but except for a general world-wide political swing to the left, there is little apparent reason for Radicalism in the United States at present, unless Americans are convinced the highest point in prosperity has been reached and are desirous of avoiding re-action.

The Manchester Guardian to-day declares Labor successes in 1923 and 1924 has deeply impressed America, especially the continuous evidence that British Labor and Bolshevism are as apart as the two poles.

Moreover, the Laborite record in office has quieted widespread fears concerning their doctrine, thereby stimulating the American third party movement and weakening Coolidge's cause.

73 YEAR OLD MAN STILL ON THE JOB

Hugh Reid Makes Regular Time As Boiler Maker.

Whether a man earns his living by the "sweat of his brow" or the exercise of his mental powers there are times when the body becomes jaded, the brain fags, the appetite fails, the nerves give way and the system, becomes generally run-down.

Such was the condition of Hugh Reid, 523 Chambly St., Montreal, P.Q., a boiler maker, who attributes his being able to "put in regular time at work" at the age of 73 to the use of Tanlac.

"For six years past," said Mr. Reid, "I have been all run-down, suffering indigestion, bad nerves, loss of sleep and loss of weight. Before taking Tanlac I felt miserable most of the time and was losing many days from work. Tanlac has corrected my troubles and put me in shape to where I eat and sleep well, work hard and feel fine. I wouldn't be without Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bushels sold.

Coolidge with Baldwin, Davis with Asquith, Lafollette with MacDonald, while Lloyd Geore is comparable to the late Roosevelt.

While there is a strong personal liking for Davis here, owing to his popularity during his term as American Ambassador at St. James, Coolidge is accorded more respect, first as president, second as a man who took office owing to Harding's death—which produces a sympathetic feeling that he deserves another chance to formulate his own policies.

Lafollette's policies are appreciated very hazily, but at least there is much curiosity as to his fate, especially if MacDonald is overthrown. The coming election marks a serious set-back of Radicalism in "prosperous United States." It is even predicted that MacDonald's defeat will seriously affect Lafollette's chances.

POST'S BRAN FLAKES

With Other Parts of Wheat

Good as a "Daily Dozen"

REGULAR exercise eliminates poisons from the system. So does Post's Bran Flakes. If you don't get one, you need the other.

Post's Bran Flakes is the one laxative food which tempts you to eat it every day. It's delicious — crisp toasted flakes with a wonderful bran flavor. Splendid food value—all the nutriment of other valuable parts of wheat. But most important—the sure, helpful, pleasant laxative effects of bran.

Eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly. You need it. But be sure it is Post's Bran Flakes. Your grocer has it.

THE ALBERTA STRIKE.

One of the most costly strikes in the history of Canada is that in the Alberta coal mines, which has been concluded by the decision of the miners to accept the new wage agreement offered them.

It is difficult to estimate in cold cash just how much that seven months of inactivity has cost.

In the first place, the wages lost and the depreciation of property while the 8,000 miners were making up their minds must have amounted to a large sum.

But much more serious was the fact that the strike took away from Alberta an opportunity to get a foothold on the Eastern coal market.

The way was open; the qualities of the coal had been satisfactorily demonstrated and Ontario people were ready to give it a fair chance, the Ontario Government had interested itself in the matter and the Federal administration was willing to assist.

But the strike put an end to the campaign, and for the present at least has killed Alberta's opportunity.

The folly of the whole business will begin to sink into the heads of those responsible as they realize that on one side seven months' wages have been lost and on the other a golden chance to capture a most profitable market.

Strikes are not only pure barbarism, as one writer puts it, but they are always poor business not only for the contending interests but for the public as well.

PROTECTING MOTORISTS.

The Guelph Chamber of Commerce has been devoting considerable attention to the question of level crossing accidents, and after much deliberation has passed a resolution asking for the enaction of legislation making it compulsory for all drivers of motor cars and other vehicles to come to a complete stop within a distance of not less than fifty feet from any railway crossing before attempting to cross the tracks.

Such a law might be called drastic, but it could not truthfully be called unnecessary in view of the growing total of level crossing fatalities.

It is based on the idea that if the individual will not protect himself the state must act on his behalf, and the casualty list has been so heavy that there is ample justification for the suggestion of the Guelph Chamber of Commerce.

To the complaint that such legislation could not be enforced, the experience of North Carolina may be quoted.

That State has a grade crossing stop law that is reported to be well observed by motorists and effectively enforced.

It enacts that all motorists must stop within fifty feet of every unguarded grade crossing, and provides that failure to do this shall be treated as contributory negligence in any suit against a railway or trolley company for damages sustained on that crossing.

In addition, there is a fine for violating the stop law or imprisonment for ten days or both in the judgment of the court.

MINOR PHASES.

The greatest trouble in regard to the arguments advanced by both sides in connection with the plebiscite questions is that so much emphasis is being placed upon what many people are quick to perceive are really minor phases of the problem that there is even at this late hour, a good deal of indecision as to which policy promises to produce the best results.

For instance, there is much being said about the danger of mixing gasoline and drink, or, in other words, the menace of the drunken motorist.

It is all perfectly true, of course; no more dangerous combination is likely to be encountered than that of an intoxicated driver at the wheel of a car.

But as a matter of fact it is a combination that has existed under the O. T. A., as doubtless it would exist under any other system.

The very nature of the O. T. A., with its drastic penalties for infringement of the law, has caused a great deal of drinking in automobiles, the car being chosen as offering a surer refuge for a law-breaking liquor party than could be found elsewhere.

Most people know that tobe the case, and when they find dry advocates devoting a great deal of time to discussing the dangerous effect Government control would have upon motorists they begin to wonder if other arguments have as little real bearing upon the main issue as has this particular discussion.

The Moderation League must stand impeached with a similar overstressing of minor points, and between the two it is no wonder that there are numerous electors who have not yet come to a final decision.

BE TOLERANT AND REASONABLE.

If there is need for one thing more than another in Ontario at the present time, it is for the exercise of that great virtue—tolerance, says the St. Thomas Times-Journal, and the Examiner thoroughly agrees in the statement. Intolerance has played a discreditable part in all the big controversies over religion, politics, international questions, customs and habits, and, in fact, everything discussable. It is playing a big part in the temperance question now before the people of the Province. There are men and women supporting the Ontario Temperance Act who believe that anyone opposing this measure is little short of a drunkard, or a person who desires to profit by the downfall of drunkards. There are on the other side men and women who claim that those who cannot see their way clear to vote for Government control are narrow-minded bigots, desirous of imposing their will on the rest of the people. One crowd cannot see that the other crowd has a right even to express its views, or even to hold opinions. Whereas, and as a matter of fact, either side can advance good, logical arguments, and one side has as much right as the other side to be heard. Whatever the opinions thus expressed, they should be respected.

And to tolerance might be added reasonableness. There is no need for supporters of the O. T. A. to go around picturing Ontario as one enormous beer-garden if Government control comes into effect. Neither is there need for supporters of Government control to try and convince themselves and others that the Province was never steeped in such a state of intoxication as it has been under the O. T. A. Reasonableness will force anyone to admit that Ontario has improved under the O. T. A., a fact that is verified by the universal attitude against a return to the system of the open bar. The question before the electors is whether the O. T. A., a measure that does not recognize liquor as a beverage, is to be retained and improved upon from time to time or replaced by a system of selling liquor from Government stores in sealed packages as a beverage, as well as for medicinal purposes. A tolerant and reasonable attitude on the part of those on one side towards those on the other side will aid in the solution of the problem, one of the greatest that has ever faced the electors of the Province.

HAVE YOU GOOD JUDGMENT?

Good judgment is the most fundamental thing in life, claims a speaker addressing Union College students. That's putting it a bit broadly. But good judgment undoubtedly is the most important function of the brain.

Success depends largely on it. So does happiness—which is possible only by wise selection of a mate, friends, personal actions and mental attitude toward life.

Good judgment is to considerable extent inborn in all women. Men usually have to acquire it.

And it can be acquired—by broad education, open-mindedness, determination to learn both sides of the question thoroughly, and by a sense of values based on contrast.

The speaker tells the college students that in school they should get the ability to reject the wrong and select the right instinctively.

Unfortunately, it cannot be done instinctively.

Snap judgment is rarely good judgment.

Deliberate thinking—reasoning—is necessary.

The fallacy of most "intelligence tests" is that they are based on ability to think fast rather than to think "straight."

The best thinking is slow thinking. Genius is not an exception—it is one-sided, rarely has good judgment.

Children often wonder why they have to go to school and learn so many things that they'll never use directly in later life.

The answer is that the purpose is to develop the power to recognize, understand, analyze and value. That is the goal, rather than filling a brain with dates and facts like pouring gasoline into a motor car.

The old-timers educated to impart facts. The new way is to impart the power to reason and utilize, with recognition that to know where to find any desired knowledge when needed is better than to be able to pronounce all the words in the dictionary, rattle off all the dates in history, or recite the classics by heart.

Mathematics, for instance, may not be put to much use in an adding-machine age. But it develops reasoning—the power of good judgment, of being able to determine values.

WHY THE CROWD GATHERED.

The Woolworth Building houses 15,000 people—the population of quite an impressive town. This gigantic tower is a monument to the peculiar phenomenon that has congested people into cities much in the swarming spirit of bees.

Man is fundamentally an individualist.

He began that way. Time hasn't changed him, on the average, except in his sociological day-dreams.

Men congregated together, formed communities, primarily for mutual protection against enemy beasts and enemy tribesmen.

The congregating perpetuated itself. Men found it best to be near each other for exchange of individual products. This tendency increased with specialization—which is the correct word for what is usually improperly called our "civilization." Genuine civilization is spiritual, not material.

There's talk of Chicago eventually being the world's largest city, stretching out to include Milwaukee, with a total of 50 millions population.

A turn of the tide—an exodus back to nature—is looming as a possible result of airplanes. People will be able to live far out and fly hundreds of miles to work in cities reduced to collections of factories, shops and theatres.

Radio will help a lot in breaking up the big cities. Sociologists already notice that radio is "diminishing crowds." H. Addington Bruce, psychologist, puts it this way:

"Through the wizardry of radio, recreations are brought into the home and the best of music, lectures, public addresses and sports may be enjoyed without the discomforts of crowds and crowding in public places."

Radio entertainment as we have it now is, of course, crude and infantile compared with its destined future. Radio movies will come. So will television, by which you'll sit in your home and on a small screen or in a lens see such events as airplane flights, presidential inaugurations, scientific wonders, travel tours, sports and other events that formerly have necessitated travel.

Man will not become a hermit.

But his swarming in crowds already has begun to wane as a result of auto, radio and airplane. Crowds usually have an undercurrent of mob insanity, contagious to the individual brain and conducive to mental and nervous disorders.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

When 30,000 people attend a plowing match things are not in such serious condition in Ontario after all.

At least there is no complaint in Great Britain about the scarcity of political candidates.

Reading about the motor car that was assembled in eight minutes, a local man declares that he has one just like that.

You never can tell. That candidate in the British election who insured his deposit to protect himself in the event of his not securing votes enough to save, was not a Scotsman.

The British election campaign is warming up. One meeting was broken up by Labour sympathizers, using cannon crackers.

Scientists have just discovered that the Pharoh of Exodus had hardened arteries. It seems too late to do anything about it now, however.

Mr. J. A. McLeod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, says there is nothing wrong with the West. He should try to convince some of the Western Progressive members of that fact.

sion of raw materials, with a gradual tightening and extension of the blockade in proportion to the need of strengthening pressure against a country which appears to be going to war.

Article XII. of the protocal emphasizes the complexity of conditions under which the council of the League of Nations may be called upon to exercise its functions concerning economic and financial sanctions. Hence the decision to ask the technical organizations of the League to help the council in the elaboration of plans of action of economic and financial co-operation between a state attacked and the various countries assisting that state.

Might Avoid War.

The officials explain that by making a sanction elastic—a system which would be followed only in a last resort by military sanctions—it will be possible to adapt it to different contingencies and also to apply it without going so far as war with an aggressor state, whose warlike intentions probably would be overcome by systematic preliminary pressure.

It is hoped that it would be possible for some states that for some reason felt unable to go to the full extent of the sanctions, to apply only the first two or three stages, or at least bind themselves beforehand to apply only the definitely defined stages.

Domestic Disputes.

Referring to that stage of the protocol touching on consideration by the council of domestic disputes which have been thrown out of court by the world tribunal of justice, reiteration is given here officially to the explanation that the council of the League has no power to impose any kind of decision or award upon interested parties.

It is pointed out that all the council can do is to mediate between parties; to discuss the matter at issue with them and try to conciliate them or persuade them both to accept some kind of formula or agreement. In other words, the council will give the matter at issue an international airing in a conciliatory atmosphere. The protocal was amended in this respect at the suggestion of the Japanese delegation.

TWO SHIPS SANK.

Chang Tso Lin's Airplanes Sank Two Warships.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Airplanes belonging to the forces of Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, Thursday sank two Government warships at Chin Wang Tao, an important port in the Province of Chihli on the Gulf of Liaotung.

General Wu Pei Fu, commander of the Chihli forces, had his headquarters aboard one of these battleships. The ships put to sea, but two were struck with bombs and exploded and sank in flames.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 20 (Canadian Press). — Prospects that receipts of wheat in Canada would show a material enlargement next week had a depressing effect on Saturday on the wheat market here.

Closing quotations for wheat were unsettled 5-8 to 1 1-2 cents net lower, istantly killed on Saturday afternoon $1.53 1-4.

Corn finished 1-8 cent to 3-8 cent higher, oats varying from 1-4 to 3-8 cent decline to 1-4 cent advance, and provisions unchanged to 27 cents higher.

Give the children WRIGLEY'S after every meal

A prominent physician says:

"It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."

You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!

WRIGLEY'S aids digestion too, and acts as an antiseptic wash for the mouth and throat. Several flavors—all of WRIGLEY quality.

HALF MILLION TIMBER ACRES BURNED YEARLY

Dean Howe of Toronto University Opens Marmora's Course of Lectures.

FORESTRY ASSETS

Some Townships Swept By Fire Thirteen Times—Need Wood Supplies.

MARMORA, Oct. 18.—The first of the series of lectures of the university extension course was delivered at the town hall on Friday. Marmora orchestra, comprising Miss Marion Shannon, Mr. R. Westcott and Mr. Paul Clement, furnished pleasing selections whilst the audience was assembling. The duties of chairman were capably handled by Rev. Father Traynor. In enthusiastic style, he requested of his audience a wide advertisement of the whole course of lectures and introduced the lecturer of the evening, Dean Howe, of Toronto University, by saying that he was master of the subject, namely "Forest Conditions in Canada." He further eulogized the labours of Mr. F. S. Pearce in working for the success of the lectures and also in entertaining the various lecturers from time to time.

Dean Howe, in commencing his subject, remarked that the object of forestry was to produce supplies of wood materials for wood-using industries which add greatly to the wealth of the Dominion. We cannot be prosperous wthout continuous wood supplies. We are in contact with wood from the cradle to the grave. Wood forms 17 per cent. of the revenues of Canadian railways. Forestry is the use of human intelligence in directing the supplies of wood for the use of industries. Seventy-five per cent. of the soil of Canada is better adapted to the growing of trees than to any other product. We were led to believe until the last few years that our forest supplies were inexhaustible and that there was nothing to worry about. Dean Howe declared that he would later prove that such was the case.

Rainfall a Factor.

Proceeding, he said that the character of the forest was determined by the abundance and distribution of rainfall. All the great forests of the world are along the coast where there is the largest rainfall. This is true on all continents. At this point the lecturer made use of a large railway map of the Dominion of Canada to illustrate succeeding remarks. Of 3.6 million square miles of land, 1.6 million square miles is too cold to raise trees. In the eastern provinces, where the rainfall varies from 30 to 50 inches, it is possible to get 3,000 ft. of saw logs to the acre, whilst in British Columbia, with a rainfall that is from 60 to 100 inches, a half million feet to the acre has been procured. There was two million square miles of potential forest country. Half of that area has been burned in the last 75 years.

Heavy Fire Losses.

A single burning does not do much damage but the areas have been burned over and over again. Areas in adjoining townships have been burned thirteen times within the last thirty years and are now deserts. Rocky ridges not far to the north-west of Marmora once supported luxuriant forests. Some magnified slides were next shown on the screen depicting forest luxuriance and also forest devastation from the western to the eastern coasts of the Dominion. In British Columbia, forty to fifty thousand feet of lumber was known to have been obtained from a single tree. Still, more has been destroyed by fire in that province than is standing in the whole of the Dominion to-day. We are burning half a million acres every year and much valuable timber does not get the chance of regeneration. In the past, the white pine has contributed more to our wealth than any other tree.

Rev. P. Calger-Watson proposed, and Dr. H. Crawford seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to Dean Howe.

After replying, on the request of the chairman, Dean Howe dealt in an interesting way with the coloration of leaves. The national emblem, he said, was the red maple leaf, whereas that honour should have fallen upon the sugar maple leaf. It surprised many of the audience to be told that the coloration of leaves is not due to frost, but rather to the sugar matter in the leaf cells.

Father Traynor announced that the second lecture of the series would be held on Friday evening next, when Professor Cornish of Toronto University, would discourse on Mesopotamia and Palestine. A few questions put to Dean Howe were considerately and concisely answered, and then at the close of the National Anthem, members of the Extension Club adjourned to the Council Chamber for refreshments and a social half hour, with introductions to the lecturer.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Rode on Motorcycle Into a Large Truck Near Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Floyd Ramer, aged 28, and Ross Hare, aged 22, both of the village of Mount Joy, near this city, were instantly killed in darkness early Saturday morning, when they rode on a motorcycle at a considerable speed into a big motor truck stalled beside the highway near Scarboro Junction.

The road at this point is straight. The owner of the truck, C. F. Purcell of Claremount, says that all his lights were burning at the time, including a red tail light. The police are investigating all circumstances of the accident. Both young men who were killed were unmarried.

TRINITY CHOIR BANQUET.

Annual Banquet and Business Meeting Held On Thursday.

On Thursday evening, October 16, the Trinity Church Choir held their annual banquet and business meeting in the Reid Street Hall at 6.30 p.m., when 42 sat down to a magnificent spread, kindly provided by the Ladies' Aid.

A glance around the tables plainly showed how much all the good things provided were enjoyed; "actions speak louder than words."

When the tables had been cleared, the business of the evening came on, presided over by the choir leader, Mr. Geo. H. King, in the unavoidable absence of the pastor.

In a few well-chosen words the officers and choir members were thanked for their services during the past year.

The secretary's report was very encouraging, and showed a balance on the right side.

The election of officers then took place, and the following was the result:

President—Mr. D. Fleming.
Vice-President—Mr. J. Ridyard, Sr.
Sec.-Treas.—Mrs. J. McLeod.
Librarian—Mr. P. Naish.
Convenor, Look-out Committee—Mr. J. Kennett.
Convenor, Social Committee—Mrs. H. Gray.
Gown Attendant, Ladies — Mrs. Nichols.
Gown Attendant, Men—Mr. Hansman.

A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered the ladies for the bountiful way in which they had provided all the good things to eat and to all who had helped to make the evening so very enjoyable.

The President, Mrs. Wm. Lytle, in replying on behalf of the ladies, expressed the pleasure it was for them to do anything they could for the Choir, and the part they had played towards the enjoyment of the evening had been to them a great pleasure.

"For they are jolly good fellows" was then heartily sung by all, and the happy event came to an end.

JOHN FISHER APPOINTED.

London Barrister Will Be the Third Man On Boundary Commission.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Appointment of John R. Fisher as third member of the Irish Boundary Commission was announced Saturday. He is a London barrister, well-known writer on Irish affairs, is identified with the Ulster Unionist party and was at one time editor of the Belfast News Letter.

Mr. Fisher is believed to hold conciliatory views and not to support extremist "Not One Inch" party of the Ulster Premier, Sir James Craig, which party is against any change which will take the slightest amount of territory from the northern area. It is believed the appointment makes deadlock less likely.

MOVED TO TORONTO MISS NORA McDONNELL

Remembered by Local Staff of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Miss Nora McDonnell, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's office staff, who has been transferred to the company's office in Toronto, was handsomely remembered on Saturday by the local staff, who accompanied their gift by the following address.

Peterboro, Oct. 18, 1924.

Dear Miss McDonald: With deep regret we hear that you are severing your connection with this office and we cannot let the occasion pass without expressing our appreciation of the service and courtesy you have extended to us in the business dealings we have had with you. Your unfailing attention and honesty have given us such confidence that we do not hesitate to say we will find it hard to replace you, but our loss is Toronto's gain. We know you will succeed in your new position and our best wishes go with you, and in wishing you good bye we ask you to accept this little token as a remembrance of your friends in the Peterboro office.

Signed: N. Tobin, O. Kellar, C. B. Banks, A. J. McLaren, William E. O'Brien, Joseph Rogers, Joseph Dunkerley, J. Malane.

ABELS ARRESTED.

Charged With Smuggling Aliens at Port of Lewiston.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Benjamin Abels, middle-aged man who is alleged to have been implicated in smuggling of aliens at the Port of Lewiston, was taken into custody by Detective Stewart Saturday on a charge of forging passports, complainant being a United States Consul at Toronto.

According to a despatch from Buffalo, several books containing identification blanks for immigrants had been forwarded from Buffalo to Toronto and sold to aliens for $135 a piece.

MONTREAL ALIEN SMUGGLING RING

Government Officials From Port Huron To Investigate Alien Ring.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press). — Government operatives from Port Huron are on their way to Montreal and a Canadian, named Ignatz Godor, is held in St. Clair County Jail in investigation of what officers believe the largest international alien smuggling ring discovered on the Canadian border since quota law went into effect.

It is believed that there is a large organization of smugglers who have their headquarters in Montreal. Officials think that this band of smugglers, while ostentatiously conducting some legal business, receive aliens from incoming steamers and see them safely across the country until they are turned over to the man who tried to ferry them across the river.

GERMANY IMPORTS BEER.

Lack Of Barley Is Seen As Cause Of Germany's Plight.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(United Press.)— Importation of beer by Germany is increasing.

To the average American, whose pre-prohibition recollection of the nationality-denoting names of most brewers in this country remains undimmed, it is starting to learn that the "Land of Lager" is bringing in any outside beer at all.

No less an authority than the U. S. Department of Commerce has sponsored the report that Germany in the "first six months of 1924 imported considerably more beer than in the corresponding period of the previous year."

No lack of breweries, but a scarcity of barley, the chief malt ingredient of the frothy beverage, is seen as the cause of Germany's plight.

FINED FOR SLANDERING THE GERMAN PRESIDENT

Reactionary Schoolmaster Said Ebert Couldn't Use Knife and Fork Rightly.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—A schoolmaster named Bohnenkampf, local reactionary leader at Minden, has been fined 500 gold marks by a court at Bielefield for having told his pupils that President Ebert of Germany did not know the correct use of the knife and fork.

The schoolmaster was accused of having informed his pupils that while the President was eating once on a dining car a waiter diplomatically called his attention to the dangers attending the incorrect use of the knife, by remarking:

"Look out, your Excellency; we are coming to a curve."

Bohnenkampf also was charged with having spoken disrespectfully of the President's wife.

In pronouncing sentence the court severely censured the schoolmaster for using his school for unjustified gibes at the President and Frau Ebert, and imposed the fine of 500 marks instead of only the 300 marks demanded by the Prosecuting Attorney.

Bonhenkampf's trial at Bielefeld followed one at his home town of Minden, where he was acquitted. Republican elements are well pleased with the Bielefeld sentence, and do not hesitate to attribute the preliminary acquittal to possible reactionary sympathies on the part of the Minden population.

MRS. E. SWEETIN PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF SLAYING

Previously Confessed to Complicity in Crime with Poisoning Pastor

MOUNT VERNON, Ills, Oct. 20—Elsie Sweetin Saturday pleaded not guilty to an indicement charging her with murder of her husband by arsenic, to which she confessed several weeks ago.

The judge overruled a motion to quash the indictment and the lawyers for Elsie and for Lawrence Hight, unfrocked Methodist minister of Ina, then went into conference with the state's attorney and the Judge to set the date for her trial.

FORTY NEWSPAPER MEN MURDERED IN RUSSIA

Peasants Turn on Communist Correspondents Found Acting as Spies for the Soviet.

RIGA, Oct. 20.—Forty newspaper correspondents have been murdered in the past two months in Central Russia, according to the Ishvestia, which reports a higher death rate among its correspondents than any Communist organization. The long list reveals that, besides the mass killing of correspondents, several scores barely escaped with their lives from the infuriated peasantry, who after beating them and their families, expelled them from the villages.

The list shows that the majority of attacks occurred in the White Russian and upper Volga provinces, where Communist tax-collecting committees, accompanied by armed squads of soldiers, have been recently collecting the Soviet grain tax.

The wrath of the peasants was directed against the correspondents because the visit of the tax collectors revealed that the correspondents were really official tattle tales, using their newspaper connections to hide their spying activities. The peasants discovered that the committees were provided with exceptionally detailed information regarding the amount of of the grain each harvested.

The committee also possessed lists of fines penalizing practically all the inhabitants of each village, visited for stealing Government timber, cultivating Government grazing land and also dodging previous taxes and other offenses.

Through a process of elimination the peasants discovered the correspondents instead of collecting news had collected information for the committee ,the attacks and murders resulting.

BANK OF ENGLAND GOLD WAS MOVED

National Financial Institution Will Be Entirely Rebuilt.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—After functioning in the heart of London's "richest square mile" for 230 years, the Bank of England will cease to exist as the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" on its present site at the end of this year. While not exactly undergoing a rejuvenating process, this national financial institution will be entirely rebuilt to meet modern needs. In the meantime the huge financial operations connected with the nation's discounting of bills, financing the government and dealing with millions of interest payments on war loans and treasury bills, will be handled in a comparatively new block of buildings about quarter of a mile away in Finsbury Circus. Here will be the home of the "Old Lady" for about two years.

Strong rooms are being constructed in the new premises for the valuable private and government securities, which total around 125,000,000 pounds sterling, and for the reception of 128,000,000 pounds worth of gold bars and coin held as reserve against notes issued. Some of these valuable securities have already been deposited in the new vaults, but the bullion goes later in horse drawn lorries.

During the moving process no strangers are allowed to assist in handling the hundreds of tons of treasures, the whole work being carried out by the Bank's special staff.

DOMINION OF CANADA VICTORY LOAN BONDS

MATURING 1st NOVEMBER, 1924

THE BANK OF MONTREAL, under authority of the Minister of Finance, is prepared to redeem the above bonds in full at maturity, without charge, at any of its Branches in Canada.

For the convenience of owners of the bonds, the Bank of Montreal will accept the bonds at any time prior to November 1st, and will make payment in each case on November 1st, either by issuing a cheque or by placing the amount to the owner's credit in the books of the Bank, as the owner may desire.

Lansbury Sees District Cleavage On Class Lines

LONDON, October 20 (Canadian Press Cable). — George Lansbury, the well-known Labour leader, who represented the Poplar, Bow and Bromley Division of London in the last Parliament, in an interview said he thought this election was the beginning of the end for Liberalism.

"All the old talk of Liberalism standing for the common people is pure bunk," Lansbury said, "consequently we Socialists are delighted that our enemies are running up the 'jolly roger' of class interest. Whatever the result of the election may be, there will be a distinct cleavage in British politics between the Labour and capitalist parties, and this will be a distinct gain for Labour."

JAPAN PLANS WORLD FLIGHT

TOKIO, Oct. 20.—Plans for a Japanese round-the-world flight are now in preparation by the Imperial Aviation society and the Government Aviation board. It is proposed to select two civilian aviators for the attempt, and to construct the machine at the Nakajima Aeroworks at Nagoya. The sart would be made in the spring of 1925. Funds for the attempt may be raised partly by popular subscription and partly from government appropriations.

PONZI WINNERS KEEP CASH.

Federal Court Reelieves Lucky Investors From Liability.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.— Those who recovered investments in the get-rich-quick scheme of Charles Ponzi prior to August 2, 1920, when he was declared insolvent, may keep their money it was ruled by three Justices in the Federal court.

The decision frees thousands of persons from liability to restore such funds to Ponzi's trustees. The trustees had sued to recover this money to be applied to settling claims, but the jurists directed the trustees to dismiss all such suits except where special circumstances were involved.

Good Reasons Aplenty for Voting for the O.T.A.

The Right Course on October 23rd is Clear

MANY thousands of Ontario citizens, while not avowed prohibitionists, are as anxious as they to guard against a return to the deplorable conditions bred by the open bar and the licensed liquor shops. The continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act appeals to these open-minded electors as the only way of saving Ontario from the bitter and costly results of government sale. ¶ The HOME, the WOMEN and the CHILDREN are three good reasons for preferring the O.T.A. to any system of government sale. These should suffice, but here are 20 other reasons:

1 The O.T.A. has lessened drinking by 90%;

2 The O.T.A. has almost entirely wiped out the poverty and distress formerly caused by drink;

3 The vast sums formerly spent on "bottled misery" have bought necessities and comforts for the whole family;

4 Worker, merchant and manufacturer are better off, financially, socially and morally;

5 The rising generation has been spared the obnoxious spectacle and degrading influence of the saloon;

6 There has been a great reduction in crimes associated with drinking and drunkenness;

7 Adoption of government sale would be a retrograde step leading to conditions even worse than produced by the open bar;

8 Repeal of the O.T.A. and the introduction of government sale would launch the province into interminable and exceedingly costly law suits over the question of legal importation—litigation reaching right up to the Privy Council;

9 A vote for "government control" is a vote for the people to go into the liquor business along with the brewers, distillers and bootleggers;

10 Every voter for "government control" should consider the possibility of introducing the sale of intoxicants into hundreds of Ontario municipalities that were "dry" under Local Option for years before the O.T.A. was adopted;

11 Government sale means easy access to liquor. This means more drinking, more drunkenness, more bootlegging and more reckless driving;

12 Taxation on homes, business places, etc., has increased by 45% under government sale in British Columbia, where the system is the same as is suggested by the Ontario plebiscite ballot;

13 Under "government sale" the hip-pocket flask is a legal institution;

14 Government liquor stores are supply stations for bootleggers, who sell night and day, seven days a week, put government labels on spurious booze, dodge customs duties and undersell the government shops which your money maintains;

15 That "the tourist goes where beer flows" is a delusion. The Canadian Bureau of Statistics reports permits issued during 1923 for motor cars entering Ontario and Quebec, as follows:

	For 24 Hours	For One Month	Over One Month
Quebec	14,938	85,530	228
Ontario	1,633,952	120,742	1,503

16 School principals and teachers are on record as declaring that the school children are better cared for, better clothed and better nourished under present conditions than when intoxicants were more easily secured;

17 "Dry" Ontario has three times as much money to spend for educational purposes as "wet" Quebec, and more than 10 times as many people in Ontario cities own their homes as in Quebec centres of population;

18 Government sale would enormously increase Ontario's drink bill—an economic waste which Ontario cannot afford even in the best of times;

19 "Government control" is the liquor trade's policy;

20 Government sale would reinstate the now lawless and discredited liquor traffic. Self-respect, if nothing else, forbids such a backward step.

Ontario Will Choose The Nobler Course

Men and women of Ontario, are you facing the issue squarely?

On the one hand, the undoubted benefits of The Ontario Temperance Act, with the government's pledge to "strengthen" and "actively and vigorously enforce" it, if you say the word;

On the other hand, the liquor traffic's policy of "government control"—in every province where it has been tried the first long step back to the sickening conditions you have repeatedly outlawed.

In all sincerity, can you hesitate? Ontario's heart has always been sound on this great economical and moral question. The whole world is watching Ontario's battle against booze.

LET ONTARIO'S ANSWER BE A HALF-MILLION MAJORITY FOR THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT.

For the Honor of Old Ontario mark your ballot thus:

1 Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act? X

2 Are you in favour of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquor in sealed packages under Government control?

A FORMER LOCAL CLERGYMAN IS VISITING IN NEW GLASGOW

Rev. Dr. D. Marsh Tells of Unique Position of Bermuda.

GREAT SCIENTIST.

Dr. Marsh Is Well Known Here—Formerly of Springville.

The following account refers to Dr. D. Marsh, formerly of Springville, where he was pastor of Springville Presbyterian Church for a number of years. He will be remembered in Peterborough for his astronomical activities. The article reads as follows:

Rev. Dr. Marsh, the distinguished clergyman-scientist of Hamilton, Bermuda, with his representative elder, Mr. R. V. Murdock, has been in New Glasgow this week attending the meetings of the Maritime Presbyterian Church Synod.

Dr. Marsh is pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Hamilton, Bermuda, which is known to many Nova Scotians, who make the journey to the southern islands during the winter months. He is a native of Ontario, and for the last five years has been in Bermuda.

An interesting conversationalist, and obviously impressed with his work, it does not take long to become enthused with Bermuda as he talks over that country with this visitor. Dr. Marsh recently spoke on "Bermuda" before the Rotary Club, and told briefly of the beauty and natural advantages of that island.

His talk was so interesting that many people have been requesting him to give a public talk, and this he will probably do, taking as his subject, "A Night Among the Heavenly Bodies with the Greatest Telescopes."

"Bermuda, said Dr. Marsh, "occupies a unique position for scientific observation, and the Bermuda Government is seriously considering the erection of an observatory there. This matter has now bene placed in the hands of a committee who are studying the matter from every viewpoint."

Dr. Marsh is a member of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, of the American Astronomical Society, and of the Royal Astronomical Society of Great Britain, becoming a member of the latter Society in 1909. He was on the Canadian Government expedition to Ungava and Labrador in 1905. Invited to join the Bernier expedition to the Arctic, he had actually signed on, but at the last moment was unable to get away owing to illness in his family.

This distinguished visitor has had an interesting career. He was chosen to go with the Eclipse Expedition to the north of Norway in 1914. When war broke out the ship was commandeered by the Government, and the expedition was cancelled.

Dr. Marsh is a modest type of man, and it was with some difficulty that the representative was able to find out just what he was doing in a scientific way in Bermuda. The splendid work he is doing in the Church is well known, but his scientific efforts are not so much understood. He stated in reply to questioning that he was doing what he could in a scientific way in Bermuda He is observer for the time for the colony and also for Greenwich mean time for the ships.

Dr. Marsh has charge of the seismograph, and checks up the various earthquakes that occur from time to time. He naively remarked that we have earthquakes up in Sova Scotia that we don't know anything about, but the seismograph tells the story.

He first went to Bermuda in 1901, and visited it on various occasions later. About five years ago he was extended a call by the congregation of St. Andrew's, which he accepted, and has been living in Hamilton since that time.

Dr. Marsh gets quite enthusiastic when he talks about Bermuda, and that sunny isle evidently occupies a large place in his affections. He pointed out the advantages that Bermuda occupies by reason of its geographical position, and is confident that much scientific information could be secured with an observatory on that island.

We asked Dr. Marsh in regard to the next eclipse of the sun.

"There will be a total eclipse of the sun on 24th January, 1925," he replied. "It will begin a little west of Fort William, Ontario, and the line of totality will pass down through Hamilton, Buffalo, Ithaca, New York, Nantucket, and pass to the south of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, about four hundred miles out at sea. New Glasgow will get about seven-tenths of the totality of the eclipse, and it will be observed about nine o'clock in the morning."

This eclipse is arousing the attention of the scientific world and observatories are being established in many places in its path. Dr. Marsh has been invited to witness the eclipse from many societies. Hamilton, Ontario, has invited him to be present at the William Bruce Observatory. The authorities of Cornell University, Ithaca have also extended an invitation. He has an invitatioin from the Van Leck Observatory at Middleton, Conn., and the Yale Observatory at New Haven.

From far-off Arizona, the Flagstaff Observatory have invited Dr. Marsh to witness the eclipse from their observatory on the Island of Nantucket.

He has not accepted anye of these as it is rumoured that the Government of Bermuda may have an eclipse expedition of their own. If they do Dr. Marsh shall accompany it in preference and seek to advertise his adopted Bermuda.

A talk with Dr. Marsh is a mighty interesting experience. Space does not permit a more extended account to-day. As he will probably talk on "A Night Among the Heavenly Bodies With the Greatest Telescopes," the public will have an opportunity of hearing this distinguished visitor on a most interesting subject. He will probably tell of his experiences in Bermuda, where he has been able to secure very interesting information.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor, The Examiner,

To the Public: —On October 15th my attention was first called to the fact that my name was appearing in the different papers as being a member of the Women's Committee, supporting, the polling of the Moderation League. I wish to state that my name has been used without my consent. I have written The League asking for an explanation—but have received no reply I am a strong supporter of the O.T.A. Also Mr. Clarke and think the above tactual anything but fair.

Yours truly,
MRS. WALTER CLARKE,
Havelock, Ont.

CANON MARSH AND PROHIBITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following extract from the last issue of our Parish Magazine so nearly conveys my opinion on the subject of prohibition that I enclose it in this letter:

"Before another Parish & Home appears, the people of Ontario will have voted on the plebiscite. We trust our readers are carefully and prayerfully considering the matter, and that they will vote as they believe God would have them. Turkey and the United States are two great prohibition countries, and crime is very prevalent in both. Contrast the U. S. and Great Britain. In 1923 there were 200 murders or homicides in England and 10,000 in the United States. Even allowing for extra population, more than 15 times the danger of being murdered in the U. S. than in England. Also railway and other accidents are much more numerous in the U.S. than in Great Britain. They make laws in the former and break them with impunity, while Great Britain is more careful in making just and wise laws and then in enforcing them. As to Canada, some say drunkenness is much more prevalent in Quebec than Ontario, which others deny, among them several Lindsay people who have lived in or visited the former. Be that as it may, there were in 1923 over 11,000 arrests for drunkenness in Ontario, and only slightly over 6,000 in Quebec, i.e., more than 5,000 more in Ontario than in Quebec. John the Baptist was a total abstainer, and the only perfect man Christ Jesus changed water into wine at a marriage, and by some of His opponents was called "a gluttonous man and a wine-bibber," but we know that wisdom is justified of all her children. The writer has been an abstainer from liquor and tobacco for years and has advised many young men to do likewise; but he knows it would be wrong to force people. One would wish above all things, that every man might be a sincere Christian, but even here we dare not use force. So as temperate people, having secured the abolition of the bar, let us not seek to force those who believe they have the right to use wine or spirits for medicinal or beverage purposes, either to go without or purchase unlawfully."

The Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, in opening Parliament, referred to the subject. "The speech says that the system Government owned and operated shops for the sale of alcohol has fully answered the hopes of the Government as well from the moral as from the financial point of view."

A Salvation Adjutant in the city of Quebec (according to "Canadian Press") last May, before the excitement of an election was on, said: "In my experience there is less drunkenness throughout the Province of Quebec than in Ontario, despite the fact that liquor may be purchased here openly, whereas it is not so easy to obtain a supply in the sister province." . . . "One of the most forms of degradation with which we have to contend is attributed to drunkenness, but I wish to say most emphatically that I saw more drunkenness and other forms of vice in Ontario than I have met with in Quebec."

Archbishop Matheson of Winnineg, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, and for years Chancellor of the University of Manitoba, approves of Government control; and says that while the Government has to deal sternly with certain people who are overstepping the limits of the law, otherwise the law appears to be working satisfactorily.

So one might go on quoting opinions. A prominent citizen of Lindsay, and some years ago Mayor of the town, said a few Saturdays ago, that he went in back off one of our streets, and saw five men intoxicated—kept out of sight, but drunk in one place.

While personally I do not think there is as much drunkenness as when the bars were here, yet I believe there is more law breaking, deceit, lying and degrading of our manhood, than there would be, if people could go openly, and get what they believed they needed, from Government shops, knowing that if they abused that privilege it would be taken away and if they were found drunk they would be punished. Let every man and woman be fully persuaded, as to what is in the best interest of the people of our Province and vote accordingly.—Yours truly,

C. H. MARSH.

SWEET.

Out of every $1 you spend for food 6 cents goes for sugar in one form and another. The refiners ferreted out this information.

Maybe it seems too much. But it's claimed that sugar, costing only 6 per cent of the nation's food bill, furnishes 13 per cent of the "total energy or fuel value of all foods consumed in the United States."

There is as much physical stimulation in two lumps of sugar as in an old-time alcoholic cocktail. This is scientific fact. No such claim is made as regards mental exhilaration. Some carry lumps of sugar to pep them up when fagged.

Mrs. Marion Risteen who, with her "star boarder" George Plummer, is held at Beverly, Mass., for the murder of Fred Risteen, her husband. Risteen's body was found in a pond. He had been murdered, an automobile motor tied to the body to weight it down. The picture shows Mrs. Risteen being taken by police to identify the remains. She is said by police to have broken down, admitting complicitly in murder and charging Plummer.

MARMORA LITERARY SOCIETY MEETINGS

Professor Hawe Spoke To Scholars Of Marmora Continuation School.

MARMORA, Oct. 20.— The fifth meeting of the Literary Society was held in Marmora Continuation school on Friday. The meeting was opened by the singing of the Maple Leaf, after which a talk was given to the scholars by Professor Howe, who was to speak the same night in the hall. He began his address by discussing the 'Maple Le:

The maple leaf, our blem, should be the sugar or hard maple tree. Owing to some mistake, the maple leaf is always drawn from the red maple. The lobes in the red maple are pointed, while the others are circular. He went on to say that the trees in our forests are very much like people. Till ten years of age the tree does not grow a great deal. From ten to about 40 years it grows tall. Later in its life it increases its girth.

Our forests are like money in a bank. If we leave money in a bank the interest accumulates from year to year. Forests act in the same way. Every year they become greater in value. Would it not be wise to let these trees remain and be money for a country If we do we must prevent them from burning down. A forest that is being continually burnt down eventually becomes a desert and of no value. We must all do our part in helping nature.

At the conclusion of the address Florence Clare moved a vote of thanks to him for giving up his valuable time to speak to the scholars. Hazel Williams seconded it.

A violin and auto harp selection was given by Marjorie Colster and Bernice Bonter.

The meeting was closed by singing the national anthem.

Last Monday the three forms of Marmora Continution school had their pictures taken by the photographer of the town, Mr. Colster. They have turned out very successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, accompanied by their son Ray, left Saturday morning for Trenton.

Professor Howe motored with Mr. F. S. Pearce from Toronto on Friday to give his lecture in the town hall on "Forestry."

BABY AND EXERCISE.

"Going to be an athlete!" Mr. Mann would announce as the new baby grabbed his fingers and bravely sought to pull itself up.

"Gotta keep it exercised."

He did not realize that the normal child will get all the exercise it needs if left to its own accord. Its squirmings and rollings and wrigglings are all the exercise it needs.

Each day the baby should be uncovered in a room of fitting temperature, and allowed to roll about on a blanket and kick its feet and throw its arms about.

Just before the morning bath this exercise can be encouraged—after the baby is a month old, however. Care should be taken that the child is not chilled and if there is any shivering or sign of cold, a cover should immediately be procured.

When the child is able to stand up, simple exercises can be continued. Any toy that can be vigorously shaken is an exercise aid. After the first year there is no reason why play should not supply all the exercise needed.

The one thing to look after when this age is reached is that the child be watched on stairways and around fires.

The play spirit will keep any normal child well exercised.

GREAT STILLMAN CASE HAS ENDED

Truce Which May Pave Way To Complete Reconcoliation Agreed Upon.

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y, Oct. 20. —(Canadian Press).—Great Stillman divorce case is at end, an informal truce which may eventually pave the way to complete reconciliation, has been tacitly agree to by James A. Stillman, the banker, and his wife, Mrs. Anne V. Stillman. All legal proceedings against his wife have been withdrawn from the courts by the banker it was said by a close friends of the family, yesterday, and it is doubtful if any others will be pressed. This culmination has been brought about by the wedding to young Henry Pomeroy Davison, Saturday, of Anne Stillman, the couple's daughter.

The wedding, it was learned was preceeded by Mr. and Mrs. Stillman having breakfast together with their daughter and their sons, first complete re-union of family in three years.

WILL ENTER APPEAL.

Crow's Nest Freight Rates Question Subject of Litigation.

REGINA, Oct. 20. — The Saskatchewan government has instructed H. J. Symington, K.C., Winnipeg, to appeal on behalf of the government, the decision of the Board of Railway Commissioners on the Crow's Nest freight rates agreement, to the Governor-General-in-Council and to the Supreme Court in Canada. Two appeals will be taken on the question of law, and Mr. Symington, according to the statement on Saturday, by Hon. J. A. Cross, the Attorney-General will ask for a stay of operation of the abrogation of the agreement until such time as two appeals are argued. The Saskatchewan government is acting in co-operation with Alberta and Manitoba governments in the matter.

BETTER.

The iron and steel industry is a tenth busier than it was a month ago. It's still operating half-time or a bit better. Recovery from dull times is not taking place with spectacular speed. Instead, there's a gradual and steady improvement—which is very "healthy."

Study these periods of business depression and learn that they are mainly due to fear. That's why there can never be too much optimism, for optimism is courage.

TREASURER OF WHITBY JAILED

W. D. Dykes Faces Two Charges Of Theft Amounting To $6,000.

NOT A SURPRISE.

OSHAWA, Oct. 20. — W. D. Dykes, Town Treasurer of Whitby, was recently arrested on two charges of theft amounting to $6,000, sworn to by Arthur Nesbitt of Brooklin, and at least one other charge is pending against the city official.

Immediately following his arrest he was admitted to bail of $8,000, the Mayor, R. N. Bassett, being one of his bondsmen in the sum of $2,000, the others being William Davidson, Central Garage, $2,000; himself for $2,000, and J. McKenney, lumberman, for $2,000, all of Whitby.

Not a Surprise.

This arrest has been looked for in well-informed circles, especially since the conviction of Elmer Rogers, Dykes' partner in a bond business located in Whitby, known as the partnership of Dyes and Rogers, who was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary on October 2, when convicted of thefts from the same men who are complainants in this case.

Evidence given against Rogers will probably be used against Dykes who, when testifying for the Crown in the Rogers case, was severely reprimanded by Col. Grierson for failing to produce to the court papers, books, documents, etc., he was subpoenaed to produce for the use of the Crown and which he turned over to W. H. Kennedy, acting for Rogers.

Same Charges.

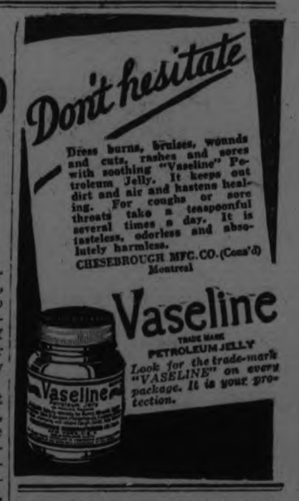
The charges against Dykes are identical with those against Rogers, in which witnesses testified that they delivered to Elmer Rogers, believing they were dealing with the firm of Dykes and Rogers, Victory bonds to the amount of $6,000 to be converted into the new issue. These bonds were forwarded to Miller and Co. of Toronto, bond brokers, and applied to what was said to be a margin account on railway stocks carried by the defendant's company. Dykes declared he was a member of the firm, but was not actively engaged in the firm's transactions other than to sign cheques when Rogers presented them to him for signature. He had never investigated the financial standing of the firm, and at one time accepted and signed a draft for the firm on the statement of Rogers, that the money was in the bank to pay it.

He also told the court at that time that previous to being appointed City Treasurer, he had held the account of the firm in his own name, and that following his appointment he had opened a firm account and had retained the signing of cheques in his own name to protect himself, and had permitted his name to be carried on in the business. He also admitted he had signed cheques after Rogers had been indicted for theft.

The Arrest.

Information and a warrant was refused by Magistrate J. E. Willis in Whitby at the time of Rogers' arrest, against Dykes, and the complainants appealed to the Attorney-General for a mandamus ordering a warrant to be issued. However, this was not forthcoming, and the Rogers trial proceeded, after which the Crown Attorney, Col. Grierson, discussed the advisability of arresting Dykes. However, no action was taken until Friday, when Chief Constable Lavery effected the arrest, acting on a warrant issued by the Whitby magistrate.

Dykes will appear for his preliminary hearing on Tuesday.



MINISTER TROTSKY BROKE HIS SILENCE

Minister Says Russia Is Compelled To Have Red Army.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Minister of War Trotsky, who has been at the watering resort of Kislovodsk in the Caucascus for two months, broke long silence late Saturday with a significant speech concerning Russia's need of a Red army. Addressing a large assemblage in Kabardin, Balkar, autonomous republic in Northern Caucasia, he said:

"We are compelled to have a Red army because we do not want to be enslaved and torn to pieces by our enemies, imperialist robbers who are now tearing China to pieces.

"We are taking 600,000 men from the country and obliging them to learn military science instead of laboring in factories and fields.

"From our scanty means we are forced to apportion 400,000,000 roubles every year for maintenance of army."

NEWS OF HASTINGS.

Truck Carrying Students To School, Backed Down Hill.

HASTINGS, Oct. 20.—The large motor van owned by R. N. Simpson and Sons, which usually conveys the school students from here who attend the High School in Norwood, refused to answer the pressure of the brakes and backed down the hill near Mr. William Preston's on the Norwood road. The truck backed part way down the hill, going off to the side of the road, crashing into a telephone pole, smashing it at the base. Fortunately no one was hurt, and after the driver repaired the car, the journey was continued with no further mishap.

Hay-Stephens.

On Wednesday, Oct. 15, 1924, the marriage took place in Hastings at the Methodist parsonage of Pearl Stephens of Seymour, daughter of the late Mr. E. P. and Mrs. Stephens, and Albert Allen Hay of Seymour. Rev. Mr. L. Hinton, pastor of the Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

Hubble-Ferrell.

Married at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. M. L. Hinton on Thursday, Oct. 16, Miss Elizabeth Ferrell of Bancroft to Percy Allen Hubble of Campbellford.

The Darontal Chapter, I.O.D.E., held its regular meeting in the rooms on Friday evening. Many items of business was discussed, among which was the annual Hallowe'en dance.

Many from here attended the last fall fair of the season on Friday afternoon in Roseneath.

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fleming of Hastings won the special prize given for twins at Roseneath Fair on Friday. The prizes was a baby's high chair each.

The sixty-first anniversary of the Methodist Church is celebrated on Sunday. Rev. Isaac Snell of Foxboro, a former pastor of the church, will have charge of both the morning and evening services.

YOUTHFUL TOUCH

The woman who wants to be well tailored, but not severely so, will appreciate this smart frock of black faille with judicious pipings of white and rows of small white buttons. WOMEN'S INSTITUTE OF CAVAN URGE O.T.A. VOTE

Meeting Thursday at Home of Mrs. Chester Fee.

CAVAN, Oct. 20. — The Cavan Women's Institute were entertained at the home of Mrs. Chester Fee, Seventh Line, on Thursday evening. There was a good attendance. The Institute held their meeting while the men enjoyed a social time in another room.

The programme for the evening was in charge of Mrs. J. W. Perrin and Mrs. R. Matchett. It was a very interesting meeting.

Mrs. Perrin gave a reading, "Only a Dollar." Mrs. R. S. Staples gave a talk on prohibition, emphasizing the need for each woman to mark her ballot in favor of the O.T.A. and urge others to do likewise.

Miss McNeil read a sketch by Nina Moore Jamieson, telling how she commenced writing articles on farm topics, also a paper written by the same author, entitled "Habits."

Mrs. H. Lang demonstrated the making of a "Jack O' Lantern."

The roll call was responded to by the members telling a Hallowe'en game.

The sum of five dollars was voted from the Institute funds to assist in the temperance campaign.

Bulbs, daffodils, hyacinths and tulips were distributed to each member.

After the meeting had adjourned Mrs. Fee served lunch, and a social time was enjoyed.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Perrin on Thursday evening, November 13th.

Mrs. Matchett, who was one of the ladies responsible for the October programme, was not present on account of the illness of her father.

Personals.

Mrs. E. Syer, Cavan, and Mrs. M. Syer, Millbrook, attended the funeral of a relative in Lindsay on Wednesday.

Miss Preston attended the Teachers' Convention in Toronto Thursday and Friday. Mr. R. Sutton also attended.

Mr. Taylor, Goderich, is a guest at the home of Mr. T. A. Kelly. Mrs. Taylor is staying in Peterboro, to be near her son, Mr. Jamie Taylor, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. H. Keegan went to Manvers Thursday to stay for a time with her sister, Mrs. Hutchison.

Died—In Manvers, on Friday evening, October 17th, George Wilson. The funeral was held from the family residence on Sunday afternoon. Interment was at St. Mary's Cemetery. His daughter, Mrs. Matchett, Cavan, with the other members of his family, are at the old home, Lifford.

Mr. D. Heaslip and Miss Edna Heaslip, Janetville, visited at Mr. R. Matchett's on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Williard Skuce, Mount Horeb, were visitors at the home of R. Matchett on Thursday.

3 DIE FROM RUM DRINKING.

Prisoners Held For Drunkenness Remain in Stupor for Days.

BOSTON, Oct. 20. — Three of four men arrested October 5 charged with drunkenness, who were still too intoxicated to be arraigned three days later, have died at the city hospital, apparently as a result of alcoholic poisoning. The fourth man is still at the hospital in a serious condition.

MORE IMMIGRANTS.

Forty-eight British Youths Sailed To-day For Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Forty-eight British youths, mostly of the public school type, sailed today for Canada to undertake farm work. They will spend the winter months in training for farming at Vermillion, Alberta, under an arrangement between the Imperial Government and the Government of Alberta. The boys were selected from all parts of Britain. Twenty-seven sailed on the Montrose and twenty-one on the Megantic.

The Moderation League of Ontario

President, I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.

MANITOBA'S ANSWER:

In certain newspapers throughout the province there have been appearing articles purporting to give unbiased and impartial information regarding conditions in those provinces which have adopted Government Control. That these articles, from their obviously inspired nature, defeat their own end is undoubted.

In order, however, that there should be left in the minds of the people of Ontario no impression that Government Control is not a success, the Moderation League has obtained expressions of opinion from certain representative men in one of these provinces, Manitoba. These opinions are not confined to men who have identified themselves with the cause of anti-prohibition, and very many more could be easily obtained.

Before dealing with these opinions, however, the following extract from a letter signed by Mr. R. D. Waugh, Chairman of the Government Liquor Control Commission of Manitoba, ex-Mayor of Winnipeg, and late Commissioner of Saar Valley for League of Nations, is given:

13th October, 1924.

"I have seen statements in the Ontario papers as to conditions here which purport to be facts, but which are in the main not only misleading, but in many cases absolutely untrue."

From Mr. Walter P. Moss, Director in the firm of Robinson & Co., Limited, one of the largest departmental stores in Winnipeg:
"I am of the opinion that although conditions are not yet ideal, there is a vast improvement since the Government Liquor Control Act came into force."

From Mr. W. E. Macara, K.C., Registrar-General of Manitoba:
"I beg to say that in my experience this Act is working in a most satisfactory manner and is, I think, a complete solution of the liquor question."

From Mr. Alfred J. Andrews, K.C., President of the Law Society of Manitoba, and ex-Mayor of Winnipeg:
"Conditions are much better than under Prohibition. While perfection of legislation has not yet been attained, there is no doubt in my mind that the solution of the liquor problem lies along the lines of Government Control."

From Mr. T. R. Deacon, C.E., President, Manitoba Bridge and Iron Works, Limited, and ex-Mayor of Winnipeg:
"I think the present Government Sale of Liquor Act in Manitoba is working out as well as could reasonably be expected."

From Mr. Edward Anderson, K.C., Counsel for Winnipeg Electric Railway Co., Limited, and ex-President of the Bar Association of Manitoba:
"I beg to advise you that in my opinion the Liquor Act of Manitoba is meeting with general approval."

From Mr. A. E. Hoskin, K.C., B.C.L., one of Winnipeg's leading barristers, and a former Torontonian:
"In my opinion the present Act is working out very satisfactorily, especially so since the authorities have been actively enforcing its provisions."

From Mr. R. H. McKay, partner of Allan, Killam & McKay, Limited, one of the largest financial houses in Western Canada:
"While the legislation in question is not ideal from my point of view, it has nevertheless produced a much more satisfactory condition in this Province and has my unqualified approval. I consider that the enactment of the present Liquor Act has been very beneficial to the community."

Brig.-Gen. R. W. Paterson, C.M.G., D.S.O., President of the Notre Dame Investment Co., Limited:
"It is my personal opinion that the passing of the Act has had a beneficial effect in every way. I believe that there is less liquor being drunk than during the days of prohibition, and that there is a distinct improvement in the frame of mind of the people with regard to law enforcement."

From Mr. L. R. Barrett, Vice-President and Manager of the Vulcan Iron Works, Limited, Winnipeg:
"I have no hesitancy in stating that in my opinion the Liquor Act of Manitoba does meet with the approval of the best interests of Manitoba."

From Col. Wm. G. Bell, D.S.O., of Wm. G. Bell & Co., Customs House Brokers, Winnipeg:
"I have opportunities of meeting, and hearing expressions of opinion from, a large number of different lines of business and I can say emphatically that, without exception, they are entirely opposed to going back to prohibition. The present law might be improved, but if its conditions are carried out there is no doubt but that it is infinitely preferable to the state of affairs which existed during prohibition."

From the Manager of one of the leading banks of Winnipeg:
"The unbiased opinion of us all in the Bank here, which is shared I think by our most reasonable and thoughtful citizens, is that the social condition of the people in Winnipeg and the province on the whole is better under Government Control than under prohibition. We feel there is less drinking in the homes, public places and dances by reason, largely, of the liquor being legally obtainable and the private citizen now feeling that what he considers his personal rights are not being interfered with by Government legislation. Government control is also putting an end, to a large extent, to the illegal selling of poor liquors through the bootlegging channels. The liquor that is now being sold is pure, and the Government is obtaining therefrom a very substantial revenue, the province netting this year, according to the recent report published, a profit of $1,200,000."

Compare these statements from well-known and responsible residents of Manitoba with those which some sections of the press have circulated, and there will be no difficulty in deciding which to accept. Government Control is a success in Manitoba, Government Control is receiving the hearty approval of the people of Manitoba and Government Control will be a success in Ontario.

SNOWSTORM AT QUEBEC IS EARLIEST IN YEARS

QUEBEC, Oct. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—The winter season was officially ushered in at eight o'clock Saturay with a real, old-fashioned snowstorm which kept up for about an hour and a half, but later turned to a disagreeable mist, which quickly obliterated all traces of the snow. Shortly before eleven o'clock the snow again commenced, with the promise of flurries throughout the day. This is the earliest snow experienced here for a number of years.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Oct. 20.— The first snowfall, in this city at least, was recorded Saturday. The snowflakes soon melted, however.

The Affair at Flower Acres

by CAROLYN WELLS

©1924 by NEA Service Inc.

"Nancy could—without half trying," said Nancy's husband. "I believe I'll get some fun out of that chap. I'm a great student of human nature, as you know, Goddard; I study it as Orville studies his beloved astronomy. I believe Venus has a conjunction on to-night—or Jupiter is giving a three-ringed circus. Want to go out there with them, Nan?"

"No, thank you," and she tried to speak brightly.

"Devoted little wife; rather stay with her husband—that it? Don't trouble yourself to say 'yes,' for I shouldn't believe you. Well, here comes Eva at last. Three minutes late, Miss Turner. What's my sin today?"

"Too many calories for your luncheon, Mr. Raynor. And instead of making up for it at dinner, you transgressed again."

"Did I? Well, it was that damned chocolate roll! I believe my wife orders it just to tempt me beyond endurance. She knows how fond of it I am. Did you, Nancy?"

"No, Douglas, you know I didn't!"

"Well, why did you order it, then? I noticed you scarcely touched it yourself."

"Yes, Nancy," chimed in Miss Mattie, "why did you have it? To please your guest?"

"Yes, to please Mr. Goddard," said Nan, bravely smiling.

"I don't wish to have anything on the table that my brother doesn't want there," the prim spinster declared.

They were rather alike, the brother and sister. Both were very thin, with thin gray hair, and thin, high voices. They looked as if they were thin blooded, and though a thin veneer of culture showed on the surface, one gained the impression that beneath were very primitive and unbridled impulses.

Two years ago, when he married the lovely Nancy Kent, all the world wondered. Wondered how he ever persuaded such a dainty bit of femininity to link her life with his. He had been a friend of her father's, who had died since the marriage, but among scores of suitors it was hard to understand Nan's decision.

Miss Mattie, though, saw no cause for surprise. To her, her brother Douglas was the epitome of all that was worthwhile or desirable. And her query was what had Douglas seen in that pale-faced big-eyed chit to make him want her. Curiosity being the lady's strong point, she set about to find out. Her quest was unsuccessful, but she did succeed in adding no negligible weight to the burden of discomfort the mistress of Flower Acres carried.

The next morning most of the household arose with a fixed and positive determination on at least one point.

Nancy Raynor vowed to herself that not one word or glance of a personal or even friendly nature would she vouchsafe to Malcolm Finley. For she divined her husband was on the lookout for such and would exaggerate and distort their meaning to the discomfiture of all concerned.

Ezra Goddard vowed to himself that he would drop another hint, a strong one, to Finley on the advisability of keeping away from his hostess.

Miss Mattie vowed to herself she would find out the true state of affairs between Nan and Mr. Finlay, and she could find the least thing to report she would hasten to her brother with the matter.

Orville Kent concluded that Nan was doing wrong, and he must consider carefully whether to speak to her on the subject or not.

Eva Turner promised herself to be more careful in the matter of her employer's diet.

And Malcolm Finley solemnly and roundly swore to himself that he would stop, look and listen a little further, and then, if he was satisfied that that old curmudgeon was really maltreating that darling girl, he, Finley, would settle the said curmudgeon's hash—in one way or another!

Finley would not see the members of the family until luncheon time, unless by chance. And, having seen Nan out among the gardens, he concluded to make his own chance.

Doubtless she was in some greenhouse or behind some sheltering trees, but he couldn't find her. Wandering aimlessly, he came upon a small house—a very small house.

It was built near a shiny, ripply brook, and was both picturesque and comfortable in its effects.

On its absurdly small porch sat an absurdly large man. Finley had a fleeting thought of Big Bruin in Tiny Cub's chair.

"Good day," he said pleasantly, and the man on the porch nooded indifferently.

"Belong to the Raynor estate?" Finley's glance took in the house.

"Yep. Any o' your business?"

"Not the least. Good day."

"Hey, wait a minute. Don't be so awful swift in your proceednre. You a friend of the family?"

"Yep. Any o' your business?"

The man apparently appreciated the good-natured mockery, and laughed.

"C'mon up on the porch," he invited.

Just for a minute, then," and Finley took a proffered seat. "Wonderful gardens, these."

"That's right. My work's more wonderful, though. So's Orville Kent's."

"His is astronomy, I know. What's yours?"

"Bugology. Entomology, you know. And I had this shack right here by the water so's I c'd study waterbeetles and the fifty-leven other insects round about. Like that sort o' thing?"

"I think I should if I knew more about it. Are you—er—in Mr. Raynor's employ?"

"No; I ain't in nobody's employ. I'm my own master. But I make my reports——"

What he did with the reports he made Finley didn't wait to hear, for he caught a glimpse of Nan's blue garden smock, and he strode off.

Again, however, the quarry eluded him.

He stood a minute, reconnoitering, when what seemed to be a young whirlwind bore down upon him.

"Oh, sir, how do you do? Who are you? A fairy prince? Mine—come to claim my hand?"

The speaker was a girl of about fourteen, her bobbed hair flying, her little frock of knitted wool open at the throat and brief at the knees, her "am perched on one side of her tousled head, and her round, bonny young face laughing with glee.

"I'm Dolly Fay," she announced. "I'm a neighbor of the Raynors, and I live just across that brook."

"There's a man lives almost in the brook," Finley informed her.

"Yes, I know. Old Grim Gannon, the bug man. He collects beetles and spiders and grasshoppers and——"

"And their ilk," Finley finished for her.

"Does that mean their young? Yes, he gets eggs and cocoons and, oh—and lovely butterflies! Where you going?"

"To look for Mrs. Raynor. Can't you help me find her?"

"Cert. I'll take you right to her. You're a real nice man. Do you like me?"

"Very much."

"So do I you. Come on."

She ran ahead and it took Finley's longest strides to keep up with her. At last, sure enough, she brought him to a sunken garden, whose depth had hidden Nan from view.

"Good morning," she said, with a little constraint in her tone but an irrepressible smile of welcome in her eyes. "Hello, Dolly," she went on, "have you scraped acquaintance with Mr. Finley?"

"Yes; he thinks me adorable! And I think he's enchanting. But, Nan, I see you want to be alone with him—so tra-la-la——" and she danced away, laughing.

"Stop, Dolly! Come back here!" but the girl-child's ringing laughter was the only reply.

There was silence.

Wistful, pathetic, Nan's eyes rose to meet the ones that looked down on her with infinite kindness.

"What can I do for you?" Finley said.

"Nothing," she returned, blankly. "There's nothing to be done. You see how things are."

"I see. Why did you marry him, Nan?"

Though the voice was gentle, the inflection almost caressing, Nancy Raynor straightened up and turned a cold glance on him.

"Because I chose to, Mal. I do not regret it."

"You don't! Well, by heaven, I do! The mere thought of you—you, Nan—linked to that clod, that beast——"

"Stop! My husband is neither a clod nor a beast. He is a great man and a great scholar."

"Great man, be blowed! Great scholar, be hanged! Is he a great husband to you? Is he even a decent husband? Is he good to you? Answer me, Nan—answer me!"

"Don't, oh, don't!" she cried. "He will come—he's always on watch—and he will see you—and he will kill me!"

"I shall kill him—if he has you in this state of abject fear, this condition of utter subjection."

AMERICAN AIRMEN AROUSED ICELAND

Small Fishing Village Awakens After Solitude Of Ages.

HOFN HORNAFJORD, Iceland, Oct. 20. — This little fishing and farming village, situated on a point of land jutting out between two shallow fjords that penetrate the south coast of Iceland for nearly 25 miles, awakened recently to find itself "discovered" as the first stopping place in Iceland of the American flyers who finally succeeded in their historic attempt to circle the world by air.

But Hofn Hornafjord had been discovered before. It was near here, on August 3, 874, that the old viking Ingolfur Arnarson, fleeing from the misrule of the Norse ruler, Harold Haarfager, first sighted the Iceland coast and threw from his galley its high seat pillars that he might build his home where the gods caused them to be washed ashore. Just 1050 years later, to a day, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the American birdmen, taxied into the harbor of Hofn Hornafjord and was greeted by the descendants of those sailormen who accompanied old Ingolfur on his adventurous quest. One of them, the pilot Bjorn Eymundsson, traces his ancestry from a comrad of Ingolfur, and wears on gala occasions a pin of blue bearing a white gull, the symbol that floated at the masthead of the viking ship.

Located on a narrow neck of land that separates the high mountains of the interior from the sea, the village is primarily a farming community with livestock and dairying its principal activities. On the little farms that dot the mainland and the islands of the fjords, grass is raised for winter food for the cattle and ponies. Vegetables, such as potatoes and other roots that can mature in the brief summer season of warmth, are grown to supplement the food supplies of the inhabitants. In the sheltered valleys that penetrate the glaciers of the interior, herds of reindeer graze during the summer months, moving to the milder climate of the coastline as winter approaches.

Fishing is the great winter industry and in November and December, when heavy storms sweep the northern and western coasts, fleets of fishing vessels harbor in the quiet waters of the fjord and trawl the offlying banks of herring, cod and other northern fish. These are smoked or dried and shipped to the continent of Europe, where the Icelandic products are in great demand. One of the principal customers of the Hornafjord fisheries is Portugal, which in return ships wines to the northern island.

In the huge rocks that mark the entrance to Hornafjord, and along the seaward side of the long natural breakwater that guards it from the Atlantic, thousands of eider ducks make their nests, and the inhabitants gain a considerable income through collecting the down with which the ducks line their nests, a product which brings high prices throughout the world. The birds themselves are protected by law, and of recent years have increased considerably in numbers.

STRIKE CONTINUES.

Drumheller Miners Decided Not To Go To Work On Monday.

DRUMHELLER, Aiyta., Oct. 20. —(Canadian Press).—The miners in sub-district five of district 18, comprising Drumheller, Wayne, Rosedale, Nacmine and Midlandval, decided at a mass meeting Saturday afternoon not to go to work today.

The Executive Committee brought in a report that the strike will continue.

President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America has been wired a protest, but he replied that he was awaiting word from the district officers. He will be wired again and the situation explained to him. The miners here claim that the Jacksonville agreement upon which the agreement here is based does not provide for a reduction in wages.

Another mass meeting will be held here today at noon when the final decision will be taken.

Bought De Lamar Estate.

Marcus Loew Pays $1,000,000 For Glen Cove Home.

NEW YORK, October 18. — Marcus Loew, the theatrical man, has purchased Pembroke, the country estate of the late Captain Joseph R. DeLamar, at Glen Cove, L.I., for $1,000,000. The estate, one of the finest properties of its kind in the United States, consists of a mansion and 46 acres, and was built by Captain De Lamar 14 years ago. The builders' announced intention was to make it the "most beautiful home in the world," and it was said to have cost more than $2,000,000.

Mr. Loew will take possession on his return from California and will make it his year-round home. J. Edward Breuer of Great Neck negotiated the sale.

The estate has a water frontage of 850 feet with the residence surrounded by tropical gardens on a high knoll. The house contains in addition to the usual living rooms and servant quarters, 12 master bedrooms and 12 baths. In the tropical gardens is a mosaic tile swimming pool 70 feet in circumference. The garage is large enough for twenty cars and the stable accommodates 20 horses and 20 cows.

Negotiations for the sale of the property to Mon Repos, Inc., for a golf club were conducted recently, but failure to agree on a mortgage arrangement prevented the deal from going through.

TOKYO RECONSTRUCTION

TOKYO, Oct. 20.—(United Press) Houses in the Capital are to be renumbered as part of the reconstruction plans for the city. At present, unless one is familiar with a district a house number means little. In the reconstruction plans for laying out the city, it is also suggested the wards be divided by streets.

Like other people of action nowadays you carry a note book. It contains notes on personal and business matters, many of them are extremely important. Their loss would mean much to you—to replace them would entail time and worry—if they proved irreplaceable, it might mean a financial loss.

Pencilled memoranda are out of date—they are unsafe—they will get blurred and illegible in the best of note books.

Be modern. Buy a good fountain pen. It is an everyday necessity. It will make all your notes easy to write and easy to read.

Waterman's Ideals are making safe indelible records in millions of note books every day.

CERTAIN DEFEAT FOR LABOURITES

Possible Successors To Labor Government Are, Baldwin, Asquith or Lloyd George.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, October 20. — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the Labor Party face practically certain defeat in next week's elections, the political experts agreed to-day, after studying the list of nominations that were fyled yesterday.

Two possible successors to the Labor government are:

1—Stanley Baldwin, returned to power at the head of a Conservative ministry.

2—A coalition of Liberals and Conservatives with Lloyd George or H. S. Asquith, as its head.

The Conservative "diehards" have no love for Asquith and less for Lloyd George, but they may be unable to swing a government composed entirely of Tories, and may have to compromise with the Liberals.

MacDonald, Lloyd George, Asquith Baldwin, Arthur Henderson and J. H. Thomas, addressed large meetings today.

GRAIN IS RUSHED TO THE SEAPORTS

Advantage Taken Of Clear Tracks Over Week End —A Sign of Prosperity.

Grain has been steadily pouring down the tracks of the Canadian National Railway, and over the week-end the flow was increased.

Taking advantage of the clear tracks on Sunday, hundreds of cars were rushed through in an endeavour to empty the full elevators and relieve the scores of boats waiting at the lake ports to unload.

A gentleman in the city who is closely connected with the business, remarked to-day that much of the prosperity attendant upon the movement of grain is due to the work of Premier MacDonald in Great Britain, who, whatever his failings may have been, opened up the path to world stabilisation vainly sought by other leaders.

AVERAGE INCREASE IN WOMEN'S VOTES

Group Of Professional Women Appeal For Funds To Assist Candidates.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Group of professional women in submitting to the public an appeal for funds with which to assist women candidates of any party in the present election. It is pointed out that the average vote for women candidates has been increasing from election to electiop, but that owing to the big expense incurred by frequency of political campaigns, it is feared that many of the women who are now running for parliament will be seriously handicapped.

Working class women electors of Northampton are enthusiastic in their support of Miss Margaret Bonfield, parliametnary secretary to Ministryof Labor in the MacDonald government, who is now on the way home from Canada to contest the constituency. Northampton has not elected a Conservative for over forty years.

CHINESE PROTEST.

Do Not Approve Of Sale Of Planes To Chang Tso Lin.

PEKING, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press). — The Chinese Foreign Office has protested to the French Legation concerning the Allied sale of twenty airplanes to Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, who is at loggerheads with the Peking Government. A French steamer is reported to have conveyed the machines to China the early part of this month. An unsuccessful attempt was made to have the Japanese authorities at Darien on the Kwantung Peninsula intercept shipment, which is believed to have reached the Manchurian border.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

The Bridgenorth Methodist Church Well Attended On Sunday.

Anniversary services were held at the Methodist Church, Bridgenorth, yesterday, when the annual thankoffering was also received. Rev. H. M. Manning, of Peterboro, was the special preacher for the occasion. His sermon in the morning was based on the doctrine of redeeming love, from the text, "God so loved the world," John iii., 16. In the evening, the address was on the Ontario Temperance Act, the reverend speaker giving the reasons why it should be retained, the consequences sure to follow were Government control substituted, the classes of persons who wish to retain it and those who wish it repealed, and the moral obligations resting on the voters on the question.

The attendance at both services was good and the thankoffering very liberal.

"WE'LL BE A HOMELY RACE, UNLESS—"

Too Much Cosmetics, Not Enough Eugenics, , Undermine Beauty Of Americans, Say Scientists.

Here are five of the beauty types named recently by the eminent biologist, Edward Albert Wiggam, author and lecturer, who warns that beauty is on the decline. Centre, Katherine MacDonald; (above), Queen Alexandra and Jeritza, the noted singer; (below) Mary Garden and Geraldine Farrar.

(By Gene Cohn.)

NEW YORK, October 20. — Biological or synthetic beauty—which will you have?

Science, which has had the question well stirred in its test tubes, finds present-day society preferring the latter.

In spite of all argument on the subject beauty is rapidly on the decline, biologists find.

There is too much cosmetics and not enough eugenics.

Furthermore, they are finding that the combination of "beautiful but dumb" does not hold true in the majority of tests, and that beauty and intelligence are much more likely to be found travelling together. Physical beauty, they discover, is an indication of superiority in mind and soul.

And, however they may differ on minor details ,the biologists are unanimous on what to do about it.

Modern society must want beauty as the Greeks wanted it in ancient days and must make their marriages accordingly. The handsome man must marry the beautiful woman.

Professor Knight Dunlap, doctor of philosophy and author of "Personal Beauty and Racial Betterment" and many other scientific works, finds that beauty is being wasted in scandalous fashion.

"The more beautiful a woman, the greater her chance of a wealthy match," he points out. The beautiful woman too frequently marries social position and wealth and not a mate.

"Beautiful stage girls are practicaly lost to posterity," continues Professor Dunlap.

Those carefully selected entertainers are picked for form, beauty, personality, and capacity for expression.

"Because they are devoted to stage careers and because of the type of life into which they are thrown these beauties of the stage seldom have children and seldom select good mates," he goes on.

"I have been often criticised for my attitude toward the stage girl. Chorus girls, dancers, and the like may be of coarse fibre due to environmental conditions or lack of education, but they may have a background of high-grade stock. Once the stage career is upon them they are practically lost to society, so far as perpetuating their beauty is concerned."

Prof. Dunlap invites the casual investigator to stand on any busy corner from Fifth avenue to Main Street and pick the percentage of beauties, or to select the number of attractive women in a given territory.

"The number of women who would make even good bare-legged dancers is woefully low. If women had a chance to vote on dress change that would reveal the form the majority would be against it—and for obvious reasons," he concludes.

And then there is Alfred Edward Wiggam, noted biologist, author of "The Fruit of the Family Tree" and "The New Decalogue of Science," who declares: "Unless something is done about it, in a few generations the women of America will be a stout-legged, dull-witted, unbeautiful race."

Explaining his statement he points out that the unbeautiful often have families of six to a dozen children, while marriages of handsome couples are few, and when it does happen there are but few children left to carry out the tradition of beauty.

All that is necessary to remedy the situation is that a nation really desire beautiful people and make matches accordingly, he says.

"The Cromwellites thought beautiful women were bad and so produced a race of plain looking people. The Greeks wanted beauties and had them," he says. And he sees a ray of light in the admiration of the masses for beauty of screen and stage and of youthful admiration of athletic young men and women. These are good omens.

Wiggam is a great believer in the combination of beauty and intelligence, a theory into which Professor Frederick Adams Woods, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has gone deeply.

Havelock Ellis, writer and eugenist, went into 1,053 cases, and all findings showed that the majority of intelligent persons were pleasing to the eye.

Some of the better known women who combine beauty and intelligence, charm and talent, were named by Dr. Wiggam as follows:

Mary Garden, Jeritza, Queen Alexandra, Katherine MacDonald, Geraldine Farrar, Ethel Barrymore, and Irene Castle.

BEAUTY IS LOST.

Here are epigrammatic comments of Professor Knight Dunlap, eminent psychologist:

"The more beautiful a woman may be, the greater her chance of a wealthy match, and so the very women who should be selected to reproduce beauty are too often lost to eugenics.

"The percentage of women who would make good bare-legged dancers is so low as to be shocking.

"Beautiful stage girls, carefully selected for form, personality and expression, are practically lost to posterity. Because of their careers they seldom have children, and then, inferior mates are likely to handicap the offspring."

KIDNAPPED AND MARRIED.

Hooded Men Carry Off Unwilling Bridegroom and Perform Ceremony.

GREENWOOD, S.C., October 20. —A story of having been kidnapped from one of the principal business streets of this city, taken into the country and forced against his will to marry a young woman, was told to the police here to-day by G. F. Edge, head of an investment company.

According to Edge's narrative, five men participated in the kidnapping, these being joined later by 100 hooded men. One of the latter, he said, performed the marriage ceremony, and then gave him a lecture.

Edge announced he would not consider the marriage binding.

While this menu sounds rather beany you won't find it so when you come to eat it. The navy beans used for the soup are rich in protein and carbohydrate. The string beans are valuable for their mineral salts and bulk. And as for repeating flavors, which is never done in the best menus, navy beans haven't a taste in common.

This menu is a follow-up of the preceding menu planned for the person independent of the city markets.

Any of the tender edible weeds can be substituted for the shredded cabbage. Some sort of uncooked green, like lettuce and cabbage, should be used every day. Some vitamins are lost by drying and canning, so try to include something fresh in your diet.

Try drinking a cup of hot milk or a hot egg-nog at night, just before bedtime. This will not only rest tired nerves and help you sleep but will do much toward making you fat.

Cream is more easily digested and quickly assimilated than butter, so the woman on a farm will do well to use cream for seasoning her vegetables, not only for herself but the whole family. When cream is used for seasoning more salt is necessary, as butter contributes some salt.

Western Canada Testifies Further to the Benefits of Government Control

WE have already given extracts from letters received within the last three days from prominent and representative citizens of Manitoba regarding the improved conditions brought about by the adoption of Government Control in that province. These letters are being daily added to and are all from men who cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, be said to oppose temperance. The careful consideration of the people of Ontario is asked for these expressions of opinion from Western Canada. They nail to the counter absolutely and irrefutably the misleading, exaggerated, and in many cases untrue, statements which have been disseminated by a partisan prohibition press throughout this province.

The following letter is from Mr. Alex. Macdonald, President of the Macdonalds Consolidated Limited, Wholesale Grocers, a Bank Director and several times Mayor of Winnipeg:—

"Let me say that I do not know of any public interest that does not approve of the Liquor Act in Manitoba."

Mr. E. F. Hutchings, President of the Great West Saddlery Co., Limited, one of the largest leather manufacturers on the continent, writes:

"I would like to say that as far as my experience goes the Liquor Act has worked out better than I expected. I am sure that it is the best system we have ever worked on here."

Mr. G. H. Balfour, late General Manager of one of Canada's leading banks, and well known in Ontario, writes:

"The result of my personal observation leads me to the conclusion that the Manitoba Liquor Act is functioning satisfactorily, and conditions are better than they were before its enactments."

Dr. Fred A. Young, a leading Winnipeg Medical Practitioner, writes:

"With reference to the Liquor Act, of Manitoba, it is in my opinion a great improvement over the former arrangement of prohibition."

Col. H. A. Mullins, one of the best-known cattle exporters in Western Canada, writes:

"As to the Liquor Act of Manitoba, it is in my opinion much more preferable than the bootlegger that was in vogue before the Act."

Mr. W. F. Alloway, of Alloway & Champion Limited, Bankers and Brokers, a leading financial man, writes:

"Let me say I have been here fifty-four years and have never seen, since the Moderation Act came into force, one person on the streets of Winnipeg the worse for liquor, and I am on the streets a great deal. This is far more than I could say before, when the Temperance Act was in force."

Mr. R. B. Graham, K.C., LL.B., Barrister, who is also the Crown Prosecutor for the City of Winnipeg, says:

"I have not the slightest hesitation in stating that the Government Control Act has met with my approval. Conditions in the homes have improved. I hear no more of bringing and carrying of liquor to parties in homes, and the subject of conversation there is no longer liquor, as it was until a few months ago."

FROM ALBERTA HAVE COME PROTESTS AGAINST STATEMENTS in the press alleging failure of the system of Government Control there.

Mr. R. J. Dinning, Liquor Control Commissioner of Alberta; Mr. A. J. Scheurer, Chief Provincial Liquor Act Enforcement Officer, and Chief of Police D. Ritchie of Calgary, have given information to the Calgary Herald. In his interview Commissioner Dinning took exception to, "talks delivered by speakers 2,000 miles away, instead of presenting their evidence to us. This Department is prepared to act at once on any information given."

Mr. Scheurer, the Enforcement Officer, stated that there was now rigid enforcement of the Act as compared with hiding or ignoring drunkenness in previous years. "Anyone appearing drunk in public now is promptly arrested and that is what the police records show."

Chief of Police Ritchie, at Calgary, stated, "The public are in sympathy with the new Act and they consider it a workable piece of legislation. People are co-operating with the police now and assisting in bringing cases of drunkenness to their attention. Under the prohibition law I felt that the public were not in sympathy with the Act, and for that reason the police were not receiving co-operation. I felt satisfied that the bootlegger was being protected and the drunks sheltered from law. It is different now. The bootlegger is being eliminated rapidly today. All the big traffickers in illicit liquor are out of business, and while there are some petty bootleggers, the public have no use for them and their business will soon be wiped out.

Protests From British Columbia

This is from the Moderation League of British Columbia, and while the source may be considered as not impartial, the attention of Ontario readers is specially directed to these statistics produced:

"British Columbia is the most sober province in the Dominion of Canada, while on the contrary Ontario, with all its "dry" laws and dry advocates, comes at the bottom of the list. This is no mere guess, but is proved by no less an authority than the Minister of Justice in his annual report to Parliament. On page 8 of this report are to be found these eloquent words in reference to crime of all classes in this Dominion: 'The number of convictions for the past year has decrease by 19,054, or 12.3 per cent., the principal decreases being found in Quebec (wet), Yukon, Nova Scotia and British Columbia (wet). In British Columbia the decrease was 2,740, or 18.9 per cent., while in Ontario it was 859, or 1.3 per cent.'

"Coming to the question of drunkenness, in which we are most vitally interested, the Minister's report (page 17) says: 'According to population, the number of convictions for drunkenness per 100,000 of the population is thus established: Ontario, 338; Yukon, 322; Manitoba, 280; British Columbia, 200. The average for the entire Dominion is 278.' This means that wet British Columbia was 78 below the average of the rest of Canada, and for the period of the report, Manitoba was 'dry', while Ontario, also 'dry', led the Dominion for arrests for drunkenness."

Let there be no doubt about it. In their efforts to besmirch the reputations of our Western Provinces the compulsory prohibitionists have gone too far. Government Control has been good for the Western Provinces and it will be good for Ontario. There is no question of the restoration of the public drinking bar in the issue before the electors of Ontario. There is no fight between so-called "wets" and so-called "drys", but there is a sincere and earnest effort being made by sincere and earnest men to have placed on the statute books of the Province of Ontario a real temperance law—a law that will eradicate the evils which have sprung up under prohibition and will promote the best interests, social, moral and economic, of the province. No man or woman in the province need be deterred from voting for Government Control by stories of pre-prohibition days. Government Control is people's control and you are asked on Thursday next to cast your vote on the side of moderation and reasonableness.

Wherever Prohibition has faced Government Control it has been defeated.

GIVE ONTARIO A CHANCE. THE TIME HAS COME FOR A CHANGE.

Lakeviews Lose To C.G.E. 5-0 --- Queen's Defeat Varsity 8-2 --- Epinard Hurt and Finished Fifth

C.G.E. BLANKED THE LAKEVIEWS IN CLOSING GAME AT RIVERSIDE

Hardill Held the Junior Champions to Four Scattered Singles.

C.G.E. DEFENSE GOOD

Whitehouse Fanned Twelve of Electricians, While Mates Booted Five.

The C.G.E. and Lakeview ball clubs put the finishing touches to a baseball season of over five months at Riverside Park on Saturday when the Midland League champions whitewashed Ontario Junior title-holders by 5 runs to 0. Lakeviews could do little with Jeff Hardill who held them to four scattered singles and allowed only one man to get as far as third base during the engagement while the C.G.E. gave their young right-hander sparkling support, three double plays being of great assistance in checking the Lebarr clan.

Whitehouse strove valiantly to win the day, striking out a round dozen of the intermediate squad and keeping their hits well distributed but his teammates not only failed to get any runs for the southpaw star but also kicked in with five errors, four of them very costly. Only one of the five runs scored against Whitehouse was earned and even that one might have been averted by faster fielding.

The fielding of the C.G.E. crew despite a greasy diamond featured. McCarney had two neat catches, one terminating in a double play, McPherson covered a lot of ground in gathering in a long foul and Wolfe after misjudging liner to centre pulled off a spectacular one-handed catch. Marchen had the outstanding Lakeview play when he made a fine stop of a hard hit roller from Bob Ross.

Summary of Play.

The only run of the first five innings was scored by the C.G.E. in the first frame. Wolfe fanned but McCarney got a life on Cameron's fumble. Ross sacrificed him to second and he scored when Ash misjudged Roses's high fly to left which went for a double. Turner fouled out to Lebarr to end the inning.

Two errors gave the winners their second counter in the sixth. With Turner out of the way via the strike out route Dugan was safe when Johnston's low throw pulled Lebarr off the bag. He went to third on two wild pitches while McPherson was fanning and scored when Cameron booted Hardill's roller. Barrie's strike out retired the side.

C. G. E. added two in the sixth.

Wolfe opened with a single to right centre and McCarney singled to right. Ross singled on the ground into left and Ash's fine throw home had Wolfe at the plate but Halliday dropped the ball in tagging the runner. Rose hit to Johnston, who threw McCarney out at the plate. Turner's liner was grabbed by Johnston. Dugan singled to second, Marchen making a good stop. Ross scored on the hit. McPherson struck out.

The last counter was registered in the eighth. With one out Barrie doubled to right, went to third while Marchen was throwing out Wolfe and scored on McCarney's single to left, the only earned run off Whitehouse. McCarney died stealing..

NEW BICYCLE RECORDS.

French and Belgian Remarkable Time Made By Riders.

PARIS, October 19. — More records went by the board to-day at the new Montthery Autodrome, in the presence of 20,000 spectators. M. Brunier, a French bicyclist, paced by heavy motorcycles, went 100 kilometres (62.14 miles) in 53 minutes 24 seconds, and 112.44 kilometres (approximately 70 miles in one hour.

Vanderstuyft, the Belgian rider, paced by the regulation motorcycles, lowered his own world's record by travelling 81.9 kilometres (approximately 51 miles) in one hour. Another record made was that of Marchant, who covered 10 kilometres (6.21 miles) in 4 minutes 15 3-5 seconds, using a 500 cubic centimetre cylinder machine.

WASHINGTON, D.C., October 20. —It seems to be up to Walter Johnson to decide finally whether he will continue to shine in the firmament of the world champion Nationals.

Clark Griffith, president of the Club, says that if the veteran hurler should be offered an opportunity to better himself, "it would be mighty hard of me to stand in his way," although "I would certainly feel that I was being a hero," in surrendering any claim on his services.

WARD AND EVANS FEATURED WIN

Masseys Defeated C. P. C. Juniors Saturday for First Time This Season.

SCORE WAS 2 TO 1

The C.P.C. Juniors met the Masseys in a league fixture at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon.

The Masseys included Johnny Ward and Dick Evans in their team, and both gave an excellent exhibition and in a great measure were responsible for defeating the Packers for the first time this season, the Masseys winning a good game by 2 goals to 1.

The Masseys won the toss and had the advantage of a strong wind. The Packers played with ten men, Billingsley became very dangerous in the first minute, his final effort going just wide of the post. The Masseys, aided by the wind, tested Bradley, who was in great form, and threw out a dangerous drive from Laughlin, Halliday sent Strudley away. He passed to James, whose shot Edgar saved at the expense of a corner. Downer took the kick and sent just wide. From the goal kick Ward sent out of Fowler, who sent in a splendid shot. Bradley caught the ball and allowed it to slip through his hands, and the Masseys were 1 up. From the centre kick Buchan went away and experienced the hardest of luck, his shot just missing by inches. The Packers seemed to wake up, and it was not long before their efforts were rewarded by success, I. Downer scoring a beautiful goal from the centre kick.

Ward kept sending his forwards along, and sent to Dick Evans, who beat Bradley.

Half-time was called, and the Masseys were leading by 2 goals to 1.

Second Half.

Upon resuming with the wind in their favour, the Packers were soon in the vicinity of Edgar, James sent in a great shot. Edgar saved by throwing out. Chambers met the return, and sent just over the bar. The Masseys' defence was safe. Pulley seemed to be in the right place at the right time. He saved the situation when Elgar was out of goal by heading a shot from Buchan.

The Packers kept up the pressure, Ward coming to the rescue by sending Ashmore away on the right from his centre. Dick Evans shot. Bradley bringing off a splendid save.

The Packers with ten men seemed to tire, and the Masseys were as lively as birds, and were playing in their best form . Ward kept plying his forwards with some timely passes. Billingsley got hold of one, made a nice run and sent to Evans, whose shot went over the bar. There was no further scoring, and the Masseys had the honour of defeating the Packers after a pleasant game, by 2 goals to 1.

The Teams.

C.P.C. — Bradley; Oxley and Halliday; Buchan, Chambers, Mitchell, Strudley, James, Willis, and I. Downer.

Masseys — J. Edgar; H. Pulley and Naish; Westlake, I. Ward, and Wilson; Ashmore, Laughlin, R. Evans, Billingsley, and Fowler.

Referee, Harold Marsh.

ARGOS DEFEAT M.A.A.A.

Toronto Team Gain Second Place in Big Four Race.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—Argonauts ousted Montreal from the deadlock for the second place in the Interprovincial Union standings here Saturday defeating the Easterners by a 14 to 4 score, in a scrappy spectacular session. It was one of the best games of the season to watch, being a battle of backfields with very little line work.

Argos had the edge on the line, but very seldom took advantage of it Fumbles played a big part, the Double Blue getting a touch down off a buck in the first half when Russell dropped a hoist behind the line and Fear got the loose ball. Hambly and Wright did the kicking for the locals, and caught faultlessly but Montreal were poor on high balls.

Reeves was the outstanding star of the game, his long plunges gaining Argos much ground. Twice he traveled through broken fields more than 30 yards, and his hurdle of the line and catch of an onside kick for Argos second touch were the features of the plays Evans, Gardiner and Booth were the Montreal best.

EPINARD INJURED

French Colt Finished Fifth in Fourth American Start.

LAUREL, Md., October 20 (Canadian Press). — Epinard, the French champion thoroughbred, suffered his fourth successive defeat in as many starts in this country when he was vanquished in the $10,000 Laurel Stakes on Saturday afternoon by F. A. Burton's Wise Counsellor, winner of the first of the international specials at Belmont Park last September.

Epinard finished a badly beaten fifth in a field of seven. He was ridden by Clarence Kummer.

After the race, Eugene Leigh, Epinard's trainer, said that the French champion suffered a split quarter, and would be retired for the remainder of the season.

The mishap occurred in turning out of the back stretch.

Wise Counsellor led from the fall of the flag to the finish over the mile route in 1m. 38 2-5s., a full second back of the track record.

Wise Counsellor was a length and a half in front of the Glen Riddle Farm's Big Blaze, which in turn was two lengths in front of Gifford A. Cochran's Sun Flag. Harry Payne Whitney's Initiate was fourth.

Epinard will be shipped to New York this week to sail for France within a fortnight.

In making this announcement, Eugene Leigh, his trainer, explained that Epinard came out of the Laurel race with a cracked quarter, that precludes him from going to the post again this year.

Whether the famous race horse incurred the injury before or during the race is a matter for controversy here. Clarence Kummer, the jockey, and Leigh said the horse was maimed in the race.

TIGERS CRUSH OTTAWA HOPES

Rough Riders Lose Close Rugby Game to Big Four Champions.

IN DOUBT TO END

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—(By Canadian Press).—Ottawa's rugby team was practically eliminated from the Big Four championship race Saturday when they were defeated at the Lansdowne Park by the Hamilton Tigers, the final count being 5 to 1. Before a monster crowd the two teams played almost perfect football and the contest was of such an even nature the result was in doubt until the final whistle. Indeed it was in the final ten minutes that Ottawa made a very dangerous bid for the decision. Jerry Timmins broke through the Tiger wing line and raced forty-five yards before being brought to earth, but the termination of the play left the ball on the Tiger 40 yard line, too far out to make appreciable damage possible. Tigers went through the last period with their scant four point lead continually threatened, as a touch would have been enough to have spelled defeat.

Once again the cause of Ottawa's defeat may be attributed in a large measure to weak work at outside wing. In this position, the Hamilton pair, Walker and Main, and their relief men, McFarland and Weaver, outclassed the local exponents. Both teams resorted to straight football, although a few end runs were interspersed.

Gibb and Tubman staged a great kicking duel. Rarely was a third down reached, as most kicks were sent away on the first or second downs. In the opening moments Tubman was unfortunate in having two kicks partially blocked but afterwards, he secured splendid direction and distance. Quinn was at all times a menace with his heavy booting, one of the Tiger points being credited to him.

All points were scored by the overhead route expect one..

GORDON CUP RE-PLAY

In Second Williams Scored, While Game Ended in a Fiasco.

The Vets were defeated on Saturday afternoon by the score of three goals to one in the Gordon Cup semi-final at Nicholls Oval. They were the holders of the trophy and now it rests between the Thistle and Canadian Woollens for the final. Neither of the two teams have as yet won this cup.

The Thistle won the toss and decided to play with the sun at their backs. Burgess broke away on the left but his shot was wide of the mark. From the goal kick, the Vets left wing transferred the ball to the Thistle area where Rae frustrated an attack by heading clear. Mann returned quickly to his right wing man who missed a great chance to score. Dangerous play against the Vets right half made the Vets defense come into prominence as they mastered the situation until the opponents' left wing pair outwitted Maker to get a fruitless corner that made the wing man offsides. In another attack Burgess tested Frick from the touch line, then Dyer nullifying Richmonds' effort when a goal seemed sure. Fine work by the Vets' half backs sent the forwards up against the sturdy defence of the Thistle which never failed to clear a dangerous raid.

Richmond Scored From Penalty

After two dashes ahead by Richmond had failed to bring success, weak Vets defence at last provided the Thistle the scoring chance when Wasson pulled down the ball inside the dreaded territory for a penalty kick that put the Jags in the lead as Richmond shot the ball in below the bar past the Vets' goalie. A minute or so later the Vets' extreme wing men were raising havoc with their opponents backs when Hanson and Richard worked close upon Bishop who unfortunately fell upon the ball.

Curtis Saved Penalty.

The Vets claimed a penalty kick that failed to be converted by Dyer. Everybody expected the equalizer but Curtis received the spontaneous applause from the spectators and congratulations of the player. With 40 minutes gone, and following give-and-take play, Hutton accepted an accurate pass from Carmichael. Mann tackled the outside right, who dribbled and outplayed him and sending a straight shot along to Richmond, the second goal came with a gentle swinging tap rolling past Frick. This success gave the Jags more confidence, just before half time arrived with two goals to the good.

Half-Time.

From a throw-in Monks and Griffin travelled right up against Rae but found him an obstacle to progress around goal. Later Griffine hustled ball and players in mid-field, then had a splendid drive for goal that missed the cross-bar, amid encouragement from his spectators. They came back again to find their clever combination wasted when Richard handled five yards out and in a good position to score.

Curtis Unbeatable.

Time and again the Vets' halfbacks would endeavour to open up the play to their advantage but their forwards were all at six's and seven's, although individual tries by Hanson, Monks and Griffine demonstrated that the Jags' goal-keeper was right in the game and never hesitated to clear at the first opportunity..

Hutton and McPhail Clever.

After this continued seige upon the Thistle citadel Carmichael trapped the ball close in on the goal, beat three men in succession in clearing and carried the ball up the field, drew the defense close upon him. Viewing his right win teammates vacant, he sent them along the wing as Wasson came running across to tackle Hutton, who centred quickly but the sphere landed at the far upright where Burgess tapped the ball into the goal but had not enough weight behind it until Williams finished it as Frick stood bewildered. Following some free kicking by both sides, Dyer had a clever piece of combination countered by Carmichael in front of goal. This player was the only one who played up to form and his movements were masterful and void of any unnecessary tactics to gain his point.

A Soccer Fiasco.

With only twenty minutes to go, a very unsportsmanlike attitude was adopted by some of the players who received walking orders from the referee for uncalled for methods. It is no use trying to enumerate the game during the last minutes because it was disgraceful and it is up to the association to nip this kind of tactics with the heaviest penalties possible, if not, a referee will not be found in the city to handle a game, also spectators will be few and far between. The Thistle deserved to win by the small margin. Thistle 3. Vets 1.

Goal-scorers— Richmond 2 and Williams for Thistle, and Maker for the Vets.

G.W.V.A.—Frick, goal; Maker and Wasson, full-backs; Underwood, Dyer and Mann, half-backs; Monks, Griffine, Maker, Richards and Hanson, forwards.

Thistle—Curtis, goal; Bishop and Rae, full-backs; Smith, Carmichael and Ross, half-backs; Hutton, McPhail, Richmond, Williams and Burgess, forwards.

Referee—A. Mitchell.

QUEEN'S DEFEAT VARSITY 8 TO 2

Kingston Team Showed Lack of Condition and Were Lucky to Hold Advantage.

SNYDER WAS STAR

KINGSTON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Outplaying Varsity in their first half, though aided by a rather lucky play which gave them a touchdown, Queens won the opening game of the local senior Intercollegiate rugby season here on Saturday by the score of 8 to 2, before a crowd of some 5,000 fans. It was in all a great struggle, with Queen's weakening so much in the last half that Varsity had much the better of the argument, and only the strength of the Queen's line held Varsity back when matters looked dangerous for the tri-color. The game disclosed the fact that Queens', while as strong as last year, are apparently not in condition to stand a gruelling battle on slippery ground, for their work after half time was not much more than mediocre, and the wonder of it was that Varsity was not able to sift through for a try.

As was expected the game developed largely into a kicking duel, with Snyder punting for Varsity almost invariably on the first down. Towards the latter part of the game Leadley and Batstone followed suit, returning the ball at every opportunity.

Queen's tore right into Varsity at the start, and it looked as though the Blue and White would be slaughtered. And they probably would have been had Queen's continued the work they showed in the early stages of the game. But Queen's tired and Varsity improved, and after half time, it was generally a case of Queen's being on the defensive.

Warren Snyder will not be denied the honor of being one of the best men on the field. The Toronto back field player proved a wonderful line plunger, and his kicking was strong throughout, while "Sandy" Somerville was not far behind. Leadley and Batstone were the best of the tri-color, though Thomas gave a remarkable exhibition of tackling, his pulling down of Snyder being particularly effective. The Queen's halves, however, were not given protection.

Queen's should have had a big advantage in first five minutes of play, when they got the drop on Varsity by following up their short kick-off and getting possession of the ball. They then ripped Varsity line to pieces but Somerville saved a major score.

After the first period Varsity pulled themselves togother and effectually stopped Queens' line plunges and end runs, with the exception of one brilliant play by Leadley and Batstone in the last period, when Queen's were fighting to retain their advantage.. Varsity team are confident of reversing the decision when the return game is played in Toronto.

GERMAN TEAM WON.

PARIS, October 20 (Canadian Press). — Fifteen thousand spectators applauded the Borussia football team of Berlin when it came on the field yesterday afternoon to play a match against the Club Francais.

The Germans again were applauded when they proved themselves victors in the match by a score of 3 to 0.

The visiting players showed greater superiority over the French men than the score reveals.

ROCKEFELLER BIBLE CLASS ON WAR BASIS

Generals, Majors and Captains Will Wage Membership Campaign.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Men's Bible Class of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, of which John D. Rockefeller Jr. is Honorary President, has been newly organized upon a military basis in order to increase attendance and interest. Announcement of the plan was made recently at a dinner given by Mr. Rockefeller to the members of the class and their men friends at the assembly room of the class at the church, and it will become operative at once.

For some time Mr. Rockefeller and the other members of the Executive Committee have been seeking a means of increasing the membership of the class. The military feature is modeled after the Bartholoiow Bible Class at Mount Vernon, which is one of the largest men's Bible classes in the world, with a membership of about 2,000. Delegates were present last night from this class, also from other successful men's Bible classes elsewhere in the metropolitan district.

The Rockefeller class will have a General, Major-Generals, four Majors and forty Captains, each with four men in his charge. There will be two divisions, known as the red and blue, and there will be a competition between the two divisions for new members. Every private who brings four new men into the Bible class will be promoted to a captaincy. The term of office is one year.

It was pointed out that heretofore the Executive Committee of the class did most of the work, but under the new scheme every man will do his share. An effort will be made to interest men all over the city in the class.

The first duty from now on of every private in the Bible class is to be on hand next Sunday morning. Attention was drawn to the fact that formerly the members felt that they were not bound to attend every Sunday, but under the new military rule, one speaker said, the member who does not attend ill be looked upon as a deserter.

Mr. Rockefeller was out of the city and Harry Bailey, President of the class, presided at the dinner. About 150 men attended. The attendance last Sunday at the Bible class was 120. Under the new scheme it is expected that this number will be doubled within a few weeks. On Jan. 23 the class will hold its annual dinner at the Astor, at which Mr. Rockefeller will be the toastmaster.

SOUTH MONAGHAN WORKS FOR O.T.A.

Public Meetings Are Being Held Throughout the District.

BAILIEBORO, October 20. —The people of South Monaghan are working for the O.T.A. Everything possible is being done to help the Ontario Temperance Act, by the churches and the people of this district.

Public meetings are being held throughout the vicinity, and the principal speakers are Rev. Mr. Barton, lecturer, Rev. R. M. Patterson, chairman, assisted by Rev. Mr. Richards, of Cavanville, and Rev. A. H. McConnachie. Everyone is heartily invited to these meetings, whether they are in sympathy with the O.T.A. or whether they are in sympathy with the government control. Both sides are being properly debated and every thing is being done to convince those who are still in doubt as to whether prohibition is the right thing or not, that prohibition has been the building up and making over of Old Ontario.

It is generally thought that as at previous elections the country vote will be strong for prohibition. Yet it is impossible for the country to carry the vote without the co-operation of the towns and cities. It is up to the citizens of every town and city in Ontario to do their part, and have the majority of votes for prohibition even greater than ever before.

The people of the province of Ontario have known what a splendid thing it has been during the past years since prohibition came into force, to have been able to do without this drink, which has been so detrimental to both the souls and bodies of men. Surely the people will not allow the brilliant future of this generation to slip back into the past, and allow old King Alcohol to return and blight the lives of so many of the boys and girls of the present and future generations.

Crop Report.

The farmers of this vicinity are busily engaged at the various jobs that have to be attended to on the farms, before the wet cold weather comes, such as fall ploughing, raising their potatoes, threshing, picking apples, etc. Some of the farmers have also cut their second cutting of clover seed for hay, and are now busy getting it into the barns.

The season this year has been suitable for producing a' ndance of hay, but very little clover seed. J. C. Campbell drew 13 loads of hay off a small acreage of second growth of red clover. Wilbur Barnard drew 14 loads of second growth red clover off 11 acres of land, making 43 loads of hay off 11 acres of land this season.

The buckwheat is nearly all harvested and some that has already been threshed has yielded anywhere from 30 to 45 bushels per acre, which is an excellent yield for buckwheat.

The majority of the farmers have their corn cut and silos filled for this season.

W. Lord has already finished his fall ploughing, having already ploughed 40 acres of land; considerable of this was ploughed the second time since harvest. This was all ploughed with horses, and besides his ploughing he has sowed 50 acres of fall wheat.

Throughout the township potatoes are an excellent crop. R. Fallis dug 120 bags off a little more than an acre of ground, and has yet an acre to dig.

No less than six trav...ng outfits are at work in South Monaghan and all seem to be very busy.

The apple crop is poor this fall; there are few good winter apples. In several orchards some fairly good trees of fall apples have been noticed, such as St. Lawrence, snow apples and Wealthies, but the remainder of the apple crop is almost a complete failure.

The prices of local produce are slightly higher this week. Eggs are selling at 35c per dozen, butter around 40c per lb. Some farmers have been drawing potatoes to Port Hope at one dollar a bag. Wheat is being taken from the barn by truck at $1.30 per bushel. Late tomatoes are selling at 60c per bushel; and hogs at 10c per lb on Monday last at Frazerville. Cream is up to 36c per lb. of butterfat.

400 DROWN IN RUSSIA.

Flood of Amur River Submerged Two Villages.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—A rise of twelve feet in the level of the River Amur has caused disastrous floods in the Nikolaiev region, where two native villages were submerged with the loss of 400 lives.

"With us it was simply a Matter of Common Sense"
Henry Wadham

"It wasn t the fear of a destitute old age that prompted us to decide upon a twenty year North American Life Endowment Policy," remarked Henry Wadham. "It was simply a matter of common sense.

"Like most young couples, we wanted to save a little money, and above all it was my duty to protect Marjorie in case anything happened to me. A combination "savings and protection" scheme was, therefore, the logical thing.

"I looked into the matter pretty thoroughly before doing anything, and then took out the Endowment Policy with the North American Life Assurance Company.

"The result has been that each year I have mailed them a moderate sized cheque. This yearly payment covers two things—protection for Marjorie and savings for us both. The remainder of my income, we have spent each year.

"Eight years from now, as a result of our forethought we will have $10,000 cash—much more than we would have saved by stinting ourselves and banking the money and, as I have said, I have had through the years, the comfort of knowing that Marjorie was provided for in case of my death."

Our booklet "Twenty Years Ahead" gives complete information. We will be glad to send it on request.

MISSED RECEPTION

Walter Johnson Reached Home Unannounced Friday.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Oct. 20—Unheralded, unannounced and unexpected, Walter Johnson, star pitcher for the Washington Americans, slipped into his home town Friday and was at his country home, east of the city, with his family before Coffeyville was aware of his arrival He had been expected to motor through with Mrs. Johnson, his mother and two children, but his plans were changed and he came by rail. The result was he eluded a reception committee that had been sitting up nights for a week planning the royal welcome Coffeyville would accord her distinguished citizen. The only change in the plans, however, will be that the celebration was switched to Monday. There will be a parade, a baseball game with Walter on the mound for the home club, and a banquet in the evening.

FUTURE OUTLOOK IS VERY BRIGHT

Decline In Number Of Business Failures During First Six Months Of 1924.

An optimistic forecast for the near future is outlined in an editorial in a recent issue of The Canadian Grocer, which points to the decline in the number of business failures during the first six months of this year, as compared with the past two years. In 1922, the number of such failures was 1635, with total assets of $13,814,702, and total liabilities of ....30,164,765. In 1923, there were 1640, assets $12,750,332, liabilities $28,854,676, and in 1924, there were 1263 failures, assets, $9,811,951, liabilities $26,640,941. The heavy mortality among the larger firms is also on the decline, most of the failures this year being of firms that employed capital of $5,000 or less in the business.

Prices of farm products is another hopeful sign. A 300,000,000 bushel wheat crop is anticipated in the West, with prices 25 to 30cents higher per bushel than last year. In Eastern Canada the crop has been exceedingly satisfactory. Fall wheat will be probably the largest crop for some years. The potato crop of New Brunswick is also expected to be quite large. It is said that it will mean an income for their province of something in excess of $10,000,000 at current prices in comparison with a revenue of $6,000,000 last year.

The corn crop of the United States is expected to be less than in 1922 or 1923. In each of these years the United States had approximately 3,000,000 bushels of corn. The difference in corn production there will mean a direct reduction in the exportable surplus of food from the United States. Corn is marketed chiefly in the form of pork. As the United States is a strong competitor in the pork markets of the world with Canada, this should mean better prices for Canadian farmers on pork and a better export opportunity.

The live stock situation this year is considerably better than last. The sales of cattle for the first eight months aggregated 452,532 as against 434,704 for the same period last year. This is an increase of nearly ten per cent., which in itself means an increase in the farmers' revenue of more than $1,000,000.

In 1923, creamery butter manufactured in Canada amounted to 163,456,759 pounds, valued at $56,894,008. This was an increase in quantity over the previous year of 10,954,859 pounds, and an increase in value of $3,420,726, according to a report issued by the Bureau of Statistics.

The production in 1923 exceeded in quantity the production of any previous year, and is exceeded in value only by that of 1920, when the average price per pound was 57 cents.

The Financial Post estimates that the total net revenue from all branches of production in Canada in 1924 will exceed that of 1923 by more than $100,000,000. This is assuming the continuation of the present rate of expansion in certain branches of production and the maintenance of the present levels of prices of primary products.

Last year farm products netted $1,253,690,000. This year it is estimated at $1,298,000,000. Revenue from other branches of industry, including manufacturing, forestry, fishing, mining, hydro development and construction bring the total this year up to $3,400,000,000, as compared with $3,292,768,000 in 1923. Naturally this increase of approximately $100,000,000 in revenue from our various activities will mean increased buying power on the part of the general public which will gradually reflect on the business done by the commercial interests of the country.

"America" (Knopf) is a book applying the Van Loon "Story of Mankind" method to the fascinating tale of the great adventure in which all Americans are actors. Particularly recommended for boys and girls. George P. Krapp has made a good job of it.

LEARNING SOCIAL TRICKS

By EVANGELINE WEED.

People desire naturally to conform in speech and action to the usages required by customs of society. Good manners are considered so important in all human contact that a great deal of thought is now given to acquiring certain familiarity with established rules.

Everybody may acquire good manners and enjoy the poise and confidence that are its accompaniments. One must remember, too, that etiquet is never misdirected; your inferiors deserve it as well as your equals and superiors.

1. What is the direct effect of politeness to others? The respect and admiration of others for you; your politeness puts others at their ease.

2. What effect upon yourself? It gives you a serene poise, an inner balance, a spirit of freedom.

3. What is the secret of acquiring polite manner? By observing others, and by reading. Try to have contact with people who are correct. You may learn a few social tricks from any modern etiquet book, but you may learn best to apply them by watching other people, by attending the higher grade movies to see society dramas, and by reading novels.

4. What is the fundamental of etiquet? Nothing less than human kindness. If it is a mere matter of form it is but a sham and not desirable. Etiquet is a vehicle for kindness. But remember, that etiquet does not mean either constant formality or undue deference. One can't hold to parlor niceties in camps, nor can one inject the brotherly etiquet of camp life into the parlor.

JARVIS TRIAL OPENED T-ODAY

Four Pleaded "Not Guilty" To Lengthy Charges Read This Morning.

JURY CHOSEN.

TORONTO, Oct. 20—(Canadian Press). — The trial of Peter Smith, former Provincial treasurer for Ontario Aemilius Jarvis, Sr., Aemilius Jarvis Jr., and Harry Pepall, of Jarvis firm, on charges of conspiring to defraud the province in connection with the purchase of bonds was started this morning before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith in fall assizes. The four pleaded "not guilty" to lengthy charges as read by the clerks The selection of the jury occupied three quarters of an hour and 39 jurors were challenged before 12 men were selected. His Lordship over-ruled the objection taken by I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., counsel for Jarvis Sr., but speaking for all the accused, that they could not be tried on charges of conspiracy as well as actual commission of the wrong they were alleged to have done. He thought one of charges should be dropped. His Lordship said that they could be tried on both charges but it found guilty only punished on one.

The 39 jurors challenged were on the behalf of following; Pepall, 9; Jarvis Jr., 10, Jarvis Sr. 11; Smith 6; Crown three. Bail was renewed in each, Peter Smith having ten bonds men at $5,000 each Counsel in the case are; T. Herbert Lennox for Smith, I. F. Hellmuth for Jarvis Sr., R. H. Greer for Jarvis Jr., and Arthur Slaght for Pepall. W H. Tilley, MacGregor Young and J. C. McRuer for Crown.

Allan Stewart, clerk in the executive Council office of the Ontario Government was the first witness and identified the oath of office taken by Peter Smith when he became Provincial Treasurer. W. N. Tilley, KC. reviewed the case to the jury explaining how the case arose and the court adjourned until 2.15 p.m.

Mr. Tilley stated that the case had to do with bonds worth about three and half million pounds issued by the Ontario Government,

These bonds were outstanding in England and Government sought to redeem them. Crown alleges that in connection with project reputable firm of brokers, the Jarvis Company were consulted. Bonds, it is claimed, were bought in at lower prices than eighty-ninety and ninety per hundred specified by Government as maximum and on the margin between prices and those set by government there was profit of approximately 132.000 pounds sterling.

Mr. Tilley concluded: "This is what crown says transaction was: that spread between what was paid for bonds actually and what province bid eventually was split between men charged. You, jury, must decide who were parties to this and I think you will have no difficulty in finding that all accused were parties."

The Lakefield Preparatory School met the Uleds house team U.C.C. in Toronto Saturday and defeated them by a score of 19 to 11.

APPLICATIONS OF BANDITS DISMISSED

Montreal Bandits' Final Appeal Was Heard By Chief Justice Anglin.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—The Supreme Court of Canada this morning dismissed application of the five Montreal bank bandits for writs of the Habeas Corpus without hearing counsel for the Crown.

The bandits' final appeal was heard by Chief Justice Anglin and Justices Idington, Duff, Newcombe, Mignault and Rinfret.

Through their counsel, Joseph Coohen, the bandits, Serafini, Frank Valentino, Gambino and Morel applied for Habeas Corpus at writs on three grounds:

1—That, although indicted by grand jury separately, they were tried together;

2—That the court of the King's bench (criminal side), which tried them was without jurisdiction;

3—That Judge Wilson, who tried them, being a Judge of the Supreme Court, was with jurisdiction in the court of the King's Bench.

Statements made by Guiseppi Serafini, one of the six condemned Bank of Hochelaga bandits, to Judge Coderre in the course of examination His Lordship conducted at Bordeaux Jail in an effort to find out if the bandit knew anything about the charges made about the police of Montreal, which are now being probed by the Judge, will assist the enquiry toward ultimate success. His Lordship announced this afternoonr.

Serafini, while not being quite specific, gave a lot of information to the judge on recent thefts and receivers in Montreal, His Lordship said.

Serafini, in Judge Coderre's opinion, would have been even more explicit had it not been for his desire not to incriminate those who committed robberies with him.

CAPT. M. W. PLUNKETT, Manager of "The Dumbells," at the Grand next Thursday.

A PHYSICIAN AT 65 WINS A GRUELLING CONTEST.

Have you ever ridden ten miles, straight away, on a bicycle. Then you knew it was a real effort. But what would you think of riding 1300 miles in 19 days, in the cold month of May, 1924, sleeping out, almost always wet to the skin? Such is the accomplishment of Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., of Toronto, who achieved this remarkable feat at 65 in contest with C. J. Gregory, 35, a life long bicyclist and an ex-bicycle racer.

Mr. Gregory is the red-headed gray-eyed, lithe, hard-muscled, sinewy tireless type. He lived upon meat, white bread, etc., the usual diet of civilization. Dr. Jackson lived largely upon Roman Meal and milk. He did not taste meat. Although 30 years older and 30 pounds heavier, Dr. Jackson ran away from his contestant. But mark, at 55 Dr. Jackson was a physical wreck, when he invented Roman Meal for rebuilding his bodily vigor and health. So effective was it that he could now tire out nine out of ten men of any age. It is a wonderful food. Try it and find out the deliciousness and the great health and strength value of Roman Meal. It prevents indigestion and positively relieves constipation. At all grocers.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Campbellford, October 20.

The funeral of the late William Keir was very largely attended on Sunday afternoon. The service at the house at two o'clock was in charge of Rev. Hugh Shaw, a former pastor of the Baptist Church in Campbellford, but who now resides at Menie. He was assisted by Rev. W. Elliott, of the Methodist Church, Campbellford, and Rev. Mr. McClennan, of Norwood, also a former pastor of the Baptist Church in Campbellford. Rev. Mr. Shaw gave a very helpful and practical address. The house was so crowded and so many people outside that the service was held on the verandah.

The following were pall-bearers: Mr. Fred. Weston, senior deacon, Messrs. Jno Hall, R. Weston, D. Mason, G. Lloyd and J. Hoskins.

Among the floral tributes were one from the Mission Circle of the Methodist Church, of which Miss Keir, a daughter of the deceased, is president, and also one from the Rebekah Lodge of which she is Noble Grand.

A son, Arthur and family, of Trochu, Alberta, who were unable to be present, sent a beautiful wreath. Others were sent from Mr. and Mrs. Southern, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hoover and Nellie, Miss Nevins and the Douglas children on Church Street.

The late Mr. Keir was born in Cazenovia, New York, in 1850.

He came to Campbellford in 1815, and has lived in town since then, nearly 60 years ago. He was the youngest son of Mr. William M. and Mrs. Keir, formerly of Horsworth, England.

Up to within about ten years ago the late Mr. Keir was in the business of woollen manufacturing, and had a mill on George Street. He was a life-long member of the Baptist Church, and as long as he had good health was a very active worker in the church.

He leaves besides his sorrowing widow, three sons and one daughter, Marshall at home, Charles of Campbellford, Arthur of Trochu, Alberta, who visited his home this summer, and Miss Stella at home. One sister, Mrs. John Cleary of St. Louis, Missouri, survives.

Mr. Keir had been in poor health for the past ten years, but was much worse the last four years.

As a kind and loving father he will be missed in his home, and also by all his neighbours and friends, who sympathise with the family in their bereavement.

The followng relatives attended the funeral:

Mrs. C. Rome, Mrs. O. Campbell, Mrs. B. Bartley, Mr and Mrs. John Rome, Mr. H Rome, Mr. I. Hethcrington and daughter Grace and son Earle, Mr. and Mrs. George Lockington, Mr. and Mrs. William Stillman and son George, Mr. S. Scott, all of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. A. Rome and son Russell of Toronto, Mr. John Keir of Smith's Falls, Rev. H. and Mrs. Hetchrington, Cordova, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Peoples, Miss Marion and Mr. E. Peoples of Colborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stillman of Castleton, Mr.. Thos. Stillman, Sr., and Mr. Thos. Stillman r., of Havelock.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate of Hastings, Mrs. (Rev.) Peer of Norwood.

The Sunday School of the Methodist church was held in the auditorium of the church on account of the Sunday School room being in a state of renovation. The program for the afternoon was a Temperance one Mr. A. Winters gave an address on the word "Habit".

Rev. I. and Mrs. Snell of Foxboro, visited Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hore and Mr. and Mrs. George Oliver, Grand Road on Saturday. They were on their way to Hastings where Mr. Snell preached anniversary services in the Methodist Church on Sunday and also to attend the Fowl supper on Monday night.

Messrs. Earl Stephens B.A., Burdy Petty, John Young, Jack Haig and Howard Davidson motored to Kingston on Saturday to attend the Rugby game.

AT THE CAPITOL.

NEW MEIGHAN PICTURE AT CAPITOL THEATRE TO-DAY

"The Alaskan," James Oliver Curwood's stirring novel of the far north, which Willis Goldbeck adapted to the screen, forms the basis of Thomas Meighan's brand new starring picture. This widely heralded film will be the main feature at the Capitol Theatre to-day and Tuesday.

As a story for Meighen it is undoubtedly the strongest in which this favorite screen star has ever appeared. Herbert Brennon, who produced the picture for Paramount, made a very careful selection of the supporting cast. Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, Charles Ogle, Frank Campeau and Anna May Wong are featured in Meighan's support.

"The Alaskan" is a tale of the new empire which has come into being in the far north during the last thirty years. It opens with the great gold rush which followed the discovery of the yellow metal in Alaska. George Holt is the pioneer but the story chiefly concerns Alan Holt, his son, a native Alaskan, played by Thomas Meighan.

Raised in the land where his mother and father lie buried, Alan Holt feels a great affection for it. His love of Alaska grows stronger as he sees the efforts of unscrupulous corporations with headquarters in the United States, to loot his beloved land.

He comes in open conflict with John Graham, an unprincipled financier, and before a senatorial investigation committee exposes many of the illegal operations of the Graham company.

At about the same time, Holt becomes interested in Mary Standish, a girl as mysterious as she is desperate, as impetuous as she is beautiful, and as lovely as the dawn of an Alaskan day. To her he confides his hopes and ambitions, only to be bitterly disillusioned when he discovers that she is the wife of his most hated enemy, Graham.

From that point on the picture unfolds a series of dramatic surprises that for exciting action and sheer realism have seldom been surpassed on the screen.

AT THE ROYAL.

LARRY SEMON AT ROYAL.

One of Larry Semon's funniest comedies, "The Barnyard," is the programme to-night at the Royal, also Billy Sullivan in "Swing Bad the Sailor." Another of the popular Leather Pushers series.

MASSIVE 10-PART PRODUCTION "MARRIAGE CIRCLE" AT THE ROYAL.

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES

"The Marriage Circle" Gives Lie to Old Solomon Saw

All those who persist in exploiting the old bromide, "there is nothing new under the sun," and especially not in motion pitcures, will find a delightful surprise in "The Marriage Circle," which opens Saturday at the Royal Theatre.

The picture is remarkable in its simplicity and the adherence to which it clings to everyday happenings. Moreover ,the cast can truly be termed an all-star one, for the five principal characters are none other than Monte Blue, Florence Vidor, Creighton Hale, Marie Prevost and Adolphe Menjou, while Harry Myers and Dale Fuller play roles of lesser importance with the cleverness that always charactrizes their performances.

Ernst Lubitsch, who produced the picture for Warner Borthers, and who has been responsible for "Passion," "The Loves of Pharaoh," "Rosita" and many other lavish productions, has always wanted to produce a story that would be conclusively his, directed as he himself wanted it and with no changes but those he made himself. "The Marriage Circle' is this picture, and it is perfectly produced from every viewpoint.

Instead of the usual over-developed, unconvincing story, here is a page from life itself, with all the satire, subtle humor and appeal of a sparkling continental story. It is a story of a married flirt whose greatest delight lies in enticing other women's husbands.

The complications that result are exceedingly humorous and never at any time depart from the plausible, which in itself would put the picture in the class of pictures destined to live. Aside from that, there is the excellent directing of Lubitsch, who in this picture outdoes even his own former record, the inspired acting of the cast, and the smoothness which characterized the whole performance, making it spin merrily along without a single jarring note.

AT THE GRAND.

"ACE HIGH."

"Ace High," the sixth annual Canadian production of The Dumbells Company, Limited, under the personal direction of Captain M. W. Plunkett, will be the offering at the Grand for three days commencing on Thursday, 23rd October.

The revue gets its name from the opening scene wherein flying "aces," broken propellers, wrecked aeroplanes, and a ruined chateau provide enough thrills so that the balance of the performance may be devoted to comedy, daintv costumes, and tuneful melodies. Like most of its predecessors, the one big thrill comes right after the first curtain, thereby encouraging those who might otherwise be tardy to come a bit earyl and be tardy to come a bit early and be ture.

New and delightful stage settings, gorgeous costumes and cleverly conceived lighting effects afford the all-star cast an adequate background for their finest achievements.

Ross Hamilton has a golfing number in the first half of the programme that surpasses any "production number" ever staged by this company.

Al. Plunkett has a new kissing song and a novelty number called "If I Can't Sing About Mammy I Won't Sing At All."

"Red" Newman, who is back under The Dumbells banner again this season, is appearing in two big character numbers, "The Photo of the Girl I Left Behind," and another typical Newman song, as well as playing an important part in the various sketches.

Stan. Bennett of "Archibald" fame, sings a Wild West number, and also scores heavily with a song about the gay Hussars.

Pat Rafferty contributes another of those quaint numbers rivalling his last season's song hit about the gay mountaineer.

Arthur (Jock) Holland, who is also back with The Dumbells once more sings an Oriental number with his usual brilliant success.

That old stand-by, Ben Allen, fills in several odd moments with song and chatter, while the Plunkett brothers trio again stops the show with some new "kid" songs and patter.

Captain Plunkett's orchestra, bigger and better than ever, rounds out a programme that contains everything there is in the way of variety and solid entertainment value.

"Ace High" strikes the high spot in the series of six Dumbell revues.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

LESS DRUNKS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: As I have heard so much of late that there are more drunks under the O.T.A. than there ever was, here is my experience:

Some 12 years ago (to show the evil of the liquor traffic) I offered a wee boy one cent per clipping out of the local press dealing with all police cases, accidents, crimes, etc., brought on by drink. He soon brought 25 clippings, and got his ¼ dollar; in a short time he brought 25 more, and another [illegible]; then to my surprise he walked into my shop in a very few weeks saying "I've got 50 drunks this time," and threw three in. He got his 50c, with a request to collect no more for me.

Now for the change: I had a chance last week of asking this party (now grown up) how would such collecting go now. He said there were so few drunks now it would not pay.

A lady in Toronto asked her family if they ever saw staggering men now on the streets. They said they did not. She said, how different, for when she was a girl they daily went past.

I mind the time 50 years ago when a large hotel stood where the Bank of Commerce now stands, and several saloons on Hunter street, and drunks could be found any time, and our only constable, Mr. Johnson, could not take care of them all—they lay till they came around. That was in the time the "pure, good old liquor" was sold. Voters, don't believe all you hear about making people more sober, and giving them more drink. Yours truly,

ED. COURTNEY.

P.S.: I have all clippings by me, if anyone wishes to see them.—E.C.

Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—How shall we vote on Thursday? Shall we vote for Government control or shall we vote for bootlegger control?

The bootlegger is making a fat and easy living. Everything seems to come his way. He is always welcomed at the back door or the garden gate and always returns if you have the price." The prohibitionist says there is no such animal in Ontario, but you cannot believe what he says because he blindfolds himself to the facts. The moonshiners with their poisonous drops and the prohibitionists with their fines and imprisonments both working and voting for the O.T.A. bootleggers control. Government control will put the bootlegger out of business and will cut out a lot of rank stuff that is being sold and consumed. Whoever thought of abandoning liquor in times past?—only as a war measure. Women and temperance men:: The best thing to eliminate drinking and lawbreaking is vote for Government control, and it will do away with the old saying, "Stolen meat is the sweetest." We have tried bootleggers control, let us try Government control.

ROTARY HEARS OF GROWTH OF A GREAT FIRM

Story of the Start of National Cash Register Company Is Told.

SERVICE IS BASIS.

Much interesting information in regard to the growth of the National Cash Register Company and many sidelights upon the fascinating personality of John H. Patterson its founder, were furnished by Mr. J. Maddi, district manager of the N. C. R. at to-day's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club in the course of an original and forceful talk.

The attendance to-day was large, and President J. W. McDermid announced that the average for September was 11 per cent. higher than for the same month last year.

The death of Rotarian Frank Linton was referred to by President McDermid, who said that he was sure every member of the Club would join in sending sympathy to the bereaved relatives. The deceased, who had been a charter member of the organisation, and for two terms treasurer, had been in every sense of the word a good Rotarian.

Rotarian R. G. Kingan urged a large representation from Peterborough at the Belleville inter-city meeting on 27th October.

Rotarian W. R. Morris called attention to the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-morrow night, when I. R. Hanna, of the Babson statistical organisation, is to give an important address.

Mr. Maddi in his talk on the National Cash Register Company, which he pointed out had grown from a concern turning out one cash register a week to an organisation whose output was one machine a minute, gave some most interesting information about the early career of John H. Patterson. The story of the purchase of the assets of the original company for $6,500 and of the growth of the organisation, was a most fascinating one and equally intriguing were the references to the qualities of Mr. Patterson himself.

Mr. Maddi laid special stress upon the service rendered to the business and mercantile world by the literature on subjects of peculiar interest to business men freely distributed by the National Cash Register Company, with the object of developing better and more prosperous merchants.

Rotarian Carlisle urged the members to get behind the sale of tickets for the concert by the London Concert 8 on behalf of Rotary on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

ORDER WOOD DIRECT.

From the Bush to the Consumer—Order To-night and Save Money.

We have had a good many enquiries for our eleven dollar hardwood, cut in stove lengths, and delivered direct from car. We have two more cars in, and will fill orders as received. We also have good car of mixed wood at nine dollars a cord and a car of good slabs, all cut, at nine dollars a cord. This is first quality dry wood from Manvers, and would cost a dollar more per cord if delivered from the yard. Order from the car and save money. — W. H. Baker, Peterboro Planing Mill. SCHOOL PUPILS NOT QUESTIONED

School Inspector A. Mowat Conducts Investigation Into Matter.

Considerable comment has been heard from various quarters concerning an incident alleged to have taken place in the Prince of Wales School a few days ago.

It was stated that the pupils of a certain class were interrogated as to the home-brew habits of their parents. Hearing of the incident from an outside source, School Inspector A. Mowat at once instituted an investigation and obtained the following signed statement from the teacher of the class in question:

Mr. A. Mowat.

Dear Sir,—I was teaching the sound "ee" to my class of beginners. I used a large number of words in drilling the sound, such words as sheet, peer, reed, deer, beer, etc.

As is my invariable custom, I asked meaning of each word used. When the word "beer" was asked, the majority did not know its meaning, but three pupils volunteered the information that they made it at home. At no time has any pupil of mine been asked as to any "home-brew" habits of parents.

(Miss) L. Wilson.

In connection with the above it might be stated that the children in this particular class are not over six years of age. Miss Wilson has been a valued member of the public school teaching staff for many years and emphatically stated that she did not ask the questions imputed to her. While conducting the lesson in which the double "e" was used the word beer was included in the list and before the word was hardly out of the teacher's mouth one of the pupils jumped up and said "I know what that is. We make it at home". Two other pupils volunteered similar information while the majority of the pupils in the class indicated by their actions that they did not know what the word meant.

GREAT HAIRPIN DEMAND.

Flood of Orders Engulfs the Hairpin Wire Plant.

STROUDSBURG, October 20. — Notwithstanding the popularity of bobbed hair, the Niagara Steel and Wire Company, of Stroudsburg and Buffalo, manufacturers of hairpin wire, is working night and day with a full force to fill the orders received this month.

For a time the plant operated short handed five days a week. Officials now are at a loss to understand what has caused the changed conditions for seemingly there are as many women as ever getting their hair bobbed.

The hairpin business is a mystery anyway. It would seem that from the quantity manufactured there would be a supply for years to come. But tons and tons of hairpins [illegible] daily, the officials explain.

The Stroudsburg plant has shipped six carloads of hairpin wire so far this month. The wire is very thin—a pound of steel makes 458½ feet of it. A carload contains 20 tons, or 18,540,000 feet of the wire. The six carloads this month contained 11,240,000 feet.

The wire is for the manufacture of "invisible" hairpins. One foot of the wire makes three pins. Consequently in the six carloads there was material for 333,720,0000 hairpins. And still the bobbing goes merrily on.

WRAP

One of the season's most elaborate wraps is this one of beige velora, with ostrich fringe. Much of its chic is due to the snug-fitting sleeves and the way the wrap is pulled closely about the hips. It is worn over a simple crepe dress of the same shade as the coat.

LINDSAY CAMPAIGN.

Stirring Times in the Northern Town Over the O.T.A. Issue.

LINDSAY, Oct. 20.— Whatever might be said relative to the apathy of the people of other centres in connection with the temperance campaign now being waged throughout the province, the citizens of this town cannot be accused of indifference. Never, perhaps, in its history has such warmth of interest been displayed over a question as is the case in connection with the prohibition issue. The town is a veritable rival camp, and there is no saying what may happen before polling day.

The prohibtion advocates are supported in the campaign by the Lindsay Daily Post. The paper, however, has thrown open its advertising columns to both the Prohibition forces as well as the Moderation League, and this has angered some of the ardant advocates of the O.T.A. Last week the Parish and Home, a periodical published in the interests of St. Paul's Anglican church, Lindsay, contained an article pointing out the weaknesses of certain prohibition arguments and also some interesting statistics relative to convictions in Ontario and Quebec. This article was like a bombshell in the ranks of the prohibitionists, and the writer (Canon Marsh) has been the subject of bitter criticism. A few days after the appearance of the church publication the Canon's article appeared in the Daily Post. It happened that Rev. Father Minehan, of Toronto, appeared the same evening at the Academy Theatre in the interests of prohibition, and the chairman of the meeting referred to the article written by the Canon, and announced that he was in a "hopeless minority."

Saturday night the Daily Post contained an article over the signatures of the clergy of the town, including the curate of St. Paul's in which Canon Marsh is charged with associating himself with the Moderation League, "the chief promoters of which," they declare, "are the brewers, distillers and bootleggers." This communication has added fuel to the flames and has aroused strong resentment amongst the friends of the Canon, many of whom are in favor of the O.T.A.

Sunday night in St. Paul's church Rev. Mr. Maconachie announced to the congregation that he had not attached his signature to the letter appearing in the press. Canon Marsh also announced that in spite of what had appeared in the press he still adhered to his views.

At the prohibition rally in the Academy Theatre Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Barraclough, president of the Ministerial Association, was compelled to make the announcement that Rev. Mr. Maconachie's name had been attached to the letter without his knowledge or consent.

WITHDREW CHARGES.

Crown Withdrew Conspiracy Charges In Home Bank Case.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.— (Canadian Press.)—The Crown this morning withdrew conspiracy charges against the Home Bank directors and officials, before Chief Justice Meredith in assizes this morning. Immediately afterwards D. L. McCarthy, K.C., special Crown prosecutor, asked permission to lay a new indictment before the grand jury. There is still a second count of circulating false prospectus to be proceded with.

N. W. Rowell, K.C., for defendants, sought to obtain particulars of new charge but the Crown refused.

SIX PERSONS INJURED.

KING GEORGE MEETING.

Certificates For Successful Entrance Pupils Presented To-day.

An open meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held on Friday evening last, when certificates to the successful entrance pupils were presented.

The principal, Mr. J. E. R. Munro, acted as chairman.

Parents and friends to the number of about one hundred and twenty-five were present.

Dr. F. C. Neal gave a brief address to the pupils, on entranc eto the Collegiate Institute. He emphasised the importance of taking an active interest in all branches of the curriculum, and particularly in the literary and athletic clubs, two aspects of school life which he said were sometimes neglected by the pupils.

Mr. A. Mowat presented entrance certificates to 24 successful scholars.

The following programme was rendered. Two vocal trios, by Isabel Given, Jean Hurl and Lillias Grierson; readings by Miss Evelyn Miller, Cyril Whatley, and Bill McCartney; pianoforte solos by Mrs. James Ellis and Miss Greta Brownlee; vocal solo by Mr. Frank Pratt.

At the conclusion of the programme, dainty refreshments were served by the ladies.

WEDDING BELLS.

HILL—SWAIN.

The marriage took place in the Methodist church in Cavan this morning of Myrtle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Swain, of Cavan township and Gordon Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Richards.

The bride wore a becoming costume of rust-colored georgette, with hat and wrap to match. She also wore the gift of the bridegroom, a string of pearls, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, who were unattended, left later for a honeymoon in New York city. They will reside in Peterborough.

OBITUARY.

MRS. HARCLD ALEXANDER.

At Winnipeg, Manitoba, Tuesday, October 14th, Mrs. Harold Alexander (nee Miss Pearl Squires, formerly of Cobourg, Ont.) age 33 years.

Interment took place at Winnipeg, Man., Friday, October 17th.

The late Mrs. Alexander was a sister of Mrs. Thomas Flannery of this city. Mrs. Flannery has been bereaved four times in the past four years, having lost father, mother, sister and son.

VOL. LV., No. 94 — PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1924 — PRICE THREE CENTS

GERMAN GOVERNMENT FORCED TO RESIGN BY WARRING FACTIONS

Efforts to Form Bourgeois Bloc to Secure Majority Fell Through.

ELECTIONS SOON

Democrats Refused to Share Ministry With Nationalists —Truce Abortive.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.— The Reichstag was dissolved by President Ebert Monday evening. After fitful efforts to construct a Bourgeoise bloc which would definitely control a safe majority in the Reichstag, Chancellor Marx appealed to President Ebert for a decree of dissolution and writs for new elections.

The refusal by the Democrats to participate in a ministry which extended only in the direction of the Nationalists proved the deciding factor in the chancellor's decision to abandon his negotiations, especially as his own party also was in open revolt against any pact which would drive the Socialists into opposition.

As was the case in the spring campaign, the Dawes report will again be the outstanding issue in the forthcoming elections, in that the Democrats and clericals will demand the continuation of Germany's foreign policies along the lines enunciated by the retiring cabinet and which were wholly dictated and shaped by the issues revolving around Germany's acceptance and fulfillment of the Dawes plan. In this both Bourgeoise parties have the active support of the Socialists.

Promise To Nationalists.

Just what will be the slogan of Stresemann's people's party and the Hergt-Von Tirpitz party cannot be foreshadowed. It is plain from the progress of the inter-party negotiations conducted by Chancellor Marx during the past six weeks that both Democrats and clericals bitterly resent the double dealing with which they charge the leaders of the People's party and which is said to consist of a secret promise to Hergt that the Nationalists would be definitely received into the government and given leading cabinet posts as a reward for their partial support of the Dawes plan when it came up for final acceptance late in August.

The chancellor exhausted every expedient at his command in order to avoid new elections, but the confusion thrown into the situation by Stresemann's party through its espousal of the Nationalists and its open affront to the Socialists made further parleys impossible.

Up to a late hour Chancellor Marx and his party colleagues in the cabinet, as well as the Democrats, sought to effect a truce whereby the present minority cabinet would be permitted to continue in office through the sufferance of the Nationalists and the Socialists, on conditions that it would pursue the course already laid out. This solution of the existing inter-party crisis was suggested by the feeling that new elections at the time of the German re-construction loan and the foreign credits floated would meet with an inimical reaction abroad. It failed to impress Dr. Stresemann and the other leaders of the People's party and the cabinet therefore lost no time in voting for dissolution.

The present situation does not resolve itself into a cabinet crisis and is altogether the result of the existing party line-up in the Reichstag, which precludes the formation of a workable majority government.

Continue In Office.

The Marx-Stresemann ministry will continue in office until the newly elected Reichstag produces its successor. Just what the new party line-up will be is wholly a matter of conjecture and there are sufficient political prophets at hand to predict that the new shuffle of mandates will yield only a slight alteration in the strength of the respective parties.

The Socialists who have been the most consistent clamorers for new elections, enter the campaign with every prospect of winning back the seats lost to the Communists last spring. The clericals and Democrats also are credited with good prospects for gains, while Ludendorf's fascisti party which is wholly of mushroom growth is booked for heavy defections owing to the party's inability to finance an active campaign and also through loss of prestige in Bavaria which formerly was its stronghold.

IT'S A CHURCH

This is the first picture of the new First Methodist Episcopal Church in Chicago. The skyscraper, whose spire is 556 feet high, stands in the heart of the loop. The photograph was made in 12 sections, then pieced together and copied. The cameraman had to stand at four different elevations to get it all in.

NEW FIELD OPENED IN ANTHROPOLOGY

American Returns From France With Skeletons Of Prehistoric Men.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(Canadian Press).—Professor George Grant MacCurdy, Yale anthropologist and director of the American School of Prehistoric Research in Europe, returned yesterday on the liner Orbita with the news of excavations in South-Western France. His party, he said, unearthed skeletons of three prehistoric men and one woman and the bones of an exceedingly small horse, believed to have roamed the arid soil in a section of Solutre, near Lyons, more than 30,000 years ago. This discovery, he added, places Solutre in the forefront in the fields of archaeological research and probably will be more important to the study of anthropology than the exploration last year when two similar skeletons, dug up a few hundred feet apart, gave them the first definite knowledge of the characteristics of cro-magnon man.

FRENCH EVACUATE SECTION OF RUHR

BERLIN, Oct. 21—(United Press)—The French to-day evacuated the river port of Karlsruhe as a preliminary to the evacuation of the Ruhr and Rhineland in accord with agreements reached at London.

French troops also evacuated Mannheim Harbor, as scheduled, and are due to withdraw from Dortmund at dawn to-morrow. Preliminary work of evacuation has been completed at Dortmund, to the joy of the inhabitants.

There was considerable speculation in allied military circles to-day as to how far France would proceed with plans for the evacuation of the Ruhr, pending the outcome of the general elections in Germany next month. The French have been extremely cautious and greatly distrust the German Nationalists who may gain in the elections.

EXPLOSION ON CRUISER KILLED 3, INJURED 18

Three Blown Overboard from U. S. Cruiser, But Were Rescued.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 21.—(Canadian Press).—Three men were killed and 18 injured, some of them probably fatally, in an explosion during target practice on the scout cruiser Trenton off Cape Henry on Monday.

The cruiser made this brief report by radio to the navy yard here last night, adding that she was speeding for Norfolk. Names of the dead and injured, it was stated, would not be available until the Trenton arrived at the navy yard.

The explosion occurred in the forward twin gun mount and radio reports from the Trenton said it was caused by a flare-back after one of the six inch guns had been fired. Three of the injured were blown overboard by the explosion but were rescued.

LOEB-LEOPOLD AMAZE BRITISH

Escape of Young Slayers from the Gallows is Cause of Much Comment.

SOME PAPERS IRONIC

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The United States completely baffles England, and the English will never be able to fathom American public affairs The wonderment aroused by the Loeb-Leopold murder case is fairly significant of England's amazement at American methods.

No event in the United States in recent times has attracted quite the wide attention that the Loeb-Leopold case attracted in England. English newspapers printed columns and columns of this trial and carried articles by criminologists and others striving to explain it. The legal procedure in the case also drew forth comment, and when the verdict came England was shocked and baffled. Newspapers put out extra editions and scattered "bills" all over the country announcing, "Chicago Murder Verdict Surprise!" Newspaper readers were quick to voice their astonishment

"Life imprisonment!" was the headline, and on every hand one heard expressions of amazement.

"What do they have to do in America to get a death sentence?" was typical of the question the English asked each other.

The question became all absorbing and was even discussed in the "high-brow" weekly papers.

"It is presumptuous to set a limit to the development of any art," said the Saturday Review, apologizing because it could not stamp Loeb and Leopold as having achieved the highest climax in "the art of murder".

"There were strong men before Cain, and there will be stronger or even more cunning or more unintelligibly motivated after Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold," the review continues in an ironic vein.

"But for the moment, perhaps for the whole week, the record of these two intelligent young plutocrats stands. Other heights in other lives or times; for the instant, or until our next issue, theirs is the supreme thing in murder for sport. It has, indeed, certain flaws .... Yet, take it all in all, the murder of Bobby Franks, the thirteen-year-old heir to a fortune comparable to those in prospect for Loeb and Leopold, was as thoughtful and as finished a murder as we, at the present age, can expect even from America....

"Without exaggerating the risk to the murderer in lives in a country which has only one execution to every eight cases of homicide, Loeb and Leopold may fairly be said to have taken as much as they could without incurring the reproach of indulging in blatant public assassination.

"They have escaped with their lives, and the Judge has escaped with his, which, apparently, was in quite as much danger."

Under English law, Loeb and Leopold could not have escaped the gallows except by successfully establishing insanity. Here, where homicide generally results in execution, the life imprisonment of these two youths is not conceivable. England is so baffled that many will still be puzzling about it all in the clubs along Piccadilly, when Loeb and Leopold are old men.

LABOR OPPOSES LIBERALS OVER LOAN TO SOVIET Inject Candidates Into Three-Cornered Contests Where They Haven't Chance to Win.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS

Premier Declares Loan Will Be Guaranteed Only if Floated Privately.

LONDON, October 21. — Canadian Press. — Lloyd George speaking Monday in the Shrewsbury division of Salop, where there is a three-cornered fight in progress, took the Labor party to task for opposing Liberalism in this constituency as well as in other constituencies "where there was as little chance of the Labor candidate being elected to Parliament as being elected president of the United States." He said Labor was opposing Liberalism because the Liberals were not in favor of the Russian loan, "a loan to help ruin, a loan to help disruption and revolution."

Liberal headquarters declares that in every case where a liberal candidate has been withdrawn from the contest the withdrawal has been with local consent, and the electors are left to decide whether it is a greater inconsistency to vote Labor or Conservative.

Premier Explains.

On the subject of the so-called Russian loan, Premier MacDonald declares that the electors should not be misled by the expression "Russian loan."

He says: "It is to be a loan floated in the London market and not a penny of the loan will concern the British government until the same is floated as a private venture. We do not guarantee 5,000,000 pounds. If the Russians can raise a loan of 5,000,000 on the London market and if we agree to guarantee that sum we will guarantee it."

Proceeding on the ground that so far the MacDonald government has not guaranteed anything in connection with the loan, the premier said: "If we do not agree to guarantee 5,000,000 pounds, but 2,000,000 pounds instead, we will only guarantee 2,000,000 pounds. One condition will be that it shall not be spent on military enterprises. Another condition will be that two-thirds of the amount shall be spent in British workshops for the supply of British-made goods to the Russians."

LABOR MAY GAIN SUPPORTERS SAY

Opponents Have Failed In Attack On Russian Treaties.

By Lloyd Allen,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 21.— Despite the political experts who predict the Government's defeat in next week's general election, Labor headquarters to-day estimated that Ramsay MacDonald's party will get from ten to forty seats.

The Conservatives and Liberals have failed entirely to stir up the electorate by their attacks on the Russian treaties and the case of Editor Campbell of the Workers' Weekly, the Laborites claim.

The popular mandate at the polls will be for Labor's opponents to "shut up and let the Government carry on," MacDonald's headquarters assert.

Note From The Dead Tells of Foundering Of Steamer Clifton

PORT HURON, Michigan, October 21. (Canadian Press.)—"Clifton sank 11 miles off Whitefish Bay, at 4 a.m., Monday.—Captain E. D. G."

This message, scrawled on a scrap of paper, was found in a bottle floating in the St. Clair River yesterday, by a small boy. Captain Emmett D. Gallagher was in command of the whaleback steamer Clifton, which went down in Lake Huron, on September 28th. Twenty-eight persons lost their lives on the Clifton.

The bodies of three members of the Clifton's crew have been picked up in Lake Huron, and wreckage from the whaleback was found several miles out from Alpena, indicating that the boat had gone down in a storm that was raging off that port at the time.

Whitefish Bay is in Lake Superior, many miles from Alpena, and also far out of the course the Clifton was taking. It is thought in marine circles that the captain in his haste in writing the note before the boat sank, might have written 'Whitefish Bay,' when he meant 'Thunder Bay.'

DANCING WIVES MUST PAY PIPER

Pleasure Exacts Heavy Price From Young Woman Who Slew Cabaret Mate.

MARRIED AT 14

By GENE COHN.

BAYONNE, N.J., Oct. 21. — She was a "dancing wife" with a "stay-at-home" husband.

Not a particularly new type in these dancing days; but a rather tragic symbol of a great heedless herd is Mrs. Marie Zelio.

Marie Zelio is barely past 19. She married at 14, when the piper's tune was in romantic mood and not in jazz time. She has a four-year-old baby girl.

What is idyllic at 14 may be prosaic commonplace at 19. But how many 14-year-old romantics vision themselves five years ahead? Certainly Marie Zelio didn't.

When the age of 18 had been reached Marie rubbed her eyes and looked around. Somehow the scene had changed. Other girls of 18 and 19 were "stepping out." They were having a "swell time." The tune of the romancing piper was growing so faint as to be almost inaudible.

Husband Liked Home.

And suddenly the piper was gone altogether and in his place was a saxaphone player. Marie began to dance. But not with her husband. Dominic Zelio was a "stay-at-home" who wanted to play with the baby when his day's work was done.

Marie took herself a "dancing partner"—one John Renne, who could dance better to this new piper.

Thus it went, with Fate waiting patiently off stage to throw all music into discord.

The time came. Zelio grew impatient. Renne grew impetuous. Jealousies bred. One night Zelio walked the streets of the neighborhood, waiting. Renne drove home with the "dancing wife."

Mrs. Zelio left the car. She gave her stay-at-home husband a pleasant nod and asked him to be cordial to the "dancing partner." Of course, she had her human values badly mixed; she had had them mixed for a long time. Zelio refused.

Renne, it appears, r with that sense of proprietorship that "dancing partners" frequently assume over "dancing wives," leaped upon Zelio.

Protected Husband.

The prison record tells the rest. In the crisis it was to the husband and father that Marie Zelio rushed. It is recorded that she stabbed Renne many times with a knife.

And when it was all over she was sitting in a dark cell and was moaning, "I want to die."

Some days have passed since then. The eyes of Marie Zelio are as shadowed as the narrow windows through which she peers, but a new light has come into them. Once a day they bring her the baby and she fondles it, crying bitterly into the freshly laundered linen.

Now she says: "I want to live."

And to girls from 14 to 19 she sends the message that one day she hopes to give her own child:

"Don't marry until you are sure you have had your play. But, if it so happens that you do, find a game where the price is not too high. For sooner or later dancing wives will pay the piper."

Meanwhile the piper, back in romantic garb, plays a tune of hope outside the prison yard.

LOAN PREMIUM RISES.

German Loan Jumped From Premium Of 2.50 To 4.00 In Few Minutes.

LONDON, Oct. 21. — (United Press).—A few minutes after the German loan was commenced to be traded in on the Stock Exchange this morning, it rose from a premium of 2.50 to 3.58, and twenty minutes later transactions were being made at 4.00.

IMMIGRANTS TO U.S.A. FILL JAILS ON THE BORDER

Ten Captured at Rouse's Point Resembled College Football Team.

WERE FINE TYPE

Smugglers Regard Their Efforts as Accomplishment, Not Breach of Law.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. — Handcuffed by pairs, ten well-dressed men were brought to Ellis Island on Sunday from the Canadian border, where they had been captured when trying to get into the United States.

All were young men of fine physique, resembling a college football team as they came swinging their fashionable hand baggage through the Barge Office.

Inspector McMahon and Arthur Beauvais, guard from the Immigration Station at Rouse's Point, on the Canadian border, had charge of the strange band. The officers said that these men were only a small group from among hundreds now held along the border. They were taken to Ellis Island and will be deported.

The men joked about their adventure in trying to beat the Quota law.

Jests At Capture.

"Who are we? Why, merely a lot of foreigners."

So said one fine-looking, fellow. He spoke good English, but refused to say whether he came from England, Scotland, Ireland or Wales. He added:

"Just put us down as a bunch of deserting seamen," he added.

Inspector McMahon said the American officials are meeting difficulties along the Canadian border in trying to keep back immigrants from Europe, who come to Canada and then pay smugglers a price to bring them over the line into the United States.

"Every jail near the Canadian border is crowded now with smuggled immigrants. At Plattsburgh, Clinton, Salem—every town where there is an American jail—one will find scores of these captured immigrants.

Some Of High Type.

"They are mainly undesirables who would fail to pass, but some of them are of the best type of immigrants. It has come to be considered an accomplishment, not a crime, to smuggle into the United States.

"Immigrants from some of the better classes in every European country seem to feel no shame in beating the American immigration laws.

"Difficult as is the task of capturing them in such spots with an absurdly thin guard, the trouble does not end when they are captured. That is why the jails along the border are filled. The immigrants contest every point."

McMahon seemed to believe the American jails along the border will soon be filled with "men without a country." But he said hundreds of them will soon be brought to Ellis Island.

The following facts have been brought to light:

Jails near the border are filled with men and women of many nationalities who sought to evade the immigration law.

Rum runners are turning their efforts from liquor to aliens.

Unsuspecting would-be immigrants have been thrown into the Detroit and St. Clair rivers when the men conveying them across were threatened with capture by patrol boats.

"Hijackers" who agree to get the alien across the border but en route rob him of everything he possesses are active.

The existence of a gigantic "ring" is suspected but so far the police have been unsuccessful in breaking it up. The headquarters of the ring is said to be in Montreal.

WILLOW WIDOW CONVICTED BUT KEEPS UP FIGHT

Counsel Applying for New Trial for Plotter of Husband's Murder.

HAD LOVED BOY

May Appeal to Supreme Court if First Effort Fails.

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—Albert Johnson, prominent lawyer of this old Dutch section of the State will do his best before Judge Potter in the County Court to get a new trial for Annie S. Willow, convicted Saturday of murder in the second degree.

Here is a drama to which only Thomas Hardy could give voice in literature. Judge Potter is himself of the people of 'Dutch Snyder County' as it is called by the folk of other counties.

Before him has been laid the evidence in the trial of Ralph Shadel, a farm hand on the Willow plantation in Monroe Township. Ralph, a boy less than half the age of Annie Willow, confessed to the murder of Annie's husband He was tried, convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the penitentiary for ten to twenty years.

No Commutation

There is no time off for good behavior. He must give ten years for filling with shot the head of Harvey Willow and leaving him dead in the woods of Monroe township, his faithful hunting dog, Bobbie, squatted beside him.

In the trial last week of the farm woman there was no concealment on the part of the defense of the fact that Annie Willow had loved the boy. She could have denied that for there were no witnesses to their embraces, save Mrs. Willow's daughter Iva, seven.

Plebiscite Bulletin

Oct. 21, 1924 — PETERBOROUGH — No. 27

BUSINESS PROSPERITY THREATENED

THE greatest danger that threatens the prosperity of Ontario is the possible repeal of the O.T.A. on October 23rd

The prosperity of the Province depends largely on the prices farmers receive for their farm products, and particularly for dairy products such as butter and cheese. If the prices paid for these are high, business conditions improve. When the prices realized for them are low, business conditions are impaired. Note these figures:

ONTARIO CROP VALUES IN 1923.

Butter	$16,665,227
Cheese	18,604,766
Fruit, honey, and vegetables	11,757,551
Total	$47,027,594

This enormous sum of money was obtained through useful production and immensely benefitted the people of Ontario.

QUEBEC'S CONSUMPTION OF LIQUOR.

Now notice what took place in Quebec in 1922. In that year the people of that Province expended, under "Government control" for "booze":

Liquor from dispensaries	$19,698,773
Beer from licensed holders	27,527,255
	$47,226,028

Thus in one year the people of Quebec spent approximately $200,000 more for booze than tens of thousands of farmers in Ontario earned last year in the production of butter, cheese, fruit, honey and vegetables. Should the O.T.A. be defeated, and the people of Ontario spend anything like as much for liquor as the people of Quebec are doing, a staggering blow would be struck at every legitimate business interest in the Province.

BUSINESS FAILURES IN QUEBEC.

Is it to be wondered at that business failures in Quebec, under Government control, far outweigh those in Ontario under the O.T.A. Note these figures:

	1921	1922	1923	3 Years
Quebec ..	$10,506,527	$14,893,192	$11,214,273	$36,613,992
Ontario ..	6,366,711	7,402,873	2,202,413	16,088,997

It will be seen that the worst showing of all in the Province of Quebec is for the years 1922 and 1923 when their liquor system was running in its full glory.

Vote for the O.T.A.

WHO ARE THESE MEN ?

In last night's Examiner the Moderationists published interviews with prominent men in Manitoba expressing approval of Government control. Be very careful about accepting these statements at their full face value until you know the business connections of the men quoted. For instance, the General W. R. Patterson, who is quoted, is married to the daughter of one of the largest, if not the largest, brewer in Manitoba.

WHERE TO VOTE.

People who are confused about where they are to vote on Thursday are invited to 'phone 1866 or to call at the Plebiscite Committee Rooms on George street, opposite Barries.

PLEBISCITE RETURNS.

All Temperance workers and friends of the O.T.A. are invited to visit the Committee Rooms, George street, Thursday evening, where arrangements have been made to receive telegraphic returns from all parts of the province.

For the Honor of Old Ontario Mark Your Ballot Thus :

1	Are you in favour of the continuance of The Ontario Temperance Act?	X

PROMISES MADE BY ALL PARTIES

Conservative Party Will Reimpose McKenna Duties —Better Times Coming.

CONSERATIVE ALLY.

LONDON, October 21 (Canadian Press). — The Conservative Party, if it is returned to power in the general election next week, will re-impose the McKenna duties if the Trades Union leaders ask for such action, Sir William Joynson - Hicks, Conservative, declared in a campaign speech at Islesworth last night.

The election campaign is warming up considerably everywhere. The Conservatives are making the most of the Anglo-Rusian pact and the Campbell controversy issues; the Labour leaders are holding out promises of better things to come if they are returned with a majority, while the Liberals are advocating among other things, state control of minerals, with operation to be carried out by private enterprise.

The Conservatives have a new ally in Sir Auckland Geddes, former British Ambassador to Washington.

Since his retirement from Washington post, Sir Auckland has taken no part in public offices.

N.C.W. ON PROHIBITION.

Re-affirms Stand On Liquor Question and Speaker Points To Danger.

At the recent annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, an organization extending from coast to coast, and representing approximately 400,000 women, a motion was brought forward and passed without a dissent' voice that in view of the present critical moment for the cause of temperance in Ontario, the N. C. W. re-affirm its stand on the platform of prohibition.

After the vote had been taken Prof Carrie Derick, M.A., of McGill University, Montreal, expressed her pleasure at the result of the vote and added the opinion that it would be a matter of great regret, especially in those districts adjacent to the boundary line of the U.S.A., should the O.T.A. be abrogated, as those districts without doubt would then become the resort of the worst elements of their prohibition neighbors.

Judge McGill of Vancouver expressed her agreement with the sentiments of Prof. Derick

Every moving part of a car must be thoroughly covered with a film of oil, both for protection of the engine and to eliminate friction. This increases not only the efficiency or number of miles per gallon of gasoline, but it also prolongs the life of the entire car.

PARTY AT CODRINGTON.

Farewell Given Mr. and Mrs. John Hennessy.

CODRINGTON, October 21. — A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Hennessy, who live a short distance north of here, gathered at their home to wish them farewell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennessy are moving to Brighton where they intend to reside.

Mr. Hennessy has rented his farm to Walter Fowler, and has taken a position as salesman for the International Stock Food Company.

Mr. Hennessy is the eldest son of D. R. Hennessy, who was Reeve of Brighton Township several years ago.

HUNTERS' TRAIN SERVICE CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

A pamphlet has just been issued by the Canadian National Railways, outlining the complete special train service that has been planned for hunter going into the Northern Ontario territory this fall. 'Hunters' special trains will leave Toronto on November 1st and 3rd, at 11.00 p.m. for all points on the North Bay Division, and at 11.15 p.m., for all points between Toronto and Sudbury, via Bala and Parry Sound. Other additional services and convenient day trains are being provided for both going and returning trips.

ROME STIRS UP NEW WAR SCARE

Newspapers Name Britain and Turkey As Adversaries—Navy Gathers.

IS BEFORE LEAGUE.

ROME, October 21 (United Press). — Rome newspapers to-day endeavoured to stir up a war scare, with Great Britain and Turkey as the adversaries.

The Messageros Paris correspondent reported that the entire British Mediterranean squadron was being hurriedly assembled at Malta for a purpose that is not disclosed.

The British Atlantic squadron is due shortly at Trieste, the correspondent stated.

Il Piccolo, on the other hand, reported the receipt of Constantinople despatches to the effect that mobilisation of all Turkish Army classes has been completed "apparently with a view to a conflict with Britain."

This newspaper said reports from Moscow led to the belief that Russia would side with Turkey in case of hostilities.

Great Britain said Turkey has laid their dispute over the Irak border and the Mosul oil regions before the League of Nations, and a special meeting of the League Council has been summoned at Brussels next month to arbitrate the matter.

JOB HUNTERS

States except a private secretary. He said he had received no less than a thousand applications from United States citizens in Europe desirous of assisting him to distribute the millions which will be paid by Germany. It is his present intention, he declared, to conduct the agent-general's business with a minimum of personnel.

The exact date when the agent general will take charge of the work has not yet been definitely fixed, but Mr. Young said last night he expected to return to the United States in three weeks and it is expected that Mr. Gilbert will assume his full duties before November 1.

In addition to his other duties Mr. Gilbert also becomes trustee of the $200,000,000 German loan. Just how the collateral for that part of the loan floated in the United States will be transferred has not yet been decided. This is considered a matter for the bankers to decide among themselves. The dollar credit will be opened in the United States banks against which the Reichsbank may draw. It is thought probable that the flow of gold, which has been westward during the past five years may be halted. It is anticipated that should the German National Bank desire portion of the loan in gold, some of the precious may trickle back to Europe.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know that these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia, which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach, which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, say well-known druggists here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

A small cluster of plaits eases the excessively narrow line of the tube silhouette for the figure that can not stand the unvarnished truth of the sheath frock.

PLAITS are used here and there on many of the new Fall frocks. Just a few of them inserted at one or both sides of a narrow dress do not widen it in effect but make it easier to wear for the woman who can not quite go the very snug fitting of the new close hip. They also make the straight frock rather more comfortable for walking. Kasha, wool crêpe, lightweight cashmere and soft twills plait nicely and one can also use satin, heavy silk crêpe and silk alpaca. Alpaca plaits with knife-like sharpness.

GIANT COACH ASKS LANDIS TO PAY UP

Seeks Share Of Proceeds Of World's Serjes, and Re-instatement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.— (Canadian Press.) — William J. Fallon, noted criminal lawyer, has been retained by Alva J. ("Cozy") Dolan, former Giant coach, exiled from so-called organized baseball by the edict of Commissioner Landis that barred also Jimmy O'Connell, outfielder of the Giants, after he confessed offering Heine Sand, Phillie's short fielder $500 to "throw" a game if necessary, to insure the Giants winning their fourth consecutive pennant in the season just closed.

Dolan, named by O'Connell as having inspired the bribery offer, which Sand rejected, has instructed Fallon to start suit immediately against Landis to force the latter to restore Dolan to good standing in baseball, to compel payment to the ex-coach of the losing team's share from the receipts of the recent world series and for damages for slander.

COUNCIL REFUSES TO GO INTO TRADE

Toronto City Fathers Will Not Embark In Gasoline Or Milk Businesses.

TORONTO, October 21 (Canadian Press). — After several hours of heated discussion on the merits of public versus private ownership and the operation of public utilities and the obligations of municipalities to look after the needs of the poorer residents within their boundaries, the City Council yesterday declined to extend its activities in the matters of trading.

Ald. Pearce, supported by the Board of Control, urged that legislation be sought to enable the city to embark in the gasoline business in order to force the big companies to reduce the price of gasoline.

The Council also refused to consider the propositions that the city should enter the coal, milk and bread business in an effort to obtain lower prices.

AMERICAN AIDS MANDATE BODY

Huntington Gilchrist Appointed Assistant Director of Mandate Section.

MEETING THURSDAY

GENEVA, Oct. 21.—(Canadian Press).—A new interest has been given to the league of nations handling of the system of mandates over former German and Turkish colonies by the appointment of Huntington Gilchrist of Auburn, N..Y., as assistant director of the mandate section of the league secretariat.

Professor William Rappard of Switzerland, who has been director of this section and who was formerly professor of econmics at Harvard, will retire to become vice-rector of the University of Geneva. V. Catastinl of Italy will become the director with Mr. Gilchrist as assistant. The latter has been connected with the administrative commission of the league which is supervising questions such as those of Danzig and the Saare Valley.

Owing to the interest of the United States in mandated territories which developed with the negotiation of special United States treaties with the mandate powers guaranteeing the United States equality of treatment, it was originally planned to given an American a leading position in mandate activities. In 1919 George L. Beer of New York was appointed head of the mandate section, but Beer died before he was able to take up his duties.

The mandate commission will meet Thursday at Geneva to examine reports of conditions of the Pacific Islands mandate to Japan, Australia and New Zealand.

The commission will also look into the British mandate over Palestine and the mandate of the French over Syria and Liban.

PROSECUTOR HAD SURPRISE READY

W. N. Tilley Produces Unexpected Evidence In Alleged Bond Frauds Case.

JARVIS' SECRETARY.

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(Canadian Press). — Just before the adjournment yesterday of the trial of Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer; Aemilius Jarvis, Aemilius Jarvis, Jr., and Harry G. Pepall on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Province of several thousands of dollars, W. N. Tilley, K.C., special Crown prosecutor, sprang a surprise in the shape of evidence as to the origin of certain letters carrying the signature of Peter Smith as Provincial Treasurer.

The informant in this instance was Mrs. Augusta Friedman, who before her marriage was secretary to Aemilius Jarvis, elder. This witness stated that five letters, dated Feb. 21, 1920, dealing with the appointment of Andrew H. Pepall, as Mr. Smith's representative in England and other phases of the plan to buy bonds held in Great Britain were typed by her in the office of Aemilius Jarvis and Company at the dictation of Aemilius Jarvis, the elder. All five of the communications were on the stationery of the Treasury Department, and carried Mr. Smith's signature. Two of the letters were addressed, "To whom it may concern," and told of the appointment of A. H. Pepall and of the authorization given to Jarvis the elder to act for the Ontario Government in England. Two others were addressed to the Jarvis firm, the one confirming the details of arrangements entered into for the purchase of bonds, and the other being official notification of the authority given to Andrew Pepall. The fifth was addressed to the manager of the Bank of Montreal in London, England.

Evidence in this connection, coming as it did after the defence counsel had vigorously protested the reading of the letters in question, on the ground that they were not admissable as evidence, was the one unexpected event of the day.

As was indicated during police court proceedings of May last, Mr. Tilley informed the jury that he proposed to prove that coupons cut from bonds turned over to A. H. Pepall as part of the profits had been traced to Peter Smith's bank account, and that a cheque advanced to A. H. Pepall by the Treasury Department on account of expenses also had found its way to Mr. Smith's bank account.

NO MORE MIXED BABIES! TAKE FOOTPRINTS NOW

HERE'S HOW BOSTON HOSPITAL TAKES IMPRESSIONS OF BABY FEET FOR PURPOSES OF IDENTIFICATION.

By HAROLD MATSON.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Babies in Boston are starting off in the world with their feet flat on the ground.

There'll be no mixing of babies. Too many times the child of Irish parents has found itself with Swedish parents, and vice versa, as the case might be. But the mites are done with such carelessness. They're standing up and declaring themselves.

So it is that every baby born in the Boston City Hospital, some 1,000 or more a year, makes his first tangible impression upon the world standing on his feet.

Soleprints are being taken of each infant as it enters the world. This, the latest device to insure positive identification, is supposed to be as infallible as fingerprints are with adults.

"The fingers of a new-born baby are too soft to make a print impression," explains Dr. Reginald Margeson, in charge of the sole-print work. "It was the idea of Professor H. H. Wilder of Smith College to take sole prints and we are doing it with great success."

To double insure identification both the baby and its mother are registered before they leave the delivery room—the baby by sole prints and the mother by fingerprints.

"Not only does this precaution protect the babies' true identification," says Dr. Margeson, "but it also serves in cases where a mother, released from the hospital, abandons her child on the doorsteps of some stranger's home.

"The days of foundlings are over," he continues, "for an abandoned baby, brought here to the soleprint office, would be readily identified and its mother located."

Dr. Margeson declares that mothers are leaving the city hospital with lighter hearts than they used to, for there was always the chance that the child they held was not their's. Besides the soleprints each infant is identified by bracelets; one of adhesive tape with his name written on it, and the other of letter beads, the letters spelling the child's name.

It all sounds very simple, and it is once done, but some of the more ambitious babies are fretful with the ceremony.

"Some of them squirm and cry and move their feet and hands unceasingly," the doctor says. "To get their soleprints the nurse has to do in it hit-and-run fashion so that the print isn't smudged. But eventually every baby's print is there and as long as we have the records that child can be identified."

In years to come, when this generation of soleprinted babies grow up, there'll be no more romantic stories of mistaken identity, sons of kings raised as gypsies, men with Patrick blood raised as Isidore. The wrinkle or the whorl on his foot will preserve his identity.

In the meantime, mothers at the Boston City Hospital are not so frightened to be separated from their babies as they are in institutions where the soleprint has not yet been introduced.

FURNITURE FAKES IN ENGLISH HOMES

There Have Been Fake Pictures Ever Since Artists Started to Paint.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Of the making of many different kinds of fakes there seems to be no end. There have been faked pictures ever since artists first began to use paints. There are so many faked Rembrandts in existence that few prospective purchasers will complete a deal for one of the great Dutchman's works without consulting an expert. Just now an unusually active business in faked furniture is reported.

"This is an age of faked furniture," said the proprietor of ao West End gallery. "One comes across it everywhere It is certainly more plentiful than genuine furniture.

"Most of it is sold in the first place for what it is, accurate imitation, but later it comes into the market in the ordinary way to be sold as the real thing. Some of the modern faking of Jacobean furniture is so good that it frequently deceives experts. The number of Tudor tables which are on the market is enormous. There is about one for every six houses of Tudor days. Of course, most of them are clever fakes."

A favorite device of the fakers just now is to plant their reproductions, carefully matured and dust-covered, in rural English homes, where they are eagerly snapped up by unsuspecting purchasers who go through the country-side looking for antiques.

ASK CHURCHES TO BACK DRUG FIGHT

International Opium Conference to Fight Drug Evil.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(United Press) — Earnest support of churches and church organization for the American plan for world-wide suppression of the "drug-evil" before the International Opium Conference in Geneva in November is sought by the Federal Council of Churches.

The council calls upon Christian America to support, by thousands of resolutions, the famous "American policy" calling for total extirpation of opium plants except to meet medical and scientific needs. The petitions will be presented to the world Conference by Bishop Charles H. Brent, one of three American delegates appointed by President Coolidge. Congress has appropriated funds for the expenses of the delegation.

The American delegates, the Federal Council says, will make a strenuous fight for control of the traffic in habit-forming drugs, but leaders in the fight believe that is essential for the world to know that they are backed by the American people.

The International Opium Conference was summoned by the League of Nations, chiefly through the efforts of Stephen G. Porter, then congressman who persuaded the League Commission to adopt the "American policy".

WAR BLAME GERMANY'S

Effort to Repudiate It Declared Useless by British Editor.

From the outset of the war the action of Germany appeared to the people of this country, England, as an unwarrantable crime, and our entry into the war as an act of justice, writes Wickham Steed, in the London Review of Reviews.

At Versailles the representatives of Germany were presently constrained to recognize the responsibility of their country and that of its Allies for all the loss and damage resulting from a war brought about "by the aggression of Germany and her allies," while William II. of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, was publicly arraigned in the peace treaty "for a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties."

The Germans claim, however, that this assent has no moral value, since it was given under constraint, and they have long been engaged in seeking to prove Germany guiltless or, at worst, guilty only in the same degree as her enemies.

These efforts cannot succeed. No research has brought or can bring to light any fact of a nature to invalidate the cause for which the British people went to war. Nor is it possible to explain away the words of the German Imperial Chancellor to the Reichstag on August 4, 1914: "The wrong—I speak openly—that we are committing we will endeavor to make good as soon as our military goal has been reached."

From that wrong all the rest proceeded. The endeavor to redress it was the supreme justification of the Allied cause. Had it gone unpunished, all possibility of vindicating the sanctity of treaties in future would have disappeared, and all hope of enthroning the reign of law above the rule of force in dealings between nations.

WILLOW WIDOW

Iva had seen Ralph kiss her mother .To a child of that age a kiss is as pure as the wave of a hand in greeting or in parting. Of course she, the child, was not put on the stand.

But to the twelve men in the jury box, all elderly men of the old stock left in the pleasant and fertile little valleys of mid-Pennsylvania by the Hessians hired to end the revolution of England's colonies, there is a simple altar, the fidelity of their wives.

Needs Help at Work

A man with from sixty to two hundred acres must have help in the barn, generally a youth to milk the cows, to clean stalls, to cut wood for winter, to patch fences.

But the presence of such a youth sometimes prove a danger.

I was told Johnson had endeavored to get two psychiatrists from Philadelphia who would testify to the pathological and psychological condition of Annie Willow, nearing the danger of forty. I was told that he offered them $200 each and that his offer was abruptly rejected. It was made plain to him, it is said, psychiatrists testify only when the pay is attractive.

Johnson's appeal for a new trial will be made on legal errors. But Judge Potter, a quiet unemotional man, a reader of the law, gave to both sides every opportunity in his rulings to offer the twelve farmers just the plain truth.

The jury said that because of the loves between the farm boy and the farmer's wife there was a motive for this crime. They had mercy on boy and did not send him to the chair. They knew that Annie Willow wanted him more than anything or anyone on earth and that was the motive. The boy was not old enough to plot crime. The woman was old and wise, she thought.

It is safe to say that there will be no new trial. Judge Potter is no politician as far as I could learn. He is asking no favors of the plain folk of old-fashioned customs and ideas surrounding him. He has been put on the bench to help them straighten out tangles that come into the life of every community.

He knows the people, their ideals, their manner of living and struggling and their hopes. He is of them Every question where there was doubt in his mind he passed to the jury—the twelve men of the same type as Harvey Willow

An example of this attitude may be given in the case of Sheriff Runkel, himself of the Pennsylvania Dutch. He lives in the jail with his son, daughter-in-law and two grandchildren.

He holds no bitterness again man or woman, in or out of jail. He would rather see them out of jail than in one. He calls his two prisoners by their first names, Ralph and Annie. He has Ralph on the second floor and Annie on the first floor. He carries them their food.

THEY RISK DEATH TO ENTER STATES

WINDSOR, October 21. — After they had negotiated a perilous mile and a half of travelling along the narrow ledge inside the Michigan Central Railway tunnel that connects Windsor and Detroit, six men stepped into the glare of flashlights in the hands of United States immigration officers, and immediately thereafter found themselves under arrest charged with having attempted to enter the United States illegally.

They gave their names as George Ross, George E. Beaton, Walter Lindsay, Oliver Haycock, Samuel Newman and Ira Jaser.

The first two are believed to have been in charge of the party.

The journey beneath the river was fraught with danger. The ledge above the tracks on which the party walked is slimy with ooze and a fall to the tracks would have meant instant death by electrocution from the deadly "third rail." It is believed that the watchman on duty at the Windsor end of the tube was enticed from his post long enough to allow the invaders to get past the tunnel entrance. The party will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Hurd to-day.

Delicious and Healthful For All

INSTANT POSTUM offers everything you desire in a meal-time beverage. It is delightful, invigorating, fragrant—with the great advantage of safety for one and all. It is absolutely pure and wholesome—free from the poisons Caffeine and Tannin found in tea and coffee, which are the frequent cause of poor sleeping, excitable nerves, indigestion and similar troubles. Better health goes hand in hand with Instant Postum.

Instant Postum—a pure cereal beverage—is particularly delicious and wholesome for children when made with hot milk. Try it this way yourself—for a richer, smoother flavor. Economical—costs half-a-cent a cup. Ask for it at your restaurant, your club and on the train. For those who prefer it, there is Postum Cereal, made by boiling for twenty minutes. BUY AT HOME.

One of the remedies for the unemployment situation urged at a recent conference was the institution of a buy-in-Canada campaign, in which the wisdom of purchasing Canadian-made goods would be emphasized.

The idea, the Examiner believes, could be advantageously extended to Peterborough.

"Buy at home" can as readily be adopted for home consumption as for national use.

Out-of-town mail order catalogues may mean an out-of-work member of your own family or of your neighbor's.

There is too much money being sent out of Peterborough to buy goods elsewhere that could with advantage be spent in local stores and in the purchase of Peterborough-made articles.

The money that is spent in Toronto is paid to merchants who help in no way to pay the taxes of the city of Peterborough, and to the detriment of Peterborough merchants who play a big part in carrying the cost of civic government here.

Peterborough's stores are large and well stocked enough to meet every need of the community.

In quality, style and even in price the merchandise offered for sale meets the competition of outside firms, at least closely enough to make it decidedly better business to support home merchants and home industries, and thus help relieve the unemployment problem.

The money that goes out of Peterborough, were it to be circulated here would have a very marked effect upon local trade.

PAYING FOR THE ROADS.

The Examiner has on more than one occasion expressed its belief in the fairness of a tax upon gasoline as a means of raising revenue for road construction and maintenance.

That it is just that those who obtain the most benefit from improved roads should pay the most for them does not seem to offer any chance for an argument, and a gasoline tax would bring about that condition of affairs.

However, it is surprising to read a statement from Deputy-Minister Squires that had a gasoline tax been operative in Ontario last year the Province would only have received about $80,000 from that source, the figure no doubt being based on a rate of taxation such as the Government considered it reasonable to ask motorists to pay.

Eighty thousand dollars would not go very far in meeting Ontario's road bills, which have grown to serious proportions, and are more than likely to become even heavier as new roads are taken under construction.

How the Province's road system is to be financed fairly and justly, with the people who most use the roads paying for the privilege, instead of the general public having to carry the whole burden, is a problem that deserves the most earnest attention of the Government.

A gasoline tax would be one means of seeing to it that the motorist who subjected the roads to the greatest wear and tear paid for his use of the highways, but apparently from Mr. Squire's figures it would not be a very large contribution toward the total cost.

CATCHING UP WITH A RUMOUR.

A story went the rounds yesterday, growing in detail as it circulated, of a teacher in a local Public school who was alleged to have asked all pupils to stand up in whose homes home-brew was manufactured.

If such an incident had occurred the teacher would have been guilty of a very injudicious action for which she would richly deserve to be reprimanded by the Board of Education.

No teacher has any right to interrogate her pupils on such subjects or to attempt to hold them up to the ridicule of their fellow-students.

But in this particular case there has been much ado about nothing.

The teacher in question, whose pupils are tots of six years or less, explains the incident clearly and shows that there was no attempt on her part to inquire into the home activities of the parents of her pupils, although several of the latter volunteered the information on their own account in the course of a lesson in which the word "beer" happened to arise.

The matter is referred to here merely because it emphasizes the rapidity with which a rumour can be circulated, and because it accentuates the folly of taking too literally the stories brought home from school by little folks whose version of an incident may not always be regarded as photographic in its adherence to the truth of what really happened.

Some parents may resent the latter part of the above paragraph, but it is none the less true, and children should never be encouraged to criticize those responsible for their education.

SHOULD NOT HAPPEN AGAIN.

The small army of Ontario's commercial travellers will find themselves unable to vote on the Ontario Temperance Act question if they are away from home, as most of them naturally will be on Thursday.

For this condition of affairs the law, and not the Government, is to be blamed, for under the present Elections Act there is no provision for the holding of advance poles for the benefit of commercial travellers, nor has the Government any authority, as the Premier explains, either by order-in-Council or otherwise to establish such polls.

It is a situation that should not arise again.

At the last session of the Legislature the Act was amended to authorize advance polls for municipal elections, but Provincial polling for some reason or other was not altered.

The Legislature should see to it that in future Provincial votes the numerous travellers whose duties call them away from home are not deprived of their franchise.

Advance polls should be provided for their benefit, especially in view of the fact that there is difficulty enough now in inducing many electors to exercise their privilege of voting without allowing circumstances over which the victims have no control to rob a considerable proportion of the electorate of the opportunity of making ballots.

It is too late to do anything to remedy the situation as regards the plebiscite, but the situation that has developed now should not be repeated.

Advance polls in such cases should be made possible by a necessary amendment to the election law.

LIGHTS ON VEHICLES.

The Wardens of the counties of Ontario have made certain propositions to the Highways Advisory Board regarding financing, designation of roads, etc. In addition to these weighty problems dealt with at the conference, various subjects were touched upon which are of just as much importance, from the point of view of the general public and of motorists in particular. One of these was the better marking of dangerous places, especially on county roads, the Government to supply conspicuous signs and the county authorities to assume the responsibility of paying for them and erecting them. Another important matter discussed by these county representatives was the old problem of the unlighted vehicle. The majority of the Wardens, it is reported are in favor of legislation compelling the use of lights on all vehicles, but they would prefer to see the experiment tried on the Provincial highways first, the other roads to follow suit later, in their own good time.

What is good for the Provincial roads is also good for the county and township roads, says the Hamilton Spectator. The menace is just as great on the one kind of thoroughfare as on the other. While the necessity for such illumination is, no doubt, greater on the more frequented highways, it is desirable, when introducing this legislation, to make it of universal application. There should be no discrimination of the kind in contemplation. The vehicle which makes use of the public highways ought to be equipped with proper lights, and the Legislature should promptly pass laws to that effect. Neglect to do so in the past has been responsible for many distressing accidents. There is no excuse for further delay.

THE GREAT MYSTERY.

(From the Sudbury Star.)

The farmer says he isn't making his salt when he sells his steers, his lambs and his sheep and his hogs. Losing money, in fact.

The packers take advertising space to tell the world how very little, how extremely infinitesimal, is their profit. They aren't even making yacht money, taking the year as a whole.

The railroads declare they just about operate at a loss lugging the livestock to market and delivering the meat products. Hardly enough surplus to buy new brakebeams.

The butcher's tears drop on the chopping block as he explains how pitifully small his margin is. Can't even buy a spare tire.

But John W. Consumer knows he pays a good stiff price for his sirloin, for his lamb chops and for his bacon for tomorrow's breakfast. If he goes loco and buys a whole ham at once it leaves a hole in his roll.

Yet nobody seems to be making any money on the various transactions. It is the great mystery.

WHY ONTARIO QUIT JUMPING.

It is remarked by a sporting writer that jumping is not the sport is used to be. The explanation perhaps is that in almost every other sport there is more of the element of chance or a little bit of luck, while in jumping one man excels another and that settles that. Even in running the ten-second man cannot always beat the man who can do it in ten and a fifth seconds. But in the standing broad jump, the high jump and the pole vault the man who has an inch the better of his opponent has it over him as surely as if he had a yard the best of it.

A generation ago every small town and village in the Province when holding a demonstration on May 24th or July 1st always held sports. Where the crowds were largest and the prizes best competitors came from considerable distances for the hundred-yard dash, the 220 yards, the broad jump with and without weights, the high jump, running long jump, hop-step and jump and pole vault. Often a stranger would put in an appearance and take the best prizes in jumping by the barest margin, putting himself to a seemingly desperate strain in doing so.

In a town where they had a local jumper of exceptional merit there would one day arrive a couple of men who seemed much addicted to the use of liquor and evidently knew nothing about jumping even when they saw it going on in the hotel yard. But they got drawn into it, and one thing led to another until a match was arranged between one of the strangers and the town's best man. Everybody wanted to bet on the local man, and one of the strangers was so inebriated that he put up bets with everybody. It was considered a shame to take his money, yet he talked so much that he deserved a lesson. Then the jumping stranger took off his baggy clothes and stood revealed as a lean hound of a fellow. The local man was completely outjumped, the local sports were cleaned out of cash, and the town cured of jumping from that day to this. The strangers moved on another hundred miles and repeated the performance, their circuit ranging from San Francisco to New York and from Montreal to New Orleans. Old-timers will tell you how that unknown could jump. And that's what happened to jumping in Ontario. It is also what happened to foot-racing, although possibly the coming of the bicycle and the motor car detracts from the interest in foot-speeding. Pedestrians do a lot of jumping nowadays, but they jump sideways, and there is no track training in that.—Toronto Star Weekly.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

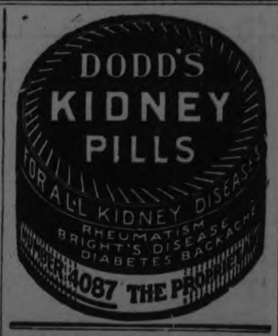
Some prohibitionists doubtless say of the Moderation League's arguments as they used to say of the summer weather, i.e., that it is not the heat but the humidity that bothers them.

Up in Lindsay they seem to be taking the O. T. A. battle seriously, whereas in Peterborough the campaign has been quiet and colourless.

Prohibitionists and Moderation Leaguers will both agree with the Globe's statement that the best expression of personal liberty is the right to vote, and every one should take advantage of the opportunity.

Vote early on Thursday and save congestion at the polling booths in the late hours of afternoon.

Mud seems to be the principal argument used in the British election campaign, and none of the parties are having any particular difficulty in obtaining ammunition.



CONDITIONS IMPROVED IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Sir Charles H. Tupper Tells of Government Control.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, K.C.M.G., K.C., of Vancouver, in a statement here yesterday said that the adoption of Government control by British Columbia had resulted in a vast improvement in social conditions throughout the province and had also brought about true temperance. "Not only do I belive that vast improvements have resulted throughout the province, but I believe a vote to restoré so-called prohibition would be rejected." Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, son of Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., has been residing in British Columbia for 24 years. He has been in all parts of the province, and he says he "has never seen the public more temperate than they are to-day."

As compared with conditions under the so-called prohibition, which preceded Government control, I think I will be supported by all reasonable men in British Columbia when I say that there is a very great improvement in social conditions in the province as a result of the change to Government control of liquor," he said.

"There is far less drunkenness in the province. I have travelled over the greater part of British Columbia and have been in the habit of walking extensively in Vancouver, and occasionally in Victoria. Seldom, if ever, have I seen a person under the influence of liquor on the public streets. In regard to motor accidents, there are a large number of motor cars owned in the province, and a great number cross from the United States and return. I cannot recall, among all the motor accidents, a case where the police have had reason to attribute it to the fact that there was liquor in the car or that there was a drunken man at the wheel."

Not Likely Change.

Sir Charles is of the opinion that Government control is in British Columbia to stay as he said he did not "believe there would be a chance if it came before the people of carrying any such idea as prohibition." The tourist traffic has undoubtedly increased in the Pacific coast province and he believed that the increase was due to the fact that "those adjoining thickly populated states are dry and we are wet. Apart from the money spent on liquor, the tourist traffic has been very valuable to British Columbia, as the visitors leave a great deal of money in various parts of the province.

"Before Government control was adopted drunkards were very prevalent. I believe that the open drinking during the so-called prohibition days caused so much disgust that the people were opposed to the system. The pervalence of open drinking accounted for the tremendous vote in favor of the present legislation.

"Some of the police have told me," Sir Charles continued, "that in the days of prohibtion some of the men arrested for being intoxicated were of a violent character, due to the poisonous liquor they consumed and that the same class of men now arrested are comparatively harmless.

"There are scattered abuses under existing legislation and some can be attributed to dishonest vendors, but the administrators of the law are active and public servants who violated the law are dealt with. Generally speaking the greater part of the criticism of the liquor law is of a political nature."

IMPROVED STREET LETTER BOX COLLECTION IN THE BUSINESS SECTION OF CITY.

In order to encourage early mailing of business mail during the day in place of holding it until the close of the business when there is a great rush of mailing of letter mail and in the rush of handling may be delayed, two more collections have been added to the clearance of street letter boxes already made in the business section of the city, taking in the area from the corner of George and Dalhousie Streets and continues to George and Brock Streets at 10.20 a.m., arriving at the Post Office in time for despatch by the noon trains, both C.P.R. and C.N.R., and the next collection is made at 2.20 p.m., and is received at the office in time for despatch by the afternoon C.P.R. train.

The time cards on the letter boxes have been revised with the time of all collections made.

The business man is requested to co-operate with the Postal Department in early mailing, for early mailing ensures early delivery.

NEW COAT MODEL.

There's a new coat model that is most interesting, with a belt in the back, a two-button closing in front, and a tailored collar with a mannish beaver choker. It is infinitely more comfortable than the more capelike model, which must be held in place.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, October 21. — For yesterday there were 352 cars, 5,107 cattle, 634 calves, 3,707 hogs, and 6,374 sheep and lambs. Loads of feeding stetrs around 1,200 pounds each sold at $5.75 and $6.00 a cwt. The cool weather gave most of the cattle off the grass a rough appearance.

A few handyweight steers made the top of $6.50 a cwt., but a load of good butchers 1,300 pounds each went to Arnolds at $6.25 a cwt. Loads of lighter butchers of good quality sold at $6.00, and loads of mediums were $5.00 to $5.25. Butchers' cows were lower and the top was $4.50 a cwt., with the average cow around $3.50 a cwt. Only bologna bulls were on sale at $2.50 to $3.00 a cwt.

Rogers & Maybee dropped their bids on export steers 25 cents a cwt., the top bid up till noon being $7.00 a cwt. Sellers claimed they were losing a lot of money, and refused to accept the cut. For export about 600 steers will be needed, and the deadlock will probably be broken by advancing the bid on three loads of the choices steers to $7.25. About 200 feeders were bought for overseas at $5.75 and $6.00 a cwt., and these prices were steady. Dealers in stockers reported this trade almost stagnant yesterday morning.

Buyers did not have much choice of real good vealers in the calf market. Any near choice ones were 10 1-2 to 11 cents a pound, and good medians were 9 to 9 1-2 cents. This market was decidedly steady with last week.

With nearly 7,000 lambs on sale, buyers were watching for an opportunity to cut the price. The first operation in the market was a bunch of 300 at 11 3-4 cents a pound.

Following this opening other lots were taken at that price with a few extra good at 12 cents. Sheep are selling quite steady. Lambs are easier by 25 cents a cwt. than last week.

Contract hogs were taken at $10.00 a cwt. f.o.b. yesterday, but for others on shipment the bid was reduced to $9.75, and buyers said this would be further reduced to-day to $9.50 a cwt.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, October 21 (Canadian Press). — Receipts of fresh eggs continue to decline and prices are steadily advancing. The market is very firm and storage eggs now constitute the bulk of the trade.

Toronto firm, unchanged. Ontario country shippers report paying extras 43 to 44, firsts 37 to 38, seconds 28 to 32. Making sales extras 48 to 50, firsts 41 to 46, seconds 33 to 36.

Montreal market very firm. Jobbing extras 47, firsts 40, seconds 30 to 32.

Ottawa market firm. Dealers are quoting country shippers, delivered extras 44, firsts 34, seconds 27.

Winnipeg market firm. Dealers quoting country shippers delivered extras 37, firsts 35, seconds 26.

QUEBEC BUTTER.

MONTREAL, October 21 (Canadian Press). — At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society auction sale held here yesterday, there were 960 packages of creamery butter offered, of which 400 packages No. 1 creamery sold at 35 3-4 cents per pound, for 160 packages special pasteurised creamery 36 cents per pound was bid with 37 cents per pound asked, and for 300 packages No. 1 pasteurised creamery 35 1-2 cents per pound was bid with 36 3-4 cents per pound asked.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, October 21 (Canadian Press). — A feature of the domestic cash grain market yesterday was the weaker feeling that developed in oats and prices for both Canadian Western and Ontario grades declined 2 cents per bushel in sympathy with the further drop in the Winnipeg market.

Ontario No. 2 white oats were offered at 65 to 66; No. 3 white at 62, No. 4 white at 60 cents per bushel ex-track.

Ontario malting barley was steady with sales being at $1.08 for No. 3 extra, and $1.07 for No. 3 grade ex-store.

Owing to the further weakness in the Canadian cash wheat situation yesterday and the fact that prices in Winnipeg showed a decline, a weaker feeling developed locally for spring wheat grades of flour and prices were reduced another 20 cents per barrel. Prices were well maintained for winter wheat flour owing to the continued light offerings from Ontario millers.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, October 21 (Canadian Press). Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 21 (Canadian Press). — Wheat suffered a sharp setback in price here yesterday largely as a result of values at Winnipeg taking a downward plunge, weather conditions being favourable for the crop movement in Canada.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 2 1-2 to 4 3-4 cents net lower, December $1.45 1-2 to $1.45 5-8 and May $1.47 1-8 to $1.49 1-4, with corn 2 1-4 to 2 7-8 cents down, oats 1 1-8 to 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 cents off, and provisions varying from 47 cents decline to 57 cents advance.

Persistent selling kept the wheat market going down grade here from the outset. Much of the selling was brought about through dislodgment of holdings against which there were standing orders to stop losses on declines below certain stated limits.

Apparent slowness of export demand was a source of depression on the part of owners, although after the market closed it was estimated that export business would amount to 1,500,000 bushels of wheat and 350,000 bushels of rye.

An increase of 1,787,000 bushels shown by the United States visible supply had a further bearish effect on the wheat market, and it was noted that yesterday's domestic receipts in the North-West totalled more than twice as much as a year ago. On the other hand world stocks of wheat were reported as having increased only 15,000,000 bushels since 1st September, the smallest for any corresponding time since 1917.

THE speedy and most direct treatment for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, etc., is to breathe the volatile Peps medicine into your lungs. This method is a big advance on dosing with drug-laden mixtures, which act on the stomach, liver and heart, but on the lungs last and least of all.

As Peps tablets dissolve in the mouth, they give off balsamic lung-healing pine fumes. Peps are wonderfully strengthening to weakened tissues. They cut phlegm, soothe and purify the tender, irritated air-passages, and have an invigorating, antiseptic and fortifying action on the entire breathing system.

An immediate sense of chest comfort and breathing-ease is produced by Peps. Soreness, inflammation and irritation is quickly allayed, disease-germs infesting the throat and breathing-tubes are speedily destroyed.

Peps are the ideal and long-sought remedy for coughs, colds and chills, wheeziness and tightness of chest, sore throat, laryngitis, children's and old folk's chest weaknesses, bronchial catarrh, bronchitis, etc.

A Peps in the mouth safeguards throat and chest against harmful effect of cold, wet changeable weather. In crowded train or street-car, busy store or theatre Peps afford security against infectious colds, sore throat, etc.

The proprietors of Peps are glad to announce substantial price benefits, made possible by greatly increased sales and lowered production costs. Peps, of the same high standard of medicinal excellence in every way, are now obtainable at the new

SKIRTS GROWING SHORTER AND SHORTER

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 21.—(United Press).—

Long skirts carry germs, they say
Short skirts make one look 'fat'
But to reach the hem of the skirt today
A germ must be an acrobat!

There is no visible sign of long skirts returning in the Fall. Skirts are growing shorter, if anything. Five out of six women one sees on Fifth Avenue are wearing skirts carrying from twelve to fourteen inches from the sidewalk.

This same shortness is found in sleeves, in spite of the fact that most of the leading designers have been making their Fall gowns with long, tight-fitting sleeves. Women who have known the comfort of short sleeves refuse to accept the uncomfortable long sleeve, either for street wear or for dress wear.

Many of the best dressed women in New York are wearing new Fall frocks made with sleeves which are mere shoulder caps or sleeves which extend between the shoulder and the elbow and with these short-sleeved frocks they are wearing gloves which extend almost to the elbow.

Generally the Fall frock has some sort of a short cape wrap. Many of them have the new five-eighths length coats which match the frock. These ensemble suits are very popular just now and will be worn until the weather demands a fur coat.

As to shoes, vamps are neither long nor short but are a happy medium which will meet with the approval of those who like short, French vamps, as well as those who prefer longer vamps. Evening slippers show longer vamps than shoes for day wear. Silver brocades lead as evening footwear and these are either made in simple pump shapes, or with the single strap over the instep. Ankle straps and cut-out effects made in leather are not being worn this season.

Just a word about the silver slipper; one should always be sure to wrap all metal cloth slippers in black paper when not wearing them, as this prevents them from tarnishing. Most of the shoe shops will supply one with this paper.

The Fall Glove.

Gloves of short gauntlet lengths are more popular than longer types. This applies to the glove which is worn with the short sleeved dress as well as to the glove which is worn with the tight-fitting sleeve. With the long, tight sleeve, the glove pulls up over the cuff of the sleeve and since most gloves have decorative cuffs, this fashion is very effective.

Gloves of two-button type which button about the wrist are seldom worn and they are selling very cheaply for this reason. Chamoisette gloves are now being made in the finest of weaves, so that one can scarcely distinguish them from suedes which are so popular this season. One can purchase several pairs of chamoise gloves for the price one would pay for one pair of suede. Chamoise gloves do not soil as quickly as suede gloves and they are washable, which makes them doubly attractive. They are made in the latest of novelty styles and for everyday wear, at least, are in quite as good taste as the real suedes.

Umbrellas grow shorter and have thicker handles each season. This year they are quat little things with extremely thick wooden handles, through which run leather arm-straps.

Corsets — one shouldn't really speak of 'em as corsets—are growing longer and more boneless. The elastic girdles which extend from waistline to the hips are not as popular as long models which extend well over the hips and are held down by elastic garters rather than by bones. Brassiere and girdle are often made in one garment and these are of the finest of cotton cloth and are almost boneless.

While many women have entirely given up the wearing of corsets, there are women who feel that a corset is as important to a woman as an envelope to a letter. A letter won't go anyplace without an envelope and some women won't go anyplace without a corset. There are women who believe that a "lady"

NEWS OF BURNBRAE

Large Crowd Attended Fowl Supper—Harvester Home.

BURNBRAE, Oct. 21.—The fowl supper at Burnbrae on the evening of the 14th was again a decided success and the usual large crowd assembled to do justice to the good things set before them. Visitors were present from all the neighboring district as well as more distant towns and cities. Peterboro was represented by Miss Gladys Green, Mr. Fred Green, Mr. Ken Anderson and Mr. D. Gordon; Belleville by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cleugh, Miss Watson, Miss Nicholson and Mr. Wm. Cleugh. Foxboro, Stirling, Havelock and Campbellford also sent contingents. The distance travelled by some of the visitors testifies to the growing popularity of this event.

Burnbrae folks are glad to see Jack Rannie back home after his trip to the western harvest fields. He also visited Calgary before leaving for the east.

RUM SMUGGLERS' CASTE SYSTEM

Phaff Testifies to Three Classes With Bankers the Highest.

PIRACY TRIAL

PREST, France, Oct. 21. — An average of 3,000,000 bottles of whiskey is imported in the United States through "Rum Row" every month, it was asserted in the French Naval Court, Wednesday, by Max Jerome Phaff, of New York, who is charged with complicity in the piracy of 36,000 cases of whiskey from the French freighter Mulhouse.

Phaff sought to divert suspicion from himself by giving the names of others who knew the Hulhouse's anchorage position off the American coast. He declared that Leon MacQuellier, a French liquor exporter, who had the largest financial interest in the Mulhouse, sold the whiskey cargo to seven bootleggers, but of New York—was able to carry out a delivery. The others were unable to locate the Mulhouse.

Phaff also mentioned a taxicab driver named Schavlin.

Caste on Rum Row

The rum running, Phaff said, was divided into three castes. The lowest caste includes "pullers, sales men and field men".

Many names of these individuals were given. The second caste includes the organizers and executives, who rarely show their hands, but able to arrange protection. The highest caste is composed of bankers and financiers who put up millions of dollars to import liquor into America.

Phaff admitted that he knew the names of only two or three members of the "banking caste."

Much of the session was devoted to interrogation of J. H. Studler, who had testified that he met Phaff in a compartment of a London train and that Phaff boasted of his participation in the robbery of the Mulhouser. Studler and Phaff were brought face to face at the afternoon session.

Studler said that the conversation took place between Southampton and London on July 23 and that there were three Americans present Their names were given to the court.

Studler said Phaff boasted that "it had been decided to rob the Mulhouse of her entire cargo to teach foreigners that they should not interfere nor try to compete with Americans in a home industry." He quoted Phaff further as saying:

"My share of the Mulhouse lot was 7,000 cases of whiskey, but it was not all profit because the men who robbed the ship had to be highly paid."

Phaff was also alleged to have boasted to acquaintances in London bout participation in the robbery.

The case was adjourned yesterday until next week.

Ruskin's Lack of Knowledge About the Clouds.

That mist which lies in the morning so softly in the valley, level and white, through which the tops of the trees rise as if through an inundation—why is it so heavy? And why does it lie so low, being yet so thin and frail that it will melt away utterly into the splendour of mornng, when the sun has shone on it but a few moments more? Those colossal pyramids huge and firm, with outlines as of rocks, and strength to bear the beating of the high sun full on their fiery flanks—why are they so light, their bases high over our heads, high over the heads of Alps? Why will these melt away, not as the sun rises, but as he descends, and leave the stars of twilight clear, while the valley vapour gains again upon the earth like a shroud?

Or that ghost of a cloud, which steals yonder clump of pines; nay, which does not steal by them, but haunts them, wreathing yet round them, and yet—and yet slowly; now falling in a fair waved line like a woman's veil; now fading now gone; we look away for an instant, and look back, and it is again there. What has it to do with that clump of pines, that it broods by them and weaves itself among their branches to and fro? Has it hidden a cloudy treasure among the moss at their roots which it watches thus? Or has some strong enchanter charmed it into fond returning, or bound it fast within those bars of bough? And yonder filmy crescent, bent like an archer's bow above the snowy summit, the highest of all the hill—that white arch which never forms but over the supreme crest—how is it stayed there, repelled apparently from the snow—nowhere touching it, the clear sky seen between it and the mountain edge, yet never leaving it—poised as a white bird hovers over its nest.

Or those war-clouds that gather on the horizon, dragon-crested, tongued with fire—how is their barbed strength bridled? What bits are these they are champing with their vaporous lips; flinging off flakes of black foam? Leagued leviathans of the Sea of Heaven, out of their nostrils goeth smoke, and their eyes are like the eyelids of the morning. The sword of him that layeth it them cannot hold the spear, the dart, nor the habergeon. Where ride the captains of their armies? Where are set the measures of their march? Fierce murmurers, answering each other from morning until evening—what rebuke is this which has awed them into peace? What hand has reined them back by the way by which they came?

I know not if the reader will think at first that questions like these are easily answered. So far from it, I rather believe that some of the mysteries of the clouds never will be understood by us all. "Knoweth thou the balancings of the clouds?" Is the answer ever to be one of pride? "The wondrous works of Him which is perfect in knowledge?" Is our knowledge ever to be so? — John Ruskin.

SMITHS OF DENMARK

Name Rasmussen as Common as Smiths Here.

What Smith is to some of our city directories and Cohen is to others, Rasmussen seems to be in Funen, the richest of all the Danish island provinces. Its capital, the birthplace of the great story writer, Hans Christian Anderson, is Odense. It ought to be called Rasmussen.

Judging by the signs on the shops of every kind, by the names of the doctors and lawyers and dentists, about one person in every three is a Rasmussen. As Denmark's history is very ancient, it is easy to dream of a day hundreds and hundreds of years ago when some Danish chief named Rasmussen took possession of this fertile island. So that the Rasmussens are now the natives. All the others ar late-comers.

There is a pretty general agreement among meteorologists that within historic times there have been no progressive changes in climate.

GIRL KILLS YOUTH AFTER AUTO RIDE

Stabs Him With Pocket Knife When Her Husband Confronts Them on Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. — An all-night automobile ride by four Jersey City youths and three Bayonne young women ended when one of the women, Mrs. Marie Zelio, 19 years old of 403 Avenue C, Bayonne, stabbed John Renne, 24 years old, of 124 Brunswick Street, Jersey City, with a pocket knife. Renne died four hours later in the Bayonne Hospital. From Mrs. Zelio, a diminutive blond, the police learned the story of the ride and tragedy.

Mrs. Zelio, who was married when she was 14 to Dominick Zelio, met Renne at a dance about a year ago and the two became very friendly. They quarreled and a month ago they met in Jersey City and Mrs. Zelio asked him why he had circulated stories against her character. He replied by striking her in the face, knocking her down and blackening one of her eyes.

They patched up their differences and arranged for a party. Taking with her Miss Mary Gallagher, 18 years old, of 93 Lexington Avenue, Bayonne, and Miss Helen Bailey, also 18, who lives in the same house with the Zelios, Mrs. Zelio went to Jersey City where she met Renne and three other young men and went riding in Renne's car.

Meanwhile Zelio was frantically searching about Bayonne for his wife and had called on the police to help him. He was at Hudson Boulevard and Andrew Street just before five o'clock when he saw Renne drive past with Mrs. Zelio. The car turned toward Avenue C with Zelio in pursuit. It stopped near the Zelio house just as Zelio ran alongside it. When she recognized her husband Mrs. Zelio jumped from the car and tried to pacify him and get him to talk with Renne. Zelio angrily refused and then there was a fight and one of the youths struck Zelio with a hammer. His wife rushed in front of him and as the beating continued she drew the pocketknife from her pocket and lunged at Renne, who had remained in the front of the car. The police found Renne lying unconscious and the others about to run away. Renne was sent to the Bayonne Hospital. The three other youths and the three girls were taken to Police Headquarters and locked up. Mrs. Zelio being charged with atrocious assault. Her husband was also arrested, and the men all held as material witnesses. All were held without bail by Recorder Eugene T. Sharkey and the charge against Mrs. Zelio was changed to murder.

Mrs. Zelio told the police she "had it in for Renne ever since he struck me," the police asserted. She has a four-year-old daughter, who was taken to her and then given into the custody of her mother, Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, of 157 West Twenty-First Street. Zelio said he would try to get money to defend his wife.

LOSES $5,000 A MINUTE.

DEAUVILLE, France, Oct. 21.—A Greek syndicate that raised $50,000 to "break the bank" at Deauville Casino exhausted its funds in ten minutes and quit.

Now you can buy it!

The real whole wheat cracker—not made of coarse, uncooked flour, but made of the whole wheat grain, cooked in steam, drawn into filmy shreds and baked in electric ovens. It is more easily digested than ordinary crackers and contains more real, body-building nutriment. The crisp, tasty shreds of flavory, baked whole wheat encourage thorough chewing, and that means healthy gums, sound teeth and good digestion. Delicious with butter or soft cheese. Tastes better when toasted in the oven.

DOORSTEP POLITICS NOW IN BRITAIN

Milkman and Insurance Collector Also Deliver Propaganda

LABOR ACTIVITY

Examples of Clever Dialogue Secured by Secretary of Club

The milkman and insurance collector are the latest recruits to the service of the Socialist Party in their doorstep propaganda.

Calling regularly at houses and getting on conversational terms with the housewife, they are in a particularly favorable position to spread Socialist propaganda, and are doing it thoroughly in the East end of London.

Capt. J. Danny, the hon. secretary of the Hackney United Services Club, said he has personally come across instances of this propaganda, and knows from reports that it goes on to an astonishing extent. The milkman and the insurance collector daily come into contact with the poorest and the most illiterate section of the community, where their hints and half-veiled promises find the richest ground. The following are instances of actual conversations, reproduced in substance:

The Milkman: Good morning, Mrs. Brown. Quart?

Mrs. Brown: Only a pint. We can't afford a quart at the present price.

The Milkman: I don't get it, believe me. The guv'nor's just bought another car, and some one's got to pay for it.

Mrs. Brown: It's a shame the likes of us has to.

The Milkman: Yes, and only for Mr. Wheatley (Minister of Health) milk would be 10d. a quart now. He stopped them raising it above last year's price.

Mrs. Brown: Go on, did he?

The Milkman: Yes, and told them straight that if he had enough Labor men in Parliament he would make 'em sell it at 4d. a quart. That put the wind up 'em.

Mrs. Brown: Well, it's a good job there is someone looking after the likes of us.

The effort of the insurance collector is on these lines:—

The Collector: There's 4d. arrears and 3d. this week, 7d. in all.

Mrs. Brown: I can only pay this week's. The arrears have got to wait till my old man can get a job. We've only got the dole.

The Collector: Don't worry. I'll tell you something on the quiet. If the Labor Party win the next election there'll be 35 bob a week for everybody, work or no work.

Mrs. Brown: It's too good to be true.

The Collector: Ain't you entitled to live? The capitalists won't go short. Ain't there enough to go round at 35 bob a week?

Capt. Danny says that he was staying in a house in the neighborhood where a poster of one of the other political parties was displayed in the window and the milkman day after day scoffed at it and tried to get the occupants to remove it, and after he failed the collector tried.

Freedom of Forres To Two Famous Men Born in Same House

It is a remarkable coincidence that the only two persons to receive the freedom of Forres should have been born in the same house, and that by their own ability they should have won the respect and admiration of the whole of their countrymen, says the Weekly Scotsman.

Of Sir Alexander Grant, who has secured for the nation the invaluable Advocates Library, and has further earned the gratitude of his own townsmen by the gift of a public park, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the Premier, said that members who went to the park with their children would speak of a boy born poor, with only the traditions and wealth that an honest father and mother gave to their children, going forth to his own world with a trade at his fingers' ends, and by his ability and industry and capacity amassing the wealth which enabled him to hand over that park for the enjoyment of his fellow citizens.

Part of this statement might also have been applied to Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal. As a boy of 17 Donald A. Smith arrived at Montreal and began life as a clerk in the Hudson Bay Company in a remote region of Labrador, and he served so well that he became the head of the concern and ruled its destinies in the most notable period of its existence. Forres has good reason to be proud of those distinguished sons, whose names it has placed on the burgess roll.

WOMAN FALLS TO DEATH AT CLIFTON

Just after she had been seen at the edge of Black Rocks, at the famous Avon Gorge, Clifton Downs, Bristol, with her pet dog whining and tugging at its lead, Miss D. R. Stock, of Beaconsfield, Clifton, fell over, a drop of nearly 250 feet, and was killed.

When her body was recovered the broken dog's lead was gripped tightly in one hand.

HIDDEN ARSENAL IN BELFAST HOUSE

Belfast police raided a building in the Cullingtree-road district and discovered 24 Service rifles, a machine gun, seven Mills bombs, several thousand rounds of ammunition.

The police, who arrived in an armoured car, first visited a dance hall, which they found deserted. At the back of a house close by they came across a dump where the weapons and ammunition were hidden. The arms were all in good order. No arrests have yet been made.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to burn the Imperial Hotel, Belfast. A boy has been arrested in connection with the affair.

ROYAL STAG FALLS TO WOMAN'S GUN

The deer-stalking season in the Highlands, which ends shortly, has been quite successful, in spite of the wet weather.

The King has brought down several heads that are to be preserved.

A woman shot, Mrs. Bell, on Lord Lovat's forest at Guisachan, Inverness-shire, had the distinction of bringing down a royal stag, scaling 288 pounds, which, so far, makes a record for the northern forests.

Surgeon Demonstrates Burned Paper As First-Aid Method

As vigorous as ever, in spite of his 73 years, Sir James Cantlie, the surgeon, began another campaign to teach methods of rendering first aid to the injured.

At Trinity Hall, Great Portland-street W., he gave a demonstration of dressing a wound by placing burned paper on top of it. "You say it can't be clean—it's black," he said. "But it is clean — beautifully clean. Don't bother about running to a chemist's — try Nature's chemist."

ROMANCE ENDED OF STOLEN MS.

Priceless Relic of Chaucer Recovered from American College

AFTER 9 YEARS

Returned to Lord Cardigan's Heir by Librarian, Who Wept

A priceless 470-year-old manuscript of Chaucer's poems, including "The Canterbury Tales," stolen in 1915 from the late Lord Cardigan's library at Deene Park, near Peterborough, has been found in New York. It has been restored to G. L. T. Brudenell, who inherited the Cardigan estates.

Joseph Coxon, a private detective, spent many months in hunting for this literary treasure, and eventually succeeded in tracing it to a famous college near New York.

LIBRARIAN WEEPS.

The librarian there wept when he handed over the manuscript. The greatest secrecy was observed, and no one suspected that the short, dapper man who walked out of the college with a parcel wrapped in newspaper under his arm was carrying something for which collectors would pay thousands of pounds.

The romantic story of the search and discovery of the manuscript was related to a "Daily Express" representative by Mr. Coxon, who has been frequently employed to trace stolen art treasures which have been smuggled to the Continent and America.

REFUGEE THIEF.

"The manuscript," he said, "was stolen by a refugee from Belgium who had been sheltered at Deane Park in the early days of the war. Its loss was not discovered until some months after the theft, and all efforts to trace the man failed.

"I found, after exhaustive inquiries, that he was a German who had been naturalized in Belgium. He sold the manuscript to a dealer in London, who disposed of it to a New York dealer for £850.

"It was subsequently purchased by the college near New York. The authorities knew it was a literary treasure of the first importance, but I do not think even they realised how valuable it was."

The manuscript is clearly written in English of the first half of the fifteenth century on 308 leaves of vellum. It is more perfect than most, although the first two leaves are missing.

JAMES WATT'S ROOM AS MUSEUM RELIC

The garret in Heathfield Hall, Handsworth, in which James Watt, the man who did so much to develop the steam engine, conducted his experiments, may find its way to South Kensington Museum. Negotiations are now proceeding to this end.

Watt first came to Birmingham about 1768. He died in 1819. The room in which he worked was locked after his death, and was not opened for many years. His tools, benches, even the leather apron in which he worked, and which hangs in the same spot in which he put it, have been undisturbed.

The estate is being developed by a building syndicate, and if the negotiations are successful the room will be transferred bodily to London.

FAMOUS TAPESTRY STAYS IN BRITAIN

Lyme Regis Church Decides Not to Sell Relic

The fate of the 400-year-old tapestry which hangs in the gallery of Lyme Regis parish church has been decided.

By 18 votes to four the Parochial Church Council resolved not to sell it.

A few years ago an American offered £5,000 for it. It depicts the marriage of Henry VII and Elizabeth of York.

There was a strong feeling in the town against the suggestion that the famous tapestry should be sold. Arguments were put forward that the tapestry is deteriorating by remaining on the wall of the church, but Mr. Stoward, who for many years was in the employ of the former vicar of Rousdon, said he remembered the tapestry being presented to the church some 40 years ago, and he was of the opinion that it was in just the same condition now as then.

NIGHTLIGHTS FOR TOWN.

For the sake of economy the Town Council of Sudbury, Suffolk, decided not to light the streets until Oct. 1. The following night a party of young men toured the town in a motor car and on every lamp standard hung a jam par containing a lighted nightlight. The Town Hall and parish church were given extra illuminations.

BOGUS CURATE IS FREED BY BENCH

Magistrates Find That Barber Acted in Good Faith

PUBLIC CHEER HIM

Officiated for Five Weeks and Drew Nine Guineas

William Alfred Barber—the alleged bogus curate—who was described as a missionary, of no fixed abode, pleaded not guilty when charged at Pudsey, Yorkshire, with obtaining nine guineas from Pudsey Parish Church Curacy Fund by false pretences. He was bound over and the magistrates' decision was cheered by the public.

Barber officiated for five Sundays, and for these services he was paid nine guineas.

The services he performed were restricted to Sundays. He assisted in the administration of Holy Communion and preached, performing these offices in a reverent and satisfactory manner—so much so that the vicar offered him permanent employment as assistant curate. He was asked to produce his letters of Orders, as demanded by the Bishop of Bradford, to whom he had represented that he had been ordained by the Bishop of Worcester, but these were not forthcoming, and accordingly he was not given the permanent position.

The Rev. Charles Owen French, Vicar of Pudsey, was the only witness called for the prosecution. No evidence was produced in support of the allegations that Barber had not been ordained by the Bishop of Worcester, but the vicar said he was satisfied that Barber's statement was untrue.

Mr. A. Masser, for the defence argued that, although Barber might have committed an offence against the law of God, he had not transgressed against the law of man. It was acknowledged that he had done his work well. He had been imbued with zeal to do good, and it was difficult to understand what harm he had done beyond the fact that the dignity of the vicar or other church authorities was offended.

The Chairman said Barber had acted very foolishly, but the magistrates believed that he did what he did in good faith, that he desired to do something for the good of the people. They did not think he had a really bad intention. It must not, however, be repeated. He was discharged and bound over under the Probation Act.

PUPILS SUCCEED AND MASTERS FAIL

Rejection of 800 Paintings at Manchester Causes Comment

The rejection of some 800 paintings from about 1,000 submitted for the first exhibition of the Manchester Art Federation, which opened recently, has provoked much comment in artistic circles in the city.

Men who have had their works accepted for Royal Academy hanging find themselves excluded from this Manchester exhibition, and in two or three instances the work of students of the Manchester School of Art has succeeded where that of their masters has failed.

Mr. A. P. Simon, chairman of the Manchester Art Federation Committee, explained to a Daily Mail reporter that the eleven local societies comprised in the Manchester Art Federation each sent two delegates to the meeting which determined the conditions of exhibition and appointed the two members of the jury of selection. "Coming from London," he said, "the judges did not know the names of the artists whose work they were judging. I believe the experiment to have been justified, since there are new names among the accepted, whatever familiar names there may be among the disappointed."

Mr. Harold Stabler, who selected the crafts, stated that on the whole the work he had to judge was of a good standard. "I did not know who fashioned the various objects I judged," he said.

Belgian Sovereigns On An Omnibus, See London Sights

A tall, distinguished-looking man in a dark reefer suit and a broad-brimmed soft felt hat, accompanied by a petite woman in a grey costume and a toque, with a fur round her neck, stood gazing into a Piccadilly teashop.

The crowd which hustled past had not the slightest idea that the pair were the King and Queen of the Belgians.

They had flown over from Brussels during the day, and put up at an hotel incognito. In the afternoon they took a stroll in Bond street, where a policeman checked the traffic for a moment while the visitors—ordinary visitors to him—crossed to a No. 25 omnibus.

King and Queen climbed the stairs and sat on a seat aloft. The conductor collected their pennies with the rest, little knowing that it was a royal hand that passed him the coins.

They left the omnibus near Piccadilly-circus, and the tempting teashop captured their attention.

Then, mingling with the other foot passengers, they sauntered back to their hotel.

King Albert and his consort intend to pay a visit to Wembley.

PROFESSOR'S END ON LONELY ISLE

The body of Professor Darroch, of Edinburgh University, has been found on the shore of the island of Jura, in the Inner Hebrides, at a point about four miles from Craighouse Hotel, where he had been staying for a holiday.

Professor Darroch disappeared about a fortnight ago, and the supposition now is that while on his way to visit his brother, who lives at Ardfin, he fell into one of the island streams that are in full flood just now, and that his body was carried down to the sea.

Dr. Darroch was Professor of Education, and he took an active interest in all sides of educational work in Edinburgh. He wrote a "History of Educational Thought" and other works on the same subject.

IRISH BOUNDARY DISPUTE

The above map enables a clear idea to be formed of the present boundary dispute between the Government of Northern Ireland and of the Irish Free State. It shows the three counties of Donegal, Monaghan and Cavan, which Ulster gave up under the Act of 1920, the extent of the territory at present included in Northern Ireland, and those portions of Northern Ireland now claimed by the Free State. It will be seen that the demands of the South have tended to increase, for in the latest claim she includes the northwest corner of Londonderry, further slices of Armagh and Down and two further portions of Tyrone. She agreed in 1922 that the western part of Tyrone was a "divided" area, with neither Unionists or Nationalists preponderating, but this is now included in her claim. The old Unionist strongholds of Londonderry and Enniskillen are amongst her demands, which now comprise the whole of Fermanagh and Tyrone, approximately half of Down and half of Armagh, and portions in the north-west and south-east of Londonderry. This would leave Northern Ireland with only one complete county (the Free State having abandoned its claim to the north-east corner of Antrim), and parts of Londonderry, Armagh and Down—an area she believes too small to support a Government of its own.

Ten Thousand Join In Chorus With Lauder In Glasgow Cemetery

Remarkable scenes took place in Sighthill Cemetery, Glasgow, when Sir Harry Lauder unveiled a Celtic Cross as a memorial to Mackenzie Murdock, the Scots violinist, who was his close companion.

Sir Harry sang "Hame o' Mine," which Murdock wrote, and was popular in Scotland. A crowd of 10,000 persons joined in the chorus.

In the rush to get near Sir Harry people trampled over graves and climbed on tombstones.

In a tribute to his friend, Sir Harry said they started to tour the country together as boys. There were no fancy hotels for them in those days. They were struggling, but they never had any idea of making money. Their idea was to make a name and give the people music and make them happy.

SPY DISPOSED OF IN FEW WORDS

One of the shortest, clearest and most effective letters in all history was written by Gen. Israel Putnam, of Revolutionary fame. A Tory named Palmer was found within his lines. Tryon, the English governor, sent a hot communication demanding his release as an officer in the King's service, and threatened the old general with vengeance if Palmer was not forthwith set at liberty. Putnam answered him by the following note:—

"Sir:—Nathan Palmer, a lieutenant in the king's service, was taken in my camp as a spy, condemned as a spy, and shall be hanged as a spy.

"P.S.—Afternoon. He is hanged."

ADVISES HOW TO TREAT LAZY SON

At Willesden Police Court a man complained that his son was too lazy to get up and go to work, and had lost excellent jobs because he stopped in bed. When out of work, as at present, he was even too lazy to get up and draw the dole.

Magistrate—What age is he?"—Applicant: Just over eighteen.

"Seize him by the neck and throw him out. Let him seek for himself. —I've done so, sir, but then I go to work he creeps back to bed.

Mr. Lee—You be master in your own house and stand no humbug from a lazy fellow of eighteen. Pitch him out of the house.

ULSTER'S FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE

The Northern Ireland Exchequer returns for August, just issued, show a balance to the Exchequer of £264,-343. The total revenue was £1,307,-453, and the expenditure includes £225,000 to the Imperial Exchequer, making a total for the five months of the financial year paid to the British Treasury £967,790.

Customs and Excise brought in during the month £612,473, and Inland Revenue £382,313. There were no special grants in aid during the month. The revenue for the five months of the financial year is £5,-787,392.

"DOING TIME" FOR 50 YEAR PERIOD

A claim to have established a world's record for clock-winding is made on behalf of George Little, of Liverpool.

According to "The Horological Journal" he has been responsible in 50 years for the winding and regulation of 1,500,000 clocks.

Although in Liverpool during the last decade the average employment of a visiting clock-winder was estimated at only eight years (largely due, it is said, to the custom of offering him wine at each house he visited), Mr. Little is still actively at work.

He remembers winding the clock of Mrs. Maybrick, the poisoner.

STONE DEDICATED TO POETS OF U.S.

Minnehaha Park, St. Paul, has a poet's stone dedicated to the beauty-loving public. The stone is the invention of a St. Paul man, George Luther Burr. Excelling the old-time prisms, the poet's stone enables the dreamer, looking through it, to see lakes, hills, trees, clouds, sunsets, night-lighted cities, mountains and valleys in their own shapes, but painted in such colors as artists dream. It has been so placed and pivoted at Minnehaha Park as to enable visitors to see through it the waterfall spray and nearby rocks. Mr. Burr wrote, in connection with the poet's stone, the legend of Pike's Peak, which, according to present tentative plans, is to be perpetuated by the Daughters of Colorado in a log cabin, on a mountain trail, with four poet's stone windows.

"Home Brew" is Still in Favor In United Kingdom

Although the number of private persons who brew their own beer is not so great as it was, there is still a large number.

A Customs official told a press representative that the "cottage brewer" can make his own sparkling ale or his nut brown October brew at small cost.

"There is a large number of these private brewers in the United Kingdom," he said, "and they are mostly countrymen who brew a small quantity each year for themselves.

"They are not allowed to sell it, nor even to give it away to relatives, and they must not use more than four bushels of malt in the process. The charges made by the Custom's are according to the value of the brewers' premises."

The total number of persons who hold a free license in the United Kingdom to brew beer is 5,496, and 40 of these "poor brewers" are in Scotland.

Many cottage brewers in England brew according to recipes handed down from grandfathers and great-grandfathers, and they take a pride in the fact that their liquors are only compounded of three things—malt, hops and water.

BUILDERS' WORK FEE TO HOSPITAL

Builders who are giving their services free each evening to erect "Carnival House," at Godalming, work by the light of oil lanterns now that the summer time has ended.

The house, which is being built with materials given free, is to be disposed of on behalf of the extension fund of the Royal Surrey County Hospital, Guildford.

TERRIBLE DAMAGE ONLY COST £10

Captain John K. Cross, of the Lancashire Fusiliers, was fined £10 by the Salisbury magistrates for dangerous driving.

Near a crossing he collided with a motor-cycle driven by Staff-Sergt. Horbury, whose wife and baby were in the side-car. Horbury was killed, his wife thrown out, and the baby's leg was broken.

MINISTERS ALL IN SCOT'S FAMILY

The Rev. William Dunnett, of Laigh Kirk, Kilmarnock, who is celebrating his jubilee as a minister, is head of a family of six ministers of the Church of Scotland.

Four of his five sons and his son-in-law are ministers, and all his wife's brothers hold positions in the Church.

Mr. Dunnett was ordained in September, 1874, and since 1879 he has been the parish minister of Kilmarnock.

BRITISH LIONS BORN IN KENT

The births of a litter of lion cubs and a number of dingos have increased the animals in the private menagerie at Cobtree Manor of Mr. G. Tyrwhitt-Drake, the mayor of Maidstone.

The lion cubs—four in number, are the second generation born at Cobtree, the mother herself having been born there six years ago.

Of four lion cubs born in December last three are still hale and hearty. The other died.

The dingoes, six of whom have been born, are Australian wild dogs.

CLEVER PUBLICITY TO AID AUSTRALIA

Thousands of school-children, all eating apples, were among the visitors to Wembley Exhibition.

The apples had been presented at the Australian Pavilion, together with a letter from an Australian girl or boy, a postcard depicting an Australian flower, bird or animal, and an official letter describing the features of Australia.

It is hoped that the children will reply to the letters, and thus develop the relations of this country with Australia.

SCHOOLBOY BLEEDS FOR SIX DAYS

A Grimsby schoolboy, George Baker, 11, died after bleeding for six days from a cut in the knee.

At the inquest the mother said that neither private nor hospital doctors could stop the bleeding.

Dr. Harris said the boy was a victim of haemophilia, a rare condition in which the blood would not coagulate over a wound and sufferers invariably bleed to death.

The coroner, returning a verdict of Accidental Death, said it was the first case of the kind in his 33 years' experience.

MOTOR CAR THIEF'S LIFE OF ADVENTURE

Extraordinary Career Outlined in Sheffield Police Court

HUNTED IN ROCKIES

Romantic Yarn of Divorce Proceeding in the U.S.

Percy Seymour Kelley, of Southport, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at Sheffield for stealing a car, told a remarkable story in the witness box.

He said he was educated at King's College, London, and 15 years ago, when he was 17, he masqueraded as a clergyman to the Bishop of Winchester. He did it for a wager.

When the Bishop questioned him on theology he was, in the words of his solicitor, "floored." For the masquerade he was sentenced to six weeks hard labor.

Afterwards he obtained a commission in the Middlesex Regiment, but when his record became known he was drummed out.

ENLISTED AGAIN.

When war broke out he enlisted in the Duke of Cornwall's Regiment in the name of Cosmo O'Kellie, and succeeded in getting transferred as a lieutenant to the Royal Fusiliers.

"I was unlucky," he said, "as the general-in-command of the Royal Fusiliers had been the officer commanding the Middlesex Regiment, and I was court-martialled and dismissed the army.

He was next arrested on a charge of forging papers to get into the Army, and was bound over.

Later, however, he got back in the Army and served to the end of the war.

Referring to the present offence, Kelley said: When I got the car I took my wife to the Lake District. It broke, and so I left it at a garage.

"After that I sailed to America. I worked as an accountant, and thought at last I was going to get a chance.

"I went hunting in the Canadian Rockies, and overstayed the time allowed, so was arrested and deported."

A QUESTION OF MUSIC.

"While in America he divorced his wife, he said.

"We all went into a room," he continued. "My wife, the man who wanted her, and the judge. I was charged with incompatibility of temperament. My wife was musical; I was not.

"The judge 'guessed' it was a sad state of affairs, and 'guessed' he would divorce us after a round-table conference, at which we had a bottle of wine.'

In reply to the prosecuting solicitor, Kelley said he posed as a doctor and a major in Sheffield for swank. I was swanking. Just swanking, that's all," he added.

Oldest Mental Hospital In England to Move From London to Country

The governors of Bethlem Royal Hospital—or "Bedlam," as it is popularly called—are considering a proposal to move the institution from its present site near the Obelisk, Lambeth, S.E., into the country.

Alderman Sir Charles Wakefield, president of the combined foundations of the Royal Bridewell Hospital and Bethlem, told a reporter that the step was desirable in the interests of the patients.

"At present we have not nearly enough outdoor space for recreation," he said, "and we want to provide facilities for tennis, croquet, and other games."

Bethlem, the oldest mental hospital in England, owes its origin to Simon FitzMary, who founded it on his estate in Bishopsgate in 1247 on the site where Liverpool street Station now stands, and after the Great Fire it was rebuilt on the north side of London Wall in 1676. The present site was granted by the Corporation in 1810 and the existing building opened in 1812 at a cost of £122,572.

Oddfellows' Society Has Surplus Assets More Than £1,000,000

The Grand Master of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows, H. Brimblecombe, of Exeter, speaking at a dinner of the Oxford District of Oddfellows, held in connection with the National Conference of Friendly Societies, announced that the eleventh actuarial valuation of the lodges of the society was likely to show a net surplus exceeding £1,000,000. At present, he said, the valuation of something like two-thirds of the lodges had been completed by the actuary, and valued on the full liabilities showed a surplus of £2,200,000, while to set against this were deficiencies of £800,000. Making provision for all contingencies on the complete valuation, the net surplus of assets over all liabilities should exceed £1,000,000. The surplus is by far the largest in the history of any British friendly society.

RICH FOSSIL BED IN SOUTH DAKOTA

In an accessible and picturesque part of the Black Hills Rim in South Dakota, just at the south entrance to the hills, is the Fossil Cyrad National Monument, an area of 320 acres, reserved by Presidential proclamation October 21, 1922, to protect its large deposits of the fossil remains of fern-like plants of the Mesozoic period, which are of intense interest to scientists. This is probably one of the most interesting fossil plant beds yet discovered, with the most perfectly preserved specimens, and is known to scientific people throughout the world, says the Department of the Interior.

These cycads were really of tree-fern type, and it is the fossil tree trunks that first attracted attention about 30 years ago. Later investigations and discoveries, however, millions of years ago in the age when egg-laying monsters were still extant, actually bore flowers. While no actually open fossil flowers have been found, many of the trunks contain unexpanded buds and in other instances fruits that had begun to mature before fossilization began. Undoubtedly the open flowers were so delicate in structure that when the events leading up to fossilization started they wilted and were destroyed. The flowers must have been profuse, as some of the trunks preserved show nearly 500 buds.

Canada's Complaint Of Freight Ring is Echoed in England

"We found as we went inland that there was undoubtedly an impression in some quarters that the shipper in Canada was very much at the mercy of a combination of shipowners resident in Great Britain.

"The feeling, as expressed to us by some interests, was that Canada was not obtaining fair play on the ocean in comparison with other competitors."

These statements are made in an interim report of the Imperial Shipping Committee, which is investigating the rates of freight on Canadian flour in the North Atlantic."

THRILLING TALE OF "RUM ROW" PIRATES

Devonshire Fisherman Crosses Atlantic in Fishing Smack

CARGO OF LIQUOR

Crew Lined Up at Point of Gun—Cargo Taken Off

A thrilling adventure amid pirates operating in "Rum Row," the rendezvous twenty miles off the American coast used for the disposal of cargoes of liquor to fast motor-craft for smuggling into the United States, has been unfolded by Harry Coyde, a young Brixham fisherman, who made the adventurous voyage across the Atlantic in a Ramsgate fishing smack 47 years old.

Coyde, after one successful rum-running trip in the Ramsgate vessel, joined as boatswain a small steamer of the coaster type. "A day after we anchored in 'Rum Row,' a fast motor-boat came alongside and took off 1,500 cases of spirit," said Mr. Coyde in an interview today.

"We remained anchored for three or four days until another fast motor-boat came alongside, but, to our great surprise, she did not take off any cases. That was practically only a blind to cover the real intentions of the motorboat.

"Three or four days later the same boat have alongside again with five men aboard.

"The three men made themselves as friendly as it was possible to do. They decided to remain aboard that night as friends, but the next morning the music began. The first I heard about what they intended doing was when two of them came to the door of the forecastle. One of them shouted for the boatswain, and I, of course, replied.

"'How many hands have you in the fo'castle, bo'sun?' queried the leader.

"'Five A.B.'s and one ordinary, was the reply.

"'Just tell your five A.B.'s and one ordinary to step out here at once.'"

Coyde, thinking a practical joke was on, and never for one moment imagining anything of a piratical character, called the men out of the forecastle.

"Do you all mind putting your hands up above your heads?" was the first greeting that awaited them.

"The next thing we heard was that the officers and the super-cargo were prisoners in the saloon—the pirates raided the saloon when they were at breakfast and took them by surprise. One kept the officers covered, while the other two came forward to the fo'castle and captured the working crew. They had us all lovely.

"The pirates raided about 12,000 cases of liquor. To do this they made five trips in their motor-boat to a large schooner anchored, another 40 or 50 miles away, taking about 2,500 cases at a time. When the piracy was completed the three men, one of whom was reputed to be a notorious American gunman, simply shoved off in the motor-boat. They looted the whole of the cases without payment, and even the men did not receive their special wages."

ODD COINCIDENCE OF EXAMINATIONS

Two Mechanics in Dead-heat in Successive Tests for University

Two young railway mechanics, W. S. Wildman and Sidney Smith, are leaving their benches at the London Midland and Scottish Railway's works at Wolverton to become students at Liverpool University.

Then entered the railway "shops" at 14 years of age, and for seven years in succession have been bracketed as equal for first place in the annual examinations held by the Union of Educational Institutions.

They then tied in the recent examination for the Sir Richard Moon scholarship, a railway scholarship of £80 a year, tenable for three years at Liverpool University.

An extra examination was conducted to see which of the two candidates was the better. Again they tied, so the directors decided, to the great satisfaction of the two candidates, who are firm friends, to award an extra scholarship to enable both of them to go to the university.

DIOGENES OUTDONE BY DEVON COUPLE

Diogenes had at least a tub into which to retire in the event of rain, but a man and his wife evicted from their cottage at Drewsteignton, Devon, are living out of doors and sleeping on two easy chairs at night.

They refuse to go to the workhouse, saying they can manage till quarter-day, when they have been promised a house.

CONCRETE HOUSES FOR LEICESTER

Leicester has solved its housing shortage problem, with the full approval of the Director-General of Housing, by ordering 1,500 concrete houses from a London and Sheffield firm.

The houses will be built in the Aylestone district, and will cost £735,-000, an average price of £490.

There will be 750 of the parlor type, for which the rent will be £26 per annum, plus £9 16s. 8d. for rates.

The other 750 will be of the non-parlor type, and will be let at £20 16s. per annum, plus £9 8s. 1d. for rates.

SECRET REVEALED OF BIG ART DEAL

Woman Saved Holbein's Famous Painting for British Nation

NAME WITHHELD

Sale of Duke of Norfolk's Treasure Now Told

After 15 years' silence the romantic story is revealed today of how one of the greatest pictures in the world—Holbein's "Duchess of Milan"—was secured for the British nation.

Sir Isidore Spielman, the famous art expert, tells it in the October number of the "Nineteenth Century."

Only one fact is still kept secret, and that is the name of the benefactress who saved the picture for the nation by a munificent gift to the National Art Collections Fund of £40,000. Her name must never be revealed, for that was a condition upon which the gift was made, "and it was demanded of us," says Sir Isidore, "for sound and sufficient reasons." He says:—

Early in 1909 it was whispered that the 15th Duke of Norfolk intended to sell his famous portrait of the Duchess of Milan by Holbein.

The fact is that, owing to official legislation, the Roman Catholic schools of the country were deprived of some financial support, and the duke wished it to be known that he intended to apply to that object the money he received for the picture.

The duke engaged the services of Messrs. P. and D. Colnaghi to sell the picture for him, and consented to give an option to the trustees of the National Gallery of one month before disposing of it elsewhere.

The Treasury, after much pressure agreed to contribute £10,000, and the Messrs. Colnaghi contributed £2,000, leaving the fund to find £60,000.

But the money came in slowly, and all hope of securing the picture had vanished when there came a letter from a lady at a German health resort offering to make up what was required. Sir Isidore had never even heard of her.

Telegrams passed, and on June 1, 1909, the mysterious X, wired that she would make up the deficiency—£40,000.

INQUIRIES AT BANK.

Even then Sir Isidore had his doubts, but he went to the bank she had named and the thrilling moment came when the manager said with a smile, "Our client has ample means and is quite capable of carrying the matter through."

Next day Sir Isidore and Mr. (now Sir) Robert Witt went to Mr. Mackay, of Messrs. Coinaghi, and told him they exercised the option. "But you have not the money," he said. "We have," they replied. "I shall want evidence of that," he said. They drove to the bank, and after getting confirmation from the manager, Mr. Mackay said "This is the most remarkable transaction I have ever been connected with."

When the news was communicated to Sir Charles Holroyd, Director of the National Gallery, "he looked at us," says Sir Isidore, "as if dazed, and then burying his face in his hands he burst into tears."

Sir Isidore adds that, like the Duke of Norfolk who sold the picture, the benefactress is also dead.

Brothers Kiss in Bradford Court An Settle Dispute

Two brothers appeared in Bradford Police Court as enemies, and left as friends, with the benediction of the Bench.

The case arose over a dispute about their father's will. Samuel Haig Miller was summoned for assaulting Albert Miller, who stated that his brother went into his shop, and, saying, "I have come to take over this shop," struck him, and broke two plate-glass windows, valued at £20. Samuel had no right to enter the shop, as, under their father's will, Albert had the option of taking over the business, which he did.

Samuel Miller was bound over, and ordered to pay the costs, 4s. He then called across the court to his brother, saying he had no money, adding, "Will you pay this, me lad?"

Albert replied, "Aye, lad, I'll make that all right." Samuel then went over to his brother, and they shook hands, embraced, and kissed each other.

They left the court together, apparently reconciled, and, on seeing what had happened, the magistrate decided to remit the fine.

HONEYMOON ECLIPSE IN OLD COUNTRY

Lack of Money Accounts for Falling Off of Custom

Lack of money is the mother of a new mode in honeymooning. Honeymoons are not only shorter than ever—they are often dispensed with entirely nowadays.

A week or two on the Continent realises the highest dream of the average bride. It is more popular, and even less expensive, to fly to Paris for a short week-end. The airways bristle with week-end honeymooners.

A few days ago two enterprising people set out on a walking tour of Sussex from the registary office in West London where they were married. The Lake District has its share of impecunious honeymooners, and many of the June couples camped out.

One of the most brilliant weddings of the season resulted in a honeymon of sightseeing in London, though both the bride and bridegroom had spent most of their lives in the metropolis.

FAMILY 300 YEARS WITH ONE FIRM

Interesting records are claimed by a well-known Bridgwater family named Prew.

William Prew, who has just observed his golden wedding, is the third brother to celebrate 50 years of married life.

Members of the family have worked for 300 years without a break for a local firm and its predecessors.

John Prew was employed for 70 years, and William had been 40 with the firm.

When 70 years of age, Mrs. William Prew recently crossed the Atlantic to visit sons in America.

FARM LIFE AND ITS PROBLEMS

BUSY FARMERS HAVE LAUGH ON MEN WHO WORRY

Agitator Lost This Year By Neglecting His Farm Work.

TARIFF UNIMPORTANT.

Progressives Will Adopt Old Attitude Because of Consistency.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21. — Reports from the West received here indicate that the tariff will again be pushed to the fore by the Progressives. This is not because their case for reductions is any better, but because it is felt that consistency demands the taking of such an attitude. This is a phase of the argument that always weighs strongly with the Progressives.

As a matter of fact the recent improvment in th Western business situation shows that the tariff is not nearly as important a factor in producing the troubles of the prairies farmers as has generally been believed. Speaking on this phase of the subject, a man who knows the prairies well, put it this way the other day:

"The marked improvement in the prairie farmer's condition during the last few months has knocked the bottom out of the tariff argument; that is as far as it being the big cause of his success or failure. He may have got something out of the reductions in the tariff put through last session, but weighed against the effect produced through the increase in grain prices, they are as nothing. The tariff argument has been overdone out there, and one may be sure that the discerning farmers will see it. The trouble is that the evil effects of the tariff have been so dinned into the heads of the Western farmers that it will take some time to overcome them.

"Another thing to be noted is that the farmers who attended to business and put in a large acreage instead of spending time agitating, today have the money, and also have the laugh on the other fellows. If there is anything that the events of this last summer have demonstrated it is the fallacy of the curtail-production device. Those who followed it have lost out so badly that they are not likely to try it again. The fact is that Western Canada has so many advantages as a producer of wheat that it can afford at all times to take chances by putting in a big acreage."

Some manufacturers think this a good opportunity to put the tariff case before the western farmers, but whether anything will come of this conviction remains to be seen.

BUCKWHEAT GOOD AT KING'S WHARF

Duffy Bros. Thresh 800 Bushels—Price is 80 Cents.

KING'S WHARF, Oct. 21. — The buckwheat is a splendid crop in this section and the buyers are buying it from the mill. Mr. Spratt from Lindsay and Mr. Douglas from Omemee are sending their trucks to the fields where they are threshing and taking it away as soon as it is threshed. The yield is good and so is the price. The price paid is 80 cents a bushel. Duffy Bros. threshed about 800 bushels, John Winn 500 bushels and P. Perdue 400 bushels in the field and the yield was about 40 bushels to the acre. The weather is splendid for threshing in the field and the threshing machines are both kept busy. It is a great convenience for the farmers to have the trucks come and draw away their grain and all the farmers are getting rid of their grain in this way.

RECORD IN POTATOES

Janetville Man Takes 1,000 Bags From Nine Acres.

The hum and whistle of the threshing machine is heard far and near, and not in many years has there been such a yield of number one grain. Potatoes too are an abundant crop. Jos. Hickson of North Manvers harvested one thousand bags from nine acres. Buckwheat also is yielding unusually well, while orchard fruit and garden products are the best in the experience of the oldest citizens. However, prices may go down as the yield increases, but the farmers are smiling all the same.

THE OTHER SIDE

Fancying herself at death's door, an old lady became a perfect nuisance to her relatives, whom she was always summoning to her demise without, however, fulfilling her promise of departure.

Quite recently she telegraphed to her sister: "Am dying. Come at once."

After a worrying interval, the reply arrived: "Am dying also; meet you on the other side."

Canada Cuts Into Export Of United States Flour

The American Miller says of Canada's flour exports: "Wonder if United States millers generally appreciate in full the extent to which Canadian mills have cut into the export flour trade. Last May, Canada exported 1,057,000 barrels of flour, which was more for the month than the United States exported. In 1903 the United States furnished 72 per cent. of the world's flour exports.

TOO MANY CHARGES PRIOR TO MORTGAGE

Little New Money for Farm Loans is Available in Alberta.

CALGARY, October 21. — The Mortgage Loans Association is out for the elimination from the statute books of the province of all acts that hinder the flow of capital for investment purposes. This organization has already accomplished much valuable work in that direction, but its members state there is yet much to be done. They point out that money is just as necessary as people for the development of any country. It is further pointed out that money is just as necessary as people for the development of any country. It is further pointed out that at the present time it is almost an impossibility of a farmer to obtain a loan in any part of the province, not only in the so-called dry areas, but in the best farming districts. Not a single loaning institution in Calgary is said to be making new loans, and crop failures are not given as the reason. The trouble is said to be legislative —too much interference with the vested rights of mortgagees.

FORM SHEEP CLUB.

F. C. McRae Has Organized New Association in Belmont.

F. C. McRae, B.S.A., of the Department of Agriculture, has formed a sheep club in Belmont township, that promises to bring splendid results. Last week fourteen pure-bred rams were unloaded at Havelock C.P.R. station for the club members. These rams are loaned for three years by the department. The club members agree to dip, dock and castrate their lambs and sell co-operatively both lambs and wool. A lamb show will be held next spring and cash prizes awarded. The rams loaned by the department are said to be the finest in Ontario, one of them being a second prize winner at the Toronto Exhibition. The club members have signed up for over 300 ewes.

TEXAS FIGHTS NEW EPIDEMIC

Ranches Have Become Slaughter Houses in Battling Disease.

MAN LOST $90,000

HOUSTON, Texas, October 21. — Ranches of Texas have become slaughter houses.

Thousands of cattle are being killed to prevent the spread of the dread foot-and-mouth disease.

Rev. William States Jacobs, a Houston minister, lost a herd he valued at $90,000. It was pure-bred Braham stock crossed with the native cattle.

STEAM SHOVELS WORKED FOUR DAYS DIGGING THIS TRENCH IN WHICH 1900 CATTLE WERE KILLED AND BURIED.

Steam shovels worked four days digging trenches more than a mile long in which to bury 1900 cattle, shot in the Ellingston district alone.

The animals were driven into the ditch by cowboys, then shot down by a squad of Texas rangers.

Each man used two rifles, changing guns when the barrel grew too hot.

CANNING DELAYED

Season Not Favorable for Northumberland County Plants.

COBOURG, Oct. 21. — Northumberland county has a large number of canning plants, and the information generally received from these is that the season has not yet been favourable for large packs. The backward season delayed the ripening of tomatoes until it was very late and the lack of sunshine seriously retarded the growth of corn.

IMPORTS FROM UNITED STATES SHOW DECREASE

Government Places Trade Commissioner at Dominion Capital.

TRADE TREATIES

Threatened German Embargo on Canadian Wheat Causes Flurry.

OTTAWA, October 21. — The trade returns for the year ending August indicate that imports from the United States are really falling off. During this period imports from all countries declined to the extent of $58,315,000, while in the case of the United States the decrease was $56,276,000. It is true that imports of coal fell off to the extent of about $22,000,000, and imports of metals to the extent of $15,000,000; but even thes two items leave $21,000,000 unaccounted for, which is not fully explained by the decline in prices.

It is possibly this decline that explains the action of the United States Government in placing a trade commissioner in Ottawa. As the foregoing figures indicate, imports from other countries have remained practically stationary. It is probable that the negotiating of a number of trade treaties is making for more direct importing from countries whose products in a number of cases, have been coming through the United States.

At this time last year imports from the United States were showing a decided increase over those for the same months of the preceding year. In September there was an increase of $8,000,000; and in October there was another increase of $6,000,000. But in December the turn came — imports from across the line in that month having been $5,000,000 below those for the corresponding month of 1922. In January there was another slump of $5,000,000 ;and this continued at the rate of from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a month until the end of April. In May the decrease was $7,500,000; in June it was $13,000,000 in July it was $5,000,000, and in August actually $16,000,000 below the figures for the corresponding month of 1923.

An interesting fact disclosed by the trade returns is that total exports during the year ending August increased by $59,000,000, that is to say, on the whole year's operations there was a net gain of about $1,000,000. For this we may thank a big crop year, and the rapid increase in prices during the last few months.

As for exports, the outstanding fact is their increase to Germany, which at $17,765,000 for the year were $16,000,000 up. The various states of the British Empire took $13,000,000 more. The United States took $11,000,000 more; Japan $10,000,000; and China $8,500,000 more.

In the case of France the increase was only $445,000 during the year.

Concern has been felt over the cables to the effect that Germany might place imports of wheat and flour from Canada at a disadvantage as compared with those from other countries. If this were done it would be a rather serious blow for the millers, who shipped $3,000,000 worth of flour to that country during the last year. It is understood that these reports, to some extent, explain the visit of Senator Dandurand to Berlin It is believed, however, that Germany intends, not so much to exclude Canadian wheat and flour from her markets, as to use the threat of such action to secure for herself her old-time concessions in Canada.

SMALL CROPS CUT RAILWAY EARNINGS

Higher Prices Benefit the Farmers But Not the Railroads.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21. — The decreased freight traffic returns of the railways are explained by the figures for the movement of grain to September 30. The number of car inspections in the West during August and September was only 21,770 as compared with 43,910 for the corresponding month of last year. In the case of the Canadian Pacific the decrease was 11,691 cars, and for the Canadian National 10,531. The total inspections for these two months were Canadian Pacific, 10,861 and Canadian National 8,518.

How big a difference a large crop of wheat means to the railways may be seen in the fact that the number of bushels of wheat inspected during these two months was only 19,913,000, as compared with 48,126,000 for the corresponding months of last year. During September the Canadian Pacific unloaded 5,599 cars of grain at the head of the lakes and the Canadian National 3,682. With the exception of August and September, 1917-18, and the same months 1918-19, these are the lowest figures for inspections during the last 12 years.

COST OF BARLEY MAY BE A CHECK ON HOG RAISING

Has Been More Profitable in Some Areas Than Wheat.

TOO GOOD TO FEED

Price of 90 cents More Attractive Than Results from Producing Hogs.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21.—The barley crop has been an extremely favorable one for Western farmers this year, being the highest, with one exception, in the history of the West. The yield amounted to approximately 54,000,000 bushels, which is an average for the whole West of 26.8 bushels, while in Manitoba the average yield is put at 31.4 bushels. Many Manitoba farmers have threshed 50 bushels to the acre, and some reports are current of barley crops running as high as 80 bushels. Barley has outyielded its normal relation to wheat yields, and its price has been above the normal relation to wheat. In many districts, and especially those where wheat suffered rust or frost damage, the barley acreage has been more profitable than that in wheat.

Barley is not as a rule grown for sale, but as feed for cattle and hogs. The acreage devoted to it this year was larger than usual, as much land originally intended for wheat was put into barley when the unfavorable weather of spring prevented the sowing of wheat at the proper time. Many a farmer is now blessing the weather which he grumbled at in the spring, and which compelled him to change from wheat to barley. In recent years, shipments of barley out of the West have been about ten million bushels annually, fairly even in quantity from year to year, the variation in crops being taken up with larger or smaller feeding operations. This year exports are likely to be larger. Feeding barley to hogs does not appeal to the farmer who can get a cash price of 75 to 80 cents a bushel for it at the elevator. Prices for barley have recently been between 93 and 98 cents at Fort William.

The high price prevailing for barley will undoubtedly tend to restrict the production of hogs in the West, in spite of the prevailing indications of probable higher prices for hogs in the near future. One such indication is the fact that a limited number of hogs, chiefly heavy sows, are now being shipped from Winnipeg to St. Paul. It has been almost axiomatic in recent years that we could not expect to sell hogs in the United States, but the sudden restriction of hog production there, and of hog feeding, due to high corn prices, has brought about the present situation. Hog production has never been a very popular form of farming in Western Canada, and a year of unprofitable returns on hogs is likely to put a farmer out of that business for some time. It seems reasonably probable that the feeding of even high-priced barley should prove remunerative this winter, but the experience of farmers in feeding high-priced grain during the war to hogs that failed to yield an adequate return will make them doubtful of trying it again.

Barley means cash returns to farmers, whichever way it is marketed, as grain, or, in the form of livestock, and this year's barley crop, will of itself provide a return of forty to forty-five million dollars in Western Canada.

Women Should Thank The Cow.

WHAT WOULD WOMAN DO, TO PRIMP UP, WERE IT NOT FOR MILK? HER NECKLACE, HER COMB, THE ROUGES AND PAINTS SHE USES, THE MIRROR SHE HANDLES ARE A FEW OF HER NECESSARY ACCESSORIES AND DECORATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — Mention cow, and you think of milk, cream, butter.

But the lowly cow has graduated far above this grade of mere milk and butterfat producer. She is the source of a thousand and one useful things for which the average man had never before credited her.

"If the humble cow ever aspired to trademark her products," reads a report of the National Geographic Society here, the average shopper would be amazed at the 'made from milk' labels which would adorn his purchase—ranging from horn-rim spectacles to chess men, magazines to radio sets.

'Consider a debutante's ball. The occasion would lose much of its glamor if the cow did'nt supply the milk which helps provide many other adjuncts than the ice cream.

"The debutante's hair is kept in place by a flaring comb, made of fan, she made her toilet with an array of articles largely made of milk, she received her call from a young man through a telephone receiver, made of milk. Her program is made of milk, and she chats with an escort who flecks his cigaret ashes into a milk-made holder."

Thats' only part of the milk parade. Three per cent of the casein in cow's milk is the raw material for such a variety of products. It is the curd, whose first and chief use is for cheese; but whose nitrogenous content enables its uses for numerous unrelated products.

"In recent years," the report continues, "manufacturers have become active competitors of cheese makers in buying casein. The substance is high cohesive and is little affected by heat or moisture. Hence it is used as a glue and also as a binder in making glazed paper, in dyeing cotton cloth and in piecing together laminated furniture."

COLOR CONTEST NEARS ITS END

Mount Julian and Bridgenorth Girls Win Number Five.

TWO MORE PICTURES

All kinds of horses were entered in competition number five, but the pictures were not up to the standard set by the coloring of the previous competition picture.

Lena McCauley of Mount Julian had the best picture in the senior class and Hilda Mann of Bridgenorth led in the junior class with an almost identical entry.

The next picture, number six, has already brought in many entries of roosters colored to represent all breeds, and promises to be one of the best. The children evidently know the appearance of different breeds of fowl and are doing good work.

This week's picture, which will be found on this page, is the first of a wild animal that has been set for coloring, and is the last animal that will appear. Children who like to color animals should take advantage of this last opportunity.

Next week's picture, which will be the last in this competition, is of a landscape including farm houses and barns and many fields of grain bordered with different kinds of trees. This will give lots of scope to landscape painters, and every boy and girl who has tried any contest should have an entry in the last one.

The competition that will follow the pictures will be of an entirely different class and there will be no further coloring competition for some time.

1. Hilda Mann, Bridgenorth. Age 9 years. Prize of $2.
2. Sinclair Comrie, R.R. No. 3, Keene. Prize of $1.
3. Marion Storey, R.R. No. 2, Omemee. Prize of 75 cents.

YIELD IS 99 BUS. IN TWO YEARS.

LETHBRIDGE, Oct. 21. — N. Peterson, operating a farm at Hill Spring, has secured a total yield of 99 bushels of wheat to the acre on 56 acres within the past two seasons. Last year he threshed 59 bushels to the acre, and this season's yield was 40 bushels to the acre.

Marmora Potatoes Return J. Richardson Twentyfold

MARMORA, Oct. 21. — John Richardson, ex-reeve of Marmora township has a wonderful crop of potatoes this year. From ten bags of seed planted, he has already dug 200 bags from less than half of the land planted.

RACIAL PREJUDICES RUINING THE WEST

Three Primary Needs of Prairies Are Outlined by Expert.

CALGAR, Oct. 21.—Break down the prejudices, racial or religious against agricultural workers of Europe and increase immigration of all regardless of their country who wish to go on the land. Admit the mistake endeavoring to raise wheat on lands in semi-arid areas and devote them to the raising of small stock for which European settlers would be permanently fitted. Abolish the artificial interference with economic laws by rescinding legislation preventing the flow of new capital.

These are the three primary needs of the country, especially the Canadian West, in the opinion of J. F. Weston, of Toronto, managing director of the Imperial Life Assurance Co. of Canada, who has been making a tour through the West and stopped off for some little time in Calgary.

SILOS ARE OVERFLOWING

Burnbrae Farmers Finish Important Work—Big Buckwheat Yield.

BURNBRAE, Oct. 21. — Silo-filling is completed and the last few jobs of threshing are under way. Full silos with some to spare is the general rule and Frank Little and G. V. Taylor who operate silo-filling outfits in this district have had a busy two weeks.

Buckwheat has been yielding very well. Harry Bedford threshed 350 bushels of this crop, having a total yield of 1710 bushels. Wm. Miller's crop is almost as large with a field of buckwheat averaging 35 bushels an acre.

Very little fall plowing has yet been done as everyone seems to be about three week's late with his work. Now that the season of threshing and fall fairs is pretty well over progress may be expected.

ALLAN U. PAYNE HAD BEST CORN IN COMPETITION

Results of Douro and Dummer Agricultural Society Contest.

SCHOOL FAIR PRIZES

7, J. A. Crowe, Lakefield, R. R. No. 4, Whitecap Yellow Dent seed, 77 points.

There were ten competitors, but only seven prizes are given.

Fall Wheat Sown.

A large amount of fall wheat has been sown this season and it looks exceedingly well.

Silo filling is nearly done a few odd sheltered fields being still uncut. On the whole the corn has turned out well.

Ivan Drain living on the Douro side of the boundary but attending Warsaw School won second prize for his speech on "Why I Study Agriculture" at Norwood Fair.

School Fair Prizes.

The Departmental certificates have come for those who won the School Fair prizes.

In Douro No. 5, Archie Crowe got the certificate.

In Douro Township, e.g., of those who entered at Douro Fair, Mr. P. G. Towns gave a $5.00 gold piece to the one in the Township who had the largest number of first prizes. It went to Miss Agnes Condon, of S. S. No. 4, who took seven first prizes.

To the pupil who headed each school (except the one winning the $5.00), Mr. Towns gave a prize valued at about $1.25.

The seeds distributed by Mr. Towns were Rennie's, and to the one winning first prize for each kind of seed, he gave $1.00, second prize 50c, third prize 25c.

Archie Crowe won the $1.00 for his cucumbers.

Also Mr. Towns gave a prize to each one winning a first prize.

FEED HOGS TOO MUCH

U.F.O. Shipper of South Monaghan Gives Advice to Farmers.

FRASERVILLE, Oct. 21. — W. A. Wood shipper for the U.F.O. of South Monaghan club shipped a car of stock to the Union Stock Yards, Toronto, containing 96 hogs, 4 lambs, 1 sheep and 2 calves. The hogs were all marked and graded and sorted according to individual grades. The car load graded about 45 per cent selects. He states that the farmers of this community have the right type of hogs for premium backs but as they overfeed and crowd their hogs till they become overfat with too much finish and this causes them to be graded in the thick smooth class. The clubs ships again on Monday, October 27.

HEALTH FABLES

EXERCISE IN BED.

"I guess the trouble with you, as with most people, in doing your setting-up exercises in the morning is that you don't want to get up," comments the physical expert to Mr. Mann.

That's all right. Don't get up! Start your exercises in bed and soon you will be awake and ready for them.

The thing to do is this:

When you have awakened, begin to yawn. Keep it up! Yawn four or five times for you will be stretching your chest and getting a good inhalation.

Then stretch! Make it a good stretch and roll over, stretching again and again.

You still don't have to leave the bed!

Some leg exercises can be done once the covers have been kicked off.

Lie on your back and bend your knees upward, inhaling deeply and then exhaling, relaxing for a moment. Then kick both feet vigorously and pump the air with them, as though riding a bicycle.

After that you can leap out of bed and start some floor exercises.

Men! Take This Safe Treatment; Regain Strength

Nerve Power and Vitality Can Be Quickly Restored.

You used to be strong. Your nerves were steady. Your vitality responded to every call you made upon it. Then do not be discouraged even though you are now weak in body and your nerve power seems exhausted. You know that you can return to success and happiness just as soon as you win back your old time vigor.

If your body has failed you, and you have spent your vitality by overwork or nervous strain, start to-day to build yourself up again. Create red blood that will go pulsing through your veins with the throb of life power. Nourish your nerves, which are the driving force of life.

Weak, run-down men—and women too—can quickly regain strength. Go to your druggist to-day and begin the Wincarnis treatment. For fifty years this strength giver and nerve restorative has reinvigorated discouraged, weakened men and women.
